THE POETICAL WORKS
OF
ROBERT HERRICK

EDITED BY F. W. MOORMAN

WITH A PREFATORY NOTE

BY PERCY SIMPSON

LONDON
OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS

P R E F A C E

THE present reprint follows the authoritative text of the Hesperides which Herrick published in 1648. A larger edition, with an introduction discussing the text and a critical appendix, has already been issued by the Clarendon Press under the editorship of Professor Moorman.

The printing and publishing of the 1648 edition raise some interesting problems. It appeared in octavo, with the poems in two sections—the Hesperides or secular pieces covering pages 1–398, with signatures A to C c 7, and the Noble Numbers; or, his Pious Poems, with a separate title-page dated 1647, a new pagination, and a new set of signatures beginning again at A a and ending at E e 8. At first sight this suggests the separate, and therefore earlier, publication of the Noble Numbers. But the title-page beginning with a pronoun—His Noble Numbers—shows that these poems were intentionally placed last, and a valedictory couplet among the closing poems of the Hesperides (page 325) says explicitly—

And here my ship rides having Anchor cast.

The Works both Humane & Divine of Robert Herrick Esq. therefore appeared together, and probably they were printed simultaneously. The shorter section of the Noble Numbers must have been finished first in 1647, and the title-page printed off with that date in the expectation that the complete work would be issued before the end of the year. A problem of this kind can often be solved by consulting the Register of the Stationers' Company, on which books were entered for publication when the licensing fee was paid. But the only relevant entry is too early to be of any help: the following is found under the date 29 April, 1640:

Master Crooke      Entred for his Copie vnder the hands of Master Hansley and Master Bourne warden The seuerall Poems written by Master Robert Herrick      vj<sup>d</sup>
(Arber, Transcript, iv. 509.)

No edition of 1640 is known, and presumably this entry covered the publication of the Hesperides eight years later. Herrick had employed the interval with unwearied patience and consummate art to reshape and refine his poems to their utmost perfection of form. Professor Moorman's larger edition gives an extensive collation of the extant manuscripts, showing that many of these were early drafts which the poet revised with minute care before he allowed the poems to be published. The scholar who wishes to study the development of Herrick's art must consult the record of these variants.

Herrick's conscientious labour did not end with the revision of his text in manuscript. He supervised the printing with equal care. A collation of a number of copies has proved that he went personally to the printing office and corrected the work sheet by sheet as it issued from the press. The critical notes of the present edition record corrections made in the text after some early sheets had been printed off. Some corrections were made in the standing type; but when the error was more serious—as, for instance, in Kissing Usurie (page 30), where the first and last half of the final stanza were transposed by the printer—the faulty leaves were cancelled and new ones were inserted. At least three leaves of the original issue were reset because of the printer's errors—those containing pages 29 and 30, 175 and 176, 207 and 208; in the Thomason copy in the British Museum one cancel is inserted the wrong way round. Some of the corrections have a literary value: thus, the lines on Dean-bourn, a rude River in Devon (page 29) begin—

Dean-bourn, farewell; I never look to see
Deane, or thy warty incivility.

Here the expressive epithet 'warty' applied to the rough bed of the stream,

Thy rockie bottome, that doth teare thy streams
And makes them frantick, ev'n to all extreames,

was at first misprinted 'watry'. Occasionally the poet inserts a last touch of revision: in the pretty lines on Mistress Susanna Southwell's feet (page 192)—

Her pretty feet
Like snailes did creep
A little out, and then,
As if they started at Bo-peep,
Did soon draw in agen—

some copies preserve an original reading 'As if they played at Bo-peep', which is not likely to have been an error of the printer.

Finally, Herrick read over the sheets of the entire work after it had been printed off, made a list of errata which had escaped him in the hurry of reading at the printing office, and placed them before the text with the playful quatrain preserved on page 4.

The ordinary title-page of 1648 has been reproduced. But a few copies (e.g. the British Museum copy with press-mark E. 1090) give the interesting imprint:—

L O N D O N

Printed for John Williams, and Francis Eglesfield, and are to be sold by Tho: Hunt, Book-seller
in Exon. 1648.

Herrick's original publishers are to be commended for their enterprise in thus pushing the sale of his poems in the West Country.

The present reprint differs in two points from the larger edition. First, it confines itself to the text of 1648, noting only the variants of that issue. Secondly, as it has been prepared, not for the scholar, but for the lover of poetry, it omits almost entirely the 'Epigrams' of the Hesperides. Herrick's conception of the epigram was derived, through Ben Jonson, from the antique; but in actual practice he usually narrowed it down to the satiric type—a short poem, hitting off some ludicrous personal trait. It is one of the paradoxes of literature that this exquisite artist, experimenting in minute satire, should have composed a monotonous and, on the whole, pointless series of poems on merely nauseous themes. A reprint of Herrick among the Oxford Poets, side by side with the complete text already issued, gives a welcome opportunity of clearing away these weeds from the flower-garden of the Hesperides.

The library edition of Herrick (in the Oxford English Texts) was published in 1915, and the edition now issued would in the ordinary course have followed at no long interval. It has been delayed by the war, and in consequence of Professor Moorman's lamented death this preface has been supplied by another hand.

TO THE MOST ILLVSTRIOVS,
AND
Most Hopefull PRINCE,
C H A R L E S,
Prince of Wales.

Well may my Book come forth like Publique Day
When such a Light as You are leads the way :
Who are my Works Creator, and alone
The Flame of it, and the Expansion.

And look how all those heavenly Lamps acquire
Light from the Sun, that inexhausted Fire :
So all my Morne, and Evening Stars from You
Have their Existence, and their Influence too.
Full is my Book of Glories ; but all These
By You become Immortall Substances.

*For these Transgressions which thou here dost see,
Condemne the Printer, Reader, and not me ;
Who gave him forth good Grain, though he mistook
The Seed ; so sow'd these Tares throughout my Book.*

[NOTE.—In the original text this address is followed by Errata, which have been duly corrected in this reprint.]

HESPERIDES.

The Argument of his Book.

I sing of Brooks, of Blossomes, Birds, and Bowers:
Of April, May, of June, and July-Flowers.
I sing of May-poles, Hock-carts, Wassails, Wakes,
Of Bride-grooms, Brides, and of their Bridall-cakes.
I write of Youth, of Love, and have Accessé 5
By these, to sing of cleanly-Wantonnesse.
I sing of Dewes, of Raines, and piece by piece
Of Balme, of Oyle, of Spice, and Amber-Greece.
I sing of Times trans-shifting; and I write
How Roses first came Red, and Lillies White. 10
I write of Groves, of Twilights, and I sing
The Court of Mab, and of the Fairie-King.
I write of Hell; I sing (and ever shall)
Of Heaven, and hope to have it after all.

To his Muse.

Whither, Mad maiden wilt thou roame?
Farre safer 'twere to stay at home:
Where thou mayst sit, and piping please
The poore and private Cottages.
Since Coats, and Hamlets, best agree 5
With this thy meaner Minstralsie.
There with the Reed, thou mayst expresse
The Shepherds Fleecie happinesse:
And with thy Eclogues intermixe
Some smooth, and harmlesse Beucolicks. 10
There on a Hillock thou mayst sing
Unto a handsome Shephardling;

Hesperides.

Or to a Girle (that keeps the Neat)
 With breath more sweet then Violet.
 There, there, (perhaps) such Lines as These 15
 May take the simple Villages.
 But for the Court, the Country wit
 Is despicable unto it.
 Stay then at home, and doe not goe
 Or flie abroad to seeke for woe. 20
 Contempts in Courts and Cities dwell ;
 No Critick haunts the Poore mans Cell :
 Where thou mayst hear thine own Lines read
 By no one tongue, there, censured.
 That man's unwise will search for Ill, 25
 And may prevent it, sitting still.

To his Booke.

While thou didst keep thy Candor undefil'd,
 Deerely I lov'd thee ; as my first-borne child :
 But when I saw thee wantonly to roame
 From house to house, and never stay at home ;
 I brake my bonds of Love, and bad thee goe, 5
 Regardlesse whether well thou sped'st, or no.
 On with thy fortunes then, what e're they be ;
 If good I'll smile, if bad I'll sigh for Thee.

Another.

To read my Booke the Virgin shie
 May blush, (while Brutus standeth by :)
 But when He's gone, read through what's writ,
 And never staine a cheeke for it.

To the soure Reader.

If thou dislik'st the Piece thou light'st on first ;
 Thinke that of All, that I have writ, the worst :
 But if thou read'st my Booke unto the end,
 And still do'st this, and that verse, reprehend ;

Hesperides.

O Perverse man ! If All disgustfull be,
The Extreame Scabbe take thee, and thine, for me.

To his Booke.

Come thou not neere those men, who are like Bread
O're-leven'd ; or like Cheese o're-renetted.

When he would have his verses read.

In sober mornings, doe not thou reherse
The holy incantation of a verse ;
But when that men have both well drunke, and fed,
Let my Enchantments then be sung, or read.
When Laurell spirts 'ith fire, and when the Hearth
Smiles to it selfe, and guilds the roofe with mirth ;
When up the * Thyrse is rais'd, and when the sound
Of sacred * Orgies flies, A round, A round.
When the Rose raignes, and locks with ointments shine,
Let rigid Cato read these Lines of mine.

* A Javelin
twind with Ivy.
* Songs to Bacchus.

Upon Julias Recovery.

Droop, droop no more, or hang the head
Ye Roses almost withered ;
Now strength, and newer Purple get,
Each here declining Violet.
O Primroses ! let this day be
A Resurrection unto ye ;
And to all flowers ally'd in blood,
Or sworn to that sweet Sister-hood :
For Health on Julia's cheek hath shed
Clarret, and Creaime commingled.
And those her lips doe now appeare
As beames of Corrall, but more cleare.

Upon Julia. 3 Now] perhaps a misprint for New

Hesperides.To Silvia to wed.

Let us (though late) at last (my Silvia) wed ;
 And loving lie in one devoted bed.
 Thy Watch may stand, my minutes fly poste haste ;
 No sound calls back the yeere that once is past.
 Then sweetest Silvia, let's no longer stay ; 5
True love, we know, precipitates delay.
 Away with doubts, all scruples hence remove ;
No man at one time, can be wise, and love.

The Parliament of Roses to Julia.

I dreamt the Roses one time went
 To meet and sit in Parliament :
 The place for these, and for the rest
 Of flowers, was thy spotlesse breast :
 Over the which a State was drawne 5
 Of Tiffanie, or Cob-web Lawne ;
 Then in that Parly, all those powers
 Voted the Rose ; the Queen of flowers.
 But so, as that her self should be
 The maide of Honour unto thee. 10

No bashfulnesse in begging.

To get thine ends, lay bashfulnesse aside ;
Who feares to aske, doth teach to be deny'd.

The Frozen Heart.

I freeze, I freeze, and nothing dwels
 In me but Snow, and ysicles.
 For pitties sake give your advice,
 To melt this snow, and thaw this ice ;
 I'll drink down Flames, but if so be 5
 Nothing but love can supple me ;
 I'll rather keepe this frost, and snow,
 Then to be thaw'd, or heated so.

To Perilla.

Ah my Perilla ! do'st thou grieve to see
Me, day by day, to steale away from thee ?
Age cal's me hence, and my gray haire's bid come,
And haste away to mine eternal home ;
'Twill not be long (Perilla) after this, 5
That I must give thee the supremest kisse ;
Dead when I am, first cast in salt, and bring
Part of the creame from that Religious Spring ;
With which (Perilla) wash my hands and feet ;
That done, then wind me in that very sheet 10
Which wrapt thy smooth limbs (when thou didst implore
The Gods protection, but the night before)
Follow me weeping to my Turfe, and there
Let fall a Primrose, and with it a teare :
Then lastly, let some weekly-strewings be 15
Devoted to the memory of me :
Then shall my Ghost not walk about, but keep Still in the coole, and silent shades of sleep.

A Song to the Maskers.

1. Come down, and dance ye in the toyle
Of pleasures, to a Heate ;
But if to moisture, Let the oyle
Of Roses be your sweat.
2. Not only to your selves assume 5
These sweets, but let them fly ;
From this, to that, and so Perfume
E'ne all the standers by.
3. As Goddesses Isis (when she went,
Or glided through the street) 10
Made all that touch't her with her scent,
And whom she touch't, turne sweet.

Hesperides.To Perenna.

When I thy Parts runne o're, I can't espie
 In any one, the least indecencie :
 But every Line, and Limb diffused thence,
 A faire, and unfamiliar excellence :
 So, that the more I look, the more I prove, 5
 Ther's still more cause, why I the more should love.

Treason.

The seeds of Treason choake up as they spring,
He Acts the Crime, that gives it Cherishing.

Two Things Odious.

Two of a thousand things, are disallow'd,
 A lying Rich man, and a Poore man proud.

To his Mistrresses.

Helpe me ! helpe me ! now I call
 To my pretty Wit:crafts all :
 Old I am, and cannot do
 That, I was accusom'd to.
 Bring your Magicks, Spels, and Charmes, 5
 To enflesh my thighs, and armes :
 Is there no way to beget
 In my limbs their former heat ?
Aeson had (as Poets faine)
 Baths that made him young againe : 10
 Find that Medicine (if you can)
 For your drie-decrepid man :
 Who would faine his strength renew,
 Were it but to pleasure you.

The Wounded Heart.

Come bring your sampler, and with Art,
 Draw in't a wounded Heart :
 And dropping here, and there :
 Not that I thinke, that any Dart,

Hesperides.

I I

Can make your's bleed a teare :
Or peirce it any where ;
Yet doe it to this end : that I,
    May by
    This secret see,
    Though you can make
That Heart to bleed, your's ne'r will ake
    For me.

No Loathsomnesse in love.

What I fancy, I approve,
No Dislike there is in love :
Be my Mistresse short or tall,
And distorted there-withall :
Be she likewise one of those,
That an Acre hath of Nose :
Be her forehead, and her eyes
Full of incongruities :
Be her cheeks so shallow too,
As to shew her Tongue wag through :
Be her lips ill hung, or set,
And her grinders black as jet ;
Ha's she thinne haire, hath she none,
She's to me a Paragon.

To Anthea.

If deare Anthea, my hard fate it be
To live some few-sad-howers after thee :
Thy sacred Corse with Odours I will burne ;
And with my Lawrell crown thy Golden Urne.
Then holding up (there) such religious Things,
As were (time past) thy holy Filittings :
Nere to thy Reverend Fitcher I will fall
Down dead for grief, and end my woes withall :
So three in one small plat of ground shall ly,
Anthea, Herrick, and his Poetry.

Hesperides.The Weeping Cherry.

I saw a Cherry weep, and why?
 Why wept it? but for shame,
 Because my Julia's lip was by,
 And did out-red the same.
 But pretty Fondling, let not fall
 A teare at all for that :
 Which Rubies, Corralls, Scarlets, all
 For tincture, wonder at.

Soft Musick.

The mellow touch of musick most doth wound
 The soule, when it doth rather sigh, then sound.

The Difference Betwixt Kings and Subjects.

Twixt Kings and Subjects ther's this mighty odds,
 Subjects are taught by Men ; Kings by the Gods.

His Answer to a Question.

Some would know
 Why I so
 Long still doe tarry,
 And ask why
 Here that I
 Live, and not marry?
 Thus I those
 Doe oppose ;
 What man would be here,
 Slave to Thrall,
 If at all
 He could live free here?

Hesperides.

13

Upon Julia's Fall.

Julia was carelesse, and withall,
She rather took, then got a fall :
The wanton Ambler chanc'd to see
Part of her leggs sinceritie :
And ravish'd thus, It came to passe, 5
The Nagge (like to the Prophets Asse)
Began to speak, and would have been
A telling what rare sights h'ad seen :
And had told all ; but did refraine,
Because his Tongue was ty'd againe. 10

Expences Exhaust.

Live with a thrifty, not a needy Fate ;
Small shots paid often, waste a vast estate.

Love what it is.

Love is a circle that doth restlesse move
In the same sweet eternity of love.

Presence and Absence.

When what is lov'd, is Present, love doth spring ;
But being absent, Love lies languishing.

No Spouse but a Sister.

A bachelour I will Live as I have liv'd still,
And never take a wife
To crucifie my life :
But this I'll tell ye too, 5
What now I meane to doe ;
A Sister (in the stead
Of Wife) about I'll lead ;
Which I will keep embrac'd,
And kisse, but yet be chaste. 10

Hesperides.The Pomander Bracelet.

To me my Julia lately sent
 A Bracelet richly Redolent :
 The Beads I kist, but most lov'd her
 That did perfume the Pomander.

The shooe tying.

Anthea bade me tie her shooe ;
 I did ; and kist the Instep too :
 And would have kist unto her knee,
 Had not her Blush rebuked me.

The Carkanet.

Instead of Orient Pearls of Jet,
 I sent my Love a Karkanet :
 About her spotlesse neck she knit
 The lace, to honour me, or it :
 Then think how wrapt was I to see
 My Jet t'enthral such Ivorie.

His sailing from Julia.

When that day comes, whose evening sayes I'm gone
 Unto that warrie Desolation :
 Devoutly to thy Closet-gods then pray,
 That my wing'd ship may meet no Remora.
 Those Deities which circum-walk the Seas,
 And look upon our dreadfull passages,
 Will from all dangers, re-deliver me,
 For one drink-offering, poured out by thee.
Mercie and Truth live with thee ! and forbear
 (In my short absence) to unsluce a teare :
 But yet for Loves-sake, let thy lips doe this,
 Give my dead picture one engendring kisse :
 Work that to life, and let me ever dwell
 In thy remembrance (Julia.) So farewell.

How the Wall-flower came first, and why so called.

Why this Flower is now call'd so,
List' sweet maids, and you shal know.
Understand, this First-ling was
Once a brisk and bonny Lasse,
Kept as close as Danae was : 5
Who a sprightly Springall lov'd,
And to have it fully prov'd,
Up she got upon a wall,
Tempting down to slide withall :
But the silken twist unty'd, 10
So she fell, and bruis'd, she dy'd.
Love, in pity of the deed,
And her loving-lucklesse speed,
Turn'd her to this Plant, we call
Now, The Flower of the Wall. 15

Why Flowers change colour.

These fresh beauties (we can prove)
Once were Virgins sick of love,
Turn'd to Flowers. Still in some
Colours goe, and colours come.

To his Mistresse objecting to him neither Toying or Talking.

You say I love not, 'cause I doe not play
Still with your curles, and kisse the time away.
You blame me too, because I can't devise
Some sport, to please those Babies in your eyes ·
By Loves Religion, I must here confesse it, 5
The most I love, when I the least expresse it.

Small griefs find tongues : Full Casques are ever found
To give (if any, yet) but little sound.

Deep waters noyse-lesse are ; And this we know,
That chiding streams betray small depth below.

So when Love speechlesse is, she doth expresse
A depth in love, and that depth, bottomlesse.
Now since my love is tongue-lesse, know me such,
Who speak but little, 'cause I love so much.

Upon the losse of his Mistresses.

I have lost, and lately, these
Many dainty Mistresses :
Stately Julia, prime of all ;
Sapho next, a principall :
Smooth Anthea, for a skin
White, and Heaven-like Chrystalline :
Sweet Electra, and the choice
Myrha, for the Lute, and Voice.
Next, Corinna, for her wit,
And for the graceful use of it :
With Perilla : All are gone ;
Onely Herrick's left alone,
For to number sorrow by
Their departures hence, and die.

The Dream.

Me thought, (last night) love in an anger came,
And brought a rod, so whipt me with the same :
Mirtle the twigs were, meerly to imply ;
Love strikes, but 'tis with gentle crueltie.
Patient I was : Love pitifull grew then,
And stroak'd the stripes, and I was whole agen.
Thus like a Bee, Love-gentle stil doth bring
Hony to salve, where he before did sting.

To Love.

I'm free from thee ; and thou no more shalt heare
My puling Pipe to beat against thine eare :
Farewell my shackles, (though of pearle they be)
Such precious thraldome ne'r shall fetter me.
He loves his bonds, who when the first are broke, 5
Submits his neck unto a second yoke.

On himselfe.

Young I was, but now am old,
But I am not yet grown cold ;
I can play, and I can twine
'Bout a Virgin like a Vine :
In her lap too I can lye 5
Melting, and in fancie die :
And return to life, if she
Claps my cheek, or kisseth me ;
Thus, and thus it now appears
That our love out-lasts our yeeres. 10

Love's play at Push-pin.

Love and my selfe (beleeeve me) on a day
At childish Push-pin (for our sport) did play :
I put, he pusht, and heedless of my skin,
Love prickt my finger with a golden pin :
Since which, it festers so, that I can prove 5
'Twas but a trick to poyson me with love :
Little the wound was ; greater was the smart ,
The finger bled, but burnt was all my heart.

The Rosarie.

One ask'd me where the Roses grew ?
I bade him not goe seek ;
But forthwith bade my Julia shew
A bud in either cheek.

Hesperides.Upon Cupid.

Old wives have often told, how they
 Saw Cupid bitten by a flea :
 And thereupon, in tears half drown'd,
 He cry'd aloud, Help, help the wound :
 He wept, he sobb'd, he call'd to some 5
 To bring him Lint, and Balsamum,
 To make a Tent, and put it in,
 Where the Steletto pierc'd the skin :
 Which being done, the fretfull paine
 Asswag'd, and he was well again. 10

The Parcæ, or, Three dainty Destinies.The Armilet.

Three lovely Sisters working were
 (As they were closely set)
 Of soft and dainty Maiden-haire,
 A curious Armelet.
 I smiling, ask'd them what they did? 5
 (Faire Destinies all three)
 Who told me, they had drawn a thred
 of Life, and 'twas for me.
 They shew'd me then, how fine 'twas spun ;
 And I reply'd thereto, 10
 I care not now how soone 'tis done,
 Or cut, if cut by you.

Sorrowes succeed.

When one is past, another care we have,
Thus woe succeeds a woe ; as wave a wave.

Cherry-pit.

Julia and I did lately sit
 Playing for sport, at Cherry-pit :
 She threw ; I cast ; and having thrown,
 I got the Pit, and she the Stone.

To Robin Red-brest.

Laid out for dead, let thy last kindnesse be
With leaves and mosse-work for to cover me :
And while the Wood-nimphs my cold corps inter,
Sing thou my Dirge, sweet-warbling Chorister !
For Epitaph, in Foliage, next write this,

Discontents in Devon.

More discontents I never had
Since I was born, then here ;
Where I have been, and still am sad,
In this dull Devon-shire :
Yet justly too I must confesse ;
I ne'r invented such
Ennobled numbers for the Presse,
Then where I loath'd so much.

To his Paternall Countrey.

O Earth ! Earth ! Earth heare thou my voice, and be
Loving, and gentle for to cover me :
Banish'd from thee I live ; ne'r to return,
Unlesse thou giv'st my small Remains an Urne.

Cherrie-ripe.

Cherrie-Ripe, Ripe, Ripe, I cry,
Full and faire ones ; come and buy :
If so be, you ask me where
They doe grow ? I answer, There,
Where my Julia's lips doe smile ;
There's the Land, or Cherry-Ile :
Whose Plantations fully show
All the yeere, where Cherries grow.

Hesperides.To his Mistresses.

Put on your silks ; and piece by piece
 Give them the scent of Amber-Greece :
 And for your breaths too, let them smell
 Ambrosia-like, or Nectarell ;
 While other Gums their sweets perspire, 5
 By your owne jewels set on fire.

To Anthea.

Now is the time, when all the lights wax dim ;
 And thou (Anthea) must withdraw from him
 Who was thy servant. Dearest, bury me
 Under that Holy-oke, or Gospel-tree :
 Where (though thou see'st not) thou may'st think upon 5
 Me, when thou yeerly go'st Procession :
 Or for mine honour, lay me in that Tombe
 In which thy sacred Reliques shall have roome :
 For my Embalming (Sweetest) there will be
 No Spices wanting, when I'm laid by thee. 10

The Vision to Electra.

I dream'd we both were in a bed
 Of Roses, almost smothered :
 The warmth and sweetnes had me there
 Made lovingly familiar :
 But that I heard thy sweet breath say,
 Faults done by night, will blush by day :
 I kist thee (panting,) and I call
 Night to the Record ! that was all.
 But ah ! if empty dreames so please,
 Love give me more such nights as these. 10

Dreames.

Here we are all, by day ; By night w'are hurl'd
 By dreames, each one, into a sev'rall world.

Ambition.

In Man, Ambition is the common'st thing ;
Each one, by nature, loves to be a King.

His request to Julia.

Julia, if I chance to die
Ere I print my Poetry ;
I most humbly thee desire
To commit it to the fire :
Better 'twere my Book were dead,
Then to live not perfected.

Fight thou with shafts of silver, and o'come,
When no force else can get the masterdome.

The Scar-fire.

Water, water I desire,
Here's a house of flesh on fire :
Ope' the fountains and the springs,
And come all to Buckittings :
What ye cannot quench, pull downe ;
Spoile a house, to save a towne :
Better tis that one shu'd fall,
Then by one, to hazard all.

Upon Silvia, a Mistresse.

When some shall say, Faire once my Silvia was ;
'Thou wilt complaine, False now's thy Looking-glasse .
Which renders that quite tarnisht, w<sup>h</sup> was green ;
And Priceless now, what Peerless once had been :
Upon thy Forme more wrinkles yet will fall,
And comming downe, shall make no noise at all.

Cheerfulness in Charitie : or, The sweet sacrifice.

'Tis not a thousand Bullocks thies
 Can please those Heav'nly Deities,
 If the Vower don't express
 In his Offering, Cheerfulness.

Once poore, still penurious.

Goes the world now, it will with thee goe hard :
 The fattest Hogs we grease the more with Lard.
*To him that has, there shall be added more ;
 Who is penurious, he shall still be poore.*

Sweetnesse in Sacrifice.

'Tis not greatness they require,
 To be offer'd up by fire :
 But 'tis sweetness that doth please
Those Eternall Essences.

Steame in Sacrifice.

If meat the Gods give, I the steame
 High-towring wil devote to them :
 Whose easie natures like it well,
 If we the roste have, they the smell.

Upon Julia's Voice.

So smooth, so sweet, so silv'ry is thy voice,
 As, could they hear, the Damn'd would make no noise,
 But listen to thee, (walking in thy chamber)
 Melting melodious words, to Lutes of Amber.

Againe.

When I thy singing next shall heare,
Ile wish I might turne all to eare,
To drink in Notes, and Numbers ; such
As blessed soules can't heare too much :
Then melted down, there let me lye 5
Entranc'd, and lost confusedly :
And by thy Musique stricken mute,
Die, and be turn'd into a Lute.

All things decay and die.

All things decay with Time : The Forrest sees
The growth, and down-fall of her aged trees :
That Timber tall, which three-score lusters stood
The proud Dictator of the State-like wood :
I meane (the Sovereigne of all Plants) the Oke 5
Droops, dies, and falls without the cleavers stroke.

The succession of the foure sweet months.

First, April, she with mellow shows
Opens the way for early flowers ;
Then after her comes smiling May
In a more rich and sweet aray :
Next enters June, and brings us more 5
Jems, then those two, that went before :
Then (lastly) July comes, and she
More wealth brings in, then all those three.

No Shipwrack of Vertue. To a friend.

'Thou sail'st with others, in this Argus here ;
Nor wrack, or Bulging thou hast cause to feare :
But trust to this, my noble passenger ;
Who swims with Vertue, he shall still be sure
(Ulysses-like) all tempests to endure ; 5
And 'midst a thousand gulfs to be secure.

Upon his Sister-in-Law, Mistresse

Elizab : Herrick.

First, for Effusions due unto the dead,
 My solemne Vowes have here accomplished :
 Next, how I love thee, that my griefe must tell,
 Wherein thou liv'st for ever. Deare farewell.

Of Love. A Sonet.

How Love came in, I do not know,
 Whether by th' eye, or eare, or no :
 Or whether with the soule it came
 (At first) infused with the same :
 Whether in part 'tis here or there, 5
 Or, like the soule, whole every where :
 This troubles me : but I as well
 As any other, this can tell ;
 That when from hence she does depart.
 The out-let then is from the heart. 10

To Anthea.

Ah my Anthea ! Must my heart still break ?
 (Love makes me write, what shame forbids to speak.)
 Give me a kisse, and to that kisse a score ;
 Then to that twenty, adde an hundred more :
 A thousand to that hundred : so kisse on, 5
 To make that thousand up a million.
 Treble that million, and when that is done,
 Let's kisse afresh, as when we first begun.
 But yet, though Love likes well such Scenes as these,
 There is an Act that will more fully please : 10
 Kissing and glancing, soothing, all make way
 But to the acting of this private Play :
 Name it I would ; but being blushing red,
 The rest Ile speak, when we meet both in bed.

*The Rock of Rubies : and
The quarrie of Pearls.*

Some ask'd me where the Rubies grew ?
And nothing I did say :
But with my finger pointed to
The lips of Julia.
Some ask'd how Pearls did grow, and where ?
Then spoke I to my Girle,
To part her lips, and shew'd them there
The Quarelets of Pearl.

Conformitie.

Conformity was ever knowne
A foe to Dissolution :
Nor can we that a ruine call,
Whose crack gives crushing unto all.

TO THE KING

Upon his comming with his Army into the West.

Welcome, most welcome to our Vowes and us,
Most great, and universall Genius !
The Drooping West, which hitherto has stood
As one, in long-lamented-widow-hood ;
Looks like a Bride now, or a bed of flowers,
Newly refresh't, both by the Sun, and showers.
War, which before was horrid, now appears
Lovely in you, brave Prince of Cavaliers !
A deale of courage in each bosome springs
By your accesse ; (O you the best of Kings !)
Ride on with all white Omens ; so, that where Your Standard's up, we fix a Conquest there.

Hesperides.Upon Roses.

Under a Lawne, then skyes more cleare,
 Some ruffled Roses nestling were :
 And snugging there, they seem'd to lye
 As in a flowrie Nunnery :
 They blush'd, and look'd more fresh then flowers 5
 Quickned of late by Pearly showers ;
 And all, because they were possest
 But of the heat of Julia's breast :
 Which as a warme, and moistned spring,
 Gave them their ever flourishing. 10

To the King and Queene, upon their unhappy distances.

Woe, woe to them, who (by a ball of strife)
 Doe, and have parted here a Man and Wife :
 CHARLS the best Husband, while MARIA strives
 To be, and is, the very best of Wives :
 Like Streams, you are divorc'd ; but 't will come, when 5
 These eyes of mine shall see you mix agen.
 Thus speaks the Oke, here ; C. and M. shall meet,
 Treading on Amber, with their silver-feet :
 Nor wil't be long, ere this accomplish'd be ;
 The words found true, C. M. remember me. 10

Dangers wait on Kings.

As oft as Night is banish'd by the Morne,
 So oft, we'll think, we see a King new born.

*The Cheat of Cupid: or,
 The ungentle guest.*

One silent night of late,
 When every creature rested,
 Came one unto my gate,
 And knocking, me molested.

Who's that (said I) beats there, 5
And troubles thus the Sleepie?
Cast off (said he) all feare,
And let not Locks thus keep ye.

For I a Boy am, who
By Moonlesse nights have swerved ; 10
And all with showrs wet through,
And e'en with cold half starved.

I pittifull arose,
And soon a Taper lighted ;
And did my selfe disclose 15
Unto the lad benighted.

I saw he had a Bow,
And Wings too, which did shiver ;
And looking down below,
I spy'd he had a Quiver. 20

I to my Chimney's shine
Brought him, (as Love professes)
And chaf'd his hands with mine,
And dry'd his dropping Tresses :

But when he felt him warm'd,
Let's try this bow of ours, 25
And string if they be harm'd,
Said he, with these late showrs.

Forthwith his bow he bent,
And wedded string and arrow, 30
And struck me that it went
Quite through my heart and marrow.

Then laughing loud, he flew
Away, and thus said flying,
Adieu, mine Host, Adieu, 35
Ile leave thy heart a dying.

Hesperides.To the reverend shade of his religious Father.

That for seven Lusters I did never come
 To doe the Rites to thy Religious Tombe :
 That neither haire was cut, or true teares shed
 By me, o'r thee, (as justments to the dead)
 Forgive, forgive me ; since I did not know 5
 Whether thy bones had here their Rest, or no.
 But now 'tis known, Behold ; behold, I bring Unto thy Ghost, th' Effused Offering :
 And look, what Smallage, Night-shade, Cypresse, Yew,
 Unto the shades have been, or now are due, 10
 Here I devote ; And something more then so ;
 I come to pay a Debt of Birth I owe.
 Thou gav'st me life, (but Mortall ;) For that one
 Favour, Ile make full satisfaction ;
 For my life mortall, Rise from out thy Herse, 15
 And take a life immortall from my Verse.

Delight in Disorder.

A sweet disorder in the dresse
 Kindles in cloathes a wantonnesse :
 A Lawne about the shoulders thrown
 Into a fine distraction :
 An erring Lace, which here and there 5
 Enthralls the Crimson Stomacher :
 A Cuffe neglectfull, and thereby
 Ribbands to flow confusedly :
 A winning wave (deserving Note)
 In the tempestuous petticoat : 10
 A carelesse shooe-string, in whose tye
 I see a wilde civility :
 Doe more bewitch me, then when Art
 Is too precise in every part.

To his Muse.

Were I to give thee Baptime, I wo'd chuse
 To Christen thee, the Bride, the Bashfull Muse,
 Or Muse of Roses : since that name does fit
 Best with those Virgin-Verses thou hast writ :

Which are so cleane, so chaste, as none may feare 5
Cato the Censor, sho'd he scan each here.

Upon Love.

Love scorch'd my finger, but did spare
 The burning of my heart :
 To signifie, in Love my share
 Sho'd be a little part.

Little I love ; but if that he 5
 Wo'd but that heat recall :
 That joynt to ashes sho'd be burnt,
 Ere I wo'd love at all.

Dean-bourn, a rude River in Devon, by which sometimes he lived.

Dean-bourn, farewell ; I never look to see
Deane, or thy warty incivility.
 Thy rockie bottome, that doth teare thy streams
 And makes them frantick, ev'n to all extreames ;
 To my content, I never sho'd behold, 5
 Were thy streames silver, or thy rocks all gold.
 Rockie thou art ; and rockie we discover
 Thy men ; and rockie are thy wayes all over.
 O men, O manners ; Now, and ever knowne
 To be A Rockie Generation ! 10
 A people currish ; churlish as the seas ;
 And rude (almost) as rudest Salvages.
 With whom I did, and may re-sojourn when
 Rockes turn to Rivers, Rivers turn to Men.

Upon Love. 7 sho'd be burnt] The rhyme seems to require burnt sho'd be, and this is the order of the words in the Wits Recreations (1654) reprint. In certain copies of 1648 he is misprinted he

Hesperides.Kissing Usurie.

Biancha, Let Me pay the debt
 I owe thee for a kisse
 'Thou lend'st to me ;
 And I to thee 5
 Will render ten for this :

If thou wilt say,
 Ten will not pay
 For that so rich a one ;
 Ile cleare the summe, 10
 If it will come
 Unto a Million.

By this I guesse,
 Of happinesse
 Who has a little measure : 15
 He must of right,
 To th'utmost mite,
 Make payment for his pleasure.

To Julia.

How rich and pleasing thou my Julia art
 In each thy dainty, and peculiar part !
 First, for thy Queen-ship on thy head is set
 Of flowers a sweet commingled Coronet :
 About thy neck a Carkanet is bound, 5
 Made of the Rubie, Pearle and Diamond :
 A golden ring, that shines upon thy thumb :
 About thy wrist, the rich * Dardanium.
 Between thy Breasts (then Doune of Swans more white) * A Bracelet,
 There plays the Saphire with the Chrysolite. 10
 No part besides must of thy selfe be known,
 But by the Topaz, Opal, Calcedon.

Kissing Usurie. 13-18 In certain copies of 1648, and in Grosart, ll. 16-18 precede ll. 13-15 : no doubt wrongly

To Julia. 9 Breasts] misprinted Breast in some copies of 1648

To Laurels.

A funerall stone,
Or Verse I covet none ·
But onely crave
Of you, that I may have
A sacred Laurel springing from my grave 5
Which being seen,
Blest with perpetuall greene,
May grow to be
Not so much call'd a tree,
As the eternall monument of me. 10

His Cavalier.

Give me that man, that dares bestride
The active Sea-horse, & with pride,
Through that huge field of waters ride :
Who, with his looks too, can appease
The ruffling winds and raging Seas, 5
In mid'st of all their outrages.
This, this a virtuous man can doe,
Saile against Rocks, and split them too ;
I ! and a world of Pikes passe through.

Zeal required in Love.

I'll doe my best to win, when'ere I wooe :
That man loves not, who is not zealous too.

The Bag of the Bee.

About the sweet bag of a Bee,
Two Cupids fell at odds ;
And whose the pretty prize shu'd be,
They vow'd to ask the Gods.

Which Venus hearing ; thither came, 5
 And for their boldness stript them :
 And taking thence from each his flame ;
 With rods of Mirtle whipt them.

Which done, to still their wanton cries,
 When quiet grown sh'ad seen them, 10
 She kist, and wip'd thir dove-like eyes ;
 And gave the Bag between them.

Love kill'd by Lack.

Let me be warme ; let me be fully fed :
Luxurious Love by Wealth is nourished.
 Let me be leane, and cold, and once grown poore,
 I shall dislike, what once I lov'd before.

To his Mistresse.

Choose me your Valentine ;
 Next, let us marry :
 Love to the death will pine,
 If we long tarry.
 Promise, and keep your vows, 5
 Or vow ye never :
 Loves doctrine disallows
 'Troth-breakers ever.
 You have broke promise twice
 (Deare) to undoe me ; 10
 If you prove faithlesse thrice,
 None then will wooe you.

To the generous Reader.

See, and not see ; and if thou chance t'espie
 Some Aberrations in my Poetry ;
 Wink at small faults, the greater, ne'rthelesse
 Hide, and with them, their Fathers nakedness.
 Let's doe our best, our Watch and Ward to keep : 5
Homer himself, in a long work, may sleep.

To his Mistresse. 12 you] the rhyme indicates that you should be ye

To Criticks.

Ile write, because Ile give
You Criticks means to live :
For sho'd I not supply
The Cause, th'effect wo'd die.

Duty to Tyrants.

Good princes must be pray'd for : for the bad
They must be borne with, and in rev'rence had.
Doe they first pill thee, next, pluck off thy skin ?
Good children kisse the Rods, that punish sin.
Touch not the Tyrant ; Let the Gods alone
To strike him dead, that but usurps a Throne.

Being once blind, his request to Biancha.

When age or Chance has made me blind,
So that the path I cannot find :
And when my falls and stumblings are
More then the stones i'th' street by farre :
Goe thou afore ; and I shall well
Follow thy Perfumes by the smell :
Or be my guide ; and I shall be
Led by some light that flows from thee.
Thus held, or led by thee, I shall
In wayes confus'd, nor slip or fall.

No want where there's little.

To Bread and Water none is poore ;
And having these, what need of more ?
Though much from out the Cess be spent,

Duty to Tyrants. 4 Rods] rod 1648: corr. in orig. Errata

Barly-Break: or, Last in Hell.

We two are last in Hell: what may we feare
 To be tormented, or kept Pris'ners here?
 Alas! If kissing be of plagues the worst,
 We'll wish, in Hell we had been Last and First.

The Definition of Beauty.

Beauty, no other thing is, then a Beame
 Flasht out between the Middle and Extreame.

To Dianeme.

Deare, though to part it be a Hell,
 Yet Dianeme now farewell:
 Thy frown (last night) did bid me goe;
 But whither, onely Grief do's know.
 I doe beseech thee, ere we part, 5
 (If mercifull, as faire thou art;
 Or else desir'st that Maids sho'd tell
 Thy pitty by Loves-Chronicle)
 O Dianeme, rather kill
 Me, then to make me languish stil! 10
 'Tis cruelty in thee to'th'height,
 Thus, thus to wound, not kill out-right:
 Yet there's a way found (if thou please)
 By sudden death to give me ease:
 And thus devis'd, doe thou but this, 15
 Bequeath to me one parting kisse:
 So sup'rabundant joy shall be
 The Executioner of me.

To Anthea lying in bed.

So looks Anthea, when in bed she lyes,
 Orecome, or halfe betray'd by Tiffanies:
 Like to a Twi-light, or that simpring Dawn,
 That Roses shew, when misted o're with Lawn.
 Twilight is yet, till that her Lawnes give way;
 Which done, that Dawne, turnes then to perfect day. 5

To Electra.

More white then whitest Lillies far,
 Or Snow, or whitest Swans you are :
 More white then are the whitest Creames,
 Or Moone-light tinselling the streames :
 More white then Pearls, or Juno's thigh ; 5
 Or Pelops Arme of Yvorie.
 True, I confesse ; such Whites as these
 May me delight, not fully please :
 Till, like Ixion's Cloud you be
 White, warme, and soft to lye with me. 10

A Country life: To his Brother,

M. Tho: Herrick.

Thrice, and above, blest (my soules halfe) art thou,
 In thy both Last, and Better Vow :
 Could'st leave the City, for exchange, to see
 The Countries sweet simplicity :
 And it to know, and practice ; with intent 5
 To grow the sooner innocent :
 By studying to know vertue ; and to aime
 More at her nature, then her name :
 The last is but the least ; the first doth tell
 Wayes lesse to live, then to live well : 10
 And both are knowne to thee, who now can'st live
 Led by thy conscience ; to give
 Justice to soone-pleas'd nature ; and to show,
 Wisdome and she together goe,
 And keep one Centre: This with that conspires, 15
 To teach Man to confine desires :
 And know, that Riches have their proper stint,
 In the contented mind, not mint.
 And can'st instruct, that those who have the itch
 Of craving more, are never rich. 20
 These things thou know'st to'th'height, and dost prevent
 That plague ; because thou art content
 With that Heav'n gave thee with a warie hand,
 (More blessed in thy Brasse, then Land)

To keep cheap Nature even, and upright ; 25
     To coole, not cocker Appetite.
 Thus thou can'st tearcely live to satisfie
     The belly chiefly ; not the eye :
 Keeping the barking stomach wisely quiet,
     Lesse with a neat, then needfull diet. 30
 But that which most makes sweet thy country life,
     Is, the fruition of a wife :
 Whom (Stars consenting with thy Fate) thou hast
     Got, not so beautifull, as chast :
 By whose warme side thou dost securely sleep 35
     (While Love the Centinell doth keep)
 With those deeds done by day, which n'er affright
     Thy silken slumbers in the night.
 Nor has the darknesse power to usher in
     Feare to those sheets, that know no sin. 40
 But still thy wife, by chast intentions led,
     Gives thee each night a Maidenhead.
 The Damaskt meadowes, and the peeble streames
     Sweeten, and make soft your dreames :
 The Purling springs, groves, birds, and well-weav'd Bowsr,
     With fields enameled with flowers, 46
 Present their shapes ; while fantasie discloses
     Millions of Lillies mixt with Roses.
 Then dream, ye heare the Lamb by many a bleat
     Woo'd to come suck the milkie Teat : 50
 While Faunus in the Vision comes to keep,
     From rav'ning wolves, the fleecie sheep.
 With thousand such enchanting dreams, that meet
     To make sleep not so sound, as sweet :
 Nor can these figures so thy rest endeare, 55
     As not to rise when Chanticle
 Warnes the last Watch ; but with the Dawne dost rise
     To work, but first to sacrifice ;
 Making thy peace with heav'n, for some late fault,
     With Holy-meale, and spirting-salt. 60
 Which done, thy painfull Thumb this sentence tells us,
     Jove for our labour all things sells us.
 Nor are thy daily and devout affaires
     Attended with those desp'rate cares,
 Th' industrious Merchant has ; who for to find 65
     Gold, runneth to the Western Inde,

And back again, (tortur'd with fears) doth fly,
 Untaught, to suffer Poverty.
 But thou at home, blest with securest ease,
 Sitt'st, and beleev'st that there be seas, 70
 And watrie dangers ; while thy whiter hap,
 But sees these things within thy Map.
 And viewing them with a more safe survey,
 Mak'st easie Feare unto thee say,
A heart thrice wall'd with Oke, and Brasse, that man 75
Had, first, durst plow the Ocean.
 But thou at home without or tyde or gale,
 Canst in thy Map securely saile :
 Seeing those painted Countries ; and so guesse
 By those fine Shades, their Substances : 80
 And from thy Compasse taking small advice,
 Buy'st Travell at the lowest price.
 Nor are thine eares so deafe, but thou canst heare
 (Far more with wonder, then with feare)
 Fame tell of States, of Countries, Courts, and Kings ; 85
 And beleieve there be such things :
 When of these truths, thy happier knowledge lyes,
 More in thine eares, then in thine eyes.
 And when thou hear'st by that too-true-Report,
 Vice rules the Most, or All at Court : 90
 Thy pious wishes are, (though thou not there)
 Vertue had, and mov'd her Sphere.
 But thou liv'st fearlesse ; and thy face ne'r shewes
 Fortune when she comes, or goes.
 But with thy equall thoughts, prepar'd dost stand, 95
 To take her by the either hand :
 Nor car'st which comes the first, the foule or faire ;
A wise man ev'ry way lies square.
 And like a surly Oke with storms perplex ;
 Growes still the stronger, strongly vext. 100
 Be so, bold spirit ; Stand Center-like, unmov'd ;
 And be not onely thought, but prov'd
 To be what I report thee ; and inure
 Thy selfe, if want comes to endure :
 And so thou dost : for thy desires are 105
 Confin'd to live with private Larr :
 Not curious whether Appetite be fed,
 Or with the first, or second bread.

Who keep'st no proud mouth for delicious cates :
     Hunger makes coorse meats, delicates. 110
 Can'st, and unurg'd, forsake that Larded fare,
     Which Art, not Nature, makes so rare ;
 To taste boyl'd Nettles, Colworts, Beets, and eate
     These, and sowre herbs, as dainty meat ?
 While soft Opinion makes thy Genius say, 115
     Content makes all Ambrosia.
 Nor is it, that thou keep'st this stricter size
     So much for want, as exercise :
 To numb the sence of Dearth, which sho'd sinne haste it,
     Thou might'st but onely see't, not taste it. 120
 Yet can thy humble roofe maintaine a Quire
     Of singing Crickits by thy fire :
 And the brisk Mouse may feast her selfe with crums,
     Till that the green-ey'd Kitling comes.
 Then to her Cabbin, blest she can escape 125
     The sudden danger of a Rape.
 And thus thy little-well-kept-stock doth prove,
     Wealth cannot make a life, but Love.
 Nor art thou so close-handed, but can'st spend
     (Counsell concurring with the end) 130
 As well as spare : still conning o'r this Theame,
     To shun the first, and last extreame
 Ordaining that thy small stock find no breach,
     Or to exceed thy Tether's reach :
 But to live round, and close, and wisely true 135
     To thine owne selfe ; and knowne to few.
 Thus let thy Rurall Sanctuary be
     Elizium to thy wife and thee ;
 There to disport your selves with golden measure :
     For seldome use commends the pleasure. 140
 Live, and live blest ; thrice happy Paire ; Let Breath,
     But lost to one, be th' others death.
 And as there is one Love, one Faith, one Troth,
     Be so one Death, one Grave to both.
 Till when, in such assurance live, ye may 145
     Nor feare, or wish your dying day.

Divination by a Daffadill.

When a Daffadill I see,
Hanging down his head t'wards me ;
Guesse I may, what I must be :
First, I shall decline my head ;
Secondly, I shall be dead ; 5
Lastly, safely buried.

To the Painter, to draw him a Picture.

Come, skilfull Lupo, now, and take
Thy Bice, thy Umber, Pink, and Lake ;
And let it be thy Pensils strife,
To paint a Bridgeman to the life :
Draw him as like too, as you can, 5
An old, poore, lying, flatt'ring man :
His cheeks be-pimpled, red and blue ;
His nose and lips of mulbrie hiew.
Then for an easie fansie ; place
A Burling iron for his face : 10
Next, make his cheeks with breath to swell,
And for to speak, if possible :
But do not so ; for feare, lest he
Sho'd by his breathing, poyson thee.

A Lyrick to Mirth.

While the milder Fates consent,
Let's enjoy our merrymment :
Drink, and dance, and pipe, and play ;
Kisse our Dollies night and day :
Crown'd with clusters of the Vine ; 5
Let us sit, and quaffe our wine.
Call on Bacchus ; chaunt his praise ;
Shake the Thyrse, and bite the Bayes :

Rouze Anacreon from the dead ;
 And return him drunk to bed :
 Sing o're Horace ; for ere long
 Death will come and mar the song :
 Then shall Wilson and Gotiere
 Never sing, or play more here.

10

To the Earle of Westmerland.

When my date's done, and my gray age must die ;
 Nurse up, great Lord, this my posterity :
 Weak though it be ; long may it grow, and stand,
 Shor'd up by you, (Brave Earle of Westmerland.)

Against Love.

When ere my heart, Love's warmth, but entertaines,
 O Frost ! O Snow ! O Haile forbid the Banes.
 One drop now deads a spark ; but if the same
 Once gets a force, Floods cannot quench the flame.
 Rather then love, let me be ever lost ;
 Or let me 'gender with eternall frost.

Upon Julia's Riband.

As shews the Aire, when with a Rain-bow grac'd ;
 So smiles that Riband 'bout my Julia's waste :
 Or like —— Nay 'tis that Zonulet of love,
 Wherein all pleasures of the world are wove.

The frozen Zone: or, Julia disdainfull.

Whither ? Say, whither shall I fly,
 To slack these flames wherein I frie ?
 To the Treasures, shall I goe,
 Of the Raine, Frost, Haile, and Snow ?
 Shall I search the under-ground,
 Where all Damps, and Mists are found ?

Hesperides.

41

Shall I seek (for speedy ease)
All the floods, and frozen seas?
Or descend into the deep,
Where eternall cold does keep? 10
These may coole ; but there's a Zone
Colder yet then any one :
That's my Julia's breast ; where dwels
Such destructive Ysicles ;
As that the Congelation will 15
Me sooner starve, then those can kill.

An Epitaph upon a sober Matron.

With blamelesse carriage, I liv'd here,
'To' th' (almost) sev'n and fortieth yeare.
Stout sons I had, and those twice three ;
One onely daughter lent to me :
'The which was made a happy Bride, 5
But thrice three Moones before she dy'd.
My modest wedlock, that was known
Contented with the bed of one.

To the Patron of Poets,

M. End: Porter.

Let there be Patrons ; Patrons like to thee,
Brave Porter ! Poets ne'r will wanting be :
Fabius, and Cotta, Lentulus, all live
In thee, thou Man of Men ! who here do'st give
Not onely subject-matter for our wit, 5
But likewise Oyle of Maintenance to it :
For which, before thy Threshold, we'll lay downe
Our Thyrs. for Scepter ; and our Baies for Crown.
For to say truth, all Garlands are thy due ;
The Laurell, Mirtle, Oke, and Ivie too. 10

Hesperides.The sadness of things for Sapho's sickness.

Lillies will languish ; Violets look ill ;
 Sickly the Prim-rose : Pale the Daffadill :
 That gallant Tulip will hang down his head,
 Like to a Virgin newly ravished.
 Pansies will weep ; and Marygolds will wither ; 5
 And keep a Fast, and Funerall together,
 If Sapho droop ; Daisies will open never,
 But bid Good-night, and close their lids for ever.

Leanders Obsequies.

When as Leander young was drown'd,
 No heart by love receiv'd a wound ;
 But on a Rock himselfe sate by,
 There weeping sup'rabundantly.
 Sighs numberlesse he cast about, 5
 And all his Tapers thus put out :
 His head upon his hand he laid ;
 And sobbing deeply, thus he said,
 Ah cruell Sea ! and looking on't,
 Wept as he'd drowne the Hellespont, 10
 And sure his tongue had more exprest,
 But that his teares forbad the rest.

Hope heartens.

None goes to warfare, but with this intent ;
 The gaines must dead the feare of detriment.

Health is the first good lent to men ;
 A gentle disposition then :
 Next, to be rich by no by-ways ;
 Lastly, with friends t'enjoy our dayes.

His parting from M<sup>rs</sup> Dorothy Keneday.

When I did goe from thee, I felt that smart,
Which Bodies do, when Souls from them depart.
Thou did'st not mind it ; though thou then might'st see
Me turn'd to tears ; yet did'st not weep for me.
'Tis true, I kist thee ; but I co'd not heare 5
Thee spend a sigh, t'accompany my teare.
Me thought 'twas strange, that thou so hard sho'dst prove,
Whose heart, whose hand, whose ev'ry part spake love.
Prethee (lest Maids sho'd censure thee) but say
Thou shed'st one teare, when as I went away ; 10
And that will please me somewhat : though I know,
And Love will swear't, my Dearest did not so.

The Teare sent to her from Stanes.

1. Glide, gentle streams, and beare
Along with you my teare
To that coy Girle ;
Who smiles, yet slayes
Me with delays ; 5
And strings my tears as Pearle.
2. See ! see she's yonder set,
Making a Carkanet
Of Maiden-flowers !
There, there present 10
This Orient,
And Pendant Pearle of ours.
3. Then say, I've sent one more
Jem to enrich her store ;
And that is all 15
Which I can send,
Or vainly spend,
For tears no more will fall.

Hesperides.

4. Nor will I seek supply
 Of them, the spring's once drie ; 20
     But Ile devise,
     (Among the rest)
     A way that's best
 How I may save mine eyes.
5. Yet say ; sho'd she condemne 25
 Me to surrender them ;
     Then say ; my part
     Must be to weep
     Out them, to keep
 A poore, yet loving heart. 30
6. Say too, She wo'd have this ;
 She shall : Then my hope is,
     That when I'm poore,
     And nothing have
     To send, or save ; 35
 I'm sure she'll ask no more.

Upon one Lillie, who married with a maid call'd Rose.

What times of sweetnesse this faire day fore-shows,
 When as the Lilly marries with the Rose !
 What next is lookt for ? but we all sho'd see
 To spring from these a sweet Posterity.

An Epitaph upon a child.

Virgins promis'd when I dy'd,
 That they wo'd each Primrose-tide,
 Duely, Morne and Ev'ning, come,
 And with flowers dresse my Tomb.
 Having promis'd, pay your debts,
 Maids, and here strew Violets. 5

The Houre-glasse.

That Houre-glasse, which there ye see
With Water fill'd, (Sirs, credit me)
The humour was, (as I have read)
But Lovers tears inchristalled,
Which, as they drop by drop doe passe 5
From th' upper to the under-glasse,
Do in a trickling manner tell,
(By many a watrie syllable)
That Lovers tears in life-time shed,
Do restless run when they are dead. 10

His fare-well to Sack.

Farewell thou Thing, time-past so knowne, so deare
To me, as blood to life and spirit : Neare,
Nay, thou more neare then kindred, friend, man, wife,
Male to the female, soule to body : Life
To quick action, or the warme soft side 5
Of the resigning, yet resisting Bride.
The kisse of Virgins ; First-fruits of the bed ;
Soft speech, smooth touch, the lips, the Maiden-head :
These, and a thousand sweets, co'd never be
So neare, or deare, as thou wast once to me. 10
O thou the drink of Gods, and Angels ! Wine
That scatter'st Spirit and Lust ; whose purest shine,
More radiant then the Summers Sun-beams shows ;
Each way illustrious, brave ; and like to those
Comets we see by night ; whose shagg'd portents 15
Fore-tell the comming of some dire events :
Or some full flame, which with a pride aspires,
Throwing about his wild, and active fires.
'Tis thou, above Nectar, O Divinest soule !
(Eternall in thy self) that canst controule 20
That, which subverts whole nature, grief and care ;
Vexation of the mind, and damn'd Despaire.
'Tis thou, alone, who with thy Mistick Fan,
Work'st more then Wisdome, Art, or Nature can,

To rouze the sacred madnesse ; and awake 25
 The frost-bound-blood, and spirits ; and to make Them frantick with thy raptures, flashing through
 The soule, like lightning, and as active too.
 'Tis not Apollo can, or those thrice three
Castalian Sisters, sing, if wanting thee. 30
Horace, Anacreon both had lost their fame,
 Hadst thou not fill'd them with thy fire and flame.
Phæbean splendour ! and thou Thespian spring !
 Of which, sweet Swans must drink, before they sing
 Their true-pac'd-Numbers, and their Holy-Layes, 35
 Which makes them worthy Cedar, and the Bayes.
 But why ? why longer doe I gaze upon
 Thee with the eye of admiration ?
 Since I must leave thee ; and enforc'd, must say
 'To all thy witching beauties, Goe, Away. 40
 But if thy whimpring looks doe ask me why ?
 Then know, that Nature bids thee goe, not I.
 'Tis her erroneous self has made a braine
 Uncapable of such a Sovereigne,
 As is thy powerful selfe. Prethee not smile ; 45
 Or smile more inly ; lest thy looks beguile
 My vowes denounc'd in zeale, which thus much show thee,
 That I have sworn, but by thy looks to know thee.
 Let others drink thee freely ; and desire
 Thee and their lips espous'd ; while I admire, 50
 And love thee ; but not taste thee. Let my Muse
 Faile of thy former helps ; and onely use
 Her inadult'rate strength : what's done by me
 Hereafter, shall smell of the Lamp, not thee.

Upon Mrs. Eliz: Wheeler, under the name of Amarillis.

Sweet Amarillis, by a Spring's
 Soft and soule-melting murmurings,
 Slept ; and thus sleeping, thither flew
 A Robin-Red-brest ; who at view,
 Not seeing her at all to stir,
 Brought leaves and mosse to cover her :

Hesperides.

47

But while he, perking, there did prie
About the Arch of either eye ;
The lid began to let out day ;
At which poore Robin flew away : 10
And seeing her not dead, but all disleav'd ;
He chirpt for joy, to see himself disceav'd.

To Myrrha hard-hearted.

Fold now thine armes ; and hang the head,
Like to a Lillie withered :
Next, look thou like a sickly Moone ;
Or like Jocasta in a swoone.
Then weep, and sigh, and softly goe, 5
Like to a widdow drown'd in woe :
Or like a Virgin full of ruth,
For the lost sweet-heart of her youth :
And all because, Faire Maid, thou art
Insensible of all my smart ; 10
And of those evill dayes that be
Now posting on to punish thee.
The Gods are easie, and condemne
All such as are not soft like them.

The Eye.

Make me a heaven ; and make me there
Many a lesse and greater spheare.
Make me the straight, and oblique lines ;
The Motions, Latitudes, and the Signes.
Make me a Chariot, and a Sun ; 5
And let them through a Zodiac run :
Next, place me Zones, and Tropicks there ;
With all the Seasons of the Yeare.
Make me a Sun-set ; and a Night :
And then present the Mornings-light 10
Cloath'd in her Chamlets of Delight.

To these, make Clouds to poure downe raine ;
 With weather foule, then faire againe.
 And when, wise Artist, that thou hast,
 With all that can be, this heaven grac't ;
 Ah ! what is then this curious skie,
 But onely my Corinna's eye?

15

*Upon the much lamented,
 . Mr. J. Warr.*

What Wisdome, Learning, Wit, or Worth,
 Youth, or sweet Nature, co'd bring forth,
 Rests here with him ; who was the Fame,
 The Volumne of himselfe, and Name.
 If, Reader, then thou wilt draw neere,
 And doe an honour to thy teare ;
 Weep then for him, for whom laments
 Not one, but many Monuments.

The suspition upon his over-much familiarity with a Gentlewoman.

And must we part, because some say,
 Loud is our love, and loose our play,
 And more then well becomes the day ?
 Alas for pittie ! and for us
 Most innocent, and injur'd thus.
 Had we kept close, or play'd within,
 Suspition now had been the sinne,
 And shame had follow'd long ere this,
 T'ave plagu'd, what now unpunisht is.
 But we as fearlesse of the Sunne,
 As faultlesse ; will not wish undone,
 What now is done : since where no sin

10

Then comely and most fragrant Maid,
Be you more warie, then afraid 15
Of these Reports ; because you see
The fairest most suspected be.
The common formes have no one eye,
Or eare of burning jealousy
To follow them : but chiefly, where 20
Love makes the cheek, and chin a sphere
To dance and play in : (Trust me) there
Suspicion questions every haire.
Come, you are faire ; and sho'd be seen
While you are in your sprightfull green : 25
And what though you had been embrac't
By me, were you for that unchast ?
No, no, no more then is yond' Moone,
Which shining in her perfect Noone ;
In all that great and glorious light, 30
Continues cold, as is the night.
Then, beauteous Maid, you may retire ;
And as for me, my chast desire
Shall move t'wards you ; although I see
Your face no more : So live you free 35
From Fames black lips, as you from me.

Single life most secure.

Suspicion, Discontent, and Strife,
Come in for Dowrie with a Wife.

The Curse. A Song.

Goe, perjur'd man ; and if thou ere return
To see the small remainders in mine Urne :
When thou shalt laugh at my Religious dust ;
And ask, Where's now the colour, forme and trust 5
Of Womans beauty ? and with hand more rude
Rifle the Flowers which the Virgins strew'd :
Know, I have pray'd to Furie, that some wind
May blow my ashes up, and strike thee blind.

The wounded Cupid. Song.

Cupid as he lay among
Roses, by a Bee was stung.
 Whereupon in anger flying
 To his Mother, said thus crying ;
 Help ! O help ! your Boy's a dying. 5
 And why, my pretty Lad, said she ?
 Then blubbering, replied he,
 A winged Snake has bitten me,
 Which Country people call a Bee.
 At which she smil'd ; then with her hairs 10
 And kisses drying up his tears :
 Alas ! said she, my Wag ! if this
 Such a pernicious torment is :
 Come tel me then, how great's the smart
 Of those, thou woundest with thy Dart ! 15

To Dewes. A Song.

I burn, I burn ; and beg of you
 To quench, or coole me with your Dew.
 I frie in fire, and so consume,
 Although the Pile be all perfume.
 Alas ! the heat and death's the same ; 5
 Whether by choice, or common flame :
 To be in Oyle of Roses drown'd,
 Or water ; where's the comfort found ?
 Both bring one death ; and I die here,
 Unlesse you coole me with a Teare : 10
 Alas ! I call ; but ah ! I see
 Ye coole, and comfort all, but me.

Some comfort in calamity.

To conquer'd men, some comfort 'tis to fall
 By th'hand of him who is the Generall.

The Vision.

Sitting alone (as one forsook)
Close by a Silver-shedding Brook ;
With hands held up to Love, I wept ;
And after sorrowes spent, I slept :
Then in a Vision I did see 5
A glorious forme appeare to me :
A Virgins face she had ; her dresse
Was like a sprightly Spartanesse.
A silver bow with green silk strung,
Down from her comely shoulders hung : 10
And as she stood, the wanton Aire
Dandled the ringlets of her haire.
Her legs were such Diana shows,
When tuckt up she a hunting goes ;
With Buskins shortned to descrie 15
The happy dawning of her thigh :
Which when I saw, I made accesse
To kisse that tempting nakednesse :
But she forbad me, with a wand
Of Mirtle she had in her hand : 20
And chiding me, said, Hence, Remove,
Herrick, thou art too coorse to love.

Love me little, love me long.

You say, to me-wards your affection's strong ;
Pray love me little, so you love me long.
Slowly goes farre : The meane is best : Desire
Grown violent, do's either die, or tire.

Upon a Virgin kissing a Rose.

'Twas but a single Rose,
Till you on it did breathe ;
But since (me thinks) it shows
Not so much Rose, as Wreathe.

Upon a Wife that dyed mad with Jealousie.

In this little Vault she lyes,
 Here, with all her jealousies :
 Quiet yet ; but if ye make
 Any noise, they both will wake,
 And such spirits raise, 'twill then
 Trouble Death to lay agen.

Upon the Bishop of Lincolne's Imprisonment.

Never was Day so over-sick with showres,
 But that it had some intermitting houres.
 Never was Night so tedious, but it knew
 The Last Watch out, and saw the Dawning too.
 Never was Dungeon so obscurely deep, 5
 Wherein or Light, or Day, did never peep.
 Never did Moone so ebbe, or seas so wane,
 But they left Hope-seed to fill up againe.
 So you, my Lord, though you have now your stay,
 Your Night, your Prison, and your Ebbe ; you may 10
 Spring up afresh ; when all these mists are spent,
 And Star-like, once more, guild our Firmament.
 Let but That Mighty Cesar speak, and then,
 All bolts, all barres, all gates shall cleave ; as when
 That Earth-quake shook the house, and gave the stout 15
 Apostles, way (unshackled) to goe out.
 This, as I wish for, so I hope to see ;
 Though you (my Lord) have been unkind to me :
 To wound my heart, and never to apply,
 (When you had power) the meanest remedy : 20
 Well ; though my grieve by you was gall'd, the more ;
 Yet I bring Balme and Oile to heal your sore.

Cynthus pluck ye by the eare,
 That ye may good doctrine heare.
 Play not with the maiden-haire ;
 For each Ringlet there's a snare.

Cheek, and eye, and lip, and chin ;	5
These are traps to take fooles in.
Armes, and hands, and all parts else,
Are but Toiles, or Manicles
Set on purpose to enthrall
Men, but Slothfulls most of all.	10
Live employ'd, and so live free
From these fetters ; like to me
Who have found, and still can prove,
The lazie man the most doth love.

An Epithalamie to Sir Thomas Southwell and his Ladie.

I.

Now, now's the time ; so oft by truth
Promis'd sho'd come to crown your youth.
Then Faire ones, doe not wrong
Your joyes, by staying long :
Or let Love's fire goe out,	5
By lingring thus in doubt :
But learn, that Time once lost,
Is ne'r redeem'd by cost.
Then away ; come, Hymen guide
To the bed, the bashfull Bride.	10

II.

Is it (sweet maid) your fault these holy
Bridall-Rites goe on so slowly ?
Deare, is it this you dread,
The losse of Maiden-head ?
Beleeve me ; you will most	15
Esteeme it when 'tis lost :
Then it no longer keep,
Lest Issue lye asleep.
Then away ; come, Hymen guide
To the bed, the bashfull Bride.	20

III.

These Precious-Pearly-Purling teares,
 But spring from ceremonious feares.
 And 'tis but Native shame,
 That hides the loving flame :
 And may a while controule 25
 The soft and am'rous soule ;
 But yet, Loves fire will wast
 Such bashfulnesse at last.
 Then away ; come, Hymen guide
 To the bed, the bashfull Bride. 30

IV.

Night now hath watch'd her self half blind ;
 Yet not a Maiden-head resign'd !
 'Tis strange, ye will not flie
 To Love's sweet mysterie.
 Might yon Full-Moon the sweets 35
 Have, promis'd to your sheets ;
 She soon wo'd leave her spheare,
 To be admitted there.
 Then away ; come, Hymen guide
 To the bed, the bashfull Bride. 40

V.

On, on devoutly, make no stay ;
 While Domiduca leads the way :
 And Genius who attends
 The bed for luckie ends :
 With Juno goes the houres, 45
 And Graces strewing flowers.
 And the boyes with sweet tunes sing,
Hymen, O Hymen bring Home the Turtles ; Hymen guide
 To the bed, the bashfull Bride. 50

VI.

Behold ! how Hymens Taper-light
 Shews you how much is spent of night.
 See, see the Bride-grooms Torch
 Halfe wasted in the porch.

Hesperides.

55

And now those Tapers five,
That shew the womb shall thrive :
Their silv'rie flames advance,
To tell all prosp'rous chance
Still shall crown the happy life
Of the good man and the wife.

60

VII.

Move forward then your Rosie feet,
And make, what ere they touch, turn sweet.
May all, like flowrie Meads
Smell, where your soft foot treads ;
And every thing assume
To it, the like perfume :
As Zephyrus when he 'spires
Through Woodbine, and Sweet-bryers.
Then away ; come Hymen, guide
To the bed the bashfull Bride.

70

VIII.

And now the yellow Vaile, at last,
Over her fragrant cheek is cast.
Now seems she to expresse
A bashfull willingnesse :
Shewing a heart consenting ;
As with a will repenting.
Then gently lead her on
With wise suspicion :
For that, Matrons say, a measure
Of that Passion sweetens Pleasure.

80

IX.

You, you that be of her neerest kin,
Now o're the threshold force her in.
But to avert the worst ;
Let her, her fillets first
Knit to the posts : this point
Remembring, to anoint
The sides : for 'tis a charme
Strong against future harme :
And the evil deads, the which
There was hidden by the Witch.

90

X.

O Venus ! thou, to whom is known
 The best way how to loose the Zone
     Of Virgins ! Tell the Maid,
     She need not be afraid :
     And bid the Youth apply
     Close kisses, if she cry :
     And charge, he not forbears
     Her, though she wooe with teares.
 Tel them, now they must aduenter,
 Since that Love and Night bid enter.

100

XI.

No Fatal Owle the Bedsted keeps,
 With direful notes to fright your sleeps :
     No Furies, here about,
     To put the Tapers out,
     Watch, or did make the bed :
     ’Tis Omen full of dread :
     But all faire signs appeare
     Within the Chamber here.
Juno here, far off, doth stand
 Cooling sleep with charming wand.

105

110

XII.

Virgins, weep not ; ’twill come, when,
 As she, so you’l be ripe for men.
     Then grieve her not, with saying
     She must no more a Maying :
     Or by Rose-buds devine,
     Who’l be her Valentine.
     Nor name those wanton reaks
     Y’ave had at Barly-breaks.
 But now kisse her, and thus say,
 Take time Lady while ye may.

120

XIII.

Now barre the doors, the Bride-groom puts
 The eager Boyes to gather Nuts.
     And now, both Love and Time
     To their full height doe clime :

O ! give them active heat
And moisture, both compleat :
Fit Organs for encrease,
To keep, and to release
That, which may the honour'd Stem
Circle with a Diadem. 125
130

XIV.

And now, Behold ! the Bed or Couch
That ne'r knew Brides, or Bride-grooms touch,
Feels in it selfe a fire ;
And tickled with Desire,
Pants with a Downie brest, 135
As with a heart possest :
Shrugging as it did move,
Ev'n with the soule of love.
And (oh !) had it but a tongue,
Doves, 'two'd say, yee bill too long. 140

XV.

O enter then ! but see ye shun
A sleep, untill the act be done.
Let kisses, in their close,
Breathe as the Damask Rose :
Or sweet, as is that gumme 145
Doth from Panchaia come.
Teach Nature now to know,
Lips can make Cherries grow
Sooner, then she, ever yet,
In her wisdom co'd beget. 150

XVI.

On your minutes, hours, dayes, months, years,
Drop the fat blessing of the spears.
That good, which Heav'n can give
To make you bravely live ;
Fall, like a spangling dew, 155
By day, and night on you.
May Fortunes Lilly-hand
Open at your command ;
With all luckie Birds to side
With the Bride-groom, and the Bride. 160

XVII.

Let bounteous Fate your spindles full
Fill, and winde up with whitest wooll.

Let them not cut the thred
Of life, untill ye bid.

May Death yet come at last ;

165

And not with desp'rate hast :

But when ye both can say,

Come, Let us now away.

Be ye to the Barn then born,

Two, like two ripe shocks of corn.

170

Teares are Tongues.

When Julia chid, I stood as mute the while,

As is the fish, or tonguelesse Crocadile.

Aire coynd to words, my Julia co'd not heare ;

But she co'd see each eye to stamp a teare :

By which, mine angry Mistresse might descry,

Teares are the noble language of the eye.

And when true love of words is destitute,

The Eyes by tears speak, while the Tongue is mute.

Upon a young mother of many children.

Let all chaste Matrons, when they chance to see

My num'rous issue : Praise, and pitty me.

Praise me, for having such a fruitfull wombe ;

Pitty me too, who found so soone a Tomb.

To Electra.

Ile come to thee in all those shapes

As Jove did, when he made his rapes :

Onely, Ile not appeare to thee,

As he did once to Scemele.

Thunder and Lightning Ile lay by,

To talk with thee familiarly.

Which done, then quickly we'll undresse

To one and th'others nakednesse.

And ravisht, plunge into the bed,
(Bodies and souls commingled)
And kissing, so as none may heare,
We'll weary all the Fables there.

10

It is sufficient if we pray
To Jove, who gives, and takes away :
Let him the Land and Living finde ;
Let me alone to fit the mind.

His Protestation to Perilla.

Noone-day and Midnight shall at once be seene :
Trees, at one time, shall be both sere and greene :
Fire and water shall together lye
In one-self-sweet-conspiring sympathie :
Summer and Winter shall at one time show
Ripe eares of corne, and up to th'eaes in snow :
Seas shall be sandlesse ; Fields devoid of grasse ;
Shapelesse the world (as when all Chaos was)
Before, my deare Perilla, I will be False to my vow, or fall away from thee.

Love perfumes all parts.

If I kisse Anthea's brest,
There I smell the Phenix nest :
If her lip, the most sincere
Altar of Incense, I smell there.
Hands, and thighs, and legs, are all
Richly Aromaticall.
Goddesse Isis cann't transfer
Musks and Ambers more from her :
Nor can Juno sweeter be,
When she lyes with Jove, then she.

10

Hesperides.To Julia.

Permit me, Julia, now to goe away ;
 Or by thy love, decree me here to stay.
 If thou wilt say, that I shall live with thee ;
 Here shall my endless Tabernacle be :
 If not, (as banisht) I will live alone
 There, where no language ever yet was known.

On himselfe.

Love-sick I am, and must endure
 A desp'rate grief, that finds no cure.
 Ah me ! I try ; and trying, prove,
No Herbs have power to cure Love.
 Only one Sovereign salve, I know,
 And that is Death, the end of Woe.

Vertue is sensible of suffering.

Though a wise man all pressures can sustaine ;
 His vertue still is sensible of paine :
 Large shoulders though he has, and well can beare,
 He feeles when Packs do pinch him ; and the where.

The cruell Maid.

And Cruell Maid, because I see
 You scornfull of my love, and me :
 Ile trouble you no more ; but goe
 My way, where you shall never know
 What is become of me : there I
 Will find me out a path to die ;
 Or learne some way how to forget
 You, and your name, for ever : yet

Hesperides.

61

Ere I go hence ; know this from me,
What will, in time, your Fortune be : 10
This to your coyneſſe I will tell ;
And having ſpoke it once, Farewell.
The Lillie will not long endure ;
Nor the Snow continue pure :
The Rose, the Violet, one day 15
See, both theſe Lady-flowers decay :
And you muſt fade, as well as they.
And it may chance that Love may turn,
And (like to mine) make your heart burn
And weep to ſee't ; yet this thing doe, 20
That my laſt Vow commends to you :
When you ſhall ſee that I am dead,
For pittie let a teare be ſhed ;
And (with your Mantle o're me caſt)
Give my cold lips a kiſſe at laſt : 25
If twice you kiſſe, you need not feare,
That I ſhall ſtir, or live more here.
Next, hollow out a Tombe to cover
Me ; me, the moſt deſpiſed Lover :
And write thereon, This, Reader, know,
Love kill'd this man. No more but ſo. 30

To Dianeme.

Sweet, be not proud of thoſe two eyes,
Which Star-like ſparkle in their ſkies :
Nor be you proud, that you can ſee
All hearts your captives ; yours, yet free :
Be you not proud of that rich haire, 5
Which wantons with the Love-ſick aire :
When as that Rubie, which you weare,
Sunk from the tip of your ſoft eare,
Will laſt to be a precious Stone,
When all your world of Beautie's gone. 10

TO THE KING,

To cure the Evill.

To find that Tree of Life, whose Fruits did feed,
 And Leaves did heale, all sick of humane seed :
 To finde Bethesda, and an Angel there,
 Stirring the waters, I am come ; and here,
 At last, I find, (after my much to doe) 5
 The Tree, Bethesda, and the Angel too :
 And all in Your Blest Hand, which has the powers
 Of all those suppling-healing herbs and flowers.
 To that soft Charm, that Spell, that Magick Bough,
 That high Enchantment I betake me now : 10
 And to that Hand, (the Branch of Heavens faire Tree)
 I kneele for help ; O ! lay that hand on me,
 Adored Cesar ! and my Faith is such,
 I shall be heal'd, if that my King but touch.
 The Evill is not Yours : my sorrow sings, 15
 Mine is the Evill, but the Cure, the K I N G s.

His misery in a Mistresse.

Water, Water I espie :
 Come, and coole ye ; all who frie
 In your loves ; but none as I.

Though a thousand showres be
 Still a falling, yet I see 5
 Not one drop to light on me.

Happy you, who can have seas
 For to quench ye, or some ease
 From your kinder Mistresses.

I have one, and she alone,
Of a thousand thousand known,
Dead to all compassion. 10

Such an one, as will repeat
Both the cause, and make the heat
More by Provocation great. 15

Gentle friends, though I despaire
Of my cure, doe you beware
Of those Girles, which cruell are.

To a Gentlewoman objecting to him his gray haire.

Am I despis'd, because you say,
And I dare sweare, that I am gray?
Know, Lady, you have but your day :
And time will come when you shall weare
Such frost and snow upon your haire : 5
And when (though long it comes to passe)
You question with your Looking-glasse ;
And in that sincere Christall seek,
But find no Rose-bud in your cheek :
Nor any bed to give the shew 10
Where such a rare Carnation grew.
Ah ! then too late, close in your chamber keeping,
It will be told
That you are old ;
By those true teares y'are weeping. 15

To Cedars.

If 'mongst my many Poems, I can see
One, onely, worthy to be washt by thee :
I live for ever ; let the rest all lye
In dennes of Darkness, or condemn'd to die.

Upon Cupid.

Love, like a Gypsie, lately came ;
 And did me much importune
 To see my hand ; that by the same
 He might fore-tell my Fortune.

He saw my Palme ; and then, said he,
 I tell thee, by this score here ;
 That thou, within few months, shalt be
 The youthfull Prince D'Amour here.

I smil'd ; and bade him once more prove,
 And by some crosse-line show it ;
 That I co'd ne'r be Prince of Love,
 Though here the Princely Poet.

10

How Primroses came green.

Virgins, time-past, known were these,
 Troubled with Green-sicknesses,
 Turn'd to flowers : Stil the hieu
 Sickly Girles, they beare of you.

To Jos: Lo: Bishop of Exeter.

Whom sho'd I feare to write to, if I can
 Stand before you, my learn'd Diocesan ?
 And never shew blood-guiltinesse, or feare
 To see my Lines Excathedrated here.
 Since none so good are, but you may condemne
 Or here so bad, but you may pardon them.
 If then, (my Lord) to sanctifie my Muse
 One onely Poem out of all you'l chuse ;
 And mark it for a Rapture nobly writ,
 'Tis Good Confirm'd ; for you have Bishop't it.

Upon a black Twist, rounding the Arme of the Countesse of Carlile.

I saw about her spotlesse wrist,
Of blackest silk, a curious twist ;
Which, circumvolving gently, there
Enthrall'd her Arme, as Prisoner.
Dark was the Jayle ; but as if light 5
Had met t'engender with the night ;
Or so, as Darknesse made a stay
To shew at once, both night and day.
One<sup>1</sup> fancie more ! but if there be
Such Freedome in Captivity ; 10
I beg of Love, that ever I
May in like Chains of Darknesse lie.

On himselfe.

I feare no Earthly Powers ;
But care for crowns of flowers :
And love to have my Beard
With Wine and Oile besmear'd.
This day Ile drowne all sorrow ; 5
Who knowes to live to morrow ?

A Ring presented to Julia.

Julia, I bring
To thee this Ring.
Made for thy finger fit ;
To shew by this,
That our love is 5
Or sho'd be) like to it.

Close though it be,
The joynt is free :
So when Love's yoke is on,
It must not gall, 10
Or fret at all
With hard oppression.

<sup>1</sup> In the original 'I' ; the compositor mistook the roman numeral I for a pronoun

Hesperides.

But it must play
 Still either way ;
 And be, too, such a yoke, 15
     As not too wide,
     To over-slide ;
 Or be so strait to choak.

So we, who beare,
     This beame, must reare 20
 Our selves to such a height :
     As that the stay
     Of either may
 Create the burden light.

And as this round 25
     Is no where found
 To flaw, or else to sever :
     So let our love
     As endless prove ;
 And pure as Gold for ever. 30

To the Detracter.

Where others love, and praise my Verses ; still
 Thy long-black-Thumb-nail marks 'em out for ill :
 A fellow take it, or some Whit-flaw come
 For to unslate, or to untile that thumb !
 But cry thee Mercy : Exercise thy nailes 5
 To scratch or claw, so that thy tongue not railes :
 Some numbers prurient are, and some of these
 Are wanton with their itch ; scratch, and 'twill please.

Upon the same.

I ask't thee oft, what Poets thou hast read,
 And lik'st the best? Still thou reply'st, The dead.
 I shall, ere long, with green turfs cover'd be ;
 Then sure thou't like, or thou wilt envie me.

Julia's Petticoat.

Thy Azure Robe, I did behold,
As ayrie as the leaves of gold ;
Which erring here, and wandring there,
Pleas'd with transgression ev'ry where :
Sometimes 'two'd pant, and sigh, and heave, 5
As if to stir it scarce had leave :
But having got it ; thereupon,
'Two'd make a brave expansion.
And pounc't with Stars, it shew'd to me
Like a Celestiall Canopie. 10
Sometimes 'two'd blaze, and then abate,
Like to a flame growne moderate :
Sometimes away 'two'd wildly fling ;
Then to thy thighs so closely cling,
That some conceit did melt me downe, 15
As Lovers fall into a swoone :
And all confus'd, I there did lie
Drown'd in Delights ; but co'd not die.
That Leading Cloud, I follow'd still,
Hoping t'ave seene of it my fill ; 20
But ah ! I co'd not : sho'd it move
To Life Eternal, I co'd love.

To Musick.

Begin to charme, and as thou stroak'st mine eares
With thy enchantment, melt me into tears.
Then let thy active hand scu'd o're thy Lyre :
And make my spirits frantick with the fire.
That done, sink down into a silv'rie straine ; 5
And make me smooth as Balme, and Oile againe.

Distrust.

To safe-guard Man from wrongs, there nothing must
Be truer to him, then a wise Distrust.
And to thy selfe be best this sentence knowne,
Heare all men speak ; but credit few or none.

Corinna's going a Maying.

Get up, get up for shame, the Blooming Morne
Upon her wings presents the god unshorne.

See how Aurora throws her faire
Fresh-quilted colours through the aire :

Get up, sweet-Slug-a-bed, and see

The Dew-bespangling Herbe and Tree.

Each Flower has wept, and bow'd toward the East,

Above an houre since ; yet you not drest,

Nay ! not so much as out of bed ?

When all the Birds have Mattens seyed,

10

And sung their thankfull Hymnes : 'tis sin,

Nay, profanation to keep in,

When as a thousand Virgins on this day,

Spring, sooner then the Lark, to fetch in May.

Rise ; and put on your Foliage, and be seene

15

To come forth, like the Spring-time, fresh and greene ;

And sweet as Flora. Take no care

For Jewels for your Gowne, or Haire :

Feare not ; the leaves will strew

Gemms in abundance upon you :

20

Besides, the childhood of the Day has kept,

Against you come, some Orient Pearls unwept :

Come, and receive them while the light

Hangs on the Dew-locks of the night :

And Titan on the Eastern hill

25

Retires himselfe, or else stands still

Till you come forth. Wash, dresse, be brieft in praying :

Few Beads are best, when once we goe a Maying.

Come, my Corinna, come ; and comming, marke

How each field turns a street ; each street a Parke

30

Made green, and trimm'd with trees : see how

Devotion gives each House a Bough,

Or Branch : Each Porch, each doore, ere this,

An Arke a Tabernacle is Made up of white-thorn neatly enterwove ;

35

As if here were those cooler shades of love.

Can such delights be in the street,
 And open fields, and we not see't?
 Come, we'll abroad ; and let's obay
 The Proclamation made for May : 40
 And sin no more, as we have done, by staying ;
 But my Corinna, come, let's goe a Maying.

There's not a budding Boy, or Girle, this day,
 But is got up, and gone to bring in May.
 A deale of Youth, ere this, is come 45
 Back, and with White-thorn laden home.
 Some have dispatcht their Cakes and Creame,
 Before that we have left to dreame :
 And some have wept, and woo'd, and plighted Troth,
 And chose their Priest, ere we can cast off sloth : 50
 Many a green-gown has been given ;
 Many a kisse, both odde and even :
 Many a glance too has been sent
 From out the eye, Loves Firmament :
 Many a jest told of the Keyes betraying 55
 This night, and Locks pickt, yet w'are not a Maying.

Come, let us goe, while we are in our prime ;
 And take the harmlesse follie of the time.
 We shall grow old apace, and die
 Before we know our liberty. 60
 Our life is short ; and our dayes run
 As fast away as do's the Sunne :
 And as a vapour, or a drop of raine
 Once lost, can ne'r be found againe :
 So when or you or I are made 65
 A fable, song, or fleeting shade ;
 All love, all liking, all delight
 Lies drown'd with us in endlesse night.
 Then while time serves, and we are but decaying ;
 Come, my Corinna, come, let's goe a Maying. 70

On Julia's breath.

Breathe, Julia, breathe, and Ile protest,
 Nay more, Ile deeply sware,
 That all the Spices of the East
 Are circumfused there.

Upon a Child. An Epitaph.

But borne, and like a short Delight,
 I glided by my Parents sight.
 That done, the harder Fates deny'd
 My longer stay, and so I dy'd.
 If pittying my sad Parents Teares, 5
 You'll spil a tear, or two with theirs :
 And with some flowrs my grave bestrew,
 Love and they'l thank you for't. Adieu.

A Dialogue betwixt Horace and Lydia, Translated
Anno 1627. and set by Mr. Ro: Ramsey.

- Hor.* While, Lydia, I was lov'd of thee,
 Nor any was preferr'd 'fore me
 To hug thy whitest neck : Then I,
 The Persian King liv'd not more happily.
- Lyd.* While thou no other didst affect, 5
 Nor Cloe was of more respect ;
 Then Lydia, far-fam'd Lydia,
 I flourish't more then Roman Ilia.
- Hor.* Now Thracian Cloe governs me,
 Skilfull i' th' Harpe, and Melodie : 10
 For whose affection, Lydia, I
 (So Fate spares her) am well content to die.
- Lyd.* My heart now set on fire is
 By Ornithes sonne, young Calais ;
 For whose commutuell flames here I 15
 (To save his life) twice am content to die.
- Hor.* Say our first loves we sho'd revoke,
 And sever'd, joyne in brazen yoke :
 Admit I Cloe put away,
 And love againe love-cast-off Lydia ? 20

Lyd. Though mine be brighter then the Star ;
 Thou lighter then the Cork by far :
 Rough as th' Adratick sea, yet I
 Will live with thee, or else for thee will die.

*The captiv'd Bee : or,
 The little Filcher.*

As Julia once a-slumb'ring lay,
 It chanc't a Bee did flie that way,
 (After a dew, or dew-like shower)
 To tipple freely in a flower.
 For some rich flower, he took the lip 5
 Of Julia, and began to sip ;
 But when he felt he suckt from thence
 Hony, and in the quintessence :
 He drank so much he scarce co'd stir ;
 So Julia took the Pilferer. 10
 And thus surpriz'd (as Filchers use)
 He thus began himselfe t'excuse :
 Sweet Lady-Flower, I never brought
 Hither the least one theeving thought :
 But taking those rare lips of yours 15
 For some fresh, fragrant, luscious flowers :
 I thought I might there take a taste,
 Where so much sirrop ran at waste.
 Besides, know this, I never sting
 The flower that gives me nourishing : 20
 But with a kisse, or thanks, doe pay
 For Honie, that I beare away.
 This said, he laid his little scrip
 Of hony, 'fore her Ladiship :
 And told her, (as some tears did fall) 25
 That, that he took, and that was all.
 At which she smil'd ; and bade him goe
 And take his bag ; but thus much know,
 When next he came a pilfring so,
 He sho'd from her full lips derive, 30
 Hony enough to fill his hive.

Hesperides.

73

Let us not then so rudely henceforth goe 5
Till we have wept, kist, sigh't, shook hands, or so.
'There's paine in parting ; and a kind of hell,
When once true-lovers take their last Fare-well.
What? shall we two our endlesse leaves take here
Without a sad looke, or a solemne teare? 10
He knowes not Love, that hath not this truth proved,
Love is most loth to leave the thing beloved.
Pay we our Vowes, and goe ; yet when we part,
Then, even then, I will bequeath my heart
Into thy loving hands : For Ile keep none 15
To warme my Breast, when thou my Pulse art gone.
No, here Ile last, and walk (a harmless shade)
About this Urne, wherein thy Dust is laid,
To guard it so, as nothing here shall be
Heavy, to hurt those sacred seeds of thee. 20

The Olive Branch.

Sadly I walk't within the field,
'To see what comfort it wo'd yeeld :
And as I went my private way,
An Olive-branch before me lay :
And seeing it, I made a stay. 5
And took it up, and view'd it ; then
Kissing the Omen, said Amen :
Be, be it so, and let this be
A Divination unto me :
'That in short time my woes shall cease ; 10
And Love shall crown my End with Peace

To Cherry-blossomes.

Ye may simper, blush, and smile,
And perfume the aire a while :
But (sweet things) ye must be gone ;
Fruit, ye know, is comming on :
Then, Ah ! Then, where is your grace, 5
When as Cherries come in place?

How Lillies came white.

White though ye be ; yet, Lillies, know,
From the first ye were not so :

But Ile tell ye

What befell ye ;

Cupid and his Mother lay

In a Cloud ; while both did play

He with his pretty finger prest

The rubie niplet of her breast ;

Out of the which, the creame of light,

Like to a Dew,

10

Fell downe on you,

And made ye white.

To Pansies.

Ah, cruell Love ! must I endure

Thy many scorns, and find no cure ?

Say, are thy medicines made to be

Helps to all others, but to me ?

Ile leave thee, and to Pansies come ;

Comforts you'll afford me some :

You can ease my heart, and doe

What Love co'd ne'r be brought unto.

On Gelli-flowers begotten.

What was't that fell but now

From that warme kisse of ours ?

Look, look, by Love I vow

They were two Gelli-flowers.

Let's kisse, and kisse agen ;

For if so be our closes

Make Gelli-flowers, then

I'm sure they'l fashion Roses.

The Lilly in a Christal.

You have beheld a smiling Rose
 When Virgins hands have drawn
 O'r it a Cobweb-Lawne :
 And here, you see, this Lilly shows,
 Tomb'd in a Christal stone, 5
 More faire in this transparent case,
 Then when it grew alone :
 And had but single grace.

 You see how Creame but naked is ;
 Nor daunces in the eye 10
 Without a Strawberry :
 Or some fine tincture, like to this,
 Which draws the sight thereto,
 More by that wantoning with it ;
 Then when the paler hieu 15
 No mixture did admit.

 You see how Amber through the streams
 More gently stroaks the sight,
 With some conceal'd delight ;
 Then when he darts his radiant beams 20
 Into the boundlesse aire :
 Where either too much light his worth
 Doth all at once impaire,
 Or set it little forth.

 Put Purple Grapes, or Cherries in- 25
 To Glasse, and they will send
 More beauty to commend
 Them, from that cleane and subtile skin,
 Then if they naked stood,
 And had no other pride at all, 30
 But their own flesh and blood,
 And tinctures naturall.

 Thus Lillie, Rose, Grape, Cherry, Creame,
 And Straw-berry do stir
 More love, when they transfer 35
 A weak, a soft, a broken beame ;

Then if they sho'd discover
 At full their proper excellence ;
 Without some Scean cast over,
 To juggle with the sense. 40

Thus let this Christal'd Lillie be
 A Rule, how far to teach,
 Your nakednesse must reach :
 And that, no further, then we see
 Those glaring colours laid 45
 By Arts wise hand, but to this end
 They sho'd obey a shade ;
 Lest they too far extend.

So though y'are white as Swan, or Snow,
 And have the power to move 50
 A world of men to love :
 Yet, when your Lawns & Silks shal flow ;
 And that white cloud divide
 Into a doubtful Twi-light ; then,
 Then will your hidden Pride 55
 Raise greater fires in men.

To his Booke.

Like to a Bride, come forth my Book, at last,
 With all thy richest jewels over-cast :
 Say, if there be 'mongst many jems here ; one
 Deservelesse of the name of Paragon :
 Blush not at all for that ; since we have set 5
 Some Pearls on Queens, that have been counterfet.

Upon some women.

Thou who wilt not love, doe this ;
 Learne of me what Woman is.
 Something made of thred and thrumme ;
 A meere Botch of all and some.
 Pieces, patches, ropes of haire ; 5
 In-laid Garbage ev'ry where.

Out-side silk, and out-side Lawne ;
 Sceanes to cheat us neatly drawne.
 False in legs, and false in thighes ;
 False in breast, teeth, haire, and eyes : 10
 False in head, and false enough ;
 Onely true in shreds and stuffe.

While leanest Beasts in Pastures feed,
The fattest Oxe the first must bleed.

The Welcome to Sack.

So soft streams meet, so springs with gladder smiles
 Meet after long divorcement by the Iles :
 When Love (the child of likeness) urgeth on
 Their Christal natures to an union.
 So meet stolne kisses, when the Moonie nights 5
 Call forth fierce Lovers to their wisht Delights :
 So Kings & Queens meet, when Desire convinces
 All thoughts, but such as aime at getting Princes,
 As I meet thee. Soule of my life, and fame !
 Eternall Lamp of Love ! whose radiant flame 10
 Out-glares the Heav'ns * Osiris ; and thy gleams * The Sun.
 Out-shine the splendour of his mid-day beams.
 Welcome, O welcome my illustrious Spouse :
 Welcome as are the ends unto my Vowes :
 I ! far more welcome then the happy soile, 15
 The Sea-scourg'd Merchant, after all his toile,
 Salutes with tears of joy ; when fires betray
 The smoakie chimneys of his Ithaca.
 Where hast thou been so long from my embraces,
 Poore pittied Exile ? Tell me, did thy Graces 20
 Flie discontented hence, and for a time
 Did rather choose to blesse another clime ?
 Or went'st thou to this end, the more to move me,
 By thy short absence, to desire and love thee ?
 Why frowns my Sweet ? Why won't my Saint confer 25
 Favours on me, her fierce Idolater ?

Why are Those Looks, Those Looks the which have been
 Time-past so fragrant, sickly now drawn in
 Like a dull Twi-light? Tell me ; and the fault
 Ile expiate with Sulphur, Haire, and Salt : 30
 And with the Christal humour of the spring,
 Purge hence the guilt, and kill this quarrelling.
 Wo't thou not smile, or tell me what's amisse?
 Have I been cold to hug thee, too remisse,
 Too temp'rate in embracing? Tell me, ha's desire 35
 To thee-ward dy'd i'th'embers, and no fire
 Left in this rak't-up Ash-heap, as a mark
 To testifie the glowing of a spark?
 Have I divorc't thee onely to combine
 In hot Adult'ry with another Wine? 40
 True, I confesse I left thee, and appeale
 'Twas done by me, more to confirme my zeale,
 And double my affection on thee ; as doe those,
 Whose love growes more enflam'd, by being Foes.
 But to forsake thee ever, co'd there be 45
 A thought of such like possibilitie?
 When thou thy selfe dar'st say, thy Iles shall lack Grapes, before Herrick leaves Canarie Sack.
 Thou mak'st me ayrie, active to be born,
 Like Iphychus, upon the tops of Corn. 50
 Thou mak'st me nimble, as the winged howers,
 To dance and caper on the heads of flowers,
 And ride the Sun-beams. Can there be a thing
 Under the heavenly **Isis*, that can bring * The Moon.
 More love unto my life, or can present 55
 My Genius with a fuller blandishment?
 Illustrious Idoll ! co'd th' Egyptians seek Help from the Garlick, Onyon, and the Leek,
 And pay no vowes to thee? who wast their best
 God, and far more transcendent then the rest? 60
 Had Cassius, that weak Water-drinker, known
 Thee in thy Vine, or had but tasted one
 Small Chalice of thy frantick liquor ; Ile
 As the wise Cato had approv'd of thee.
 Had not **Joves* son, that brave Tyrinthian Swain, * Hercules.
 (Invited to the Thesbian banquet) ta'ne 66
 Full goblets of thy gen'rous blood ; his spright
 Ne'r had kept heat for fifty Maids that night.

Come, come and kisse me ; Love and lust commends
 Thee, and thy beauties ; kisse, we will be friends, 70
 Too strong for Fate to break us : Look upon
 Me, with that full pride of complexion,
 As Queenes, meet Queenes ; or come thou unto me,
 As Cleopatra came to Anthonie ;
 When her high carriage did at once present 75
 To the Triumvir, Love and Wonderment.
 Swell up my nerves with spirit ; let my blood
 Run through my veines, like to a hasty flood.
 Fill each part full of fire, active to doe
 What thy commanding soule shall put it to. 80
 And till I turne Apostate to thy love,
 Which here I vow to serve, doe not remove
 Thy Fiers from me ; but Apollo's curse
 Blast these-like actions, or a thing that's worse ;
 When these Circumstants shall but live to see 85
 The time that I prevaricate from thee.
 Call me The sonne of Beere, and then confine
 Me to the Tap, the Tost, the Turfe ; Let Wine
 Ne'r shine upon me ; May my Numbers all
 Run to a sudden Death, and Funerall. 90
 And last, when thee (deare Spouse) I disavow,
 Ne'r may Prophetique Daphne crown my Brow.

Impossibilities to his friend.

My faithful friend, if you can see
 The Fruit to grow up, or the Tree :
 If you can see the colour come
 Into the blushing Peare, or Plum :
 If you can see the water grow 5
 To cakes of Ice, or flakes of Snow :
 If you can see, that drop of raine
 Lost in the wild sea, once againe :
 If you can see, how Dreams do creep
 Into the Brain by easie sleep : 10
 Then there is hope that you may see
 Her love me once, who now hates me.

To live merrily, and to trust to Good Verses.

Now is the time for mirth,
Nor cheek, or tongue be dumbe :
For with the flowrie earth,
The golden pomp is come.

The golden Pomp is come :
For now each tree do's weare
(Made of her Pap and Gum)
Rich beads of Amber here.

Now raignes the Rose, and now
Th' Arabian Dew besmeares
My uncontrolled brow,
And my retorted haire.

10

Homer, this Health to thee,
In Sack of such a kind,
That it wo'd make thee see,
Though thou wert ne'r so blind.

15

Next, Virgil, Ile call forth,
To pledge this second Health
In Wine, whose each cup's worth
An Indian Common-wealth.

20

A Goblet next Ile drink
To Ovid ; and suppose,
Made he the pledge, he'd think
The world had all one Nose.

Then this immensive cup
Of Aromatike wine,
Catullus, I quaffe up
To that Terce Muse of thine

25

Hesperides.

81

Wild I am now with heat ;
O Bacchus ! coole thy Raies ! 30
Or frantick I shall eate
Thy Thyrse, and bite the Bayes.
Round, round, the roof do's run ;
And being ravisht thus,
Come, I will drink a Tun 35
To my Propertius.
Now, to Tibullus, next,
This flood I drink to thee :
But stay ; I see a Text,
That this presents to me. 40
Behold, Tibullus lies
Here burnt, whose smal return
Of ashes, scarce suffice
To fill a little Urne.
Trust to good Verses then ; 45
They onely will aspire,
When Pyramids, as men,
Are lost, i'th'funerall fire.
And when all Bodies meet
In Lethe to be drown'd ; 50
Then onely Numbers sweet,
With endless life are crown'd.

Faire dayes : or, Dawnes deceitfull.

Faire was the Dawne ; and but e'ne now the Skies
Shew'd like to Creame, enspir'd with Strawberries :
But on a sudden, all was chang'd and gone
That smil'd in that first-sweet complexion.
Then Thunder-claps and Lightning did conspire 5
To teare the world, or set it all on fire.
What trust to things below, when as we see,
As Men, the Heavens have their Hypocrisie ?

Faire dayes: &c. 7 things below,] things, below 1648 (an evident mis-punctuation)

Lips Tonguelesse.

For my part, I never care
 For those lips, that tongue-ty'd are :
 Tell-tales I wo'd have them be
 Of my Mistresse, and of me.
 Let them prattle how that I 5
 Sometimes freeze, and sometimes frie :
 Let them tell how she doth move
 Fore- or backward in her love :
 Let them speak by gentle tones,
 One and th'others' passions : 10
 How we watch, and seldome sleep ;
 How by Willows we doe weep :
 How by stealth we meet, and then
 Kisse, and sigh, so part agen.
 This the lips we will permit 15
 For to tell, not publish it.

To the Fever, not to trouble Julia.

Th'ast dar'd too farre ; but Furie now forbear
 To give the least disturbance to her haire :
 But lesse presume to lay a Plait upon
 Her skins most smooth, and cleare expansion.
 'Tis like a Lawnie-Firmament as yet 1
 Quite dispossesst of either fray, or fret.
 Come thou not neere that Filme so finely spred,
 Where no one piece is yet unlevelled.
 This if thou dost, woe to thee Furie, woe,
 Ile send such Frost, such Haile, such Sleet, and Snow, 10
 Such Flesh-quakes, Palsies, and such fears as shall Dead thee to th' most, if not destroy thee all.
 And thou a thousand thousand times shalt be
 More shak't thy selfe, then she is scorch't by thee.

To Violets.

1. Welcome Maids of Honour,
    You doe bring
    In the Spring ;
And wait upon her.
2. She has Virgins many, 5
    Fresh and faire ;
    Yet you are
More sweet then any.
3. Y'are the Maiden Posies, 10
    And so grac't,
    'To be plac't,
'Fore Damask Roses.
4. Yet though thus respected, 15
    By and by
    Ye doe lie,
Poore Girles, neglected.

To Carnations. A Song.

1. Stay while ye will, or goe ;
    And leave no scent behind ye :
Yet trust me, I shall know
    The place, where I may find ye.
2. Within my Lucia's cheek, 5
    (Whose Livery ye weare)
Play ye at Hide or Seek,
    I'm sure to find ye there.

To the Virgins, to make much of Time.

1. Gather ye Rose-buds while ye may,
     Old Time is still a flying :
     And this same flower that smiles to day,
     To morrow will be dying.
2. The glorious Lamp of Heaven, the Sun, 5
     The higher he's a getting ;
     The sooner will his Race be run,
     And neerer he's to Setting.
3. That Age is best, which is the first, 10
     When Youth and Blood are warmer ;
     But being spent, the worse, and worst
     Times, still succeed the former.
4. Then be not coy, but use your time ;
     And while ye may, goe marry :
     For having lost but once your prime, 15
     You may for ever tarry.

Safety to look to ones selfe.

For my neighbour Ile not know,
 Whether high he builds or no :
 Onely this Ile look upon,
 Firm be my foundation.
 Sound, or unsound, let it be ; 5
 'Tis the lot ordain'd for me.
 He who to the ground do's fall,
Has not whence to sink at all.

To his Friend, on the untuneable Times.

Play I co'd once ; but (gentle friend) you see
 My Harp hung up, here on the Willow tree.
 Sing I co'd once ; and bravely too enspire
 (With luscious Numbers) my melodious Lyre.
 Draw I co'd once (although not stocks or stones, 5
Amphion-like) men made of flesh and bones,

Whether I wo'd ; but (ah !) I know not how,
I feele in me, this transmutation now.
Griefe, (my deare friend) has first my Harp unstrung ;
Wither'd my hand, and palsie-struck my tongue. 10

His Poetrie his Pillar.

1. Onely a little more
    I have to write,
    Then Ile give o're,
    And bid the world Good-night.
2. 'Tis but a flying minute, 5
    That I must stay,
    Or linger in it ;
    And then I must away.
3. O time that cut'st down all !
    And scarce leav'st here
    Memoriall 10
    Of any men that were.
4. How many lye forgot
    In Vaults beneath ?
    And piece-meale rot 15
    Without a fame in death ?
5. Behold this living stone,
    I reare for me,
    Ne'r to be thrown
    Downe, envious Time by thee. 20
6. Pillars let some set up,
    (If so they please)
    Here is my hope,
    And my Pyramides.

Safety on the Shore.

What though the sea be calme ? Trust to the shore :
Ships have been drown'd, where late they danc't before.

A Pastorall upon the birth of Prince Charles,

Presented to the King, and Set by Mr. Nic: Lanier.

The Speakers, Mirtillo, Amintas, and Amarillis.

Amin. Good day, Mirtillo. Mirt. And to you no lesse :
And all faire Signs lead on our Shepardesse.

Amar. With all white luck to you. Mirt. But say, What news
Stirs in our Sheep-walk? Amin. None, save that my Ewes,
My Weathers, Lambes, and wanton Kids are well, 5
Smooth, faire, and fat, none better I can tell :

Or that this day Menalchas keeps a feast
For his Sheep-shearers. Mir. True, these are the least.
But dear Amintas, and sweet Amarillis,
Rest but a while here, by this bank of Lillies, 10
And lend a gentle eare to one report
The Country has. Amint. From whence? Amar. From whence?
Mir. The Court.

Three dayes before the shutting in of May,
(With whitest Wool be ever crown'd that day !)
To all our joy, a sweet-fac't child was borne, 15
More tender then the childhood of the Morne.

Chor. Pan pipe to him, and bleats of lambs and sheep,
Let Lullaby the pretty Prince asleepe !

Mirt. And that his birth sho'd be more singular,
At Noone of Day, was seene a silver Star, 20
Bright as the Wise-men's Torch, which guided them
To Gods sweet Babe, when borne at Bethlehem ;
While Golden Angels (some have told to me)
Sung out his Birth with Heav'nly Minstralsie.

Amint. O rare ! But is't a trespassse if we three Sho'd wend along his Baby-ship to see ? 25

Mir. Not so, not so. Chor. But if it chance to prove
At most a fault, 'tis but a fault of love.

Amar. But deare Mirtillo, I have heard it told,
Those learned men brought Incense, Myrrhe, and Gold, 30
From Countries far, with Store of Spices, (sweet)
And laid them downe for Offerings at his feet.

Mirt. 'Tis true indeed ; and each of us will bring Unto our smiling, and our blooming King,
A neat, though not so great an Offering. 35

Amar. A Garland for my Gift shall be
Of flowers, ne'r suckt by th' theeving Bee :
And all most sweet ; yet all lesse sweet then he.

Amint. And I will beare along with you
Leaves dropping downe the honyed dew, 40
With oaten pipes, as sweet, as new.

Mirt. And I a Sheep-hook will bestow,
To have his little King-ship know,
As he is Prince, he's Shepherd too.

Chor. Come let's away, and quickly let's be drest, 45
And quickly give, The swiftest Grace is best.
And when before him we have laid our treasures,
We'll blesse the Babe, Then back to Countrie pleasures.

To the Lark.

Good speed, for I this day
Betimes my Mattens say :

Because I doe
Begin to wooe :
Sweet singing Lark, 5
Be thou the Clark,
And know thy when
To say, Amen.

And if I prove
Blest in my love ; 10
Then thou shalt be
High-Priest to me,
At my returne,
To Incense burne ;

And so to solemnize 15
Love's, and my Sacrifice.

The Bubble. A Song.

To my revenge, and to her desp'rate feares,
Flie thou made Bubble of my sighs, and tears.
In the wild aire, when thou hast rowl'd about,
And (like a blasting Planet) found her out ;
Stoop, mount, passe by to take her eye, then glare 5
Like to a dreadfull Comet in the Aire ;

Next, when thou dost perceive her fixed sight,
 For thy revenge to be most opposite ;
 Then like a Globe, or Ball of Wild-fire, flie,
 And break thy self in shivers on her eye.

10

A Meditation for his Mistressse.

1. You are a Tulip seen to day,
 But (Dearest) of so short a stay ;
 That where you grew, scarce man can say.
2. You are a lovely July-flower,
 Yet one rude wind, or ruffling shower,
 Will force you hence, (and in an houre.) 5
3. You are a sparkling Rose i'th'bud,
 Yet lost, ere that chaste flesh and blood
 Can shew where you or grew, or stood.
4. You are a full-spread faire-set Vine, 10
 And can with Tendrills love intwine,
 Yet dry'd, ere you distill your Wine.
5. You are like Balme inclosed (well)
 In Amber, or some Chrystall shell,
 Yet lost ere you transfuse your smell. 15
6. You are a dainty Violet,
 Yet wither'd, ere you can be set
 Within the Virgins Coronet.
7. You are the Queen all flowers among,
 But die you must (faire Maid) ere long, 20
 As He, the maker of this Song.

The bleeding hand : or, The sprig of Eglantine given to a maid.

From this bleeding hand of mine,
 Take this sprig of Eglantine.
 Which (though sweet unto your smell)
 Yet the fretfull bryar will tell,
 He who plucks the sweets shall prove
 Many thorns to be in Love.

Lyrick for Legacies.

Gold I've none, for use or show,
 Neither Silver to bestow
 At my death ; but thus much know,
 That each Lyrick here shall be
 Of my love a Legacie, 5
 Left to all posterity.
 Gentle friends, then doe but please,
 To accept such coynes as these ;
 As my last Remembrances.

A Dirge upon the Death of the Right Valiant Lord, Bernard Stuart.

1. Hence, hence, profane ; soft silence let us have ;
 While we this Trentall sing about thy Grave.
2. Had Wolves or Tigers seen but thee,
 They wo'd have shew'd civility ;
 And in compassion of thy yeeres, 5
 Washt those thy purple wounds with tears.
 But since th'art slaine ; and in thy fall,
 The drooping Kingdome suffers all.
- Chor.* This we will doe ; we'll daily come
 And offer Tears upon thy Tomb : 10
 And if that they will not suffice,
 Thou shalt have soules for sacrifice.

Sleepe in thy peace, while we with spice perfume thee,
 And Cedar wash thee, that no times consume thee.

3. Live, live thou dost, and shalt ; for why ? 15
Soules doe not with their bodies die :
 Ignoble off-springs, they may fall
 Into the flames of Funerall :
 When as the chosen seed shall spring
 Fresh, and for ever flourishing. 20

Cho. And times to come shall, weeping, read thy glory,
 Lesse in these Marble stones, then in thy story.

To Perenna, a Mistresse.

Deare Perenna, prethee come,
 And with Smallage dresse my Tomb :
 Adde a Cypresse-sprig thereto,
 With a teare ; and so Adieu.

The Fairie Temple : or, Oberons Chappell.

Dedicated to Mr. John Merrifield,
Counsellor at Law.

Rare Temples thou hast seen, I know,
 And rich for in and outward show :
 Survey this Chappell, built, alone,
 Without or Lime, or Wood, or Stone :
 Then say, if one th'ast seene more fine
 Then this, the Fairies once, now Thine.

The Temple.

A way enchac't with glasse & beads
 There is, that to the Chappel leads :
 Whose structure (for his holy rest)
 Is here the Halcion's curious nest :
 Into the which who looks shall see
 His Temple of Idolatry :
 Where he of God-heads has such store,
 As Rome's Pantheon had not more.
 His house of Rimmon, this he calls,
 Girt with small bones, instead of walls.
 First, in a Neech, more black than jet,
 His Idol-Cricket there is set :
 Then in a Polisht Ovall by
 There stands his Idol-Beetle-flie :
 Next in an Arch, akin to this,
 His Idol-Canker seated is :
 Then in a Round, is plac't by these,
 His golden god, Cantharides.

10

15

So that where ere ye look, ye see,
 No Capitoll, no Cornish free, 20
 Or Freeze, from this fine Fripperie.
 Now this the Fairies wo'd have known,
 Theirs is a mixt Religion.
 And some have heard the Elves it call
 Part Pagan, part Papisticall. 25
 If unto me all 'Tongues were granted,
 I co'd not speak the Saints here painted.
 Saint Tit, Saint Nit, Saint Is, Saint Itis,
 Who 'gainst Mabs-state plac't here right is.
 Saint Will o'th' Wispe (of no great bignes) 30
 But alias call'd here Fatuus ignis.
 Saint Frip, Saint Trip, Saint Fill, S. Fillie,
 Neither those other-Saint-ships will I
 Here goe about for to recite
 Their number (almost) infinite, 35
 Which one by one here set downe are
 In this most curious Calendar.
 First, at the entrance of the gate,
 A little-Puppet-Priest doth wait,
 Who squeaks to all the commers there, 40
Favour your tongues, who enter here.
Pure hands bring hither, without staine.
 A second pules, Hence, hence, profane.
 Hard by, i'th'shell of halfe a nut
 The Holy-water there is put : 45
 A little brush of Squirrils haire,
 (Compos'd of odde, not even paires)
 Stands in the Platter, or close by,
 To purge the Fairie Family.
 Neere to the Altar stands the Priest, 50
 There offering up the Holy-Grist :
 Ducking in Mood, and perfect Tense,
 With (much-good-do't him) reverence.
 The Altar is not here foure-square,
 Nor in a forme Triangular ; 55
 Nor made of glasse, or wood, or stone,
 But of a little Transverce bone ;
 Which boyes, and Bruckel'd children call
 (Playing for Points and Pins) Cockall.
 Whose Linnen-Drapery is a thin 60

Subtile and ductile Codlin's skin ;
 Which o're the board is smoothly spread,
 With little Seale-work Damasked.
 The Fringe that circumbinds it too,
 Is Spangle-work of trembling dew, 65
 Which, gently gleaming, makes a show,
 Like Frost-work glitt'ring on the Snow.
 Upon this fetuous board doth stand
 Something for Shew-bread, and at hand 70
 (Just in the middle of the Altar)
 Upon an end, the Fairie-Psalter,
 Grac't with the Trout-flies curious wings,
 Which serve for watched Ribbanings
 Now, we must know, the Elves are led
 Right by the Rubrick, which they read. 75
 And if Report of them be true,
 They have their Text for what they doe ;
 I, and their Book of Canons too.
 And, as Sir Thomas Parson tells,
 They have their Book of Articles : 80
 And if that Fairie Knight not lies,
 They have their Book of Homilies :
 And other Scriptures, that designe
 A short, but righteous discipline.
 The Bason stands the board upon 85
 To take the Free-Oblation :
 A little Pin-dust ; which they hold
 More precious, then we prize our gold :
 Which charity they give to many
 Poore of the Parish, (if there's any) 90
 Upon the ends of these neat Railes
 (Hatcht, with the Silver-light of snails)
 The Elves, in formall manner, fix
 Two pure, and holy Candlesticks :
 In either which a small tall bent 95
 Burns for the Altars ornament.
 For sanctity, they have, to these,
 Their curious Copes and Surplices
 Of cleanest Cobweb, hanging by
 In their Religious Vesterie. 100
 They have their Ash-pans, & their Brooms
 To purge the Chappel and the rooms :

Their many mumbling Masse-priests here,
 And many a dapper Chorister.
 There ush'ring Vergers, here likewise, 105
 Their Canons, and their Chaunteries :
 Of Cloyster-Monks they have enow,
 I, and their Abby-Lubbers too :
 And if their Legend doe not lye,
 They much affect the Papacie : 110
 And since the last is dead, there's hope,
Elwe Boniface shall next be Pope.
 They have their Cups and Chalices ;
 Their Pardons and Indulgences :
 Their Beads of Nits, Bels, Books, & Wax 115
Candles (forsooth) and other knacks :
 Their Holy Oyle, their Fasting-Spittle ;
 Their sacred Salt here, (not a little.)
 Dry chips, old shooes, rags, grease, & bones ;
 Beside their Fumigations, 120
 To drive the Devill from the Cod-piece
 Of the Fryar, (of work an odde-piece.)
 Many a trifle too, and trinket,
 And for what use, scarce man wo'd think it.
 Next, then, upon the Chanters side 125
 An Apples-core is hung up dry'd,
 With ratling Kirnils, which is rung
 To call to Morn, and Even-Song.
 The Saint, to which the most he prays
 And offers Incense Nights and dayes, 130
 The Lady of the Lobster is,
 Whose foot-pace he doth stroak and kisse
 And, humbly, chives of Saffron brings,
 For his most cheerfull offerings.
 When, after these, h'as paid his vows, 135
 He lowly to the Altar bows :
 And then he dons the Silk-worms shed,
 (Like a Turks Turbant on his head)
 And reverently departeth thence,
 Hid in a cloud of Frankincense : 140
 And by the glow-worms light wel guided,
 Goes to the Feast that's now provided.

To Mistresse Katherine Bradshaw, the lovely, that crowned him with Laurel.

My Muse in Meads has spent her many houres,
Sitting, and sorting severall sorts of flowers,
To make for others garlands ; and to set
On many a head here, many a Coronet :
But, amongst All encircled here, not one 5
Gave her a day of Coronation ;
Till you (sweet Mistresse) came and enterwove
A Laurel for her, (ever young as love)
You first of all crown'd her ; she must of due,
Render for that, a crowne of life to you. 10

The Plaudite, or end of life.

If after rude and boystrous seas,
My wearyed Pinnacle here finds ease :
If so it be I've gain'd the shore
With safety of a faithful Ore :
If having run my Barque on ground, 5
Ye see the aged Vessell crown'd :
What's to be done ? but on the Sands
Ye dance, and sing, and now clap hands.
The first Act's doubtfull, (but we say)
It is the last commends the Play. 10

To the most vertuous Mistresse Pot, who many times entertained him.

When I through all my many Poems look,
And see your selfe to beautifie my Book ;
Me thinks that onely lustre doth appeare
A Light ful-filling all the Region here.
Guild still with flames this Firmament, and be 5
A Lamp Eternall to my Poetrie.
Which if it now, or shall hereafter shine,
'Twas by your splendour (Lady) not by mine.
The Oile was yours ; and that I owe for yet :
He payes the halfe, who do's confesse the Debt. 10

To Musique, to becalme his Fever.

1. Charm me asleep, and melt me so
    With thy Delicious Numbers ;
That being ravisht, hence I goe
    Away in easie slumbers.
        Ease my sick head, 5
        And make my bed,
Thou Power that canst sever
    From me this ill :
    And quickly still :
    Though thou not kill 10
        My Fever.

2. Thou sweetly canst convert the same
    From a consuming fire,
Into a gentle-licking flame,
    And make it thus expire. 15
        Then make me weep
        My paines asleep ;
And give me such reposes,
    That I, poore I,
    May think, thereby, 20
    I live and die
        'Mongst Roses.

3. Fall on me like a silent dew,
    Or like those Maiden showsrs,
Which, by the peepe of day, doe strew 25
    A Baptime o're the flowers.
        Melt, melt my paines,
        With thy soft straines ;
That having ease me given,
    With full delight, 30
    I leave this light ;
    And take my flight
        For Heaven.

Upon a Gentlewoman with a sweet Voice.

So long you did not sing, or touch your Lute,
 We knew 'twas Flesh and Blood, that there sate mute.
 But when your Playing, and your Voice came in,
 'Twas no more you then, but a Cherubin.

Upon Cupid.

As lately I a Garland bound,
 'Mongst Roses, I there Cupid found :
 I took him, put him in my cup,
 And drunk with Wine, I drank him up.
 Hence then it is, that my poore brest
 Co'd never since find any rest.

Upon Julia's breasts.

Display thy breasts, my Julia, there let me
 Behold that circummortall purity :
 Betweene whose glories, there my lips Ile lay,
 Ravisht, in that faire Via Lactea.

Best to be merry.

Fooles are they, who never know
 How the times away doe goe :
 But for us, who wisely see
 Where tne bounds of black Death be :
 Let's live merrily, and thus
 Gratifie the Genius.

The Changes to Corinna.

Be not proud, but now encline
 Your soft eare to Discipline.
 You have changes in your life,
 Sometimes peace, and sometimes strife :

You have ebbes of face and flowes, 5
As your health or comes, or goes ;
You have hopes, and doubts, and feares
Numberlesse, as are your hairees.
You have Pulses that doe beat
High, and passions lesse of heat. 10
You are young, but must be old,
And, to these, ye must be told,
Time, ere long, will come and plow
Loathed Furrowes in your brow :
And the dimnesse of your eye 15
Will no other thing imply,
But you must die
As well as I.

Neglect.

*Art quickens Nature ; Care will make a face :
Neglected beauty perisheth apace.*

Upon himselfe.

Mop-ey'd I am, as some have said,
Because I've liv'd so long a maid :
But grant that I sho'd wedded be,
Sho'd I a jot the better see?
No, I sho'd think, that Marriage might, 5
Rather then mend, put out the light.

Upon a Physitian.

Thou cam'st to cure me (Doctor) of my cold,
And caught'st thy selfe the more by twenty fold :
Prethee goe home ; and for thy credit be
First cur'd thy selfe ; then come and cure me.

To the Rose. Song.

1. Goe happy Rose, and enterwove
 With other Flowers, bind my Love.
     Tell her too, she must not be,
     Longer flowing, longer free,
     That so oft has fetter'd me. 5

2. Say (if she's fretfull) I have bands
 Of Pearle, and Gold, to bind her hands :
     Tell her, if she struggle still,
     I have Mirtle rods, (at will)
     For to tame, though not to kill. 10

3. Take thou my blessing, thus, and goe,
 And tell her this, but doe not so,
     Lest a handsome anger flye,
     Like a Lightning, from her eye,
     And burn thee 'up, as well as I. 15

To his Booke.

Thou art a plant sprung up to wither never,
 But like a Laurell, to grow green for ever.

Upon a painted Gentlewoman.

Men say y'are faire ; and faire ye are, 'tis true ;
 But (Hark !) we praise the Painter now, not you.

Draw Gloves.

At Draw-Gloves we'll play,
 And prethee, let's lay
 A wager, and let it be this ;
     Who first to the Summe
     Of twenty shall come,
 Shall have for his winning a kisse. 5

To Musick, to becalme a sweet-sick-youth.

Charms, that call down the moon from out her sphere,
On this sick youth work your enchantments here :
Bind up his senses with your numbers, so,
As to entrance his paine, or cure his woe.
Fall gently, gently, and a while him keep
Lost in the civill Wildernesse of sleep :
That done, then let him, dispossess of paine,
Like to a slumbring Bride, awake againe.

To the High and Noble Prince, GEORGE, Duke, Marquesse, and Earle of Buckingham.

Never my Book's perfection did appeare,
Til I had got the name of VILLARS here.
Now 'tis so full, that when therein I look,
I see a Cloud of Glory fills my Book.
Here stand it stil to dignifie our Muse,
Your sober Hand-maid ; who doth wisely chuse,
Your Name to be a Laureat Wreathe to Hir,
Who doth both love and feare you Honour'd Sir.

His Recantation.

Love, I recant,
And pardon crave,
That lately I offended,
But 'twas,
Alas,
To make a brave,
But no disdaine intended.

No more Ile vaunt,
For now I see,
Thou onely hast the power,
To find,
And bind
A heart that's free,
And slave it in an houre.

10

Hesperides.The coming of good luck.

So Good-luck came, and on my roofo did light,
 Like noyse-lesse Snow ; or as the dew of night :
 Not all at once, but gently, as the trees
 Are, by the Sun-beams, tickel'd by degrees.

The Present : or, The Bag of the Bee.

Fly to my Mistresse, pretty pilfring Bee,
 And say, thou bring'st this Hony-bag from me :
 When on her lip, thou hast thy sweet dew plac't,
 Mark, if her tongue, but slyly, steale a taste.
 If so, we live ; if not, with mournfull humme,
 Tole forth my death ; next, to my buryall come.

On Love.

Love bade me aske a gift,
 And I no more did move,
 But this, that I might shift
 Still with my clothes, my Love :
 That favour granted was ;
 Since which, though I love many,
 Yet so it comes to passe,
 That long I love not any.

*The Hock-Cart, or Harvest Home :
 To the Right Honourable,
 Mildmay, Earle of Westmorland.*

Come Sons of Summer, by whose toile,
 We are the Lords of Wine and Oile :
 By whose tough labours, and rough hands,
 We rip up first, then reap our lands.
 Crown'd with the eares of corne, now come,
 And, to the Pipe, sing Harvest home.
 Come forth, my Lord, and see the Cart
 Drest up with all the Country Art.

See, here a Maukin , there a sheet,
As spotlesse pure, as it is sweet :	10
The Horses, Mares, and frisking Fillies,
(Clad, all, in Linnen, white as Lillies.)
The Harvest Swaines, and Wenches bound
For joy, to see the Hock-cart crown'd.
About the Cart, heare, how the Rout	15
Of Rurall Younglings raise the shout ;
Pressing before, some coming after,
Those with a shout, and these with laughter.
Some blesse the Cart ; some kisse the sheaves ;
Some prank them up with Oaken leaves :	20
Some crosse the Fill-horse ; some with great
Devotion, stroak the home-borne wheat :
While other Rusticks, lesse attent
To Prayers, then to Merrymment,
Run after with their breeches rent.	25
Well, on, brave boyes, to your Lords Hearth,
Glitt'ring with fire ; where, for your mirth,
Ye shall see first the large and cheefe
Foundation of your Feast, Fat Beefe :
With Upper Stories, Mutton, Veale	30
And Bacon, (which makes full the meale)
With sev'rall dishes standing by,
As here a Custard, there a Pie,
And here all tempting Frumentie.
And for to make the merry cheere,	35
If smirking Wine be wanting here,
There's that, which drowns all care, stout Beere ;
Which freely drink to your Lords health,
Then to the Plough, (the Common-wealth)
Next to your Flailes, your Fanes, your Fatts ;	40
Then to the Maids with Wheaten Hats :
To the rough Sickle, and crookt Sythe,
Drink frolick boyes, till all be blythe.
Feed, and grow fat ; and as ye eat,
Be mindfull, that the lab'ring Neat	45
(As you) may have their fill of meat.
And know, besides, ye must revoke
The patient Oxe unto the Yoke,
And all goe back unto the Plough
And Harrow, (though they'r hang'd up now.)	50

And, you must know, your Lords word's true,
 Feed him ye must, whose food fills you.
 And that this pleasure is like raine,
 Not sent ye for to drowne your paine,
 But for to make it spring againe.

55

The Perfume.

To-morrow, Julia, I betimes must rise,
 For some small fault, to offer sacrifice :
 The Altar's ready ; Fire to consume
 The fat ; breathe thou, and there's the rich perfume.

Upon her Voice.

Let but thy voice engender with the string,
 And Angels will be borne, while thou dost sing.

Not to love.

He that will not love, must be
 My Scholar, and learn this of me :
 There be in Love as many feares,
 As the Summers Corne has cares :
 Sighs, and sobs, and sorrowes more
 Then the sand, that makes the shore :
 Freezing cold, and frie heats,
 Fainting swoones, and deadly sweats ;
 Now an Ague, then a Fever,
 Both tormenting Lovers ever.
 Wods't thou know, besides all these,
 How hard a woman 'tis to please ?
 How crosse, how sullen, and how soone
 She shifts and changes like the Moone.
 How false, how hollow she's in heart ;
 And how she is her owne least part :
 How high she's priz'd, and worth but small ;
 Little thou't love, or not at all.

10

15

To Musick. A Song.

Musick, thou Queen of Heaven, Care-charming-spel,
That strik'st a stilnesse into hell :
Thou that tam'st Tygers, and fierce storms (that rise)
With thy soule-melting Lullabies :
Fall down, down, down, from those thy chiming spheres, 5
To charme our soules, as thou enchant'st our eares.

To the Western wind.

1. Sweet Western Wind, whose luck it is,
(Made rivall with the aire)
To give Perenn'as lip a kisse,
And fan her wanton haire.
2. Bring me but one, Ile promise thee, 5
Instead of common showers,
Thy wings shall be embalm'd by me,
And all beset with flowers.

*Upon the death of his Sparrow.
An Elegie.*

Why doe not all fresh maids appeare
To work Love's Sampler onely here,
Where spring-time smiles throughout the yeare?
Are not here Rose-buds, Pinks, all flowers,
Nature begets by th' Sun and showers, 5
Met in one Hearce-cloth, to ore-spred
The body of the under-dead?
Phill, the late dead, the late dead Deare,
O ! may no eye distill a Teare
For you once lost, who weep not here ! 10
Had Lesbia (too-too-kind) but known
This Sparrow, she had scorn'd her own :
And for this dead which under-lies,
Wept out her heart, as well as eyes.

But endlesse Peace, sit here, and keep 15
 My Phill, the time he has to sleep,
 And thousand Virgins come and weep,
 To make these flowrie Carpets show
 Fresh, as their blood ; and ever grow,
 Till passengers shall spend their doome, 20
 Not Virgil's Gnat had such a Tomb.

To Primroses fill'd with morning-dew.

1. Why doe ye weep, sweet Babes? can Tears
     Speak griefe in you,
     Who were but borne
     Just as the modest Morne
     Teem'd her refreshing dew? 5
 Alas you have not known that shower,
     That marres a flower ;
     Nor felt th'unkind
     Breath of a blasting wind ;
     Nor are ye worne with yeares ; 10
     Or warpt, as we,
     Who think it strange to see,
 Such pretty flowers, (like to Orphans young)
 To speak by Teares, before ye have a Tongue.

2. Speak, whimp'ring Younglings, and make known 15
     The reason, why
     Ye droop, and weep ;
     Is it for want of sleep?
     Or childish Lullabic?
 Or that ye have not seen as yet 20
     The Violet?
     Or brought a kisse
     From that Sweet-heart, to this?
     No, no, this sorrow shown
     By your teares shed, 25
     Wo'd have this Lecture read,
 That things of greatest, so of meanest worth,
 Conceiv'd with grief are, and with teares brought forth.

How Roses came red.

1. Roses at first were white,
Till they co'd not agree,
Whether my Sapho's breast,
Or they more white sho'd be.
2. But being vanquisht quite, 5
A blush their cheeks bespred ;
Since which (beleeeve the rest)
The Roses first came red.

Comfort to a Lady upon the Death of her Husband.

Dry your sweet cheek, long drown'd with sorrows raine ;
Since Clouds disperst, Suns guild the Aire again.
Seas chafe and fret, and beat, and over-boile ;
But turne soone after calme, as Balme, or Oile.
Winds have their time to rage ; but when they cease, 5
The leavie-trees nod in a still-born peace.
Your storme is over ; Lady, now appeare
Like to the peeping spring-time of the yeare.
Off then with grave clothes ; put fresh colours on ;
And flow, and flame, in your Vermillion. 10
Upon your cheek sate Ysicles awhile ;
Now let the Rose raigne like a Queene, and smile.

How Violets came blew.

Love on a day (wise Poets tell)
Some time in wrangling spent,
Whether the Violets sho'd excell,
Or she, in sweetest scent.

But Venus having lost the day, 5
Poore Girles, she fell on you
And beat ye so, (as some dare say)
Her blowes did make ye blew.

To the Willow-tree.

1. Thou art to all lost love the best,
The onely true plant found,
Wherewith young men and maids distrest,
And left of love, are crown'd.
2. When once the Lovers Rose is dead, 5
Or laid aside forlorne ;
Then Willow-garlands, 'bout the head,
Bedew'd with teares, are worne.
3. When with Neglect, (the Lovers bane)
Poore Maids rewarded be, 10
For their love lost ; their onely gaine
Is but a Wreathe from thee.
4. And underneath thy cooling shade,
(When weary of the light)
The love-spent Youth, and love-sick Maid, 15
Come to weep out the night.

Mrs. Eliz. Wheeler, under the name of the lost Shepardesse.

Among the Mirtles, as I walkt,
Love and my sighs thus intertalkt :
Tell me, said I, in deep distresse,
Where I may find my Shepardesse.
Thou foole, said Love, know'st thou not this ? 5
In every thing that's sweet, she is.
In yond' Carnation goe and seek,
There thou shalt find her lip and cheek :
In that ennamel'd Pansie by,
There thou shalt have her curious eye : 10
In bloome of Peach, and Roses bud,
There waves the Streamer of her blood.
'Tis true, said I, and thereupon
I went to pluck them one by one,
To make of parts an union ; 15
But on a sudden all were gone.

At which I stopt ; Said Love, these be
 The true resemblances of thee ;
 For as these flowers, thy joyes must die,
 And in the turning of an eye ; 20
 And all thy hopes of her must wither,
 Like those short sweets ere knit together.

TO THE KING.

If when these Lyricks (CESAR) You shall heare,
 And that Apollo shall so touch Your eare,
 As for to make this, that, or any one
 Number, Your owne, by free Adoption ;
 That Verse, of all the Verses here, shall be 5
 The Heire to This great Realme of Poetry.

TO THE QUEENE.

Goddesse of Youth, and Lady of the Spring,
(Most fit to be the Consort to a King)
 Be pleas'd to rest you in This Sacred Grove,
 Beset with Mirtles ; whose each leafe drops Love.
 Many a sweet-fac't Wood-Nymph here is seene, 5
 Of which chast Order You are now the Queene :
 Witnesse their Homage, when they come and strew
 Your Walks with Flowers, and give their Crowns to you.
 Your Leavie-Throne (with Lilly-work) possesse ;
 And be both Princesse here, and Poetresse. 10

*The Poets good wishes for the most hopefull and handsome Prince,
 the Duke of Yorke.*

May his pretty Duke-ship grow
 Like t' a Rose of Jericho :
 Sweeter far, then ever yet
 Showrs or Sun-shines co'd beget.
 May the Graces, and the Howers 5
 Strew his hopes, and Him with flowers :

And so dresse him up with Love,
 As to be the Chick of Jove.
 May the thrice-three-Sisters sing
 Him the Sovereigne of their Spring : 10
 And entitle none to be
 Prince of Hellicon, but He.
 May his soft foot, where it treads,
 Gardens thence produce and Meads :
 And those Meddowes full be set 15
 With the Rose, and Violet.
 May his ample Name be knowne
 To the last succession :
 And his actions high be told
 Through the world, but writ in gold. 20

To Anthea, who may command him any thing.

1. Bid me to live, and I will live
     Thy Protestant to be :
     Or bid me love, and I will give
     A loving heart to thee.
2. A heart as soft, a heart as kind, 5
     A heart as sound and free,
     As in the whole world thou canst find,
     That heart Ile give to thee.
3. Bid that heart stay, and it will stay,
     To honour thy Decree : 10
     Or bid it languish quite away,
     And't shall doe so for thee.
4. Bid me to weep, and I will weep,
     While I have eyes to see :
     And having none, yet I will keep 15
     A heart to weep for thee.
5. Bid me despaire, and Ile despaire,
     Under that Cypresse tree :
     Or bid me die, and I will dare
     E'en Death, to die for thee. 20

6. Thou art my life, my love, my heart,
 The very eyes of me :
 And hast command of every part,
 To live and die for thee.

 she was married.*

That Morne which saw me made a Bride,
 The Ev'ning witnest that I dy'd.
 Those holy lights, wherewith they guide
 Unto the bed the bashfull Bride ;
 Serv'd, but as Tapers, for to burne,
 And light my Reliques to their Urne.
 This Epitaph, which here you see,
 Supply'd the Epithalamie.

To Meddowes.

1. Ye have been fresh and green,
 Ye have been fill'd with flowers :
 And ye the Walks have been
 Where Maids have spent their houres.
2. You have beheld, how they
 With Wicker Arks did come
 To kisse, and beare away
 The richer Couslips home.

Hesperides.

3. Y've heard them sweetly sing,
 And seen them in a Round : 10
 Each Virgin, like a Spring,
 With Hony-suckles crown'd.
4. But now, we see, none here,
 Whose silv'rie feet did tread,
 And with dishevell'd Haire, 15
 Adorn'd this smoother Mead.
5. Like Unthrifths, having spent,
 Your stock, and needy grown,
 Your poore 'estates, alone. 20

Crosses.

Though good things answer many good intents ;
Crosses doe still bring forth the best events.

Miseries.

Though hourelly comforts from the Gods we see,
No life is yet life-proofe from miserie.

Laugh and lie downe.

Y've laught enough (sweet) vary now your Text ;
 And laugh no more ; or laugh, and lie down next.

To his Houshold gods.

Rise, Houshold-gods, and let us goe ;
 But whither, I my selfe not know.
 First, let us dwell on rudest seas ;
 Next, with severest Salvages ;
 Last, let us make our best abode, 5
 Where humane foot, as yet, n'er trod :
 Search worlds of Ice ; and rather there
 Dwell, then in lothed Devonshire.

To the Nightingale, and Robin-Red-brest.

When I departed am, ring thou my knell,
Thou pittifull, and pretty Philomel :
And when I'm laid out for a Corse ; then be
Thou Sexton (Red-brest) for to cover me.

To the Yew and Cypresse to grace his Funerall.

1.                   Both you two have
                    Relation to the grave :
                    And where
The Fun'rail-Trump sounds, you are there.
2.                   I shall be made 5
                    Ere long a fleeting shade :
                    Pray come,
And doe some honour to my Tomb.
3.                   Do not deny 10
                    My last request ; for I
                    Will be
Thankfull to you, or friends, for me.

I call and I call.

I call, I call, who doe ye call ?
The Maids to catch this Cowslip-ball :
But since these Cowslips fading be,
Troth, leave the flowers, and Maids, take me.
Yet, if that neither you will doe,
Speak but the word, and Ile take you. 5

On a perfum'd Lady.

You say y'are sweet ; how sho'd we know
Whether that you be sweet or no ?
From Powders and Perfumes keep free ;
Then we shall smell how sweet you be.

*A Nuptiall Song, or Epithalamie, on Sir
Clipseby Crew and his Lady.*

1. What's that we see from far ? the spring of Day
 Bloom'd from the East, or faire Injewel'd May Blowne out of April ; or some New-
     Star fill'd with glory to our view,
         Reaching at heaven, 5
 To adde a nobler Planet to the seven ?
     Say, or doe we not descrie
 Some Goddesses, in a cloud of Tiffanie
     To move, or rather the
     Emergent Venus from the Sea ? 10

2. 'Tis she ! 'tis she ! or else some more Divine
 Enlightned substance ; mark how from the Shrine
     Of holy Saints she paces on,
     Treading upon Vermilion
         And Amber ; Spice- 15
 ing the Chafte Aire with fumes of Paradise.
     Then come on, come on, and yeeld
 A savour like unto a blessed field,
     When the bedabled Morne
     Washes the golden cares of corne. 20

3. See where she comes ; and smell how all the street
 Breathes Vine-yards and Pomgranats : O how sweet !
     As a fir'd Altar, is each stone,
     Perspiring pounded Cynamon.
         The Phenix nest, 25
 Built up of odours, burneth in her breast.
     Who therein wo'd not consume
 His soule to Ash-heaps in that rich perfume ?
     Bestroaking Fate the while
     He burnes to Embers on the Pile. 30

4. Himen, O Himen ! Tread the sacred ground ;
 Shew thy white feet, and head with Marjoram crown'd :
     Mount up thy flames, and let thy Torch
     Display the Bridegroom in the porch,
         In his desires 35
 More towring, more disparkling then thy fires :

Shew her how his eyes do turne
And roule about, and in their motions burne
    'Their balls to Cindars : haste,
Or else to ashes he will waste. 40

Glide by the banks of Virgins then, and passe
The Shewers of Roses, lucky-foure-leav'd grasse :
    The while the cloud of younglings sing,
And drown yee with a flowrie Spring :
        While some repeat 45
Your praise, and bless you, sprinkling you with Wheat :
    While that others doe divine ;
Blest is the Bride, on whom the Sun doth shine ;
        And thousands gladly wish
You multiply, as doth a Fish. 50

6. And beautilous Bride we do confess y'are wise,
In dealing forth these bashfull jealousies :
    In Lov's name do so ; and a price
    Set on your selfe, by being nice :
        But yet take heed ; 55
What now you seem, be not the same indeed,
    And turne Apostate : Love will
Part of the way be met ; or sit stone-still.
    On then, and though you slowly
    ly go, yet, howsoever, go. 60

7. And now y'are enter'd ; see the Codled Cook
Runs from his Torrid Zone, to prie, and look,
    And blesse his dainty Mistresse : see,
    The Aged point out, This is she,
        Who now must sway 65
The House (Love shield her) with her Yea and Nay :
    And the smirk Butler thinks it
Sin, in's Nap'rie, not to express his wit ;
    Each striving to devise
Some gin, wherewith to catch your eyes. 70

8. To bed, to bed, kind Turtles, now, and write
 This the short'st day, and this the longest night ;
 But yet too short for you : 'tis we,
 Who count this night as long as three,
                                   Lying alone, 75
 Telling the Clock strike Ten, Eleven, Twelve, One.
 Quickly, quickly then prepare ;
 And let the Young-men and the Bride-maids share
                                   Your Garters ; and their joynts
                                   Encircle with the Bride-grooms Points. 80
9. By the Brides eyes, and by the teeming life
 Of her green hopes, we charge ye, that no strife,
       (Farther then Gentleness tends) gets place
       Among ye, striving for her lace :
                                   O doe not fall 85
 Foule in these noble pastimes, lest ye call
       Discord in, and so divide
 The youthfull Bride-groom, and the fragrant Bride :
                                   Which Love fore-fend ; but spoken
                                   Be't to your praise, no peace was broken. 90
10. Strip her of Spring-time, tender-whimpring-maids,
 Now Autumne's come, when all those flowrie aids
       Of her Delays must end ; Dispose
       That Lady-smock, that Pansie, and that Rose
                                   Neatly apart ; 95
 But for Prick-madam, and for Gentle-heart ;
       And soft-Maidens-blush, the Bride
 Makes holy these, all others lay aside :
                                   Then strip her, or unto her
                                   Let him come, who dares undo her. 100
11. And to enchant yee more, see every where
 About the Roofe a Syren in a Sphere ;
       (As we think) singing to the dinne
       Of many a warbling Cherubim :

Hesperides.

115

- O marke yee how 105
 The soule of Nature melts in numbers : now
     See, a thousand Cupids flye,
 To light their Tapers at the Brides bright eye.
     To Bed ; or her they'l tire,
     Were she an Element of fire. 110
12. And to your more bewitching, see, the proud
 Plumpe Bed beare up, and swelling like a cloud,
     Tempting the two too modest ; can
     Yee see it brusle like a Swan,
         And you be cold 115
 To meet it, when it woo's and seemes to fold
     The Armes to hugge it ? throw, throw
 Your selves into the mighty over-flow
     Of that white Pride, and Drowne
     The night, with you, in floods of Downe. 120
13. The bed is ready, and the maze of Love
 Lookes for the treaders ; every where is wove
     Wit and new misterie ; read, and
     Put in practise, to understand
         And know each wile, 125
 Each hieroglyphick of a kisse or smile ;
     And do it to the full ; reach
 High in your own conceipt, and some way teach
     Nature and Art, one more
     Play then they ever knew before. 130
14. If needs we must for Ceremonies-sake,
 Blesse a Sack-posset ; Luck go with it ; take
     The Night-Charme quickly ; you have spells,
     And magicks for to end, and hells,
         To passe ; but such 135
 And of such Torture as no one would grutch
     To live therein for ever : Frie
 And consume, and grow again to die,
     And live, and in that case,
     Love the confusion of the place. 140

15. But since It must be done, dispatch, and sowe
 Up in a sheet your Bride, and what if so
     It be with Rock, or walles of Brasse,
     Ye 'Towre her up, as Danae was ;
                     Thinke you that this, 145
 Or hell it selfe a powerfull Bulwarke is ?
     I tell yee no ; but like a
 Bold bolt of thunder he will make his way,
     And rend the cloud, and throw
     The sheet about, like flakes of snow. 150
16. All now is husht in silence ; Midwife-moone,
 With all her Owle-ey'd issue begs a boon
     Which you must grant ; that's entrance ; with
     Which extract, all we can call pith
                     And quintiscence 155
 Of Planetary bodies ; so commence
     All faire Constellations
 Looking upon yee, That two Nations
     Springing from two such Fires,
     May blaze the vertue of their Sires. 160

The silken Snake.

For sport my Julia threw a Lace
 Of silke and silver at my face :
 Watchet the silke was ; and did make
 A shew, as if 't 'ad been a snake :
 The suddenness did me affright ; 5
 But though it scar'd, it did not bite.

Upon himselfe.

I am Sive-like, and can hold
 Nothing hot, or nothing cold.
 Put in Love, and put in too
 Jealousie, and both will through :
 Put in Feare, and hope, and doubt ;
 What comes in, runnes quickly out : 5

Put in secrecies withall,
What ere enters, out it shall :
But if you can stop the Sive,
For mine own part I'de as lieve,
Maides sho'd say, or Virgins sing,
Herrick keeps, as holds nothing.

10

Upon Love.

Love's a thing, (as I do heare)
Ever full of pensive feare ;
Rather then to which I'le fall,
Trust me, I'le not like at all :
If to love I should entend,
Let my haire then stand an end :
And that terrour likewise prove,
Fatall to me in my love.
But if horreur cannot slake
Flames, which wo'd an entrance make ;
Then the next thing I desire,
Is to love, and live i'th fire.

Reverence to Riches.

Like to the Income must be our expence ;
Mans Fortune must be had in reverence.

Devotion makes the Deity.

*Who formes a Godhead out of Gold or Stone,
Makes not a God ; but he that prayes to one.*

To all young men that love.

I could wish you all, who love,
That ye could your thoughts remove
From your Mistresses, and be,
Wisely wanton (like to me.)

I could wish you dispossess 5
 Of that Fiend that marres your rest ;
 And with Tapers comes to fright
 Your weake senses in the night.
 I co'd wish, ye all, who frie
 Cold as Ice, or coole as I. 10
 But if flames best like ye, then
 Much good do't ye Gentlemen.
 I a merry heart will keep,
 While you wring your hands and weep.

The Eyes.

'Tis a known principle in War,
 The eies be first, that conquer'd are.

No fault in women.

No fault in women to refuse
 The offer, which they most wo'd chuse.
 No fault in women, to confesse
 How tedious they are in their dresse.
 No fault in women, to lay on 5
 The tincture of Vermillion :
 And there to give the cheek a die
 Of white, where nature doth deny.
 No fault in women, to make show
 Of largeness, when th'are nothing so : 10
 (When true it is, the out-side swels
 With inward Buckram, little else.)
 No fault in women, though they be
 But seldome from suspicion free :
 No fault in womankind, at all, 15
 If they but slip, and never fall.

Oberons Feast.

Shapcot! To thee the Fairy State

I with discretion, dedicate.

Because thou prizest things that are

Curious, and un-familiar.

Take first the feast ; these dishes gone ;

We'll see the Fairy-Court anon.

A little mushroome table spred,

After short prayers, they set on bread ;

A Moon-parcht grain of purest wheat,

With some small glit'ring gritt, to eate

10

His choyce bits with ; then in a trice

They make a feast lesse great then nice.

But all this while his eye is serv'd,

We must not thinke his eare was serv'd :

But that there was in place to stir

15

His Spleen, the chirring Grasshopper ;

The merry Cricket, puling Flie,

The piping Gnat for minstralcye.

And now, we must imagine first,

The Elves present to quench his thirst

20

A pure seed-Pearle of Infant dew,

Brought and besweetned in a blew

And pregnant violet ; which done,

His kitling eyes begin to runne

Quite through the table, where he spies

25

The hornes of paperie Butterflies,

Of which he eates, and tastes a little

Of that we call the Cuckoes spittle.

A little Fuz-ball-pudding stands

By, yet not blessed by his hands,

30

That was too coorse ; but then forthwith

He ventures boldly on the pith

Of sugred Rush, and eates the sagge

And well bestruttred Bees sweet bagge :

Gladding his pallat with some store

35

Of Emits eggs ; what wo'd he more ?

But Beards of Mice, a Newt's stew'd thigh,

A bloated Earewig, and a Flie ;

With the Red-capt worme, that's shut
 Within the concave of a Nut, 40
 Browne as his Tooth. A little Moth,
 Late fatned in a piece of cloth :
 With withered cherries ; Mandrakes eares ;
 Moles eyes ; to these, the slain-Stags teares :
 The unctuous dewlaps of a Snaile ; 45
 The broke-heart of a Nightingale
 Ore-come in musicke ; with a wine,
 Ne're ravisht from the flattering Vine,
 But gently prest from the soft side
 Of the most sweet and dainty Bride, 50
 Brought in a dainty daizie, which
 He fully quaffs up to bewitch
 His blood to height ; this done, commended
 Grace by his Priest ; The feast is ended.

Event of things not in our power.

By Time, and Counsell, doe the best we can,
 Th'event is never in the power of man.

Upon her blush.

When Julia blushes, she do's show
 Cheeks like to Roses, when they blow.

Merits make the man.

Our Honours, and our Commendations be
 Due to the Merits, not Authoritie.

To Virgins.

Heare ye Virgins, and Ile teach,
 What the times of old did preach.
Rosamond was in a Bower
 Kept, as Danae in a Tower :
 But yet Love (who subtile is) 5
 Crept to that, and came to this.
 Be ye lockt up like to these,
 Or the rich Hesperides ;

Or those Babies in your eyes,
In their Christall Nunneries ;
Notwithstanding Love will win,
Or else force a passage in :
And as coy be, as you can,
Gifts will get ye, or the man.

Vertue.

Each must, in vertue, strive for to excell ;
That man lives twice, that lives the first life well.

The Bell-man.

From noise of Scare-fires rest ye free,
From Murders Benedicite.
From all mischances, that may fright
Your pleasing slumbers in the night :
Mercie secure ye all, and keep
The Goblin from ye, while ye sleep.
Past one aclock, and almost two,
My Masters all, Good day to you.

Bashfulnessse.

Of all our parts, the eyes expresse
The sweetest kind of bashfulnessse.

For one so rarely tun'd to fit all parts ;
For one to whom espous'd are all the Arts ;
Long have I sought for : but co'd never see

Thus, thou, that man art, whom the Fates conspir'd
To make but One (and that's thy selfe) admir'd.

Upon Prudence Baldwin her sicknesse.

Prue, my dearest Maid, is sick,
 Almost to be Lunatick :
Æsculapius ! come and bring
 Means for her recovering ;
 And a gallant Cock shall be
 Offer'd up by Her, to Thee.

To Apollo. A short Hymne.

Phæbus ! when that I a Verse,

 Tune my words, that they may fall,
 Each way smoothly Musicall :
 For which favour, there shall be
 Swans devoted unto thee.

A Hymne to Bacchus.

Bacchus, let me drink no more ;
 Wild are Seas, that want a shore.
 When our drinking has no stint,
 There is no one pleasure in't.
 I have drank up for to please
 Thee, that great cup Hercules :
 Urge no more ; and there shall be
 Daffadills g'en up to Thee.

On himselfe.

 My Pilgrims staffe ; my weed of grey :
 My Palmers hat ; my Scallops shell ;
 My Crosse ; my Cord ; and all farewell.

123

For having now my journey done, 5
(Just at the setting of the Sun)
Here I have found a Chamber fit,
(God and good friends be thank't for it)
Where if I can a lodger be
A little while from Tramp'lers free ; 10
At my up-rising next, I shall,
If not requite, yet thank ye all.
Meane while, the Holy-Rood hence fright
The fouler Fiend, and evill Spright,
From scaring you or yours this night. 15

Casualties.

Good things, that come of course, far lesse doe please,
Then those, which come by sweet contingences.

Bribes and Gifts get all.

Dead falls the Cause, if once the Hand be mute ;
But let that speak, the Client gets the suit.

The end.

If well thou hast begun, goe on fore-right ;
It is the End that crownes us, not the Fight.

Upon a child that dyed.

Here she lies, a pretty bud,
Lately made of flesh and blood :
Who, as soone, fell fast asleep,
As her little eyes did peep.
Give her strewings ; but not stir 5
The earth, that lightly covers her.

Content, not cates.

'Tis not the food, but the content
 That makes the Tables merriment.
 Where Trouble serves the board, we eate
 The Platters there, as soone as meat.
 A little Pipkin with a bit
 Of Mutton, or of Veale in it,
 Set on my Table, (Trouble-free)
 More then a Feast contenteth me.

The Entertainment : or, Porch-verse, at the Marriage of Mr. Hen. Northly, and the most witty Mrs. Lettice Yard.

Weelcome ! but yet no entrance, till we blesse
 First you, then you, and both for white succeſſe.
 Profane no Porch young man and maid, for fear
 Ye wrong the Threshold-god, that keeps peace here :
 Please him, and then all good-luck will betide
 You, the brisk Bridegroom, you the dainty Bride.
 Do all things sweetly, and in comely wiſe ;
 Put on your Garlands firſt, then Sacrifice :
 That done ; when both of you have ſeemly fed,
 We'll call on Night, to bring ye both to Bed :
 Where being laid, all Faire ſignes looking on,
 Fiſh-like, encrease then to a million :
 And millions of ſpring-times may ye have,
 Which ſpent, one death, bring to ye both one Grave.

10

The good-night or Blessing.

Blessings, in abundance come,
 To the Bride, and to her Groome ;
 May the Bed, and this ſhort night,
 Know the fulneſſ of delight !

Hesperides.

I 25

Pleasures, many here attend ye, 5
And ere long, a Boy Love send ye
Curld and comely, and so trimme,
Maides (in time) may ravish him.
Thus a dew of Graces fall
On ye both ; Goodnight to all. 10

To Daffadills.

- Faire Daffadills, we weep to see
You haste away so soone :
As yet the early-rising Sun
Has not attain'd his Noone.
Stay, stay, 5
Untill the hasting day
Has run
But to the Even-song ;
And, having pray'd together, we
Will goe with you along. 10
2. We have short time to stay, as you,
We have as short a Spring ;
As quick a growth to meet Decay,
As you, or any thing.
We die, 15
As your hours doe, and drie
Away,
Like to the Summers raine ;
Or as the pearles of Mornings dew
Ne'r to be found againe. 20

To a Maid.

You say, you love me ; that I thus must prove ;
If that you lye, then I will sweare you love.

Upon a Lady that dyed in child-bed, and left a daughter behind her.

As Gilly flowers do but stay
To blow, and seed, and so away ;
So you sweet Lady (sweet as May)
The gardens-glory liv'd a while,
To lend the world your scent and smile.
But when your own faire print was set
Once in a Virgin Flosculet,
(Sweet as your selfe, and newly blown)
To give that life, resign'd your own :
But so, as still the mothers power
Lives in the pretty Lady-flower.

*A New-yeares gift sent to Sir Simeon
Steward*

No newes of Navies burnt at Seas ;
No noise of late spawn'd Tittyries :
No closset plot, or open vent,
That frights men with a Parliament :
No new devise, or late found trick, 5
To read by th' Starres, the Kingdoms sick :
No ginne to catch the State, or wring
The free-born Nosthrills of the King,
We send to you ; but here a jolly
Verse crown'd with Ivie, and with Holly : 10
That tels of Winters Tales and Mirth,
That Milk-maids make about the hearth,
Of Christmas sports, the Wassell-boule,
That tost up, after Fox-i'th'hole :
Of Blind-man-buffe, and of the care 15
That young men have to shooe the Mare :
Of Twelf-tide Cakes, of Pease, and Beanes
Wherewith ye make those merry Sceanes,
When as ye chuse your King and Queen,
And cry out, Hey, for our town green. 20

A New-yeares gift. 8 Nosthrills] Nosthrill Some copies of 1648

Of Ash-heapes, in the which ye use
 Husbands and Wives by streakes to chuse :
 Of crackling Laurell, which fore-sounds,
 A Plentious harvest to your grounds :
 Of these, and such like things, for shift, 25
 We send in stead of New-yeares gift.
 Read then, and when your faces shine
 With bucksome meat and capring Wine :
 Remember us in Cups full crown'd,
 And let our Citie-health go round, 30
 Quite through the young maids and the men,
 To the ninth number, if not tenne ;
 Untill the fired Chesnuts leape
 For joy, to see the fruits ye reape,
 From the plumpe Chalice, and the Cup, 35
 That tempts till it be tossed up :
 Then as ye sit about your embers,
 Call not to mind those fled Decembers ;
 But think on these, that are t'apppeare,
 As Daughters to the instant yeare : 40
 Sit crown'd with Rose-buds, and carouse,
 Till Liber Pater twirles the house
 About your eares ; and lay upon
 The yeare (your cares) that's fled and gon.
 And let the russet Swaines the Plough 45
 And Harrow hang up resting now ;
 And to the Bag-pipe all addresse ;
 Till sleep takes place of wearinesse.
 And thus, throughout, with Christmas playes
 Frolick the full twelve Holy-dayes. 50

Mattens, or morning Prayer.

When with the Virgin morning thou do'st rise,
 Crossing thy selfe ; come thus to sacrifice :
 First wash thy heart in innocence, then bring
 Pure hands, pure habits, pure, pure every thing.
 Next to the Altar humbly kneele, and thence,
 Give up thy soule in clouds of frankinsence.
 Thy golden Censors fil'd with odours sweet,
 Shall make thy actions with their ends to meet.

Evensong.

Beginne with Jove ; then is the worke halfe done ;
 And runnes most smoothly, when tis well begunne.
Jove's is the first and last : The Morn's his due,
 The midst is thine ; but Joves the Evening too ;
 As sure as Mattins do's to him belong,
 So sure he layes claime to the Evensong.

The Braclet to Julia.

Why I tye about thy wrist,
Julia, this my silken twist ;
 For what other reason is't,
 But to shew thee how in part,
 Thou my pretty Captive art ?
 But thy Bondslave is my heart :
 'Tis but silke that bindeth thee,
 Knap the thread, and thou art free :
 But 'tis otherwise with me ;
 I am bound, and fast bound so,
 That from thee I cannot go ;
 If I co'd, I wo'd not so.

10

The Christian Militant.

A man prepar'd against all ills to come,
 That dares to dead the fire of martirdome :
 That sleeps at home ; and saying there at ease,
 Feares not the fierce sedition of the Seas :
 That's counter-proofe against the Farms mishaps,
 Undreadfull too of courtly thunderclaps :
 That weares one face (like heaven) and never showes
 A change, when Fortune either comes, or goes :
 That keepe his own strong guard, in the despight
 Of what can hurt by day, or harme by night :
 That takes and re-delivers every stroake
 Of Chance, (as made up all of rock, and oake :)

10

Hesperides.

129

That sighs at others death ; smiles at his own
Most dire and horrid crucifixion.
Who for true glory suffers thus ; we grant
Him to be here our Christian militant.

15

A short Hymne to Larr.

Though I cannot give thee fires
Glit'ring to my free desires :
These accept, and Ile be free,
Offering Poppy unto thee.

Another to Neptune.

Mighty Neptune, may it please
Thee, the Rector of the Seas,
That my Barque may safely runne
Through thy watrie-region ;
And a Tunnie-fish shall be
Offer'd up, with thanks to thee.

His embalming to Julia.

For my embalming, Julia, do but this,
Give thou my lips but their supreamest kiss :
Or else trans-fuse thy breath into the chest,
Where my small reliques must for ever rest :
That breath the Balm, the myrrh, the Nard shal be,
To give an incorruption unto me.

Gold, before Goodnesse.

How rich a man is, all desire to know ;
But none enquires if good he be, or no.

The Kisse. A Dialogue.

1. Among thy Fancies, tell me this,
What is the thing we call a kisse?
2. I shall resolve ye, what it is.

It is a creature born and bred
Between the lips, (all cherrie-red,) 5
By love and warme desires fed,
Chor. And makes more soft the Bridall Bed.

2. It is an active flame, that flies,
First, to the Babies of the eyes;
And charmes them there with lullabies; 10
Chor. And stils the Bride too, when she cries.

2. Then to the chin, the cheek, the eare,
It frisks, and flyes, now here, now there,
'Tis now farre off, and then tis nere;
Chor. And here, and there, and every where. 15

1. Ha's it a speaking virtue? 2. Yes;
1. How speaks it, say? 2. Do you but this,
Part your joyn'd lips, then speaks your kisse;
Chor. And this loves sweetest language is.

1. Has it a body? 2. I, and wings 20
With thousand rare encolourings:
And as it flyes, it gently sings,
Chor. Love, honie yeelds; but never stings.

The admonition.

Seest thou those Diamonds which she weares
In that rich Carkanet;
Or those on her dishevel'd haire,
Faure Pearles in order set?

Beleeve young man all those were teares 5
 By wretched Wooers sent,
 In mournfull Hyacinths and Rue,
 That figure discontent ;
 Which when not warmed by her view,
 By cold neglect, each one, 10
 Congeal'd to Pearle and stone ;
 Which precious spoiles upon her,
 She weares as trophees of her honour.
 Ah then consider ! What all this implies ;
 She that will weare thy teares, wo'd weare thine eyes. 15

To his honoured kinsman Sir William Soame. Epig.

I can but name thee, and methinks I call
 All that have been, or are canonicall
 For love and bountie, to come neare, and see,
 Their many vertues volum'd up in thee ;
 In thee Brave Man ! Whose incorrupted fame, 5
 Casts forth a light like to a Virgin flame :
 And as it shines, it throwes a scent about,
 As when a Rain-bow in perfumes goes out.
 So vanish hence, but leave a name, as sweet,
 As Benjamin, and Storax, when they meet. 10

On himselfe.

Aske me, why I do not sing
 To the tension of the string,
 As I did, not long ago,
 When my numbers full did flow ?
 Griefe (ay me !) hath struck my Lute, 5
 And my tongue at one time mute.

To Larr.

No more shall I, since I am driven hence,
 Devote to thee my graines of Frankinsence :
 No more shall I from mantle-trees hang downe,
 To honour thee, my little Parsly crown :

No more shall I (I feare me) to thee bring 5
 My chives of Garlick for an offering :
 No more shall I, from henceforth, heare a quire
 Of merry Crickets by my Country fire,
 Go where I will, thou luckie Larr stay here,
 Warme by a glit'ring chimnie all the yeare. 10

The departure of the good Dæmon.

What can I do in Poetry,
 Now the good Spirit's gone from me?
 Why nothing now, but lonely sit,
 And over-read what I have writ.

Clemency.

For punishment in warre, it will suffice,
 If the chiefe Author of the faction dyes ;
 Let but few smart, but strike a feare through all :
 Where the fault springs, there let the judgement fall.

His age, dedicated to his peculiar friend, M. John Wickes, under the name of Posthumus.

1. Ah Posthumus ! Our yeares hence flye,
 And leave no sound ; nor piety,
                                     Or prayers, or vow
 Can keepe the wrinkle from the brow :
                                     But we must on, 5
 As Fate do's lead or draw us ; none,
 None, Posthumus, co'd ere decline
 The doome of cruell Proserpine.
2. The pleasing wife, the house, the ground 10
 Must all be left, no one plant found
                                     To follow thee,
 Save only the Curst-Cipresse tree :

The departure, &c. Dæmon] The Malone copy of 1648 in Bodleian reads
 Demon. Clemency. 2 Author] author Malone copy

- A merry mind
Looks forward, scornes what's left behind :
Let's live, my Wickes, then, while we may, 15
And here enjoy our Holiday.
3. W'ave seen the past-best Times, and these
Will nere return, we see the Seas,
And Moons to wain ;
But they fill up their Ebbs again : 20
But vanisht man,
Like to a Lilly-lost, nere can,
Nere can repullulate, or bring
His dayes to see a second Spring.
4. But on we must, and thither tend, 25
Where Anchus and rich Tullus blend
Their sacred seed :
Thus has Infernall Jove decreed ;
We must be made,
Ere long, a song, ere long, a shade. 30
Why then, since life to us is short,
Lets make it full up, by our sport.
5. Crown we our Heads with Roses then,
And 'noint with Tirian Balme ; for when
We two are dead, 35
The world with us is buried.
Then live we free,
As is the Air, and let us be
Our own fair wind, and mark each one
Day with the white and Luckie stone. 40
6. We are not poore ; although we have
No roofs of Cedar, nor our brave
Baie, nor keep
Account of such a flock of sheep ;
Nor Bullocks fed 45
To lard the shambles : Barbels bred
To kisse our hands, nor do we wish
For Pollio's Lampries in our dish.

7. If we can meet, and so conferre,
 Both by a shining Salt-seller ; 50
                                     And have our Roofe,
 Although not archt, yet weather prooffe,
                                     And seeling free,
 From that cheape Candle baudery :
 We'le eate our Beane with that full mirth, 55
 As we were Lords of all the earth.
8. Well then, on what Seas we are tost,
 Our comfort is, we can't be lost.
                                     Let the winds drive
 Our Barke ; yet she will keepe alive 60
                                     Amidst the deepes ;
 'Tis constancy (my Wickes) which keeps
 The Pinnace up ; which though she erres
 I'th' Seas, she saves her passengers.
9. Say, we must part (sweet mercy blesse 65
 Us both i'th' Sea, Camp, Wildernesse)
                                     Can we so farre
 Stray, to become lesse circular,
                                     Then we are now ?
 No, no, that selfe same heart, that vow, 70
 Which made us one, shall ne'r undoe ;
 Or ravell so, to make us two.
10. Live in thy peace ; as for my selfe,
 When I am bruised on the Shelve
                                     Of Time, and show 75
 My locks behung with frost and snow :
                                     When with the reume,
 The cough, the ptisick, I consume
 Unto an almost nothing ; then,
 The Ages fled, Ile call agen : 80
11. And with a teare compare these last
 Lame, and bad times, with those are past,
                                     While Baucis by,
 My old leane wife, shall kisse it dry :

And so we'll sit
By'th'fire, foretelling snow and slit,
And weather by our aches, grown
Now old enough to be our own

12. True Calenders, as Pusses eare
Washt ore's to tell what change is neare : 90
Then to asswage
The gripings of the chine by age ;
I'le call my young
Iulus to sing such a song
I made upon my Julia's brest ; 95
And of her blush at such a feast.
13. Then shall he read that flowre of mine
Enclos'd within a christall shrine :
A Primrose next ;
A piece, then of a higher text : 100
For to beget
In me a more transcendant heate,
Then that insinuating fire,
Which crept into each aged Sire,
14. When the faire Hellen, from her eyes, 105
Shot forth her loving Sorceries :
At which I'le reare
Mine aged limbs above my chaire :
And hearing it,
Flutter and crow, as in a fit 110
Of fresh concupiscence, and cry,
No lust theres like to Poetry.
15. Thus frantick crazie man (God wot)
Ile call to mind things half forgot :
And oft between, 115
Repeat the Times that I have seen !

- Thus ripe with tears,
 And twisting my Julus hairs;
 Doting, Ile weep and say (In Truth)
Baucis, these were my sins of youth. 120
16. Then next Ile cause my hopefull Lad
 (If a wild Apple can be had)
     To crown the Hearth,
 (Larr thus conspiring with our mirth)
     Then to infuse 125
 Our browner Ale into the cruse:
 Which sweetly spic't, we'l first carouse
 Unto the Genius of the house.
17. Then the next health to friends of mine
 (Loving the brave Burgundian wine) 130
     High sons of Pith,
 Whose fortunes I have frolickt with:
     Such as co'd well
 Bear up the Magick bough, and spel:
 And dancing 'bout the Mystick Thyrse, 135
 Give up the just applause to verse:
18. To those, and then agen to thee
 We'l drink, my Wickes, untill we be
     Plump as the cherry,
 Though not so fresh, yet full as merry 140
     As the crickit;
 The untam'd Heifer, or the Pricket,
 Untill our tongues shall tell our ears,
 W'are younger by a score of years.
19. Thus, till we see the fire lesse shine 145
 From th' embers, then the kitlings eyne,
     We'l still sit up,
 Sphering about the wassail cup,
     To all those times,
 Which gave me honour for my Rhimes, 150
 The cole once spent, we'l then to bed,
 Farre more then night bewearied.

A short hymne to Venus.

Goddesse, I do love a Girle
Rubie-lipt, and tooth'd with Pearl :
If so be, I may but prove
Luckie in this Maide I love :
I will promise there shall be
Mirtles offer'd up to Thee.

To a Gentlewoman on just dealing.

True to your self, and sheets, you'l have me swear,
You shall ; if righteous dealing I find there.
Do not you fall through frailty ; Ile be sure
To keep my Bond still free from forfeiture.

The hand and tongue.

Two parts of us successively command ;
The tongue in peace ; but then in warre the hand.

Upon a delaying Lady.

1. Come come away,
Or let me go ;
Must I here stay,
Because y'are slow ;
And will continue so ?
Troth Lady, no.
2. I scorne to be
A slave to state :
And since I'm free,
I will not wait,
Henceforth at such a rate,
For needy Fate.
3. If you desire
My spark sho'd glow,
The peeping fire
You must blow ;
Or I shall quickly grow,
To Frost or Snow.

To the Lady Mary Villars, Governesse to the Princesse Henretta

When I of Villars doe but heare the name,
It calls to mind, that mighty Buckingham,
Who was your brave exalted Uncle here,
(Binding the wheele of Fortune to his Sphere)
Who spurn'd at Envie ; and co'd bring, with ease, 5
An end to all his stately purposes.
For his love then, whose sacred Reliques show
Their Resurrection, and their growth in you :
And for my sake, who ever did prefer
You, above all Those Sweets of Westminster : 10
Permit my Book to have a free accesse
To kisse your hand, most Dainty Governesse.

Upon his Julia.

Will ye heare, what I can say
Briefly of my Julia?
Black and rowling is her eye,
Double chinn'd, and forehead high :
Lips she has, all Rubie red, 5
Cheeks like Creame Enclarited :
And a nose that is the grace
And Proscenium of her face.
So that we may guesse by these,
The other parts will richly please. 10

To Flowers.

In time of life, I grac't ye with my Verse ;
Doe now your flowrie honours to my Herse.
You shall not languish, trust me : Virgins here
Weeping, shall make ye flourish all the yeere.

To my ill Reader.

Thou say'st my lines are hard ;
And I the truth will tell ;
They are both hard, and marr'd,
If thou not read'st them well.

The power in the people.

Let Kings Command, and doe the best they may,
The saucie Subjects still will beare the sway.

A Hymne to Venus, and Cupid.

Sea-born Goddess, let me be,
By thy sonne thus grac't, and thee ;
That when ere I wooe, I find
Virgins coy, but not unkind.
Let me when I kisse a maid, 5
'Taste her lips, so over-laid
With Loves-sirrop ; that I may,
In your Temple, when I pray,
Kisse the Altar, and confess
Ther's in love, no bitterness. 10

On Julia's Picture.

How am I ravisht ! When I do but see,
The Painters art in thy Sciography ?
If so, how much more shall I dote thereon,
When once he gives it incarnation ?

Her Bed.

See'st thou that Cloud as silver cleare,
Plump, soft, & swelling every where ?
Tis Julia's Bed, and she sleeps there.

Her Legs.

Fain would I kiss my Julia's dainty Leg,
Which is as white and hair-less as an egge.

Upon her Almes.

See how the poore do waiting stand,
For the expansion of thy hand.
A wafer Dol'd by thee, will swell
Thousands to feed by miracle.

Rewards.

Still to our gains our chief respect is had ;
 Reward it is, that makes us good or bad.

Nothing new.

Nothing is New : we walk where others went.
 Ther's no vice now, but has his president.

The Rainbow.

Look, how the Rainbow doth appeare
 But in one onely Hemisphere :
 So likewise after our disseace,
 No more is seen the Arch of Peace.
 That Cov'nant's here ; The under-bow,
 That nothing shoots, but war and woe.

The meddow verse or Aniversary to Mistris Bridget Lowman.

Come with the Spring-time, forth Fair Maid, and be
 This year again, the meddows Deity.
 Yet ere ye enter, give us leave to set
 Upon your Head this flowry Coronet :
 To make this neat distinction from the rest :
 You are the Prime, and Princesse of the Feast :
 To which, with silver feet lead you the way,
 While sweet-breath Nimphs, attend on you this Day.
 'This is your houre ; and best you may command,
 Since you are Lady of this Fairie land.
 Full mirth wait on you ; and such mirth as shall Cherrish the cheek, but make none blush at all.

10

The parting verse, the feast there ended.

Loth to depart, but yet at last, each one
Back must now go to's habitation :
Not knowing thus much, when we once do sever,
Whether or no, that we shall meet here ever.
As for my self, since time a thousand cares 5
And griefs hath fil'de upon my silver hairs ;
'Tis to be doubted whether I next yeer,
Or no, shall give ye a re-meeting here.
If die I must, then my last vow shall be, 10
You'l with a tear or two, remember me,
Your sometime Poet ; but if fates do give
Me longer date, and more fresh springs to live :
Oft as your field, shall her old age renew,
Herrick shall make the meddow-verse for you.

Long and lazie.

That was the Proverb. Let my mistresse be
Lasie to others, but be long to me.

To the right honourable, Philip, Earle of Pembroke, and Montgomerie.

How dull and dead are books, that cannot show
A Prince or Pembroke, and that Pembroke, you !
You, who are High born, and a Lord no lesse
Free by your fate, then Fortunes mightinesse,
Who hug our Poems (Honour'd Sir) and then 5
The paper gild, and Laureat the pen.
Nor suffer you the Poets to sit cold,
But warm their wits, and turn their lines to gold.
Others there be, who righteously will swear
Those smooth-pac't Numbers, amble every where ; 10

To the right honourable Philip, &c. 2 or] of Hazlitt, Grosart, and others (probably rightly)

And these brave Measures go a stately trot ;
 Love those, like these ; regard, reward them not.
 But you, my Lord, are One, whose hand along
 Goes with your mouth, or do's outrun your tongue ;
 Paying before you praise ; and cockring wit, 15
 Give both the Gold and Garland unto it.

An hymne to Juno.

Stately Goddess, do thou please,
 Who art chief at marriages,
 But to dresse the Bridall-Bed,
 When my Love and I shall wed :
 And a Peacock proud shall be 5
 Offerd up by us, to thee.

Upon Sapho, sweetly playing, and sweetly singing.

When thou do'st play, and sweetly sing,
 Whether it be the voice or string,
 Or both of them, that do agree
 Thus to en-trance and ravish me :
 This, this I know, I'm oft struck mute ; 5
 And dye away upon thy Lute.

Chop-Cherry.

1. Thou gav'st me leave to kisse ;
 Thou gav'st me leave to woove ;
 Thou mad'st me thinke by this,
 And that, thou lov'dst me too.
2. But I shall ne'r forget, 5
 How for to make thee merry ;
 Thou mad'st me chop, but yet,
 Another snapt the Cherry.

To the most learned, wise, and Arch-Antiquary, M. John Selden.

I who have favour'd many, come to be
Grac't (now at last) or glorifi'd by thee.
Loe, I, the Lyrick Prophet, who have set
On many a head the Delphick Coronet,
Come unto thee for Laurell, having spent, 5
My wreaths on those, who little gave or lent.
Give me the Daphne, that the world may know it,
Whom they neglected, thou hast crown'd a Poet.
A City here of Heroes I have made,
Upon the rock, whose firm foundation laid, 10
Shall never shrink, where making thine abode,
Live thou a Selden, that's a Demi-god.

Upon himself.

Thou shalt not All die ; for while Love's fire shines
Upon his Altar, men shall read thy lines ;
And learn'd Musicians shall to honour Herricks
Fame, and his Name, both set, and sing his Lyricks.

Upon wrinkles.

Wrinkles no more are, or no lesse,
Then beauty turn'd to sowernesse.

Pray and prosper.

First offer Incense, then thy field and meads
Shall smile and smell the better by thy beads.
The spangling Dew dreg'd o're the grasse shall be
Turn'd all to Mell, and Manna there for thee.

Butter of Amber, Cream, and Wine, and Oile 5
 Shall run, as rivers, all throughout thy soyl.
 Wod'st thou to sincere-silver turn thy mold?
 Pray once, twice pray ; and turn thy ground to gold.

His Lachrimæ or Mirth, turn'd to mourning.

1. Call me no more,
 As heretofore,
 The musick of a Feast ;
 Since now (alas)
 The mirth, that was 5
 In me, is dead or ceast.

2. Before I went
 To banishment
 Into the loathed West ;
 I co'd rehearse 10
 A Lyrick verse,
 And speak it with the best.

But time (Ai me)
 Has laid, I see
 My Organ fast asleep ; 15
 And turn'd my voice
 Into the noise
 Of those that sit and weep.

Gain and Gettings.

When others gain much by the present cast,
 The coblers getting time, is at the Last.

*To the most fair and lovely Mistris,
Anne Soame, now Lady Abdie.*

So smell those odours that do rise
From out the wealthy spiceries :
So smels the flowre of blooming Clove ;
Or Roses smother'd in the stove :
So smells the Aire of spiced wine ; 5
Or Essences of Jessimine :
So smells the Breath about the hives,
When well the work of hony thrives ;
And all the busie Factours come
Laden with wax and hony home : 10
So smell those neat and woven Bowers,
All over-archt with Oringe flowers ;
And Almond blossoms, that do mix
To make rich these Aromatikes :
So smell those bracelets, and those bands 15
Of Amber chaf't between the hands,
When thus enkindled they transpire
A noble perfume from the fire.
The wine of cherries, and to these,
The cooling breath of Respasses ; 20
The smell of mornings milk, and cream ;
Butter of Cowslips mixt with them ;
Of rosted warden, or bak'd peare,
These are not to be reckon'd here ;
When as the meanest part of her, 25
Smells like the maiden-Pomander.
Thus sweet she smells, or what can be
More lik'd by her, or lov'd by mee.

Upon his kinswoman Mistris

Elizabeth Herrick.

Sweet virgin, that I do not set
 The pillars up of weeping Jet,
 Or mournfull Marble; let thy shade
 Not wrathfull seem, or fright the Maide,
 Who hither at her wonted howers 5
 Shall come to strew thy earth with flowers.
 No, know (Blest Maide) when there's not one
 Remainder left of Brasse.or stone,
 Thy living Epitaph shall be,
 Though lost in them, yet found in me. 10
 Dear, in thy bed of Roses, then,
 Till this world shall dissolve as men,
 Sleep, while we hide thee from the light,
 Drawing thy curtains round : Good night.

A Panegerick to Sir Lewis Pemberton.

Till I shall come again, let this suffice,
 I send my salt, my sacrifice
 To Thee, thy Lady, younglings, and as farre
 As to thy Genius and thy Larri ,
 To the worn Threshold, Porch, Hall, Parlour, Kitchin, 5
 The fat-fed smoking Temple, which in
 The wholesome savour of thy mighty Chines
 Invites to supper him who dines,
 Where laden spits, warp't with large Ribbs of Beefe,
 Not represent, but give reliefe 10
 To the lanke-Stranger, and the sowre Swain ;
 Where both may feed, and come againe :
 For no black-bearded Vigil from thy doore
 Beats with a button'd-staffe the poore :
 But from thy warm-love-hatching gates each may 15
 Take friendly morsels, and there stay
 To Sun his thin-clad members, if he likes,
 For thou no Porter keep'st who strikes.
 No commer to thy Roofe his Guest-rite wants ;
 Or staying there, is scourg'd with taunts 20

Of some rough Groom, who (yirkt with Corns) sayes, Sir
 Y'ave dipt too long i'th' Vinegar ;
 And with our Broth and bread, and bits ; Sir, friend,
 Y'ave farced well, pray make an end ;
 Two dayes y'ave larded here ; a third, yee know, 25
 Makes guests and fish smell strong ; pray go
 You to some other chimney, and there take
 Essay of other giblets ; make
 Merry at anothers hearth ; y'are here
 Welcome as thunder to our beere : 30
 Manners knowes distance, and a man unrude
 Wo'd soon recoile, and not intrude
 His Stomach to a second Meale. No, no,
 Thy house, well fed and taught, can show
 No such crab'd vizard : Thou hast learnt thy Train, 35
 With heart and hand to entertain :
 And by the Armes-full (with a Brest unhid)
 As the old Race of mankind did,
 When eithers heart, and eithers hand did strive
 To be the nearer Relative : 40
 Thou do'st redeeme those times ; and what was lost
 Of antient honesty, may boast
 It keeps a growth in thee ; and so will runne
 A course in thy Fames-pledge, thy Sonne.
 Thus, like a Roman Tribune, thou thy gate 45
 Early sett's ope to feast, and late :
 Keeping no currish Waiter to affright,
 With blasting eye, the appetite,
 Which fain would waste upon thy Cates, but that
 The Trencher-creature marketh what 50
 Best and more suppling piece he cuts, and by
 Some private pinch tels danger's nie
 A hand too desp'rate, or a knife that bites
 Skin deepe into the Porke, or lights
 Upon some part of Kid, as if mistooke, 55
 When checked by the Butlers look.
 No, no, thy bread, thy wine, thy jocund Beere
 Is not reserv'd for Trebius here,
 But all, who at thy table seated are,
 Find equall freedome, equall fare ; 60

And Thou, like to that Hospitable God,
     Jove, joy'st when guests make their abode
 To eat thy Bullocks thighs, thy Veales, thy fat
     Weathers, and never grudged at.
 The Pheasant, Partridge, Gotwit, Reeve, Ruffe, Raile, 65
     The Cock, the Curlew, and the quail ;
 These, and thy choicest viands do extend
     Their taste unto the lower end
 Of thy glad table : not a dish more known
     To thee, then unto any one : 70
 But as thy meate, so thy immortall wine
     Makes the smirk face of each to shine,
 And spring fresh Rose-buds, while the salt, the wit
     Floues from the Wine, and graces it :
 While Reverence, waiting at the bashfull board, 75
     Honours my Lady and my Lord.
 No scurrile jest ; no open Sceane is laid
     Here, for to make the face affraid ;
 But temp'rate mirth dealt forth, and so discreet-
     ly that it makes the meate more sweet ; 80
 And adds perfumes unto the Wine, which thou
     Do'st rather poure forth, then allow
 By cruse and measure ; thus devoting Wine,
     As the Canary Isles were thine :
 But with that wisdom, and that method, as 85
     No One that's there his guilty glasse
 Drinks of distemper, or ha's cause to cry
     Repentance to his liberty.
 No, thou know'st order, Ethicks, and ha's read
     All Oeconomicks, know'st to lead 90
 A House-dance neatly, and can'st truly show,
     How farre a Figure ought to go,
 Forward, or backward, side-ward, and what pace
     Can give, and what retract a grace ;
 What Gesture, Courtship ; Comliness agrees, 95
     With those thy primitive decrees,
 To give subsistance to thy house, and prooffe,
     What Genii support thy rooffe,
 Goodnes and Greatnes ; not the oaken Piles ;
     For these, and marbles have their whiles 100
 To last, but not their ever : Vertues Hand
     It is, which builds, 'gainst Fate to stand.

Such is thy house, whose firme foundations trust
 Is more in thee, then in her dust,
 Or depth, these last may yeeld, and yearly shrinke, 105
 When what is strongly built, no chinke
 Or yawning rupture can the same devoure,
 But fixt it stands, by her own power,
 And well-laid bottome, on the iron and rock,
 Which tryes, and counter-stands the shock, 110
 And Ramme of time and by vexation growes
 The stronger : Vertue dies when foes
Are wanting to her exercise, but great
And large she spreads by dust, and sweat
 Safe stand thy Walls, and Thee, and so both will, 115
 Since neithers height was rais'd by th'ill
 Of others ; since no Stud, no Stone, no Piece,
 Was rear'd up by the Poore-mans fleece :
 No Widowes Tenement was rackt to guild
 Or fret thy Seeling, or to build 120
 A Sweating-Closset, to annoint the silke-
 soft-skin, or bath in Asses milke :
 No Orphans pittance, left him, serv'd to set
 The Pillars up of lasting Jet,
 For which their cries might beate against thine eares, 125
 Or in the dampe Jet read their Teares.
 No Planke from Hallowed Altar, do's appeale
 To yond' Star-chamber, or do's seale
 A curse to Thee, or Thine ; but all things even
 Make for thy peace, and pace to heaven. 130
 Go on directly so, as just men may
 A thousand times, more sweare, then say,
 This is that Princely Pemberton, who can
 Teach man to keepe a God in man :
 And when wise Poets shall search out to see 135
 Good men, They find them all in Thee.

To his Valentine, on S. Valentines day

Oft have I heard both Youths and Virgins say,
 Birds chuse their Mates, and couple too, this day :
 But by their flight I never can divine,
 When I shall couple with my Valentine.

Upon M. Ben. Johnson. Epig.

After the rare Arch-Poet JOHNSON dy'd,
 The Sock grew loathsome, and the Buskins pride,
 Together with the Stages glory stood
 Each like a poore and pitied widowhood.
 The Cirque prophan'd was ; and all postures rackt : 5
 For men did strut, and stride, and stare, not act
 Then temper flew from words ; and men did squeake,
 Looke red, and blow, and bluster, but not speake :
 No Holy-Rage, or frantick-fires did stirre,
 Or flash about the spacious Theater. 10
 No clap of hands, or shout, or praises-proofe
 Did crack the Play-house sides, or cleave her roofe.
Arlesse the Sceane was ; and that monstrous sin
 Of deep and arrant ignorance came in ;
 Such ignorance as theirs was, who once hist 15
 At thy unequal'd Play, the Alchymist :
 Oh fie upon 'em ! Lastly too, all witt
 In utter darkenes did, and still will sit
 Sleeping the lucklesse Age out, till that she
 Her Resurrection ha's again with Thee. 20

Another.

Thou had'st the wreath before, now take the Tree ;
 That henceforth none be Laurel crown'd but Thee.

To his Nephew, to be prosperous in his art of Painting.

On, as thou hast begunne, brave youth, and get
 The Palme from Urbino, Titian, Tintarret,
Brugel and Coxu, and the workes out-doe,
 Of Holben, and That mighty Ruben too.
 So draw, and paint, as none may do the like 5
 No, not the glory of the World, Vandike.

A Vow to Mars.

Store of courage to me grant,
Now I'm turn'd a combatant :
Helpe me so, that I my shield,
(Fighting) lose not in the field.
That's the greatest shame of all
That in warfare can befall.
Do but this ; and there shall be
Offer'd up a Wolfe to thee.

To his maid Prew.

These Summer-Birds did with thy Master stay
The times of warmth ; but then they flew away
Leaving their Poet (being now grown old)
Expos'd to all the coming Winters cold.
But thou kind Prew did'st with my Fates abide,
As well the Winters, as the Summers Tide :
For which thy Love, live with thy Master here,
Not two, but all the seasons of the yeare.

A Canticle to Apollo.

1. Play Phœbus on thy Lute ;
And we will, all sit mute
By listning to thy Lire,
That sets all cares on fire.
2. Hark, harke, the God do's play !
And as he leads the way
Through heaven, the very Spheres,
As men, turne all to cares.

A Just man's like a Rock that turnes the wroth
Of all the raging Waves, into a froth

To his maid Prew. 'Maid' Douce and Malone copies, which also read—
1 master    5 fates    7 love . . . master    8 Not one
A Canticle. 1 Phœbus Douce and Malone    7 Spheres Douce and Malone

Upon a hoarse Singer.

Sing me to death ; for till thy voice be cleare,
 'Twill never please the pallate of mine eare.

How Pansies or Heart-ease came first.

Frollick Virgins once these were,
 Overloving, (living here :)
 Being here their ends deny'd
 Ran for Sweet-hearts mad, and dy'd.
 Love in pitie of their teares, 5
 And their losse in blooming yeares ;
 For their restlesse here-spent-houres,
 Gave them Hearts-ease turn'd to Flow'rs.

To his peculiar friend Sir Edward Fish, Knight Baronet.

Since for thy full deserts (with all the rest
 Of these chaste spirits, that are here possesst
 Of Life eternall) Time has made thee one,
 For growth in this my rich Plantation :
 Live here : But know 'twas vertue, & not chance, 5
 That gave thee this so high inheritance.
 Keepe it for ever ; grounded with the good,
 Who hold fast here an endlesse lively-hood.

Larr's portion, or the Poets part.

At my homely Country-seat,
 I have there a little wheat ;
 Which I worke to Meale, and make
 Therewithall a Holy cake :
 Part of which I give to Larr, 5
 Part is my peculiar.

Upon man.

Man is compos'd here of a two-fold part ;
The first of Nature, and the next of Art :
Art presupposes Nature ; Nature shee
Prepares the way for mans docility.

Liberty.

Those ills that mortall men endure,
So long are capable of cure,
As they of freedome may be sure :
But that deni'd ; a griefe, though small,
Shakes the whole Roofe, or ruines all.

Lots to be liked.

Learn this of me, where e'r thy Lot doth fall ;
Short lot, or not, to be content with all.

Griefes.

Jove may afford us thousands of reliefs ;
Since man expos'd is to a world of griefs.

The Dreame.

By Dream I saw, one of the three
Sisters of Fate appeare to me.
Close to my Beds side she did stand
Shewing me there a fire brand ;
She told me too, as that did spend,
So drew my life unto an end.
Three quarters were consum'd of it ;
Onely remaind a little bit,
Which will be burnt up by and by,
Then Juha weep, for I must dy.

10

Clothes do but cheat and cousen us.

Away with silks, away with Lawn,
Ile have no Sceans, or Curtains drawn :
Give me my Mistresse, as she is,
Drest in her nak't simplicities :
For as my Heart, ene so mine Eye
Is wone with flesh, not Drapery. 5

Upon Electra.

When out of bed my Love doth spring,
'Tis but as day a kindling :
But when She's up and fully drest,
'Tis then broad Day throughout the East.

To his Booke.

Have I not blest Thee ? Then go forth ; nor fear
Or spice, or fish, or fire, or close-stools here.
But with thy fair Fates leading thee, Go on
With thy most white Predestination.
Nor thinke these Ages that do hoarcely sing 5
The farting Tanner, and familiar King ;
The dancing Frier, tatter'd in the bush ;
Those monstrous lies of little Robin Rush :
Tom Chipperfeild, and pritty-lisping Ned,
That doted on a Maide of Gingerbred : 10
The flying Pilcher, and the frisking Dace,
With all the rabble of Tim-Trundells race,
(Bred from the dung-hils, and adulterous rhimes,) Shall live, and thou not superlast all times ?
No, no, thy Stars have destin'd Thee to see 15
The whole world die, and turn to dust with thee.
He's greedie of his life, who will not fall,
When as a publick ruine bears down All

Of Love.

I do not love, nor can it be
Love will in vain spend shafts on me :
I did this God-head once defie ;
Since which I freeze, but cannot frie.
Yet out alas! the deaths the same,
Kil'd by a frost or by a flame.

Upon himself.

I dislikt but even now ;
Now I love I know not how.
Was I idle, and that while
Was I fier'd with a smile?
Ile too work, or pray ; and then
I shall quite dislike agen.

Another.

Love he that will ; it best likes me,
To have my neck from Loves yoke-free.

The mad Maids song.

1. Good morrow to the Day so fair ;
    Good morning Sir to you :
    Good morrow to mine own torn hair
    Bedabled with the dew.
2. Good morning to this Prim-rose too ; 5
    Good morrow to each maid ;
    That will with flowers the Tomb bestrew,
    Wherein my Love is laid.
3. Ah woe is me, woe, woe is me, 10
    Alack and welladay !
    For pittie, Sir, find out that Bee,
    Which bore my Love away.

4. Ile seek him in your Bonnet brave ;
 Ile seek him in your eyes ;
 Nay, now I think th'ave made his grave
 I'th'bed of strawburies. 15
5. Ile seek him there ; I know, ere this,
 The cold, cold Earth doth shake him ;
 But I will go, or send a kisse
 By you, Sir, to awake him. 20
6. Pray hurt him not ; though he be dead,
 He knowes well who do love him,
 And who with green-turfes reare his head,
 And who do rudely move him.
7. He's soft and tender (Pray take heed)
 With bands of Cow-slips bind him ;
 And bring him home, but 'tis decreed,
 That I shall never find him. 25

To Springs and Fountains.

I heard ye co'd coole heat ; and came
 With hope you would allay the same :
 Thrice I have washt, but feel no cold,
 Nor find that true, which was foretold.
 Me thinks like mine, your pulses beat ;
 And labour with unequall heat : 5
 Cure, cure your selves, for I discrie,
 Ye boil with Love, as well as I.

Upon Julia's unlacing her self.

Tell, if thou canst, (and truly) whence doth come
 This Camphire, Storax, Spiknard, Galbanum :
 These Musks, these Ambers, and those other smells
 (Sweet as the Vestrie of the Oracles.)
 Ile tell thee ; while my Julia did unlace
 Her silken bodies, but a breathing space : 5
 The passive Aire such odour then assum'd,
 As when to Jove Great Juno goes perfum'd.
 Whose pure-Immortall body doth transmit
 A scent, that fills both Heaven and Earth with it. 10

To Bacchus, a Canticle.

Whither dost thou whorry me,
Bacchus, being full of Thee?
This way, that way, that way, this,
Here, and there a fresh Love is.
That doth like me, this doth please ; 5
Thus a thousand Mistresses,
I have now ; yet I alone,
Having All, injoy not One.

The Lawne.

Wo'd I see Lawn, clear as the Heaven, and thin?
It sho'd be onely in my Julia's skin :
Which so betrayes her blood, as we discover
The blush of cherries, when a Lawn's cast over.

The Frankincense.

When my off'ring next I make,
Bè thy hand the hallowed Cake :
And thy brest the Altar, whence
Love may smell the Frankincense.

To Sycamores.

I'm sick of Love ; O let me lie
Under your shades, to sleep or die !
Either is welcome ; so I have
Or here my Bed, or here my Grave.
Why do you sigh, and sob, and keep 5
Time with the tears, that I do weep?
Say, have ye sence, or do you prove
What Crucifixions are in Love?
I know ye do ; and that's the why,
You sigh for Love, as well as I. 10

A Pastorall sung to the King : Montano, Silvio, and Mirtillo, Shepherds.

Mon. Bad are the times. Sil. And wors then they are we.
Mon. Troth, bad are both ; worse fruit, and ill the tree :
 The feast of Shepherds fail. Sil. None crowns the cup
 Of Wassaille now, or sets the quintell up :
 And He, who us'd to leade the Country-round, 5
 Youthfull Mirtillo, Here he comes, Griefdrownd.
Ambo. Lets cheer him up. Sil. Behold him weeping ripe.
Mirt. Ah ! Amarillis, farewell mirth and pipe ;
 Since thou art gone, no more I mean to play,
 To these smooth Lawns, my mirthfull Roundelay. 10
 Dear Amarillis ! Mon. Hark ! Sil. mark : Mir. this earth grew sweet
 Where, Amarillis, Thou didst set thy feet.
Ambo. Poor pittied youth ! Mir. And here the breth of kine
 And sheep, grew more sweet, by that breth of Thine.
 This flock of wooll, and this rich lock of hair, 15
 This ball of Cow-slips, these she gave me here.
Sil. Words sweet as Love it self. Montano, Hark.
Mirt. This way she came, and this way too she went ;
 How each thing smells divinely redolent !
 Like to a field of beans, when newly blown ; 20
 Or like a meadow being lately mown.
Mont. A sweet-sad passion.—
Mirt. In dewie-mornings when she came this way,
 Sweet Bents wode bow, to give my Love the day :
 And when at night, she folded had her sheep, 25
Daysies wo'd shut, and closing, sigh and weep.
 Besides (Ai me !) since she went hence to dwell,
 The voices Daughter nea'r spake syllable.
 But she is gone. Sil. Mirtillo, tell us whether,
Mirt. Where she and I shall never meet together. 30
Mont. Fore-fend it Pan, and Pales do thou please
 To give an end : Mir. To what ? Sil. such griefs as these.
Mirt. Never, O never ! Still I may endure
 The wound I suffer, never find a cure.
Mont. Love for thy sake will bring her to these hills 35
 And dales again : Mir. No I will languish still ;

And all the while my part shall be to weepe ;
 And with my sighs, call home my bleating sheep :
 And in the Rind of every comely tree
 Ile carve thy name, and in that name kisse thee : 40
Mont. Set with the Sunne, thy woes : Sail. The day grows old :
 And time it is our full-fed flocks to fold.
Chor. The shades grow great ; but greater growes our sorrow,
 But lets go sleepe
 Our eyes in sleepe ; 45
 And meet to weepe
 To morrow.

The Poet loves a Mistresse, but not to marry.

1. I do not love to wed,
 Though I do like to wooe ;
 And for a maidenhead
 Ile beg, and buy it too.
2. Ile praise, and Ile approve 5
 Those maids that never vary ;
 And fervently Ile love ;
 But yet I would not marry.
3. Ile hug, Ile kisse, Ile play,
 And Cock-like Hens Ile tread : 10
 And sport it any way ;
 But in the Bridall Bed :
4. For why? that man is poore,
 Who hath but one of many ;
 But crown'd he is with store, 15
 That single may have any.
5. Why then, say, what is he
 (To freedome so unknown)
 Who having two or three,
 Will be content with one? 20

The Willow Garland.

A willow Garland thou did'st send
 Perfum'd (last day) to me :
 Which did but only this portend,
 I was forsooke by thee.

Since so it is ; Ile tell thee what, 5
 To morrow thou shalt see
 Me weare the Willow ; after that,
 To dye upon the Tree.

As Beasts unto the Altars go 10
 With Garlands drest, so I
 Will, with my Willow-wreath also,
 Come forth and sweetly dye.

A Hymne to Sir Clipseyby Crew.

'Twas not Lov's Dart ;
 Or any blow
 Of want, or foe,
 Did wound my heart
 With an eternall smart : 5

But only you,
 My sometimes known
 Companion,
 (My dearest Crew,)
 That me unkindly slew. 10

May your fault dye,
 And have no name
 In Bookes of fame ;
 Or let it lye
 Forgotten now, as I. 15

We parted are,
And now no more,
As heretofore,
By jocund Larr,
Shall be familiar. 20

But though we Sever
My Crew shall see,
That I will be
Here faithlesse never ;
But love my Clypeby ever. 25

Observation.

Who to the North, or South, doth set
His Bed, Male children shall beget.

Empires.

Empires of Kings, are now, and ever were.
(As Salust saith) co-incident to feare.

Felicity, quick of flight.

Every time seemes short to be,
That's measur'd by felicity :
But one halfe houre, that's made up here
With grieffe ; seemes longer then a yeare.

Putrefaction.

Putrefaction is the end
Of all that Nature doth entend.

Passion.

Were there not a Matter known,
There wo'd be no Passion.

Hesperides.Jack and Jill.

Since Jack and Jill both wicked be ;
 It seems a wonder unto me,
 That they no better do agree.

Upon Parson Beanes.

Old Parson Beanes hunts six dayes of the week,
 And on the seaventh, he has his Notes to seek.
 Six dayes he hollows so much breath away,
 That on the seaventh, he can nor preach, or pray

The crowd and company.

In holy meetings, there a man may be
 One of the crowd, not of the companie.

Short and long both likes.

This Lady's short, that Mistresse she is tall ;
 But long or short, I'm well content with all.

Pollicie in Princes.

That Princes may possesse a surer seat,
 'Tis fit they make no One with them too great.

Upon the Nipples of Julia's Breast.

Have ye beheld (with much delight)
 A red-Rose peeping through a white ?
 Or else a Cherrie (double grac't)
 Within a Lillie ? Center plac't ?
 Or ever mark't the pretty beam,
 A Strawberry shewes halfe drown'd in Creame ?
 Or seen rich Rubies blushing through
 A pure smooth Pearle, and Orient too ?
 So like to this, nay all the rest,
 Is each neate Niplet of her breast.

To Daisies, not to shut so soone.

1. Shut not so soon ; the dull-ey'd night
     Ha's not as yet begunne
     To make a seisure on the light,
     Or to seale up the Sun.

2. No Marigolds yet closed are ; 5
     No shadowes great appeare ;
     Nor doth the early Shepheards Starre
     Shine like a spangle here.

3. Stay but till my Julia close 10
     Her life-begetting eye ;
     And let the whole world then dispose
     It selfe to live or dye.

To the little Spinners.

Yee pretty Huswives, wo'd ye know
 The worke that I wo'd put ye to ?
 This, this it sho'd be, for to spin,
 A Lawn for me, so fine and thin,
 As it might serve me for my skin. 5
 For cruell Love ha's me so whipt,
 That of my skin, I all am stript ;
 And shall dispaire, that any art
 Can ease the rawnesse, or the smart ;
 Unlesse you skin again each part. 10
 Which mercy if you will but do,
 I call all Maids to witnesse too
 What here I promise, that no Broom
 Shall now, or ever after come
 To wrong a Spinner or her Loome. 15

Oberons Palace.

After the Feast (my Shapcot) see,
 The Fairie Court I give to thee :
 Where we'll present our Oberon led
 Halfe tipsie to the Fairie Bed,
 Where Mab he finds ; who there doth lie 5
 Not without mickle majesty.
 Which, done ; and thence remov'd the light,
 We'll wish both Them and Thee, good night.

Full as a Bee with Thyme, and Red,
 As Cherry harvest, now high fed 10
 For Lust and action ; on he'll go,
 To lye with Mab, though all say no.
 Lust ha's no eares ; He's sharpe as thorn ;
 And fretfull, carries Hay in's horne,
 And lightning in his eyes ; and flings 15
 Among the Elves, (if mov'd) the stings
 Of peltish wasps ; we'll know his Guard
Kings though th'are hated, will be fear'd.
 Wine lead him on. Thus to a Grove
 (Sometimes devoted unto Love) 20
Tinseld with Twilight, He, and They Lead by the shine of Snails ; a way
 Beat with their num'rous feet, which by
 Many a neat perplexity,
 Many a turn, and man' a crosse- 25
 Track they redeem a bank of mosse
 Spungie and swelling, and farre more
 Soft then the finest Lemster Ore.
 Mildly disparkling, like those fiers,
 Which break from the Injeweld tyres 30
 Of curious Brides ; or like those mites
 Of Candi'd dew in Moony nights.
 Upon this Convex, all the flowers
 (Nature begets by th' Sun, and showers,)
 Are to a wilde digestion brought, 35
 As if Loves Sampler here was wrought :
 Or Citherea's Ceston, which
 All with temptation doth bewitch.

Sweet Aires move here ; and more divine
 Made by the breath of great-ey'd kine, 40
 Who as they lowe empearl with milk
 The four-leav'd grasse, or mosse-like silk.
 The breath of Munkies met to mix
 With Musk-flies, are th' Aromaticks,
 Which cense this Arch ; and here and there, 45
 And farther off, and every where,
 Throughout that Brave Mosaick yard
 Those Picks or Diamonds in the Card :
 With peeps of Harts, of Club and Spade
 Are here most neatly inter-laid. 50
 Many a Counter, many a Die,
 Half rotten, and without an eye,
 Lies here abouts ; and for to pave
 The excellency of this Cave,
 Squirrils and childrens teeth late shed, 55
 Are neatly here enchequered.
 With brownest Toadstones, and the Gum
 That shines upon the blower Plum.
 The nails faln off by Whit-flawes : Art's
 Wise hand enchasing here those warts, 60
 Which we to others (from our selves)
 Sell, and brought hither by the Elves.
 The tempting Mole, stoln from the neck
 Of the shie Virgin, seems to deck
 The holy Entrance ; where within 65
 The roome is hung with the blew skin
 Of shifted Snake : enfrecz'd throughout
 With eyes of Peacocks Trains, & Trout-flies curious wings ; and these among
 Those silver-pence, that cut the tongue 70
 Of the red infant, neatly hung.
 The glow-wormes eyes ; the shining scales
 Of silv'rie fish ; wheat-strawes, the snailles
 Soft Candle-light ; the Kitling's eyne ;
 Corrupted wood ; serve here for shine. 75
 No glaring light of bold-fac't Day,
 Or other over radiant Ray
 Ransacks this roome ; but what weak beams
 Can make reflected from these jems,

40 great-ey'd kine] Misprinted great ey'd-kine
 like Grosart and some others (unnecessarily)

42 mosse-like] mosse,

And multiply ; Such is the light, 80
 But ever doubtfull Day, or night.
 By this quaint Taper-light he winds
 His Errours up ; and now he finds
 His Moon-tann'd Mab, as somewhat sick,
 And (Love knowes) tender as a chick. 85
 Upon six plump Dandillions, high-
 Rear'd, lyes her Elvish-majestie :
 Whose woollie-bubbles seem'd to drowne
 Hir Mab-ship in obedient Downe.
 For either sheet, was spread the Caule 90
 That doth the Infants face enthrall,
 When it is born : (by some enstyl'd
 The luckie Omen of the child)
 And next to these two blankets ore-
 Cast of the finest Gossamore. 95
 And then a Rug of carded wooll,
 Which, Spunge-like drinking in the dull-
 Light of the Moon, seem'd to comply,
 Cloud-like, the daintie Deitie.
 Thus soft she lies ; and over-head 100
 A Spinners circle is bespread,
 With Cob-web-curtains : from the roof
 So neatly sunck, as that no proof
 Of any tackling can declare
 What gives it hanging in the Aire. 105
 The Fringe about this, are those Threds
 Broke at the Losse of Maiden-heads :
 And all behung with these pure Pearls,
 Dropt from the eyes of ravisht Girles
Or writhing Brides ; when, (panting) they 110
 Give unto Love the straiter way.
 For Musick now ; He has the cries
 Of fained-lost-Virinities ;
 The which the Elves make to excite
 A more unconquer'd appetite. 115
 The Kings undrest ; and now upon
 The Gnats-watch-word the Elves are gone.
 And now the bed, and Mab possess
 Of this great-little-kingly-Guest.
 We'll nobly think, what's to be done, 120
 He'll do no doubt ; This flax is spun.

To his peculiar friend Master Thomas Shapcott, Lawyer.

I've paid Thee, what I promis'd ; that's not All ;
Besides I give Thee here a Verse that shall
(When hence thy Circum-mortall-part is gon)
Arch-like, hold up, Thy Name's Inscription.

Brave men can't die ; whose Candid Actions are Writ in the Poets Endlesse-Kalendar :
Whose velome, and whose volumne is the Skie,
And the pure Starres the praising Poetrie.

Farewell.

To Julia in the Temple.

Besides us two, i' th' Temple here's not one
To make up now a Congregation.
Let's to the Altar of perfumes then go,
And say short Prayers ; and when we have done so,
Then we shall see, how in a little space,
Saints will come in to fill each Pew and Place.

To Oenone.

1. What Conscience, say, is it in thee
    When I a Heart had one,
    To Take away that Heart from me,
    And to retain thy own ?
2. For shame or pittie now encline
    To play a loving part ;
    Either to send me kindly thine,
    Or give me back my heart.
3. Covet not both ; but if thou dost
    Resolve to part with neither ;
    Why ! yet to shew that thou art just,
    Take me and mine together.

10

His weaknesse in woes.

I cannot suffer ; And in this, my part
Of Patience wants. Grief breaks the stoutest Heart.

Fame makes us forward.

To Print our Poems, the propulsive cause
Is Fame, (the breath of popular applause.)

To Groves.

Yee silent shades, whose each tree here
Some Relique of a Saint doth weare :
Who for some sweet-hearts sake, did prove
The fire, and martyrdome of love.
Here is the Legend of those Saints 5
That di'd for love ; and their complaints :
Their wounded hearts ; and names we find
Encarv'd upon the Leaves and Rind.
Give way, give way to me, who come
Scorch't with the selfe-same martyrdome : 10
And have deserv'd as much (Love knows)
As to be canoniz'd 'mongst those,
Whose deeds, and deaths here written are
Within your Greenie-Kalendar :
By all those Virgins Fillets hung 15
Upon your Boughs, and Requiems sung
For Saints and Soules departed hence,
(Here honour'd still with Frankincense)
By all those teares that have been shed,
As a Drink-offering, to the dead : 20
By all those True-love-knots, that be
With Motto's carv'd on every tree
By sweet S. Phillis ; pitie me :
By deare S. Iphis ; and the rest,
Of all those other Saints now blest ; 25
Me, me, forsaken, here admit
Among your Mirtles to be writ :
That my poore name may have the glory
To live remembred in your story.

An Epitaph upon a Virgin.

Here a solemne Fast we keepe,
While all beauty lyes asleep
Husht be all things ; (no noyse here)
But the toning of a teare :
Or a sigh of such as bring
Cowslips for her covering. 5

To the right gracious Prince, Lodwick, Duke of Richmond and Lenox.

Of all those three-brave-brothers, faln i' th' Warre,
(Not without glory) Noble Sir, you are,
Despite of all concussions left the Stem
To shoot forth Generations like to them.
Which may be done, if (Sir) you can beget 5
Men in their substance, not in counterfeit.
Such Essences as those Three Brothers ; known
Eternall by their own production.
Of whom, from Fam's white Trumpet, This Ile Tell,
Worthy their everlasting Chronicle, 10
Never since first Bellona us'd a Shield,
Such Three brave Brothers fell in Mars his Field.
These were those Three Horatii Rome did boast,
Rom's were these Three Horatii we have lost.
One Cordelion had that Age long since ; 15
This, Three ; which Three, you make up Foure Brave Prince.

To Jealousie.

1. O Jealousie, that art
The Canker of the heart :
And mak'st all hell
Where thou do'st dwell ;
For pitie be
No Furie, or no Fire-brand to me.

To the right gracious Prince, Lodwick, &c. 14 were] Misprinted where

2. Farre from me Ile remove
All thoughts of irksome Love :

And turn to snow,

Or Christall grow ;

To keep still free

10

(O ! Soul-tormenting Jealousie,) from Thee.

To live Freely.

Let's live in hast ; use pleasures while we may :
Co'd life return, 'twod never lose a day.

His Almnes.

Here, here I live,

And somewhat give,

Of what I have,

To those, who crave.

Little or much,

5

My Almnes is such :

But if my deal

Of Oyl and Meal

Shall fuller grow,

More Ile bestow :

10

Mean time be it

E'en but a bit,

Or else a crum,

The scrip hath some.

Upon himself.

Come, leave this loathed Country-life, and then
Grow up to be a Roman Citizen.

Those mites of Time, which yet remain unspent,
Waste thou in that most Civill Government.

Get their comportment, and the gliding tongue

Of those mild Men, thou art to live among :

Then being seated in that smoother Sphere,

Decree thy everlasting Topick there.

And to the Farm-house nere return at all ;

Though Granges do not love thee, Cities shall.

10

To enjoy the Time.

While Fates permits us, let's be merry ;
Passe all we must the fatall Ferry :
And this our life too whirles away,
With the Rotation of the Day.

Upon Love.

1. Love, I have broke
    Thy yoke ;
    The neck is free :
    But when I'm next
        Love vext,
    Then shackell me. 5
- 2 'Tis better yet
    To fret
    The feet or hands ;
    Then to enthrall,
        Or gall 10
    The neck with bands.

To the right Honourable Mildmay, Earle of Westmorland.

You are a Lord, an Earle, nay more, a Man,
Who writes sweet Numbers well as any can :
If so, why then are not These Verses hurld,
Like Sybel's Leaves, throughout the ample world ?
What is a Jewell if it be not set 5
Forth by a Ring, or some rich Carkanet ?
But being so ; then the beholders cry,
See, see a Jemme (as rare as Bælus eye.)
Then publick praise do's runne upon the Stone,
For a most rich, a rare, a precious One. 10
Expose your jewels then unto the view,
That we may praise Them, or themselves prize You.
Vertue conceal'd (with Horace you'l confesse)
Differs not much from drowzie slothfullnesse.

The Plunder.

I am of all bereft ;
 Save but some few Beanes left,
 Whereof (at last) to make
 For me, and mine a Cake :
 Which eaten, they and I
 Will say our grace, and die

Little nesse no cause of Leannesse.

One feeds on Lard, and yet is leane ;
 And I but feasting with a Beane,
 Grow fat and smooth : The reason is,
Jove prospers my meat, more then his.

The Jimmall Ring, or True-love-knot.

Thou sent'st to me a True-love-knot ; but I
 Return'd a Ring of Jimmals, to imply
 Thy Love had one knot, mine a triple tye.

*The parting Verse, or charge to his supposed
Wife when he travelled.*

Go hence, and with this parting kisse,
 Which joyns two souls, remember this ;
 Though thou beest young, kind, soft, and faire,
 And may'st draw thousands with a haire :
 Yet let these glib temptations be
 Furies to others, Friends to me.
 Looke upon all ; and though on fire
 Thou set'st their hearts, let chaste desire
 Steere Thee to me ; and thinke (me gone)
 In having all, that thou hast none.
 Nor so immured wo'd I have
 Thee live, as dead and in thy grave ;
 But walke abroad, yet wisely well
 Stand for my comming, Sentinell.

And think (as thou do'st walke the street) 15
 Me, or my shadow thou do'st meet.
 I know a thousand greedy eyes
 Will on thy Feature tirannize,
 In my short absence ; yet behold
 Them like some Picture, or some Mould 20
 Fashion'd like Thee ; which though 'tave cares
 And eyes, it neither sees or heares.
 Gifts will be sent, and Letters, which
 Are the expressions of that itch,
 And salt, which frets thy Suters ; fly 25
 Both, lest thou lose thy liberty :
 For that once lost, thou't fall to one,
 Then prostrate to a million.
 But if they wooe thee, do thou say,
 (As that chaste Queen of Ithaca 30
 Did to her suitors) this web done
 (Undone as oft as done) I'm wonne ;
 I will not urge Thee, for I know,
 Though thou art young, thou canst say no,
 And no again, and so deny, 35
 Those thy Lust-burning Incubi.
 Let them enstile Thee Fairest faire,
 The Pearle of Princes, yet despaire
 That so thou art, because thou must Believe, Love speaks it not, but Lust ; 40
 And this their Flatt'rie do's commend
 Thee chiefly for their pleasures end.
 I am not jealous of thy Faith,
 Or will be ; for the Axiome saith,
 He that doth suspect, do's haste 45
 A gentle mind to be unchaste.
 No, live thee to thy selfe, and keep
 Thy thoughts as cold, as is thy sleep :
 And let thy dreames be only fed
 With this, that I am in thy bed. 50
 And thou then turning in that Sphere,
 Waking shalt find me sleeping there.
 But yet if boundlesse Lust must skaille
 Thy Fortress, and will needs prevaile ;

And wildly force a passage in, 55
 Banish consent, and 'tis no sinne
 Of Thine ; so Lucrece fell, and the Chaste Syracusan Cyane.
 So Medullina fell, yet none
 Of these had imputation 60
 For the least trespassse ; 'cause the mind
 Here was not with the act combin'd.
The body sins not, 'tis the Will
That makes the Action, good, or ill.
 And if thy fall sho'd this way come, 65
 Triumph in such a Martirdome.
 I will not over-long enlarge
 To thee, this my religious charge.
 Take this compression, so by this Means, I shall know what other kisse 70
 Is mixt with mine ; and truly know,
 Returning, if 't be mine or no :
 Keepe it till then ; and now my Spouse,
 For my wisht safety pay thy vows,
 And prayers to Venus ; if it please 75
 The Great-blew-ruler of the seas ;
 Not many full-fac't-moons shall waine,
 Lean-horn'd, before I come again
 As one triumphant ; when I find
 In thee, all faith of Woman-kind. 80
 Nor wo'd I have thee thinke, that Thou
 Had'st power thy selfe to keep this vow ;
 But having scapt temptations shelve,
 Know vertue taught thee, not thy selfe.

To his Kinsman, Sir Tho. Soame.

Seeing thee Soame, I see a Goodly man,
 And in that Good, a great Patrician.
 Next to which Two ; among the City-Powers,
 And Thrones, thy selfe one of Those Senatours :
 Not wearing Purple only for the show ; 5
 (As many Conscriptis of the Citie do)
 But for True Service, worthy of that Gowne,
 The Golden chain too, and the Civick Crown.

To Blossoms.

1. Faire pledges of a fruitfull Tree,
Why do yee fall so fast ?
Your date is not so past ;
But you may stay yet here a while,
To blush and gently smile ; 5
And go at last.
2. What, were yee borne to be
An houre or half's delight ;
And so to bid goodnight ?
'Twas pitie Nature brought yee forth 10
Meerly to shew your worth,
And lose you quite.
3. But you are lovely Leaves, where we
May read how soon things have
Their end, though ne'r so brave : 15
And after they have shown their pride,
Like you a while : They glide
Into the Grave.

Mans dying-place uncertain.

Man knowes where first he ships himselfe ; but he Never can tell, where shall his Landing be.

Nothing Free-cost.

Nothing comes Free-cost here ; Jove will not let
His gifts go from him ; if not bought with sweat.

Few fortunate.

Many we are, and yet but few possesse
Those Fields of everlasting happinesse.

Hesperides.To Perenna.

How long, Perenna, wilt thou see
 Me languish for the love of Thee?
 Consent and play a friendly part
 To save ; when thou may'st kill a heart.

To the Ladyes.

Trust me Ladies, I will do
 Nothing to distemper you ;
 If I any fret or vex,
 Men they shall be, not your sex.

The old Wives Prayer.

Holy-Rood come forth and shield
 Us i'th' Citie, and the Field :
 Safely guard us, now and aye,
 From the blast that burns by day ;
 And those sounds that us affright
 In the dead of dampish night.
 Drive all hurtfull Feinds us fro,
 By the Time the Cocks first crow.

Upon his departure hence.

Thus I
Passe by,
And die :
As One,
Unknown,	5
And gon :
I'm made
A shade,
And laid
I'th grave,	10
There have
My Cave.
Where tell
I dwell,
Farewell.	16

The Wassaile.

1. Give way, give way ye Gates, and win
An easie blessing to your Bin,
And Basket, by our entring in.
2. May both with manchets stand repleat ;
Your Larders too so hung with meat, 5
'That though a thousand, thousand eat ;
3. Yet, ere twelve Moones shall whirl about
Their silv'rie Spheres, ther's none may doubt,
But more's sent in, then was serv'd out.
4. Next, may your Dairies Prosper so, 10
As that your pans no Ebbe may know ;
But if they do, the more to flow.
5. Like to a solemne sober Stream
Bankt all with Lillies, and the Cream
Of sweetest Cow-slips filling Them. 15
6. Then, may your Plants be prest with Fruit,
Nor Bee, or Hive you have be mute ;
But sweetly sounding like a Lute.
7. Next may your Duck and teeming Hen
Both to the Cocks-tread say Amen ; 20
And for their two eggs render ten.
8. Last, may your Harrows, Shares and Ploughes,
Your Stacks, your Stocks, your sweetest Mowes,
All prosper by your Virgin-vowes.
9. Alas ! we blesse, but see none here, 25
That brings us either Ale or Beere ;
In a drie-house all things are neere.
10. Let's leave a longer time to wait,
Where Rust and Cobwebs bind the gate ;
And all live here with needy Fate. 30

11. Where Chimneys do for ever weepe,
For want of warmth, and Stomachs keepe
With noise, the servants eyes from sleep.
12. It is in vain to sing, or stay
Our free-feet here ; but we'l away : 35
Yet to the Lares this we'l say,
13. The time will come, when you'l be sad,
And reckon this for fortune bad,
T'ave lost the good ye might have had.

Upon a Lady faire, but fruitlesse.

Twice has Pudica been a Bride, and led
By holy Himen to the Nuptiall Bed.
Two Youths sha's known, thrice two, and twice 3. yeares ;
Yet not a Lillie from the Bed appears ;
Nor will ; for why, Pudica, this may know, 5
Trees never beare, unlesse they first do blow.

How Springs came first.

These Springs were Maidens once that lov'd,
But lost to that they most approv'd :
My Story tells, by Love they were
Turn'd to these Springs, which wee see here :
The pretty whimpering that they make, 5
When of the Banks their leave they take ;
'Tels ye but this, they are the same,
In nothing chang'd but in their name.

To Rosemary and Baies.

My wooing's ended : now my wedding's neere ;
When Gloves are giving, Guilded be you there.

Upon a Scarre in a Virgins Face.

'Tis Heresie in others : In your face
That Scarr's no Schisme, but the sign of grace.

Upon his eye-sight failing him.

I beginne to waine in sight ;
 Shortly I shall bid goodnight :
 Then no gazing more about,
 When the Tapers once are out.

To his worthy Friend, M. Tho. Falconbirge.

Stand with thy Graces forth, Brave man, and rise
 High with thine own Auspitious Destinies :
 Nor leave the search, and prooffe, till Thou canst find
 These, or those ends, to which Thou wast design'd.
 Thy lucky Genius, and thy guiding Starre, 5
 Have made Thee prosperous in thy wayes, thus farre :
 Nor will they leave Thee, till they both have shown
 Thee to the World a Prime and Publique One.
 Then, when Thou see'st thine Age all turn'd to gold,
 Remember what thy Herrick Thee foretold, 10
 When at the holy Threshold of thine house,
He Boded good-luck to thy Selfe and Spouse.
 Lastly, be mindfull (when thou art grown great)
That Towers high rear'd dread most the lightnings threat :
When as the humble Cottages not feare 15
The cleaving Bolt of Jove the Thunderer.

Upon Julia's haire fill'd with Dew.

Dew sate on Julia's haire,
 And spangled too,
 Like Leaves that laden are
 With trembling Dew :
 Or glitter'd to my sight, 5
 As when the Beames
 Have their reflected light,
 Daunc't by the Streames.

Hesperides.Another on her.

How can I choose but love, and follow her,
 Whose shadow smels like milder Pomander !
 How can I chuse but kisse her, whence do's come
 The Storax, Spiknard, Myrrhe, and Ladanum.

Losse from the least.

Great men by small meanes oft are overthrown :
He's Lord of thy life, who condemnes his own.

Reward and punishments.

All things are open to these two events,
 Or to Rewards, or else to Punishments.

Shame, no Statist.

Shame is a bad attendant to a State :
He rents his Crown, That feares the Peoples hate.

To Sir Clisebie Crew.

Since to th' Country first I came,
 I have lost my former flame :
 And, methinks, I not inherit,
 As I did, my ravisht spirit.
 If I write a Verse, or two,
 'Tis with very much ado ;
 In regard I want that Wine,
 Which sho'd conjure up a line.
 Yet, though now of Muse bereft
 I have still the manners left
 For to thanke you (Noble Sir)
 For those gifts you do conferre
 Upon him, who only can
 Be in Prose a gratefull man.

10

Upon himselfe.

1. I co'd never love indeed ;
Never see mine own heart bleed :
Never crucifie my life ;
Or for Widow, Maid, or Wife.
2. I co'd never seeke to please 5
One, or many Mistresses :
Never like their lips, to sweare
Oyle of Roses still smelt there.
3. I co'd never breake my sleepe,
Fold mine Armes, sob, sigh, or weep : 10
Never beg, or humbly wooe
With oathes, and lyes, (as others do.)
4. I co'd never walke alone ;
Put a shirt of sackcloth on :
Never keep a fast, or pray 15
For good luck in love (that day.)
5. But have hitherto liv'd free,
As the aire that circles me :
And kept credit with my heart,
Neither broke i'th whole, or part. 20

Fresh Cheese and Cream.

Wo'd yee have fresh Cheese and Cream ?
Julia's Breast can give you them :
And if more ; Each Nipple cries,
To your Cream, her's Strawberries.

An Eclogue, or Pastorall between Endimion Porter and Lycidas Herrick, set and sung.

1. Endym. Ah ! Lycidas, come tell me why
Thy whilome merry Oate
By thee doth so neglected lye ;
And never purls a Note ?

2. I prithee speake : Lyc. I will. End. Say on : 5
Lyc. 'Tis thou, and only thou,
That art the cause Endimion ;
End. For Loves-sake, tell me how.
3. Lyc. In this regard, that thou do'st play 10
Upon an other Plain :
And for a Rurall Roundelay,
Strik'st now a Courtly strain.
4. Thou leav'st our Hills, our Dales, our Bowers,
Our finer fleeced sheep :
(Unkind to us) to spend thine houres, 15
Where Shepheards sho'd not keep.
5. I meane the Court : Let Latmos be
My lov'd Endymions Court ;
End. But I the Courtly State wo'd see :
Lyc. Then see it in report. 20
6. What ha's the Court to do with Swaines,
Where Phillis is not known ?
Nor do's it mind the Rustick straines
Of us, or Coridon.
7. Breake, if thou lov'st us, this delay ; 25
End. Dear Lycidas, e're long,
I vow by Pan, to come away
And Pipe unto thy Song.
8. Then Jessimine, with Florabell ;
And dainty Amarillis, 30
With handsome-handed Drosomell
Shall pranke thy Hooke with Lillies.
9. Lyc. Then Tityrus, and Coridon,
And Thyrsis, they shall follow
With all the rest ; while thou alone 35
Shalt lead, like young Apollo.
10. And till thou com'st, thy Lycidas,
In every Geniall Cup,
Shall write in Spice, Endimion 'twas
That kept his Piping up. 40

And my most luckie Swain, when I shall live to see
Endimions Moon to fill up full, remember me :
Mean time, let Lycidas have leave to Pipe to thee.

To a Bed of Tulips.

1. Bright Tulips, we do know,
You had your comming hither ;
And Fading-time do's show,
That Ye must quickly wither.
2. Your Sister-hoods may stay, 5
And smile here for your houre ;
But dye ye must away :
Even as the meanest Flower.
3. Come Virgins then, and see 10
Your frailties ; and bemone ye ;
For lost like these, 'twill be,
As Time had never known ye.

A Caution.

That Love last long ; let it thy first care be
To find a Wife, that is most fit for Thee.
Be She too wealthy, or too poore ; be sure,
Love in extreames, can never long endure.

To the Water Nymphs, drinking at the Fountain.

1. Reach, with your whiter hands, to me,
Some Christall of the Spring ;
And I, about the Cup shall see
Fresh Lillies flourishing.
2. Or else sweet Nimphs do you but this ; 5
To'th' Glasse your lips encline ;
And I shall see by that one kisse,
The Water turn'd to Wine.

To his Honoured Kinsman, Sir Richard Stone.

To this white Temple of my Heroes, here
Beset with stately Figures (every where)
Of such rare Saint-ships, who did here consume
Their lives in sweets, and left in death perfume,

Come thou Brave man ! And bring with Thee a Stone      5
 Unto thine own Edification.
 High are These Statues here, besides no lesse
 Strong then the Heavens for everlastingnesse :
 Where build aloft ; and being fixt by These,
 Set up Thine own eternall Images.      10

Upon a Flie.

A golden Flie one shew'd to me
 Clos'd in a Box of Yvorie :
 Where both seem'd proud ; the Flie to have
 His buriall in an yvory grave :
 The yvorie tooke State to hold      5
 A Corps as bright as burnisht gold.
 One Fate had both ; both equall Grace ;
 The Buried, and the Burying-place
 Not Virgils Gnat, to whom the Spring
 All Flowers sent to'is burying.      10
 Not Marshals Bee, which in a Bead
 Of Amber quick was buried.
 Nor that fine Worme that do's interre
 Her self i'th' silken Sepulchre.
 Nor my rare **Phil*, that lately was      *Sparrow. 15
 With Lillies Tomb'd up in a Glasse ;
 More honour had, then this same Flie ;
 Dead, and closed up in Yvorie.

To Julia.

Julia, when thy Herrick dies,
 Close thou up thy Poets eyes :
 And his last breath, let it be
 Taken in by none but Thee.

To Mistresse Dorothy Parsons.

If thou aske me (Deare) wherefore
 I do write of thee no more :
 I must answer (Sweet) thy part
 Lesse is here, then in my heart.

How he would drinke his Wine.

Fill me my Wine in Christall; thus, and thus
 I see't in's puris naturalibus:
 Unmixt. I love to have it smirke and shine,
 'Tis sin I know, 'tis sin to throttle Wine.
 What Mad-man's he, that when it sparkles so,
 Will coole his flames, or quench his fires with snow? 5

How Marigolds came yellow.

Jealous Girles these sometimes were,
 While they liv'd, or lasted here:
 Turn'd to Flowers, still they be
 Yellow, markt for Jealousie.

The broken Christall.

To Fetch me Wine my Lucia went,
 Bearing a Christall continent:
 But making haste, it came to passe,
 She brake in two the purer Glasse,
 Then smil'd, and sweetly chid her speed;
 So with a blush, beshrew'd the deed. 5

Precepts.

Good Precepts we must firmly hold,
 By daily Learning we wax old.

To the right Honourable Edward Earle of Dorset.

If I dare write to You, my Lord, who are,
 Of your own selfe, a Publick Theater.
 And sitting, see the wiles, wayes, walks of wit,
 And give a righteous judgement upon it.
 What need I care, though some dislike me sho'd,
 If Dorset say, what Herrick writes, is good? 5
 We know y'are learn'd i'th' Muses, and no lesse
 In our State-sanctions, deep, or bottomlesse.

Whose smile can make a Poet ; and your glance
 Dash all bad Poems out of countenance. 10
 So, that an Author needs no other Bayes
 For Coronation, then Your onely Praise.
 And no one mischief greater then your frown,
 To null his Numbers, and to blast his Crownc.
Few live the life immortall. He ensures 15
His Fame's long life, who strives to set up Yours.

Upon himself.

Th'art hence removing, (like a Shepherds Tent)
 And walk thou must the way that others went :
 Fall thou must first, then rise to life with These,
 Markt in thy Book for faithfull Witnesses.

*Hope well and Have well : or,
 Faire after Foule weather.*

What though the Heaven be lowring now,
 And look with a contracted brow ?
 We shall discover, by and by,
 A Repurgation of the Skie :
 And when those clouds away are driven, 5
 Then will appeare a cheerfull Heaven.

Upon Love.

1. I held Love's head while it did ake ;
     But so it chanc't to be ;
     The cruell paine did his forsake,
     And forthwith came to me.
2. Ai me ! How shal my grieve be stil'd ? 5
     Or where else shall we find
     One like to me, who must be kill'd
     For being too-too-kind ?

To his Kinswoman, Mrs. Penelope Wheeler.

Next is your lot (Faire) to be number'd one,
Here, in my Book's Canonization :
Late you come in ; but you a Saint shall be,
In Chiefe, in this Poetick Liturgie.

Another upon her.

First, for your shape, the curious cannot shew
Any one part that's dissonant in you :
And 'gainst your chast behaviour there's no Plea,
Since you are knowne to be Penelope.
Thus faire and cleane you are, although there be
A mighty strife 'twixt Forme and Chastitie.

Kissing and bussing.

Kissing and bussing differ both in this ;
We busse our Wantons, but our Wives we kisse.

Crosse and Pile.

Faire and foule dayes trip Crosse and Pile ; The faire
Far lesse in number, then our foule dayes are.

To the Lady Crew, upon the death of her Child.

Why, Madam, will ye longer weep,
When as your Baby's lull'd asleep ?
And (pretty Child) feelles now no more
Those paines it lately felt before.
All now is silent ; groanes are fled :
Your Child lyes still, yet is not dead :
But rather like a flower hid here
To spring againe another yeare.

His Winding-sheet.

Come thou, who art the Wine, and wit
Of all I've writ :
The Grace, the Glorie, and the best
Piece of the rest.
Thou art of what I did intend	5
The All, and End.
And what was made, was made to meet
Thee, thee my sheet.
Come then, and be to my chaste side
Both Bed, and Bride.	10
We two (as Reliques left) will have
One Rest, one Grave.
And, hugging close, we will not feare
Lust entring here :
Where all Desires are dead, or cold	15
As is the mould :
And all Affections are forgot,
Or Trouble not.
Here, here the Slaves and Pris'ners be
From Shackles free :	20
And weeping Widowes long opprest
Doe here find rest.
The wronged Client ends his Lawes
Here, and his Cause.
Here those long suits of Chancery lie	25
Quiet, or die :
And all Star-chamber-Bills doe cease,
Or hold their peace.
Here needs no Court for our Request,
Where all are best ;	30
All wise ; all equall ; and all just
Alike i'th' dust.
Nor need we here to feare the frowne
Of Court, or Crown.
Where Fortune bears no sway o're things	35
There all are Kings.
In this securer place we'l keep,
As lull'd asleep ;
Or for a little time we'l lye,
As Robes laid by ;	40

To be another day re-worne,
                    Turn'd, but not torn :
Or like old Testaments ingrost,
                    Lockt up, not lost :
And for a while lye here conceal'd,
                    To be reveal'd
Next, at that great Platonick yeere,
                    And then meet here.

45

To Mistresse Mary Willand.

One more by Thee, Love, and Desert have sent,
T' ensangle this expansive Firmament.
O Flame of Beauty ! come, appeare, appeare
A Virgin Taper, ever shining here.

Change gives content.

What now we like, anon we disapprove :
The new successor drives away old Love.

On himselfe.

Borne I was to meet with Age,
And to walke Life's pilgrimage.
Much I know of Time is spent,
Tell I can't, what's Resident.
Howsoever, cares, adue ;
Ile have nought to say to you :
But Ile spend my comming houres,
Drinking wine, & crown'd with flowres.

Fortune favours.

Fortune did never favour one
Fully, without exception ;
Though free she be, ther's something yet
Still wanting to her Favourite

To Phillis to love, and live with him.

Live, live with me, and thou shalt see
 The pleasures Ile prepare for thee :
 What sweets the Country can afford
 Shall blesse thy Bed, and blesse thy Board.
 The soft sweet Mosse shall be thy bed, 5
 With crawling Woodbine over-spread :
 By which the silver shedding streames
 Shall gently melt thee into dreames.
 Thy clothing next, shall be a Gowne
 Made of the Fleeces purest Downe. 10
 The tongues of Kids shall be thy meate ;
 Their Milke thy drinke ; and thou shalt eate
 The Paste of Filberts for thy bread
 With Cream of Cowslips buttered :
 Thy Feasting-Tables shall be Hills 15
 With Daisies spread, and Daffadils ;
 Where thou shalt sit, and Red-brest by,
 For meat, shall give thee melody.
 Ile give thee Chaines and Carkanets
 Of Primroses and Violets. 20
 A Bag and Bottle thou shalt have ;
 That richly wrought, and This as brave ;
 So that as either shall expresse
 The Wearer's no meane Shepheardesse.
 At Sheering-times, and yearely Wakes, 25
 When Themilis his pastime makes,
 There thou shalt be ; and be the wit,
 Nay more, the Feast, and grace of it.
 On Holy-dayes, when Virgins meet
 To dance the Heyes with nimble feet ; 30
 Thou shalt come forth, and then appeare
 The Queen of Roses for that yeere.
 And having danc't ('bove all the best)
 Carry the Garland from the rest.
 In Wicker-baskets Maids shal bring 35
 To thee, (my dearest Shepharling)
 The blushing Apple, bashfull Peare,
 And shame-fac't Plum, (all simp'ring there).
 Walk in the Groves, and thou shalt find
 The name of Phillis in the Rind 40

Of every straight, and smooth-skin tree ;
Where kissing that, Ile twice kisse thee.
To thee a Sheep-hook I will send,
Be-pranckt with Ribbands, to this end,
This, this alluring Hook might be 15
Lesse for to catch a sheep, then me.
Thou shalt have Possets, Wassails fine,
Not made of Ale, but spiced Wine ;
To make thy Maids and selfe free mirth,
All sitting neer the glitt'ring-Hearth. 50
Thou sha't have Ribbands, Roses, Rings,
Gloves, Garters, Stockings, Shooes, and Strings
Of winning Colours, that shall move
Others to Lust, but me to Love.
These (nay) and more, thine own shal be, 55
If thou wilt love, and live with me.

To his Kinswoman, Mistresse Susanna Herrick.

When I consider (Dearest) thou dost stay
But here awhile, to languish and decay ;
Like to these Garden-glories, which here be
The Flowrie-sweet resemblances of Thee :
With grieve of heart, methinks, I thus doe cry, 5
Wo'd thou hast ne'r been born, or might'st not die.

Upon Mistresse Susanna Southwell her cheeks.

Rare are thy cheeks Susanna, which do show
Ripe Cherries smiling, while that others blow.

Upon her Eyes.

Cleere are her eyes,
Like purest Skies.
Discovering from thence
A Babie there
That turns each Sphere, 5
Like an Intelligence.

Upon her feet.

Her pretty feet
 Like snailes did creep
 A little out, and then,
 As if they started at Bo-peep,
 Did soon draw in agen.

To his honoured friend, Sir John Mynts.

For civill, cleane, and circumcised wit,
 And for the comely carriage of it ;
 Thou art The Man, the onely Man best known,
 Markt for the True-wit of a Million :
 From whom we'll reckon. Wit came in, but since
 The Calculation of thy Birth, Brave Mince.

Upon his gray haire.

Fly me not, though I be gray,
 Lady, this I know you'll say ;
 Better look the Roses red,
 When with white commingled.
 Black your haire are ; mine are white ;
 This begets the more delight,
 When things meet most opposite :
 As in Pictures we descry,
Venus standing Vulcan by.

5

Accusation.

If Accusation onely can draw blood,
 None shall be guiltlesse, be he n'er so good.

Pride allowable in Poets.

As thou deserv'st, be proud ; then gladly let
 The Muse give thee the Delphick Coronet.

Upon her feet. 4 started] played Douce and Malone copies of 1648
To his honoured friend. Title Mynts] Mince Douce and Malone copies of 1648.

A Vow to Minerva.

Goddesse, I begin an Art ;
Come thou in, with thy best part,
For to make the Texture lye
Each way smooth and civilly :
And a broad-fac't Owle shall be
Offer'd up with Vows to Thee.

To Electra.

1. 'Tis Ev'ning, my Sweet,
And dark ; let us meet ;
Long time w've here been a toying :
And never, as yet,
That season co'd get,
Wherein t've had an enjoying.

2. For pittty or shame,
Then let not Love's flame,
Be ever and ever a spending ;
Since now to the Port
The path is but short ;
And yet our way has no ending.

10

3. Time flies away fast ;
Our houres doe waste :
The while we never remember,
How soone our life, here,
Growes old with the yeere,
That dyes with the next December.

15

Fortune no higher Project can devise,
Then to sow Discord 'mongst the Enemies.

Ill Government.

Preposterous is that Government, (and rude)
When Kings obey the wilder Multitude.

To Marygolds.

Give way, and be ye ravisht by the Sun,
 (And hang the head when as the Act is done)
 Spread as He spreads ; wax lesse as He do's wane ;
 And as He shuts, close up to Maids again.

To Dianeme.

Give me one kisse,
 And no more ;
 If so be, this
 Makes you poore ;
 To enrich you, 5
 Ile restore
 For that one, two
 Thousand score.

To Julia, the Flaminica Dialis, or Queen-Priest.

Thou know'st, my Julia, that it is thy turne
 This Mornings Incense to prepare, and burne.
 The Chaplet, and * Inarculum here be,
 With the white Vestures, all attending Thee.
 This day, the Queen-Priest, thou art made t'appease 5
 Love for our very-many Trespasses.
 One chiefe transgression is among the rest,
 Because with Flowers her Temple was not drest :
 The next, because her Altars did not shine
 With daily Fyers : The last, neglect of Wine : 10
 For which, her wrath is gone forth to consume
 Us all, unlesse preserv'd by thy Perfume.
 Take then thy Censer ; Put in Fire, and thus,
 O Pious-Priestresse ! make a Peace for us.
 For our neglect, Love did our Death decree, 15
 That we escape. Redemption comes by Thee.

* A twig of a Pomgranat, which the queen-priest did use to weare on her head at sacrificing. (Herrick)

Anacreontike.

Born I was to be old,
 And for to die here .
 After that, in the mould
 Long for to lye here.
 But before that day comes,
 Still I be Bousing ;
 For I know, in the Tombs
 There's no Carousing.

Meat without mirth.

Eaten I have ; and though I had good cheere,
 I did not sup, because no friends were there.
 Where Mirth and Friends are absent when we Dine
 Or Sup, there wants the Incense and the Wine.

Large Bounds doe but bury us.

All things o'r-rul'd are here by Chance ;
 The greatest mans Inheritance.
 Where ere the luckie Lot doth fall,
 Serves but for place of Buriall.

An Ode to Sir Clipsebie Crew.

1. Here we securely live, and eate
 The Creame of meat ;
 And keep eternal fires,
 By which we sit, and doe Divine
 As Wine
 And Rage inspires.
2. If full we charme ; then call upon
Anacreon
 To grace the frantick Thyse :
 And having drunk, we raise a shout
 Throughout
 To praise his Verse.

10

3. Then cause we Horace to be read,
     Which sung, or seyd,
     A Goblet, to the brim, 15
 Of Lyrick Wine, both swell'd and crown'd,
     A Round
     We quaffe to him.
4. Thus, thus, we live, and spend the houres
     In Wine and Flowers: 20
     And make the frolick yeere,
 The Month, the Week, the instant Day,
     To stay
     The longer here.
5. Come then, brave Knight, and see the Cell 25
     Wherein I dwell;
     And my Enchantments too;
 Which Love and noble freedome is;
     And this
     Shall fetter you. 30
6. Take Horse, and come; or be so kind,
     To send your mind
     (Though but in Numbers few)
 And I shall think I have the heart,
     Or part 35
     Of Clypeby Crew.

To his worthy Kinsman, Mr.

Stephen Soame.

Nor is my Number full, till I inscribe
 Thee sprightly Soame, one of my righteous Tribe:
 A Tribe of one Lip; Leven, and of One
 Civil Behaviour, and Religion.
 A Stock of Saints; where ev'ry one doth weare 5
 A stole of white, (and Canonized here)
 Among which Holies, be Thou ever known,
 Brave Kinsman, markt out with the whiter stone:
 Which seals Thy Glorie; since I doe prefer
 Thee here in my eternall Calender. 10

To his Tomb-maker.

Go I must ; when I am gone,
Write but this upon my Stone ;
Chaste I liv'd, without a wife,
That's the Story of my life.
Strewings need none, every flower
Is in this word, Batchelour.

Great Spirits supervise.

Our mortall parts may wrapt in Seare-cloths lye :
Great Spirits never with their bodies dye.

None free from fault.

Out of the world he must, who once comes in :
No man exempted is from Death, or sinne.

Upon himselfe being buried.

Let me sleep this night away,
Till the Dawning of the day :
Then at th' opening of mine eyes,
I, and all the world shall rise.

Pitie to the prostrate.

Tis worse then barbarous cruelty to show
No part of pitie on a conquer'd foe.

His content in the Country.

Here, here I live with what my Board,
Can with the smallest cost afford.
Though ne'r so mean the Viands be,
They well content my Prew and me.
Or Pea, or Bean, or Wort, or Beet,
What ever comes, content makes sweet :
Here we rejoyce, because no Rent
We pay for our poore Tenement :
Wherein we rest, and never feare
The Landlord, or the Usurer,

10

The Quarter-day do's ne'r affright
 Our Peacefull slumbers in the night.
 We eate our own, and batten more,
 Because we feed on no mans score :
 But pitie those, whose flanks grow great, 15
 Swel'd with the Lard of others meat.
 We blesse our Fortunes, when we see
 Our own beloved privacie :
 And like our living, where w'are known
 To very few, or else to none. 20

The credit of the Conquerer.

He who commends the vanquisht, speaks the Power,
 And glorifies the worthy Conquerer.

On himselfe.

Some parts may perish ; dye thou canst not all :
 The most of Thee shall scape the funerall.

The Fairies.

If ye will with Mab find grace,
 Set each Platter in his place :
 Rake the Fier up, and get
 Water in, ere Sun be set.
 Wash your Pailles, and clense your Dairies ; 5
 Sluts are loathsome to the Fairies :
 Sweep your house : Who doth not so,
Mab will pinch her by the toe.

To his honoured friend, M. John Weare, Councillour.

Did I or love, or could I others draw
 To the indulgence of the rugged Law :
 The first foundation of that zeale sho'd be
 By Reading all her Paragraphs in Thee.

Who dost so fitly with the Lawes unite, 5
 As if You Two, were one Hermophrodite :
 Nor courts thou Her because she's well attended
 With wealth, but for those ends she was entended :
 Which were, (and still her offices are known)
Law is to give to ev'ry one his owne. 10
 To shore the Feeble up, against the strong ;
 To shield the Stranger, and the Poore from wrong :
 This was the Founders grave and good intent,
 To keepe the out-cast in his Tenement :
 To free the Orphan from that Wolfe-like-man, 15
 Who is his Butcher more then Guardian.
 To drye the Widowes teares ; and stop her Swoones,
 By pouring Balme and Oyle into her wounds.
 This was the old way ; and 'tis yet thy course,
 To keep those pious Principles in force. 20
 Modest I will be ; but one word Ile say
 (Like to a sound that's vanishing away)
 Sooner the in-side of thy hand shall grow
 Hisped, and hairie, ere thy Palm shall know
 A Postern-bribe tooke, or a Forked-Fee 25
 To fetter Justice, when She might be free.
Eggs Ile not shave : But yet brave man, if I
 Was destin'd forth to golden Sovereignty :
 A Prince I'de be, that I might Thee preferre
 To be my Counsell both, and Chancellor. 30

The Watch.

Man is a Watch, wound up at first, but never
 Wound up again : Once down, He's down for ever.
 The Watch once downe, all motions then do cease ;
 And Mans Pulse stopt, All Passions sleep in Peace.

Lines have their Linings, and Bookes their Buckram.

As in our clothes, so likewise he who looks,
 Shall find much farcing Buckram in our Books.

Art above Nature, to Julia.

When I behold a Forrest spread
 With silken trees upon thy head ;
 And when I see that other Dresse
 Of flowers set in comlinessse :
 When I behold another grace 5
 In the ascent of curious Lace,
 Which like a Pinacle doth shew
 The top, and the top-gallant too.
 Then, when I see thy Tresses bound
 Into an Ovall, square, or round ; 10
 And knit in knots far more then I
 Can tell by tongue ; or true-love tie :
 Next, when those Lawnie Filmes I see
 Play with a wild civility :
 And all those airie silks to flow, 15
 Alluring me, and tempting so :
 I must confesse, mine eye and heart
 Dotes less on Nature, then on Art.

Upon his kinswoman Mistresse Bridget Herrick.

Sweet Bridget blusht, & therewithall,
 Fresh blossoms from her cheekes did fall.
 I thought at first 'twas but a dream,
 Till after I had handled them ;
 And smelt them, then they smelt to me, 5
 As Blossomes of the Almond Tree.

Upon Love.

1. I plaid with Love, as with the fire
     The wanton Satyre did ;
     Nor did I know, or co'd descry
     What under there was hid.
2. That Satyre he but burnt his lips ; 5
     (But min's the greater smart)
     For kissing Loves dissembling chips,
     The fire scortcht my heart.

Upon a comely, and curious Maide.

If Men can say that beauty dyes ;
Marbles will sweare that here it lyes.
If Reader then thou canst forbear,
In publique loss to shed a Teare :
The Dew of griefe upon this stone
Will tell thee Pitie thou hast none.

Upon the losse of his Finger.

One of the five straight branches of my hand
Is lopt already ; and the rest but stand
Expecting when to fall : which soon will be ;
First dyes the Leafe, the Bough next, next the Tree.

Upon Irene.

Angry if Irene be
But a Minutes life with me :
Such a fire I espie
Walking in and out her eye,
As at once I freeze, and frie.

Upon Electra's Teares.

Upon her cheekes she wept, and from those showers
Sprang up a sweet Nativity of Flowres.

A Hymne to the Graces.

When I love, (as some have told,
Love I shall when I am old)
O ye Graces ! Make me fit
For the welcoming of it.
Clean my Roomes, as Temples be,
T' entertain that Deity.
Give me words wherewith to wooe,
Suppling and successefull too :
Winning postures ; and withall,
Manners each way musicall :
Sweetnesse to allay my sowre
And unsmooth behaviour.

10

Hesperides.

For I know you have the skill
 Vines to prune, though not to kill,
 And of any wood ye see,
 You can make a Mercury.

15

To Silvia.

No more my Silvia, do I mean to pray
 For those good dayes that ne'r will come away.
 I want beliefe ; O gentle Silvia, be
 The patient Saint, and send up vowes for me.

The Poet hath lost his pipe.

I cannot pipe as I was wont to do,
 Broke is my Reed, hoarse is my singing too :
 My wearied Oat Ile hang upon the Tree,
 And give it to the Silvan Deitie.

True Friendship.

Wilt thou my true Friend be?
 Then love not mine, but me.

The Apparition of his Mistresse calling him to Elizium.

Desunt nonnulla——

Come then, and like two Doves with silv'rie wings,
 Let our soules flie to' th' shades, where ever springs
 Sit smiling in the Meads ; where Balme and Oile,
 Roses and Cassia crown the untill'd soyle.
 Where no disease raignes, or infection comes
 To blast the Aire, but Amber-greece and Gums.

This, that, and ev'ry Thicket doth transpire
 More sweet, then Storax from the hallowed fire :
 Where ev'ry tree a wealthy issue beares
 Of fragrant Apples, blushing Plums, or Peares : 10
 And all the shrubs, with sparkling spangles, shew
 Like Morning-Sun-shine tinsilling the dew.
 Here in green Meddowes sits eternall May,
 Purfling the Margents, while perpetuall Day
 So double gilds the Aire, as that no night 15
 Can ever rust th'Enamel of the light.
 Here, naked Younglings, handsome Striplings run
 Their Goales for Virgins kisses ; which when done,
 Then unto Dancing forth the learned Round
 Commixt they meet, with endlesse Roses crown'd. 20
 And here we'l sit on Primrose-banks, and see
 Love's Chorus led by Cupid ; and we'l be
 Two loving followers too unto the Grove,
 Where Poets sing the stories of our love.
 There thou shalt hear Divine Musæus sing 25
 Of Hero, and Leander ; then Ile bring
 Thee to the Stand, where honour'd Homer reades
 His Odisees, and his high Iliads.
 About whose Throne the crowd of Poets throng
 To heare the incantation of his tongue : 30
 To Linus, then to Pindar ; and that done,
 Ile bring thee Herrick to Anacreon,
 Quaffing his full-crown'd bowles of burning Wine,
 And in his Raptures speaking Lines of Thine,
 Like to His subject ; and as his Frantick- 35
 Looks, shew him truly Bacchanalian like,
 Besmear'd with Grapes ; welcome he shall thee thither,
 Where both may rage, both drink and dance together.
 Then stately Virgil, witty Ovid, by Whom faire Corinna sits, and doth comply 40
 With Yvorie wrists, his Laureat head, and steeps
 His eye in dew of kisses, while he sleeps.
 Then soft Catullus, sharp-fang'd Martial,
 And trowing Lucan, Horace, Juvenal,
 And Snakie Perseus, these, and those, whom Rage 45
 (Dropt for the jarres of heaven) fill'd t'engage
 All times unto their frenzies ; Thou shalt there
 Behold them in a spacious Theater.

Among which glories, (crown'd with sacred Bayes,
 And flatt'ring Ivie) Two recite their Plaies, 50
Beumont and Fletcher, Swans, to whom all eares
 Listen, while they (like Syrens in their Spheres)
 Sing their Evadne; and still more for thee
 There yet remaines to know, then thou can'st see
 By glim'ring of a fancie: Doe but come, 55
 And there Ile shew thee that capacious roome
 In which thy Father Johnson now is plac't,
 As in a Globe of Radiant fire, and grac't
 To be in that Orbe crown'd (that doth include
 Those Prophets of the former Magnitude) 60
 And he one chiefe; But harke, I heare the Cock,
 (The Bell-man of the night) proclaime the clock
 Of late struck one; and now I see the prime
 Of Day break from the pregnant East, 'tis time
 I vanish; more I had to say; 65
 But Night determines here, Away.

Life is the Bodies Light.

Life is the Bodies light; which once declining,
 Those crimson clouds i'th'cheeks & lips leave shining.
 Those counter-changed Tabbies in the ayre,
 (The Sun once set) all of one colour are.
 So, when Death comes, Fresh tinctures lose their place, 5
 And dismall Darknesse then doth smutch the face.

Love lightly pleased.

Let faire or foule my Mistresse be,
 Or low, or tall, she pleaseth me:
 Or let her walk, or stand, or sit,
 The posture hers, I'm pleas'd with it.
 Or let her tongue be still, or stir, 5
 Gracefull is ev'ry thing from her.
 Or let her Grant, or else Deny,
My Love will fit each Historie.

The Primrose.

1.       Aske me why I send you here
This sweet Infanta of the yeere?
          Aske me why I send to you
This Primrose, thus bepearl'd with dew?
          I will whisper to your eares,
The sweets of Love are mixt with tears. 5
2.       Ask me why this flower do's show
So yellow-green, and sickly too?
          Ask me why the stalk is weak
And bending, (yet it doth not break?) 10
          I will answer, These discover
What fainting hopes are in a Lover.

The Tythe. To the Bride.

If nine times you your Bride-groome kisse;
The tenth you know the Parsons is.
Pay then your Tythe; and doing thus,
Prove in your Bride-bed numerous.
If children you have ten, Sir John 5
Won't for his tenth part ask you one.

A Frolick.

Bring me my Rose-buds, Drawer come;
So, while I thus sit crown'd;
Ile drink the aged Cecubum,
Untill the rooffe turne round.

Change common to all.

All things subjected are to Fate;
Whom this Morne sees most fortunate,
The Ev'ning sees in poore estate.

To Julia.

The Saints-bell calls ; and, Julia, I must read
 The Proper Lessons for the Saints now dead :
 To grace which Service, Julia, there shall be
 One Holy Collect, said or sung for Thee.
 Dead when thou art, Deare Julia, thou shalt have 5
 A Tentrall sung by Virgins o're thy Grave :
 Meane time we two will sing the Dirge of these ;
 Who dead, deserve our best remembrances.

No luck in Love.

1. I doe love I know not what ;
 Sometimes this, & sometimes that :
 All conditions I aime at.
2. But, as lucklesse, I have yet
 Many shrewd disasters met, 5
 To gaine her whom I wo'd get.
3. Therefore now Ile love no more,
 As I've doted heretofore :
 He who must be, shall be poore.

In the darke none dainty.

Night hides our thefts ; all faults then pardon'd be :
 All are alike faire, when no spots we see.
Lais and Lucrece, in the night time are Pleasing alike ; alike both singular :
Jone, and my Lady have at that time one, 5
 One and the selfe-same priz'd complexion.
 Then please alike the Pewter and the Plate ;
 The chosen Rubie, and the Reprobate.

To Julia. 6 Tentrall] A misprint, it seems, for Trentall, which is Herrick's usual spelling of the word ; cf. On himselfe, l. 8 (p. 225), and The Funerall Rites of the Rose, l. 10 (p. 233)

A charme, or an allay for Love.

If so be a Toad be laid
In a Sheeps-skin newly flaid,
And that ty'd to man 'twil sever
Him and his affections ever.

To his Brother in Law Master John Wingfield

For being comely, consonant, and free
To most of men, but most of all to me :
For so decreeing, that thy clothes expence
Keepes still within a just circumference :
Then for contriving so to loade thy Board, 5
As that the Messes ne'r o'r-laid the Lord :
Next for Ordaining, that thy words not swell
To any one unsobber syllable.
These I co'd praise thee for beyond another,
Wert thou a Winckfield onely, not a Brother. 10

The Head-ake.

1. My head doth ake,
O Sappho ! take
Thy fillit,
And bind the paine ;
Or bring some bane 5
To kill it.
2. But lesse that part,
Then my poore heart,
Now is sick :
One kisse from thee 10
Will counsell be,
And Physick.

Hesperides.On himselfe.

Live by thy Muse thou shalt ; when others die
 Leaving no Fame to long Posterity :
 When Monarchies trans-shifted are, and gone
 Here shall endure thy vast Dominion.

Upon a Maide.

Hence a blessed soule is fled,
 Leaving here the body dead :
 Which (since here they can't combine)
 For the Saint, we'l keep the Shrine.

Upon the troublesome times.

- |    |  |    |
|----|--|----|
| 1. | O ! Times most bad,Without the scopeOf hopeOf better to be had !         |    |
| 2. | Where shall I goe,Or whither runTo shunThis publique overthrow ?         | 5  |
| 3. | No places are(This I am sure)SecureIn this our wasting Warre.            | 10 |
| 4. | Some storms w'ave past ;Yet we must allDown fall,And perish at the last. | 15 |

Cruelty base in Commanders.

Nothing can be more loathsome, then to see
Power conjoyn'd with Natures Crueltie.

Upon Lucia.

I askt my Lucia but a kisse ;
And she with scorne deny'd me this :
Say then, how ill sho'd I have sped,
Had I then askt her Maidenhead ?

Little and loud.

Little you are ; for Womans sake be proud ;
For my sake next, (though little) be not loud.

Ship-wrack.

He, who has suffer'd Ship-wrack, feares to saile
Upon the Seas, though with a gentle gale.

Paines without profit.

A long-lifes-day I've taken paines
For very little, or no gaines :
The Ev'ning's come ; here now Ile stop,
And work no more ; but shut up Shop.

To his Booke.

Be bold my Booke, nor be abasht, or feare
The cutting Thumb-naile, or the Brow severe.
But by the Muses sweare, all here is good,
If but well read ; or ill read, understood.

His Prayer to Ben. Johnson.

1. When I a Verse shall make,
Know I have praid thee,
For old Religions sake,
Saint Ben to aide me.

2. Make the way smooth for me,
 When I, thy Herrick,
 Honouring thee, on my knee
 Offer my Lyrick. 5
3. Candles Ile give to thee,
 And a new Altar ; 10
 And thou Saint Ben, shalt be Writ in my Psalter.

Poverty and Riches.

Give Want her welcome if she comes ; we find,
Riches to be but burthens to the mind.

Again.

Who with a little cannot be content,
 Endures an everlasting punishment.

The Covetous still Captives.

Let's live with that smal pittance that we have :
Who covets more, is evermore a slave.

Lawes.

When Lawes full power have to sway, we see
 Little or no part there of Tyrannie.

Of Love.

Ile get me hence,
 Because no fence,
 Or Fort that I can make here
 But Love by charmes,
 Or else by Armes 5
 Will storme, or starving take here.

To his Muse.

Go wooe young Charles no more to looke,
Then but to read this in my Booke :
How Herrick beggs, if that he can-
Not like the Muse ; to love the man,
Who by the Shepheards, sung (long since)
The Starre-led-birth of Charles the Prince.

The bad season makes the Poet sad.

Dull to my selfe, and almost dead to these
My many fresh and fragrant Mistresses :
Lost to all Musick now ; since every thing
Puts on the semblance here of sorrowing.
Sick is the Land to'th' heart ; and doth endure
More dangerous faintings by her desp'rate cure.
But if that golden Age wo'd come again,
And Charles here Rule, as he before did Raign ;
If smooth and unperplex the Seasons were,
As when the Sweet Maria lived here :
I sho'd delight to have my Curles halfe drown'd
In Tyrian Dews, and Head with Roses crown'd.
And once more yet (ere I am hid out dead)
Knock at a Starre with my exalted Head.

10

To Vulcan.

Thy sooty Godhead, I desire
Still to be ready with thy fire:
That sho'd my Booke despised be,
Acceptance it might find of thee.

Like Pattern, like People.

*This is the height of Justice, that to doe
Thy selfe, which thou put'st other men unto.
As great men lead ; the meaner follow on,
Or to the good, or evill action.*

Purposes.

No wrath of Men, or rage of Seas
 Can shake a just mans purposes :
 No threats of Tyrants, or the Grim
 Visage of them can alter him ;
 But what he doth at first entend, 5
 That he holds firmly to the end.

To the Maids to walke abroad.

Come sit we under yonder Tree,
 Where merry as the Maids we'll be.
 And as on Primroses we sit,
 We'll venter (if we can) at wit :
 If not, at Draw-gloves we will play ; 5
 So spend some minutes of the day :
 Or else spin out the thread of sands,
 Playing at Questions and Commands :
 Or tell what strange Tricks Love can do,
 By quickly making one of two. 10
 Thus we will sit and talke ; but tell
 No cruell truths of Philomell,
 Or Phyllis, whom hard Fate forc't on,
 To kill her selfe for Demophon.
 But Fables we'll relate ; how Jove 15
 Put on all shapes to get a Love :
 As now a Satyr, then a Swan ;
 A Bull but then ; and now a man.
 Next we will act, how young men wooe ,
 And sigh, and kiss, as Lovers do : 20
 And talke of Brides ; & who shall make
 That wedding-smock, this Bridal-Cake ;
 That Dress, this Sprig, that Leaf, this Vine ;
 That smooth and silken Columbine.
 This done, we'll draw lots, who shall buy 25
 And guild the Baies and Rosemary :

What Posies for our Wedding Rings ;
 What Gloves we'l give, and Ribanings :
 And smiling at our selves, decree,
 Who then the joyning Priest shall be. 30
 What short sweet Prayers shall be said ;
 And how the Posset shall be made
 With Cream of Lillies (not of Kine)
 And Maiden's-blush, for spiced wine.
 Thus, having talkt, we'l next commend 35
 A kiss to each ; and so we'l end.

His own Epitaph.

As wearied Pilgrims, once posset
 Of long'd-for lodging, go to rest :
 So I, now having rid my way ;
 Fix here my Button'd Staffe and stay.
 Youth (I confess) hath me mis-led ; 5
 But Age hath brought me right to Bed.

A Nuptiall Verse to Mistresse Elizabeth Lee, now Lady Tracie.

Spring with the Larke, most comely Bride, and meet
 Your eager Bridegroom with auspicious feet.
 The Morn's farre spent ; and the immortall Sunne
 Corrols his cheek, to see those Rites not done.
 Fie, Lovely maid ! Indeed you are too slow, 5
 When to the Temple Love sho'd runne, not go.
 Dispatch your dressing then ; and quickly wed :
 Then feast, and coy't a little ; then to bed.
 This day is Loves day ; and this busie night
 Is yours, in which you challeng'd are to fight 10
 With such an arm'd, but such an easie Foe,
 As will if you yeeld, lye down conquer'd too.
 The Field is pitcht ; but such must be your warres,
 As that your kisses must out-vie the Starres.
 Fall down together vanquisht both, and lye 15
 Drown'd in the bloud of Rubies there, not die.

The Night-piece, to Julia.

1. Her Eyes the Glow-worme lend thee,
The Shooting Starres attend thee
And the Elves also,
Whose little eyes glow,
Like the sparks of fire, befriend thee. 5
2. No Will-o'-th'-Wispe mis-light thee ;
Nor Snake, or Slow-worme bite thee :
But on, on thy way
Not making a stay,
Since Ghost ther's none to affright thee. 10
3. Let not the darke thee cumber ;
What though the Moon do's slumber ?
The Starres of the night
Will lend thee their light,
Like Tapers cleare without number. 15
4. Then Julia let me wooe thee,
Thus, thus to come unto me :
And when I shall meet
Thy silv'ry feet,
My soule Ile poure into thee. 20

To Sir Clipsey Crew.

1. Give me wine, and give me meate,
To create in me a heate,
That my pulses high may beate.
2. Cold and hunger never yet
Co'd a noble Verse beget ;
But your Boules with Sack repleat. 5
3. Give me these (my Knight) and try
In a Minutes space how I
Can runne mad, and Prophetie.
4. Then if any Peece proves new,
And rare, Ile say (my dearest Crew)
It was full enspir'd by you. 10

Good Luck not lasting.

If well the Dice runne, lets applaud the cast :
The happy fortune will not alwayes last.

A Kisse.

What is a Kisse? Why this, as some approve ;
 The sure sweet-Sement, Glue, and Lime of Love.

Glorie.

I make no haste to have my Numbers read.
Seldome comes Glorie till a man be dead.

Poets.

Wantons we are ; and though our words be such,
 Our Lives do differ from our Lines by much.

No despight to the dead.

Reproach we may the living ; not the dead :
'Tis cowardice to bite the buried.

To his Verses.

What will ye (my poor Orphans) do
When I must leave the World (and you)
Who'l give ye then a sheltring shed,
Or credit ye, when I am dead ?
Who'l let ye by their fire sit ?	5
Although ye have a stock of wit,
Already coin'd to pay for it.
I cannot tell ; unlesse there be
Some Race of old humanitie
Left (of the large heart, and long hand)	10
Alive, as Noble Westmorland ;
Or gallant Newark ; which brave two
May fost'ring fathers be to you.
If not ; expect to be no less
Ill us'd, then Babes left fatherless,	15

His charge to Julia at his death.

Dearest of thousands, now the time drawes neere,
 That with my Lines, my Life must full-stop here.
 Cut off thy haire ; and let thy Teares be shed
 Over my Turfe, when I am buried.
 Then for effusions, let none wanting be, 5
 Or other Rites that doe belong to me ;
 As Love shall helpe thee, when thou do'st go hence
 Unto thy everlasting residence.

Upon Love.

In a Dreame, Love bad me go
 To the Gallies there to Rowe ;
 In the Vision I askt, why ?
 Love as briefly did reply ;
 'Twas better there to toyle, then prove 5
 The turmoiles they endure that love.
 I awoke, and then I knew
 What Love said was too too true :
 Henceforth therefore I will be
 As from Love, from trouble free. 10
*None pities him that's in the snare,
 And warn'd before, wo'd not beware.*

The Coblers Catch.

Come sit we by the fires side ;
 And roundly drinke we here ;
 Till that we see our cheekes Ale-dy'd
 And noses tann'd with Beere.

Connubii Flores, or the well-wishes at Weddings.

Chorus Sacerdotum.

1. From the Temple to your home
May a thousand blessings come !
And a sweet concurring stream
Of all joyes, to joyn with them.

Chorus Juvenum.

2. Happy day 5
Make no long stay
Here
In thy Sphere ;
But give thy place to night,
That she, 10
As Thee,
May be
Partaker of this sight.
And since it was thy care
To see the Younglings wed ; 15
'Tis fit that Night, the Paire,
Sho'd see safe brought to Bed.

Chorus Senum.

3. Go to your banquet then, but use delight,
So as to rise still with an appetite.
Love is a thing most nice ; and must be fed 20
To such a height ; but never surfeited.
What is beyond the mean is ever ill :
'Tis best to feed Love ; but not over-fill :
Go then discreetly to the Bed of pleasure ;
And this remember, Vertue keeps the measure. 25

Chorus Virginum.

4. Luckie signes we have discri'd
To encourage on the Bride ;
And to these we have espi'd,
Not a kissing Cupid flies
Here about, but has his eyes, 30
To imply your Love is wise,

Chorus Pastorum.

5. Here we present a fleece
     To make a peece
     Of cloth ;
 Nor, Faire, must you be loth
 Your Finger to apply
     To huswiferie.
     Then, then begin
     To spin :
 And (Sweetling) marke you, what a Web will come
 Into your Chests, drawn by your painfull Thumb.

Chorus Matronarum.

6. Set you to your Wheelc, and wax
     Rich, by the Ductile Wool and Flax.
 Yarne is an Income ; and the Huswives thread
 The Larder fills with meat ; the Bin with bread.

Chorus Senum.

7. Let wealth come in by comely thrift,
 And not by any sordid shift :
     'Tis haste
     Makes waste ;
     Extreames have still their fault ;
The softest Fire makes the sweetest Mant.
Who gripes too hard the dry and slip'rie sand,
Holds none at all, or little in his hand.

Chorus Virginum.

8. Goddesses of Pleasure, Youth and Peace,
 Give them the blessing of encrease :
 And thou Lucina, that do'st heare
 The vowes of those, that children beare :
 When as her Aprill houre drawes neare,
 Be thou then propitious there.

Chorus Juvenum.

9. Farre hence be all speech, that may anger move :
Sweet words must nourish soft and gentle Love.

Chorus omnium.

10. Live in the Love of Doves, and having told
 The Ravens yeares, go hence more Ripe then old.

To his lovely Mistresses.

One night i' th' yeare my dearest Beauties, come
 And bring those dew-drink-offerings to my Tomb.
 When thence ye see my reverend Ghost to rise,
 And there to lick th' effused sacrifice :
 Though palenes be the Livery that I weare, 5
 Looke ye not wan, or colourlesse for feare.
 Trust me I will not hurt ye ; or once shew
 The least grim looke, or cast a frown on you :
 Nor shall the Tapers when I'm there, burn blew.
 This I may do (perhaps) as I glide by, 10
 Cast on my Girles a glance, and loving eye :
 Or fold mine armes, and sigh, because I've lost
 The world so soon, and in it, you the most.
 Then these, no feares more on your Fancies fall,
 Though then I smile, and speake no words at all. 15

Upon Love.

1. A Christall Violl Cupid brought,
 Which had a juice in it :
 Of which who drank, he said no thought
 Of Love he sho'd admit.
2. I greedy of the prize, did drinke, 5
 And emptied soon the glasse ;
 Which burnt me so, that I do thinke
 The fire of hell it was.
3. Give me my earthen Cups again,
 The Christall I contemne ; 10
 Which, though enchas'd with Pearls, contain
 A deadly draught in them.
4. And thou O Cupid ! come not to
 My Threshold, since I see,
 For all I have, or else can do, 15
 Thou still wilt cozen me.

The Beggar to Mab, the Fairie Queen.

Please your Grace, from out your Store,
 Give an Almes to one that's poore,
 That your mickle, may have more.
 Black I'm grown for want of meat;
 Give me then an Ant to eate; 5
 Or the cleft eare of a Mouse
 Over-sowr'd in drinke of Souce :
 Or sweet Lady reach to me
 The Abdomen of a Bee ;
 Or commend a Crickets-hip, 10
 Or his Huckson, to my Scrip.
 Give for bread, a little bit
 Of a Pease, that 'gins to chit,
 And my full thanks take for it.
 Floure of Fuz-balls, that's too good 15
 For a man in needy-hood :
 But the Meal of Mill-dust can
 Well content a craving man.
 Any Orts the Elves refuse
 Well will serve the Beggars use. 20
 But if this may seem too much
 For an Almes ; then give me such Little bits, that nestle there
 In the Pris'ners I'anier.
 So a blessing light upon 25
 You, and mighty Oberon :
 That your plenty last till when,
 I return your Almes agen.

An end decreed.

Let's be jocund while we may;
 All things have an ending day :
 And when once the Work is done ;
Fates revolve no Flax th'ave spun.

Upon a child.

Here a pretty Baby lies
Sung asleep with Lullabies :
Pray be silent, and not stirre
Th' easie earth that covers her.

Painting sometimes permitted.

If Nature do deny
Colours, let Art supply.

Farwell Frost, or welcome the Spring.

Fled are the Frosts, and now the Fields appeare
Re-cloth'd in fresh and verdant Diaper.
Thaw'd are the snowes, and now the lusty Spring
Gives to each Mead a neat enameling.
The Palms put forth their Gemmes, and every Tree 5
Now swaggers in her Leavy gallantry.
The while the Daulian Minstrell sweetly sings,
With warbling Notes, her Tyrrean sufferings.
What gentle Winds perspire? As if here
Never had been the Northern Plunderer 10
To strip the Trees, and Fields, to their distresse,
Leaving them to a pittied nakednesse.
And look how when a frantick Storme doth tear
A stubborn Oake, or Holme (long growing there)
But lul'd to calmnesse, then succeeds a breeze 15
That scarcely stirs the nodding leaves of Trees :
So when this War (which tempest-like doth spoil
Our salt, our Corn, our Honie, Wine, and Oile)
Falls to a temper, and doth mildly cast
His inconsiderate Frenzie off (at last) 20
The gentle Dove may, when these turmoils cease,
Bring in her Bill, once more, the Branch of Peace.

The Hag.

1.       The Hag is astride,
           This night for to ride ;
 The Devill and shee together :
           Through thick, and through thin,
           Now out, and then in, 5
 Though ne'r so foule be the weather.

2.       A Thorn or a Burr
           She takes for a Spurre :
 With a lash of a Bramble she rides now,
           Through Brakes and through Bryars, 10
           O're Ditches, and Mires,
 She followes the Spirit that guides now.

3.       No Beast, for his food,
           Dares now range the wood ;
 But husht in his laire he lies lurking : 15
           While mischeifs, by these,
           On Land and on Seas,
 At noone of Night are a working.

4.       The storme will arise,
           And trouble the skies ; 20
 This night, and more for the wonder,
           The ghost from the Tomb
           Affrighted shall come,
 Cal'd out by the clap of the Thunder.

Upon an old man a Residenciarie.

Tread, Sirs, as lightly as ye can
 Upon the grave of this old man.
 Twice fortie (bating but one year,
 And thrice three weekes) he lived here.
 Whom gentle fate translated hence 5
 To a more happy Residence.
 Yet, Reader, let me tell thee this (Which from his ghost a promise is)
 If here ye will some few teares shed,
 He'l never haunt ye now he's dead. 10

Upon Teares

Teares, though th'are here below the sinners brine,
Above they are the Angels spiced wine.

Physitians.

Physitians fight not against men ; but these
Combate for men, by conquering the disease.

The Primitiæ to Parents.

Our Houshold-gods our Parents be ;
And manners good requires, that we
The first-Fruits give to them, who gave Us hands to get what here we have.

To Silvia.

I am holy, while I stand
Circum-crost by thy pure hand :
But when that is gone ; Again,
I, as others, am Prophane.

To his Closet-Gods.

When I goe Hence ye Closet-Gods, I feare
Never againe to have ingression here :
Where I have had, what ever thing co'd be
Pleasant, and precious to my Muse and me.
Besides rare sweets, I had a Book which none
Co'd reade the Intext but my selfe alone.
About the Cover of this Book there went
A curious-comely clean Compartlement :
And, in the midst, to grace it more, was set
A blushing-pretty-peeping Rubelet :
But now 'tis clos'd ; and being shut, & seal'd,
Be it, O be it, never more reveal'd !
Keep here still, Closet-Gods, 'fore whom I've set
Oblations oft, of sweetest Marmeleit.

Hesperides.A Bacchanalian Verse.

1. Fill me a mighty Bowle
Up to the brim :
That I may drink
Unto my Johnsons soule.
2. Crowne it agen agen ; 5
And thrice repeat
That happy heat ;
To drink to Thee my Ben.
3. Well I can quaffe, I see, 10
To th' number five,
Or nine ; but thrive
In frenzie ne'r like thee.

Long lookt for comes at last.

Though long it be, yeeres may repay the debt ;
None loseth that, which he in time may get.

To Youth.

Drink Wine, and live here blithfull, while ye may :
The morrowes life too late is, Live to-day.

Never too late to dye.

No man comes late unto that place from whence
Never man yet had a regredience.

A Hymne to the Muses.

O ! you the Virgins nine !
That doe our soules encline
To noble Discipline !
Nod to this vow of mine :
Come then, and now enspire 5
My violl and my lyre

A Bacchanalian Verse. 2 brim] The rime requires brink

With your eternall fire :
And make me one entire
Composer in your Quire.
Then I'll your Altars strew
With Roses sweet and new ;
And ever live a true
Acknowledger of you.

10

On himselfe.

Ile sing no more, nor will I longer write
Of that sweet Lady, or that gallant Knight :
Ile sing no more of Frosts, Snowes, Dews and Showers ;
No more of Groves, Meades, Springs, and wreaths of Flowers :
Ile write no more, nor will I tell or sing
Of Cupid, and his wittie coozning :
Ile sing no more of death, or shall the grave
No more my Dirges, and my Trentalls have.

To Momus.

Who read'st this Book that I have writ,
And can'st not mend, but carpe at it :
By all the muses ! thou shalt be
Anathema to it, and me.

Ambition.

In wayes to greatnesse, think on this,
That slippery all Ambition is.

The Country life, to the honoured M. End. Porter, Groome of the Bed-Chamber to His Maj.

Sweet Country life, to such unknown,
Whose lives are others, not their own !
But serving Courts, and Cities, be
Less happy, less enjoying thee.
Thou never Plow'st the Oceans foame
To seek, and bring rough Pepper home :

5

A Hymne to the Muses. 7 eternall] Misprinted etetnall

Nor to the Eastern Ind dost rove
 To bring from thence the scorched Clove.
 Nor, with the losse of thy lov'd rest,
 Bring'st home the Ingot from the West. 10
 No, thy Ambition's Master-piece
 Flies no thought higher then a fleece :
 Or how to pay thy Hinds, and cleere
 All scores ; and so to end the yeere :
 But walk'st about thine own dear bounds, 15
 Not envying others larger grounds :
 For well thou know'st, 'tis not th' extent
Of Land makes life, but sweet content.
 When now the Cock (the Plow-mans Horne)
 Calls forth the lilly-wristed Morne ; 20
 Then to thy corn-fields thou dost goe,
 Which though well soyl'd, yet thou dost know,
 That the best compost for the Lands
 Is the wise Masters Feet, and Hands.
 There at the Plough thou find'st thy Teame, 25
 With a Hind whistling there to them :
 And cheer'st them up, by singing how
 The Kingdoms portion is the Plow.
 This done, then to th' enameld Meads
 Thou go'st ; and as thy foot there treads, 30
 Thou seest a present God-like Power
 Imprinted in each Herbe and Flower :
 And smell'st the breath of great-ey'd Kine,
 Sweet as the blossomes of the Vine.
 Here thou behold'st thy large sleek Neat 35
 Unto the Dew-laps up in meat :
 And, as thou look'st, the wanton Steere,
 The Heifer, Cow, and Oxe draw neere
 To make a pleasing pastime there.
 These seen, thou go'st to view thy flocks 40
 Of sheep, (safe from the Wolfe and Fox)
 And find'st their bellies there as full
 Of short sweet grasse, as backs with wool.
 And leav'st them (as they feed and fill)
 A Shepherd piping on a hill. 45
 For Sports, for Pagentrye, and Playes,
 Thou hast thy Eves, and Holydayes :

On which the young men and maids meet
 To exercise their dancing feet :
 Tripping the comely country round, 50
 With Daffadils and Daisies crown'd.
 Thy Wakes, thy Quintels, here thou hast,
 Thy May-poles too with Garlands grac't :
 Thy Morris-dance ; thy Whitsun-ale ;
 Thy Sheering-feast, which never faile. 55
 Thy Harvest home ; thy Wassaille bowle,
 That's tost up after Fox i' th' Hole.
 Thy Mummeries ; thy Twelfe-tide Kings
 And Queenes ; thy Christmas revellings :
 Thy Nut-browne mirth ; thy Russet wit ; 60
 And no man payes too deare for it.
 To these, thou hast thy times to goe
 And trace the Hare i' th' trecherous Snow :
 Thy witty wiles to draw, and get
 The Larke into the Trammell net : 65
 Thou hast thy Cockrood, and thy Glade
 To take the precious Phesant made :
 Thy Lime-twigs, Snares, and Pit-falls then
 To catch the pilfring Birds, not Men.
 O happy life ! if that their good 70
 The Husbandmen but understood !
 Who all the day themselves doe please,
 And Younglings, with such sports as these.
 And, lying down, have nought t' affright
 Sweet sleep, that makes more short the night. 75
Cætera desunt——

To Electra.

1. I dare not ask a kisse ;
 I dare not beg a smile ;
 Lest having that, or this,
 I might grow proud the while.
2. No, no, the utmost share 5
 Of my desire, shall be
 Onely to kisse that Aire,
 That lately kissed thee.

To his worthy friend, M. Arthur Bartly.

When after many Lusters thou shalt be
 Wrapt up in Seare-cloth with thine Ancestrie :
 When of thy ragg'd Escutcheons shall be seene
 So little left, as if they ne'r had been :
 Thou shalt thy Name have, and thy Fames best trust,      5
 Here with the Generation of my Just.

What kind of Mistresse he would have.

Be the Mistresse of my choice,
 Cleane in manners, cleere in voice :
 Be she witty, more then wise ;
 Pure enough, though not Precise :
 Be she shewing in her dresse,      5
 Like a civill Wilderness ;
 That the curious may detect
 Order in a sweet neglect :
 Be she rowling in her eye,
 Tempting all the passers by :      10
 And each Ringlet of her haire,
 An Enchantment, or a Snare,
 For to catch the Lookers on ;
 But her self held fast by none.
 Let her Lucrece all day be,      15
Thais in the night, to me.
 Be she such, as neither will
Famish me, nor over-fill.

The Rosemarie branch.

Grow for two ends, it matters not at all,
 Be't for my Bridall, or my Buriall.

A Paraneticall, or Advisive Verse, to his friend, M. John Wicks.

Is this a life, to break thy sleep ?
 To rise as soon as day doth peep ?
 To tire thy patient Oxe or Asse
 By noone, and let thy good dayes passe,
 Not knowing This, that Jove decrees 5
 Some mirth, t'adulce mans miseries?
 No ; 'tis a life, to have thine oyle,
 Without extortion, from thy soyle :
 Thy faithfull fields to yeeld thee Graine,
 Although with some, yet little paine : 10
 To have thy mind, and nuptiall bed,
 With feares, and cares uncumbered :
 A Pleasing Wife, that by thy side
 Lies softly panting like a Bride.
 'This is to live, and to endeere 15
 Those minutes, Time has lent us here.
 Then, while Fates suffer, live thou free,
 (As is that ayre that circles thee)
 And crown thy temples too, and let
 Thy servant, not thy own self, sweat, 20
 To strut thy barnes with sheafs of Wheat.
 Time steals away like to a stream,
 And we glide hence away with them.
No sound recalls the houres once fled,
Or Roses, being withered : 25
 Nor us (my Friend) when we are lost,
 Like to a Deaw, or melted Frost.
 Then live we mirthfull, while we should,
 And turn the iron Age to Gold.
 Let's feast, and frolick, sing, and play, 30
 And thus lesse last, then live our Day.
Whose life with care is overcast,
That man's not said to live, but last :
Nor is't a life, seven yeares to tell,
But for to live that half seven well : 35
 And that wee'l do ; as men, who know,
 Some few sands spent, we hence must go,
 Both to be blended in the Urn,
 From whence there's never a return.

Once seen, and no more.

Thousands each day passe by, which wee,
Once past and gone, no more shall see.

Love.

This Axiom I have often heard,
Kings ought to be more lov'd, then fear'd.

To M. Denham, on his Prospective Poem.

Or lookt I back unto the Times hence flown,
To praise those Muses, and dislike our own?
Or did I walk those Pean-Gardens through,
To kick the Flow'rs, and scorn their odours too?
I might (and justly) be reputed (here) 5
One nicely mad, or peevishly severe.
But by Apollo! as I worship wit,
(Where I have cause to burn perfumes to it :)
So, I confesse, 'tis somewhat to do well
In our high art, although we can't excell, 10
Like thee; or dare the Buskins to unloose
Of thy brave, bold, and sweet Maronian Muse.
But since I'm cal'd (rare Denham) to be gone,
Take from thy Herrick this conclusion :
'Tis dignity in others, if they be 15
Crown'd Poets; yet live Princes under thee :
The while their wreaths and Purple Robes do shine,
Lesse by their own jemms, then those beams of thine.

A Hymne, to the Lares.

It was, and still my care is,
To worship ye, the Lares,
With crowns of greenest Parsley,
And Garlick chives not scarcely :
For favours here to warme me, 5
And not by fire to harme me.
For gladding so my hearth here,
With inoffensive mirth here ;

That while the Wassail Bowle here
With North-down Ale doth trouble here, 10
No sillable doth fall here,
To marre the mirth at all here.
For which, ô Chimney-keepers !
(I dare not call ye Sweepers)
So long as I am able 15
To keep a countrey-table,
Great be my fare, or small cheere,
I'll eat and drink up all here.

Deniall in women no disheartning to men.

Women, although they ne're so goodly make it,
Their fashion is, but to say no, to take it.

Adversity.

*Love is maintain'd by wealth ; when all is spent,
Adversity then breeds the discontent.*

To Fortune.

Tumble me down, and I will sit
Upon my ruines (smiling yet :)
Teare me to tatters ; yet I'll be Patient in my necessitie.
Laugh at my scraps of cloaths, and shun 5
Me, as a fear'd infection :
Yet scarre-crow-like I'll walk, as one,
Neglecting thy derision.

To Anthea.

Come Anthea, know thou this,
Love at no time idle is :
Let's be doing, though we play
But at push-pin (half the day :)
Chains of sweet bents let us make, 7
Captive one, or both, to take :
In which bondage we will lie,
Soules transfusing thus, and die.

Cruelties.

Nero commanded ; but withdrew his eyes
From the beholding Death, and crueltie

Perseverance.

Hast thou begun an act ? ne're then give o're :
No man despaire to do what's done before.

Upon his Verses.

What off-spring other men have got,
The how, where, when, I question not.
These are the Children I have left ;
Adopted some ; none got by theft.
But all are toucht (like lawfull plate)
And no Verse illegitimate.

Distance betters Dignities.

Kings must not oft be seen by publike eyes ;
State at a distance adds to dignities.

Health.

Health is no other (as the learned hold)
But a just measure both of Heat and Cold.

To Dianeme. A Ceremonie in Gloucester.

I'll to thee a Simnell bring,
'Gainst thou go'st a mothering,
So that, when she blesseth thee,
Half that blessing thou'lt give me.

To the King.

Give way, give way, now, now my Charles shines here,
A Publike Light (in this immensive Sphere.)
Some starres were fixt before ; but these are dim,
Compar'd (in this my ample Orbe) to Him.
Draw in your feeble fiers, while that He Appeares but in His Meaner Majestie.

Where, if such glory flashes from His Name,
Which is His Shade, who can abide His Flame !
Princes, and such like Publike Lights as these,
Must not be lookt on, but at distances :
For, if we gaze on These brave Lamps too neer,
Our eyes they'l blind, or if not blind, they'l bleer

10

The Funerall Rites of the Rose.

The Rose was sick, and smiling di'd ;
And (being to be sanctifi'd)
About the Bed, there sighing stood
The sweet, and flowrie Sisterhood.
Some hung the head, while some did bring
(To wash her) water from the Spring.
Some laid her forth, while other wept,
But all a solemne Fast there kept.
The holy Sisters some among
The sacred Dirge and Trentall sung.
But ah ! what sweets smelt every where,
As Heaven had spent all perfumes there.
At last, when prayers for the dead,
And Rites were all accomplished ;
They, weeping, spread a Lawnie Looome,
And clos'd her up, as in a Tombe.

10

15

The Rainbow : or curious Covenant.

Mine eyes, like clouds, were drizzling raine,
And as they thus did entertaine
The gentle Beams from Julia's sight
To mine eyes level'd opposite :
O Thing admir'd ! there did appeare
A curious Rainbow smiling there ;
Which was the Covenant, that she
No more wo'd drown mine eyes, or me.

The last stroke strike sure.

Though by well-warding many blowes w'ave past,
That stroke most fear'd is, which is struck the last.

Fortune.

Fortune's a blind profuser of her own,
Too much she gives to some, enough to none.

Stool-ball.

1. At Stool-ball, Lucia, let us play,
For Sugar-cakes and Wine ;
Or for a Tansie let us pay,
The losse or thine, or mine.
2. If thou, my Deere, a winner be 5
At trundling of the Ball,
The wager thou shalt have, and me,
And my misfortunes all.
3. But if (my Sweetest) I shall get, 10
Then I desire but this ;
That likewise I may pay the Bet,
And have for all a kisse.

To Sappho.

Let us now take time, and play,
Love, and live here while we may ;
Drink rich wine ; and make good cheere,
While we have our being here :
For, once dead, and laid i'th grave, 5
No return from thence we have.

On Poet Prat, Epigr.

Prat He writes Satyres ; but herein's the fault,
In no one Satyre there's a mite of salt.

Upon Tuck, Epigr.

At Post and Paire, or Slam, Tom Tuck would play
This Christmas, but his want wherewith, sayes Nay.

Biting of Beggars.

Who, railing, drives the Lazar from his door,
Instead of almes, sets dogs upon the poor.

The May-pole.

The May-pole is up,
Now give me the cup ;
I'll drink to the Garlands a-round it :
But first unto those Whose hands did compose
The glory of flowers that crown'd it. 5

A health to my Girles,
Whose husbands may Earles
Or Lords be, (granting my wishes)
And when that ye wed
To the Bridall Bed, 10
Then multiply all, like to Fishes.

Men mind no state in sicknesse.

That flow of Gallants which approach
To kisse thy hand from out the coach ;
That fleet of Lackeyes, which do run
Before thy swift Postilion ;
Those strong-hoof'd Mules, which we behold, 5
Rein'd in with Purple, Pearl, and gold,
And shod with silver, prove to be
The drawers of the axeltree.
Thy Wife, thy Children, and the state
Of Persian Loomes, and antique Plate : 10
All these, and more, shall then afford
No joy to thee their sickly Lord.

Adversity.

Adversity hurts none, but onely such
Whom whitest Fortune dandled has too much.

Want.

Need is no vice at all ; though here it be,
With men, a loathed inconveniencie.

Griefe.

Sorrowes divided amongst many, lesse
Discruciate a man in deep distresse.

Love palpable.

I prest my Julia's lips, and in the kisse
Her Soule and Love were palpable in this.

No action hard to affection.

Nothing hard, or harsh can prove
Unto those that truly love.

By the weak'st means things mighty are o'rethrown,
He's Lord of thy life, who contemnes his own.

The Bracelet of Pearle : to Silvia.

I brake thy Bracelet 'gainst my will ;
And, wretched, I did see
Thee discomposed then, and still
Art discontent with me.

One jemme was lost ; and I will get
A richer pearle for thee,
Then ever, dearest Silvia, yet
Was drunk to Antonie.

Or, for revenge, I'll tell thee what
Thou for the breach shalt do ;
First, crack the strings, and after that,
Cleave thou my heart in two.

10

How Roses came red.

'Tis said, as Cupid danc't among
The Gods, he down the Nectar flung ;
Which, on the white Rose being shed,
Made it for ever after red.

Kings.

Men are not born Kings, but are men renown'd ;
Chose first, confirm'd next, & at last are crown'd.

First work, and then wages.

Prepost'rous is that order, when we run
To ask our wages, e're our work be done.

Teares, and Laughter.

Knew'st thou, one moneth wo'd take thy life away,
Thou'dst weep ; but laugh, sho'd it not last a day.

Glory.

Glory no other thing is (Tullie sayes)
Then a mans frequent Fame, spoke out with praise

Possessions.

Those possessions short-liv'd are,
Into the which we come by warre.

Laxare fibulam.

To loose the button, is no lesse,
Then to cast off all bashfulnesse.

His returne to London.

From the dull confines of the drooping West,
 To see the day spring from the pregnant East,
 Ravisht in spirit, I come, nay more, I flie
 To thee, blest place of my Nativitie !
 Thus, thus with hallowed foot I touch the ground, 5
 With thousand blessings by thy Fortune crown'd.
 O fruitfull Genius ! that bestowest here
 An everlasting plenty, yeere by yeere.
 O Place ! O People ! Manners ! fram'd to please
 All Nations, Customes, Kindreds, Languages ! 10
 I am a free-born Roman ; suffer then,
 That I amongst you live a Citizen.
 London my home is : though by hard fate sent
 Into a long and irksome banishment ;
 Yet since cal'd back ; henceforward let me be, 15
 O native countrey, reposest by thee !
 For, rather then I'll to the West return,
 I'll beg of thee first here to have mine Urn.
 Weak I am grown, and must in short time fall ;
 Give thou my sacred Reliques Buriall. 20

Not every day fit for Verse.

'Tis not ev'ry day, that I
 Fitted am to prophesie :
 No, but when the Spirit fils
 The fantastick Pannicles :
 Full of fier ; then I write 5
 As the Godhead doth indite.
 Thus inrag'd, my lines are hurl'd,
 Like the Sybells, through the world.
 Look how next the holy fier
 Either slakes, or doth retire ; 10
 So the Fancie cooles, till when
 That brave Spirit comes agen.

Poverty the greatest pack.

To mortall men great loads allotted be,
But of all packs, no pack like poverty.

A Beucolick, or discourse of Neatherds.

1. Come blithesfull Neatherds, let us lay
A wager, who the best shall play,
Of thee, or I, the Roundelay,
That fits the businesse of the Day.
- Chor.* And Lallage the Judge shall be, 5
To give the prize to thee, or me.
2. Content, begin, and I will bet
A Heifer smooth, and black as jet,
In every part alike compleat,
And wanton as a Kid as yet. 10
- Chor.* And Lallage (with cow-like eyes)
Shall be Disposeresse of the prize.
1. Against thy Heifer, I will here
Lay to thy stake a lustie Steere,
With gilded hornes, and burnisht cleere. 15
- Chor.* Why then begin, and let us heare
The soft, the sweet, the mellow note
That gently purles from eithers Oat.
2. The stakes are laid : let's now apply
Each one to make his melody : 20
- Lal.* The equall Umpire shall be I,
Who'l hear, and so judge righteously.
- Chor.* Much time is spent in prate ; begin,
And sooner play, the sooner win.
- [He playes.]
1. That's sweetly touch't, I must confesse : 25
Thou art a man of worthinesse :
But hark how I can now expresse
My love unto my Neatherdesse.
- [He sings.]
- Chor.* A suger'd note ! and sound as sweet
As Kine, when they at milking meet. 30
1. Now for to win thy Heifer faire,
I'le strike thee such a nimble Ayre,
That thou shalt say (thy selfe) 'tis rare ;
And title me without compare.
- Chor.* Lay by a while your Pipes, and rest, 35
Since both have here deserved best.

2. To get thy Steerling, once again,
 I'll play thee such another strain ;
 That thou shalt swear, my Pipe do's raigne
 Over thine Oat, as Sovereigne.

40

[ He sings.

Chor. And Lallage shall tell by this,
 Whose now the prize and wager is.

1. Give me the prize : 2. The day is mine :
 1. Not so ; my Pipe has silenc't thine :
 And hadst thou wager'd twenty Kinc,
 They were mine own. Lal. In love combine.

45

Chor. And lay we down our Pipes together,
 As wearie, not o'recome by either.

True safety.

'Tis not the Walls, or purple, that defends
 A Prince from Foes ; but 'tis his Fort of Friends.

A Prognostick.

As many Lawes and Lawyers do expresse
 Nought but a Kingdoms ill-affectednesse :
 Ev'n so, those streets and houses do but show
 Store of diseases, where Physitians flow.

Upon Julia's sweat.

Wo'd ye oyle of Blossomes get ?
 Take it from my Julia's sweat :
 Oyl of Lillies, and of Spike,
 From her moisture take the like :
 Let her breath, or let her blow,
 All rich spices thence will flow.

Proof to no purpose.

You see this gentle streame, that glides,
 Shov'd on, by quick succeeding Tides :
 Trie if this sober streame you can
 Follow to th' wilder Ocean :

Hesperides.

24 I

And see, if there it keeps unspent
In that congesting element. 5
Next, from that world of waters, then
By poares and cavernes back agen
Induc't that inadultrate same
Streame to the Spring from whence it came. 10
This with a wonder when ye do,
As easie, and els easier too :
Then may ye recollect the graines
Of my particular Remaines ;
After a thousand Lustres hurld, 15
By ruffling winds, about the world.

Fame.

*'Tis still observ'd, that Fame ne'er sings
The order, but the Sum of things.*

By use comes easinesse.

Oft bend the Bow, and thou with ease shalt do,
What others can't with all their strength put to.

To the Genius of his house.

Command the Roofe great Genius, and from thence
 Into this house powre downe thy influence,
 That through each room a golden pipe may run
 Of living water by thy Benison.
 Fulfill the Larders, and with strengthning bread
 Be evermore these Bynns replenished.
 Next, like a Bishop consecrate my ground,
 That luckie Fairies here may dance their Round :
 And after that, lay downe some silver pence,
 The Masters charge and care to recompence.
 Charme then the chambers ; make the beds for ease,
 More then for peevish pining sicknesses.
 Fix the foundation fast, and let the Roofe
 Grow old with time, but yet keep weather-prooffe.

His Grange, or private wealth.

Though Clock,
To tell how night drawes hence, I've none,
A Cock,
I have, to sing how day drawes on.
I have	5
A maid (my Prew ) by good luck sent,
To save
That little, Fates me gave or lent.
A Hen
I keep, which creaking day by day,	10
Tells when
She goes her long white egg to lay.
A Goose
I have, which, with a jealous eare,
Lets loose	15
Her tongue, to tell what danger's neare.
A Lamb
I keep (tame) with my morsells fed,
Whose Dam
An Orphan left him (lately dead.)	20
A Cat
I keep, that playes about my House,
Grown fat,
With eating many a miching Mouse.
To these	25
A * Trasy I do keep, whereby	* His Spa-
I please	niel.
The more my rurall privacie :
Which are
But toyes, to give my heart some ease :	30
Where care
None is, slight things do lightly please.

Good precepts, or counsell.

In all thy need, be thou possesst
 Still with a well-prepared brest :
 Nor let the shackles make thee sad ;
 Thou canst but have, what others had.

And this for comfort thou must know, 5
 Times that are ill wo'nt still be so.
 Clouds will not ever powre down raine ;
A sullen day will cleere againe.
 First, peales of Thunder we must heare,
 Then Lutes and Harpes shall stroke the eare. 10

Money makes the mirth.

When all Birds els do of their musick faile,
 Money's the still-sweet-singing Nightingale.

Upon Lucia dabled in the deaw.

My Lucia in the deaw did go,
 And prettily bedabled so,
 Her cloaths held up, she shew'd withall
 Her decent legs, cleane, long and small.
 I follow'd after to descrie 5
 Part of the nak't sincerity ;
 But still the envious Scene between
 Deni'd the Mask I wo'd have seen.

Charon and Phylomel, a Dialogue sung.

Ph. Charon! O gentle Charon! let me wooe thee,
 By tears and pitie now to come unto mee.
Ch. What voice so sweet and charming do I heare?
 Say what thou art. Ph. I prithee first draw neare.
Ch. A sound I heare, but nothing yet can see, 5
 Speak where thou art. Ph. O Charon pittie me!
 I am a bird, and though no name I tell,
 My warbling note will say I'm Phylomel.
Ch. What's that to me, I waft nor fish or fowles,
 Nor Beasts (fond thing) but only humane soules. 10
Ph. Alas for me! Ch. Shame on thy witching note,
 That made me thus hoist saile, and bring my Boat:
 But Ile returne; what mischief brought thee hither?
Ph. A deale of Love, and much, much Griefe together.
Ch. What's thy request? Ph. That since she's now beneath 15
 Who fed my life, I'll follow her in death.

- Ch.* And is that all? I'm gone. Ph. By love I pray thee,
Ch. Talk not of love, all pray, but few soules pay me.
Ph. Ile give thee vows & tears. Ch. can tears pay skores
 For mending sails, for patching Boat and Oares? 20
Ph. I'll beg a penny, or Ile sing so long,
 Till thou shalt say, I've paid thee with a song.
Ch. Why then begin, and all the while we make
 Our slothfull passage o're the Stygian Lake,
 Thou & I'll sing to make these dull Shades merry, 25
 Who els with tears wo'd doubtles drown my ferry.

A Ternarie of littles, upon a pipkin of Jellie sent to a Lady.

1. A little Saint best fits a little Shrine,
 A little prop best fits a little Vine,
 As my small Cruse best fits my little Wine.
2. A little Seed best fits a little Soyle,
 A little Trade best fits a little Toyle : 5
 As my small Jarre best fits my little Oyle.
3. A little Bin best fits a little Bread,
 A little Garland fits a little Head :
 As my small stuffe best fits my little Shed.
4. A little Hearth best fits a little Fire, 10
 A little Chappell fits a little Quire,
 As my small Bell best fits my little Spire.
5. A little streame best fits a little Boat ;
 A little lead best fits a little Float ;
 As my small Pipe best fits my little note 15
6. A little meat best fits a little bellie,
 As sweetly Lady, give me leave to tell ye
 This little Pipkin fits this little Jellie.

Upon the Roses in Julius bosome.

Thrice happie Roses, so much grac't, to have
 Within the Bosome of my Love your grave.
 Die when ye will, your sepulchre is knowne,
 Your Grave her Bosome is, the Lawne the Stone

Maids nay's are nothing.

Maids nay's are nothing, they are shie
But to desire what they denie.

The smell of the Sacrifice.

The Gods require the thighs
Of Beeves for sacrifice ;
Which rosted, we the steam
Must sacrifice to them :
Who though they do not eat,
Yet love the smell of meat.

Lovers how they come and part.

A Gyges Ring they beare about them still,
To be, and not seen when and where they will.
They tread on clouds, and though they sometimes fall,
They fall like dew, but make no noise at all.
So silently they one to th' other come,
As colours steale into the Peare or Plum,
And Aire-like, leave no presson to be seen
Where e're they met, or parting place has been.

In praise of women.

O Jupiter, sho'd I speake ill
Of woman-kind, first die I will ;
Since that I know, 'mong all the rest
Of creatures, woman is the best.

The Apron of Flowers.

To gather Flowers Sappha went,
And homeward she did bring
Within her Lawnie Continent,
The treasure of the Spring.

Hesperides.

She smiling blusht, and blushing smil'd, 5
     And sweetly blushing thus,
 She lookt as she'd been got with child
     By young Favonius.

 Her Apron gave (as she did passe)
     An Odor more divine, 10
 More pleasing too, then ever was
     The lap of Proserpine.

The Candor of Julias teeth.

White as Zenobias teeth, the which the Girles
 Of Rome did weare for their most precious Pearles.

Upon her weeping.

She wept upon her cheeks, and weeping so,
 She seem'd to quench loves fires that there did glow.

Another upon her weeping.

She by the River sate, and sitting there,
 She wept, and made it deeper by a teare.

Delay.

Break off Delay, since we but read of one
 That ever prosper'd by Cunctation.

To Sir John Berkley, Governour of Exeter.

Stand forth brave man, since Fate has made thee here
 The Hector over Aged Exeter ;
 Who for a long sad time has weeping stood,
 Like a poore Lady lost in Widdowhood ;

But feares not now to see her safety sold	5
(As other Townes and Cities were) for gold,
By those ignoble Births , which shame the stem
That gave Progermination unto them :
Whose restlesse Ghosts shall heare their children sing,
Our Sires betraid their Countrey and their King.	10
True, if this Citie seven times rounded was
With rock, and seven times circumflankt with brasse,
Yet if thou wert not, Berkley , loyall prooffe,
The Senators down tumbling with the Roofe,
Would into prais'd (but pitied) ruines fall,	15
Leaving no shew, where stood the Capitoll .
But thou art just and itchlesse, and dost please
Thy Genius with two strength'ning Buttresses ,
Faith , and Affection : which will never slip
To weaken this thy great Dictator-ship .	20

To Electra. Love looks for Love.

Love love begets, then never be
Unsoft to him who's smooth to thee.
Tygers and Beares (I've heard some say)
For profer'd love will love repay :
None are so harsh, but if they find	5
Softnesse in others, will be kind ;
Affection will affection move,
Then you must like, because I love.

Regression spoiles Resolution.

Hast thou attempted greatnesse ? then go on,
Back-turning slackens Resolution.

Contention.

Discreet and prudent we that Discord call,
That either profits, or not hurts at all.

Consultation.

Consult ere thou begin'st, that done, go on
With all wise speed for execution.

Love dislikes nothing.

Whatsoever thing I see,
Rich or poore although it be ;
'Tis a Mistresse unto mee.

Be my Girle, or faire or browne,
Do's she smile, or do's she frowne : 5
Still I write a Sweet-heart downe.

Be she rough, or smooth of skin ;
When I touch, I then begin
For to let Affection in.

Be she bald, or do's she weare 10
Locks incurld of other haire ;
I shall find enchantment there.

Be she whole, or be she rent,
So my fancie be content,
She's to me most excellent. 15

Be she fat, or be she leane,
Be she sluttish, be she cleane,
I'm a man for ev'ry Sceane.

Our own sinnes unseen.

Other mens sins wee ever beare in mind ;
None sees the fardell of his faults behind.

No Paines, no Gaines.

If little labour, little are our gaines :
Mans fortunes are according to his paines.

No Paines. i labour] Misprinted lalour

Vertue best united.

By so much, vertue is the lesse,
By how much, neere to singlenesse.

The eye.

A wanton and lascivious eye
Betrayes the Hearts Adulterie.

To Prince Charles upon his coming to Exeter.

What Fate decreed, Time now ha's made us see
A Renovation of the West by Thee.
That Preternaturall Fever, which did threat
Death to our Countrey, now hath lost his heat :
And calmes succeeding, we perceive no more 5
Th' unequall Pulse to beat, as heretofore.
Something there yet remaines for Thee to do ;
Then reach those ends that thou wast destin'd to.
Go on with Sylla's Fortune ; let thy Fate
Make Thee like Him, this, that way fortunate, 10
Apollo's Image side with Thee to blesse
Thy Warre (discreetly made) with white successe.
Meane time thy Prophets Watch by Watch shall pray ;
While young Charles fights, and fighting wins the day.
That done, our smooth-pac't Poems all shall be 15
Sung in the high Doxologie of Thee.
Then maids shall strew Thee, and thy Curles from them
Receive (with Songs) a flowrie Diadem.

A Song.

Burne, or drowne me, choose ye whether,
So I may but die together :
Thus to slay me by degrees,
Is the height of Cruelties.
What needs twenty stabs, when one 5
Strikes me dead as any stone ?
O shew mercy then, and be
Kind at once to murder mee,

Princes and Favourites.

Princes and Fav'rites are most deere, while they
 By giving and receiving hold the play :
 But the Relation then of both growes poor,
 When These can aske, and Kings can give no more.

Examples, or like Prince, like People.

Examples lead us, and wee likely see,
 Such as the Prince is, will his People be.

Potentates.

Love and the Graces evermore do wait
 Upon the man that is a Potentate.

The Wake.

Come Anthea let us two
 Go to Feast, as others do.
 Tarts and Custards, Creams and Cakes,
 Are the Junketts still at Wakes :
 Unto which the Tribes resort, 5
 Where the businesse is the sport :
 Morris-dancers thou shalt see,
 Marian too in Pagentrie :
 And a Mimick to devise
 Many grinning properties. 10
 Players there will be, and those
 Base in action as in clothes :
 Yet with strutting they will please
 The incurious Villages.
 Neer the dying of the day, 15
 There will be a Cudgell-Play,
 Where a Coxcomb will be broke,
 Ere a good word can be spoke :
 But the anger ends all here,
 Drencht in Ale, or drown'd in Beere. 20
 Happy Rusticks, best content
 With the cheapest Merriment :
 And possesse no other feare,
 Then to want the Wake next Yeare.

The Peter-penny.

Fresh strowings allow
 To my Sepulcher now,
 To make my lodging the sweeter ;
 A staffe or a wand
 Put then in my hand, 5
 With a pennie to pay S. Peter.

Who has not a Crosse,
 Must sit with the losse,
 And no whit further must venture ,
 Since the Porter he 10
 Will paid have his fee,
 Or els not one there must enter.

Who at a dead lift,
 Can't send for a gift
 A Pig to the Priest for a Roster, 15
 Shall heare his Clarke say,
 By yea and by nay,
No pennie, no Pater Noster.

To Doctor Alablaster.

Nor art thou lesse esteem'd, that I have plac'd
 (Amongst mine honour'd) Thee (almost) the last :
 In great Processions many lead the way
 To him, who is the triumph of the day,
 As these have done to Thee, who art the one, 5
 One onely glory of a million,
 In whom the spirit of the Gods do's dwell,
 Firing thy soule, by which thou dost foretell
 When this or that vast Dinastie must fall
 Downe to a Fillit more Imperiall. 10
 When this or that Horne shall be broke, and when
 Others shall spring up in their place agen :
 When times and seasons and all yeares must lie
 Drown'd in the Sea of wild Eternitie :
 When the Black Dooms-day Bookes (as yet unseal'd) 15
 Shall by the mighty Angell be reveal'd :

And when the Trumpet which thou late hast found
 Shall call to Judgment ; tell us when the sound
 Of this or that great Aprill day shall be,
 And next the Gospell wee will credit thee. 20
 Meane time like Earth-wormes we will craule below,
 And wonder at Those Things that thou dost know.

Upon his Kinswoman Mrs. M. S.

Here lies a Virgin, and as sweet
 As ere was wrapt in winding sheet.
 Her name if next you wo'd have knowne,
 The Marble speaks it Mary Stone :
 Who dying in her blooming yeares, 5
 This Stone, for names sake, melts to teares.
 If fragrant Virgins you'l but keep
 A Fast, while Jets and Marbles weep,
 And praying, strew some Roses on her,
 You'l do my Neice abundant honour. 10

Felicitie knowes no Fence.

Of both our Fortunes good and bad we find
 Prosperitie more searching of the mind :
 Felicitie flies o're the Wall and Fence,
 While misery keeps in with patience.

Death ends all woe.

Time is the Bound of things, where e're we go,
Fate gives a meeting. Death's the end of woe.

A Conjuratioun, to Electra.

By those soft Tods of wooll
 With which the aire is full :
 By all those Tinctures there,
 That paint the Hemisphere :
 By Dewes and drisling Raine, 5
 That swell the Golden Graine :
 By all those sweets that be
 I' th flowrie Nunnerie :

By silent Nights, and the Three Formes of Heccate : 10
By all Aspects that blesse
The sober Sorceresse,
While juice she straines, and pith
To make her Philters with :
By Time, that hastens on 15
Things to perfection :
And by your self, the best
Conjurement of the rest :
O my Electra ! be
In love with none, but me. 20

Courage cool'd.

I cannot love, as I have lov'd before :
For, I'm grown old ; &, with mine age, grown poore :
Love must be fed by wealth : this blood of mine
Must needs wax cold, if wanting bread and wine.

The Spell.

Holy Water come and bring ;
Cast in Salt, for seasoning :
Set the Brush for sprinkling :
Sacred Spittle bring ye hither ;
Meale and it now mix together ; 5
And a little Oyle to either :
Give the Tapers here their light,
Ring the Saints-Bell, to affright
Far from hence the evill Sp'rite.

His wish to privacie.

Give me a Cell
To dwell,
Where no foot hath
A path :
There will I spend, 3
And end
My wearied yeares
In teares.

A good Husband.

A master of a house (as I have read)
 Must be the first man up, and last in bed :
 With the Sun rising he must walk his grounds ;
 See this, View that, and all the other bounds :
 Shut every gate ; mend every hedge that's torne, 5
 Either with old, or plant therein new thorne :
 Tread ore his gleab, but with such care, that where
 He sets his foot, he leaves rich compost there.

A Hymne to Bacchus.

I sing thy praise Iacchus,
 Who with thy Thyrse dost thwack us :
 And yet thou so dost back us
 With boldness that we feare
 No Brutus entring here ; 5
 Nor Cato the severe.
 What though the Lictors threat us,
 We know they dare not beate us ;
 So long as thou dost heat us.
 When we thy Orgies sing, 10
 Each Cobler is a King ;
 Nor dreads he any thing :
 And though he doe not rave,
 Yet he'll the courage have
 To call my Lord Maior knave , 15
 Besides too, in a brave,
 Although he has no riches,
 But walks with dangling breeches,
 And skirts that want their stiches,
 And shewes his naked flitches ; 20
 Yet he'll be thought or seen,
 So good as George-a-Green ;
 And calls his Blouze, his Queene ;
 And speaks in language keene :
 O Bacchus ! let us be 25
 From cares and troubles free ;
 And thou shalt heare how we
 Will chant new Hymnes to thee.

Blame the reward of Princes.

Among disasters that discention brings,
This not the least is, which belongs to Kings.
If Wars goe well ; each for a part layes claime :
If ill, then Kings, not Souldiers beare the blame.

Clemency in Kings.

Kings must not only cherish up the good,
But must be niggards of the meanest bloud.

Anger.

Wrongs, if neglected, vanish in short time ;
But heard with anger, we confesse the crime.

A Psalme or Hymne to the Graces.

Glory be to the Graces !
That doe in publike places,
Drive thence what ere encumbers,
The listning to my numbers.

Honour be to the Graces !
Who doe with sweet embraces,
Shew they are well contented
With what I have invented.

Worship be to the Graces !
Who do from sowre faces,
And lungs that wo'd infect me,
For evermore protect me.

10

An Hymne to the Muses.

Honour to you who sit !
 Neere to the well of wit ;
 And drink your fill of it.

Glory and worship be !
 To you sweet Maids (thrice three)
 Who still inspire me.

And teach me how to sing
 Unto the Lyrick string
 My measures ravishing.

Then while I sing your praise,
 My Priest-hood crown with bayes
 Green, to the end of dayes.

10

Upon Julia's Clothes.

When as in silks my Julia goes,
 Then, then (me thinks) how sweetly flowes
 That liquefaction of her clothes.

Next, when I cast mine eyes and see
 That brave Vibration each way free ;
 O how that glittering taketh me !

5

Moderation.

In things a moderation keepe,
Kings ought to sheare, not skin their sheepe.

To Anthea.

Lets call for Hymen if agreed thou art ;
Delays in love but crucifie the heart.
 Loves thornie Tapers yet neglected lye :
 Speak thou the word, they'l kindle by and by.
 The nimble howers wooe us on to wed,
 And Genius waits to have us both to bed.
 Behold, for us the Naked Graces stay
 With maunds of roses for to strew the way :

Besides, the most religious Prophet stands
 Ready to joyne, as well our hearts as hands. 10
Juno yet smiles ; but if she chance to chide,
 Ill luck 'twill bode to th' Bridegroome and the Bride.
 Tell me Anthea, dost thou fondly dread
 The loss of that we call a Maydenhead?
 Come, Ile instruct thee. Know, the vestall fier 15
 Is not by mariage quencht, but flames the higher.

Upon Prew his Maid.

In this little Urne is laid
Prewdence Baldwin (once my maid)
 From whose happy spark here let
 Spring the purple Violet.

The Invitation.

To sup with thee thou didst me home invite ;
 And mad'st a promise that mine appetite
 Sho'd meet and tire, on such lautitious meat,
 The like not Heliogabalus did eat :
 And richer Wine wo'dst give to me (thy guest) 5
 Then Roman Sylla powr'd out at his feast.
 I came ; (tis true) and lookt for Fowle of price,
 The bastard Phenix ; bird of Paradice ;
 And for no less then Aromatick Wine
 Of Maydens-blush, commixt with Jessimine. 10
 Cleane was the herth, the mantle larded jet ;
 Which wanting Lar, and smoke, hung weeping wet ;
 At last, i' th' noone of winter, did appeare
 A ragd-soust-neats-foot with sick vineger :
 And in a burnisht Flagonet stood by 15
 Beere small as Comfort, dead as Charity.
 At which amaz'd, and pondring on the food,
 How cold it was, and how it child my blood ;
 I curst the master ; and I damn'd the souce ;
 And swore I'de got the ague of the house. 20
 Well, when to eat thou dost me next desire,
 I'll bring a Fever ; since thou keep'st no fire.

Ceremonies for Christmasse.

Come, bring with a noise,
 My merrie merrie boyes,
 The Christmas Log to the firing ;
 While my good Dame, she
 Bids ye all be free ; 5
 And drink to your hearts desiring.

 With the last yeeres brand
 Light the new block, And
 For good successe in his spending,
 On your Psalties play, 10
 That sweet luck may
 Come while the Log is a teending.

 Drink now the strong Beere,
 Cut the white loafe here,
 The while the meat is a shredding ; 15
 For the rare Mince-Pie
 And the Plums stand by
 To fill the Paste that's a kneading.

Christmasse-Eve, another Ceremonie.

Come guard this night the Christmas-Pie,
 That the Thiefe, though ne'r so slie,
 With his Flesh-hooks, don't come nie
 To catch it.

 From him, who all alone sits there, 5
 Having his eyes still in his eare,
 And a deale of nightly feare
 To watch it.

Another to the Maids.

Wash your hands, or else the fire
 Will not teend to your desire;
 Unwasht hands, ye Maidens, know,
 Dead the Fire, though ye blow.

Another.

Wassaile the Trees, that they may beare
You many a Plum, and many a Peare :
For more or lesse fruits they will bring,
As you doe give them Wassailing.

Power and Peace.

'Tis never, or but seldome knowne,
Power and Peace to keep one Throne.

*To his deare Valentine, Mistresse
Margaret Falconbrige.*

Now is your turne (my Dearest) to be set
A Jem in this eternall Coronet :
'Twas rich before ; but since your Name is downe,
It sparkles now like Ariadne's Crowne.
Blaze by this Sphere for ever : Or this doe,
Let Me and It shine evermore by you.

5

To Oenone.

Sweet Oenone, doe but say
Love thou dost, though Love sayes Nay.
Speak me faire ; for Lovers be
Gently kill'd by Flatterie.

Verses.

Who will not honour Noble Numbers, when
Verses out-live the bravest deeds of men ?

Happinesse.

That Happines do's still the longest thrive,
Where Joyes and Grieffs have Turns Alternative.

Things of choice, long a comming.

We pray 'gainst Warre, yet we enjoy no Peace
Desire deferr'd is, that it may encrease.

Poetry perpetuates the Poet.

Here I my selfe might likewise die,
 And utterly forgotten lye,
 But that eternall Poetrie
 Repullulation gives me here
 Unto the thirtieth thousand yeere,
 When all now dead shall re-appeare.

Kisses.

Give me the food that satisfies a Guest :
 Kisses are but dry banquets to a Feast.

Orpheus.

Orpheus he went (as Poets tell)
 To fetch Euridice from Hell ;
 And had her ; but it was upon
 This short but strict condition :
 Backward he should not looke while he
 Led her through Hells obscuritie :
 But ah ! it hapned as he made
 His passage through that dreadfull shade :
 Revolve he did his loving eye ;
 (For gentle feare, or jelousie)
 And looking back, that look did sever
 Him and Euridice for ever.

10

To Sapho.

Sapho, I will chuse to go
 Where the Northern Winds do blow
 Endlesse Ice, and endlesse Snow :
 Rather then I once wo'd see,
 But a Winters face in thee,
 To benumme my hopes and me.

5

To his faithfull friend, Master John Crofts, Cup-bearer to the King.

For all thy many courtesies to me,
Nothing I have (my Crofts) to send to Thee
For the requitall ; save this only one
Halfe of my just remuneration.
For since I've travail'd all this Realm throughout 5
To seeke, and find some few Immortals out
To circumspangle this my spacious Sphere,
(As Lamps for everlasting shining here :)
And having fixt Thee in mine Orbe a Starre,
(Amongst the rest) both bright and singular , 10
The present Age will tell the world thou art
If not to th' whole, yet satisfy'd in part.
As for the rest, being too great a summe
Here to be paid ; Ile pay't i'th'world to come.

The Bride-Cake.

This day my Julia thou must make
For Mistresse Bride, the wedding Cake :
Knead but the Dow and it will be
To paste of Almonds turn'd by thee :
Or kisse it thou, but once, or twice, 5
And for the Bride-Cake ther'l be Spice.

To be merry.

Lets now take our time ,
While w'are in our Prime ;
And old, old Age is a farre off :
For the evill evill dayes
Will come on apace ; 5
Before we can be aware of.

Buriall.

Man may want Land to live in ; but for all,
Nature finds out some place for buriall.

Lenitie.

'Tis the Chyrurgions praise, and height of Art,
Not to cut off, but cure the vicious part.

Penitence.

Who after his transgression doth repent,
Is halfe, or altogether innocent.

Griefe.

Consider sorrowes, how they are aright :
Griefe, if't be great, 'tis short ; if long, 'tis light.

The Maiden-blush.

So look the mornings when the Sun
Paints them with fresh Vermilion :
So Cherries blush, and Kathern Peares,
And Apricocks, in youthfull yeares :
So Corrolls looke more lovely Red,
And Rubies lately polished :
So purest Diaper doth shine,
Stain'd by the Beames of Clarret wine :
As Julia looks when she doth dress
Her either cheek with bashfullness.

10

The Meane.

*Imparitie doth ever discord bring ;
The Mean the Musique makes in every thing.*

Haste hurtfull.

*Haste is unhappy : What we Rashly do
Is both unluckie ; I, and foolish too.
Where War with rashnesse is attempted, there
The Soldiers leave the Field with equall feare.*

Purgatory.

Readers wee entreat ye pray
For the soule of Lucia ;
That in little time she be
From her Purgatory free :
In th' intrin she desires
That your teares may coole her fires.

The Cloud.

Seest thou that Cloud that rides in State
Part Ruby-like, part Candidate ?
It is no other then the Bed
Where Venus sleeps (halfe smothered.)

The Amber Bead.

I saw a Flie within a Beade
Of Amber cleanly buried :
The Urne was little, but the room
More rich then Cleopatra's Tombe.

To my dearest Sister M. Mercie Herrick.

When ere I go, or what so ere befalls
Me in mine Age, or forraign Funerals,
This Blessing I will leave thee, ere I go,
Prosper thy Basket, and therein thy Dow.
Feed on the paste of Filberts, or else knead
And Bake the floure of Amber for thy bread.
Balm may thy Trees drop, and thy Springs runne oyle
And everlasting Harvest crown thy Soile !
These I but wish for ; but thy selfe shall see,
The Blessing fall in mellow times on Thee.

10

The Transfiguration.

Immortall clothing I put on,
 So soone as Julia I am gon
 To mine eternall Mansion.

Thou, thou art here, to humane sight
 Cloth'd all with incorrupted light ;
 But yet how more admir'dly bright

Wilt thou appear, when thou art set
 In thy refulgent Thronelet,
 That shin'st thus in thy counterfeit ?

Suffer that thou canst not shift.

Do's Fortune rend thee ? Beare with thy hard Fate :
Vertuous instructions ne'r are delicate.
 Say, do's she frown ? still countermand her threats :
Vertue best loves those children that she beates.

To the Passenger.

If I lye unburied Sir,
 These my Reliques, (pray) interre.
 'Tis religious part to see
 Stones, or turfes to cover me.
 One word more I had to say ;
 But it skills not ; go your way ;
 He that wants a buriall roome
For a Stone, ha's Heaven his Tombe,

5

To the Passenger. 3 religious] religions or religion's conj. Pollard (probably rightly)

TO THE KING,
Upon his taking of Leicester.

This Day is Yours Great CHARLES! and in this War
Your Fate, and Ours, alike Victorious are.
In her white Stole ; now Victory do's rest
Enspher'd with Palm on Your Triumphant Crest.
Fortune is now Your Captive ; other Kings
Hold but her hands ; You hold both hands and wings.

To Julia, in her Dawn, or Day-breake.

By the next kindling of the day
My Julia thou shalt see,
Ere Ave-Mary thou canst say
He come and visit thee.

Yet ere thou counsel'st with thy Glasse,
Appeare thou to mine eyes
As smooth, and nak't, as she that was
The prime of Paradise.

If blush thou must, then blush thou through
A Lawn, that thou mayst looke
As purest Pearles, or Pebles do
When peeping through a Brooke.

10

As Lillies shrin'd in Christall, so
Do thou to me appeare ;
Or Damask Roses, when they grow
To sweet acquaintance there.

15

Counsell.

'Twas Cesars saying : Kings no lesse Conquerors are
By their wise Counsell, then they be by Warre.

Bad Princes pill their People.

Like those infernall Deities which eate
 The best of all the sacrificed meate ;
 And leave their servants, but the smoak & sweat :
 So many Kings, and Primates too there are,
 Who claim the Fat, and Fleshie for their share, 5
 And leave their subjects but the starved ware.

Most Words, lesse Workes.

In desp'rate cases, all, or most are known
 Commanders, few for execution.

To Dianeme.

I co'd but see thee yesterday
 Stung by a fretfull Bee ;
 And I the Javelin suckt away,
 And heal'd the wound in thee.
 A thousand thorns, and Bryars & Stings, 5
 I have in my poore Brest ;
 Yet ne'r can see that salve which brings
 My Passions any rest.
 As Love shall helpe me, I admire
 How thou canst sit and smile, 10
 To see me bleed, and not desire
 To stench the blood the while.
 If thou compos'd of gentle mould
 Art so unkind to me ;
 What dismall Stories will be told 15
 Of those that cruell be ?

His Losse.

All has been plundered from me, but my wit ;
 Fortune her selfe can lay no claim to it.

Draw, and Drinke.

Milk stil your Fountains, and your Springs, for why ?
 The more th'are drawn, the lesse they wil grow dry.

To Oenone.

Thou sayest Loves Dart
 Hath prickt thy heart ;
 And thou do'st languish too :
 If one poore prick,
 Can make thee sick, 5
 Say, what wo'd many do ?

To Electra.

Shall I go to Love and tell,
 Thou art all turn'd isicle ?
 Shall I say her Altars be
 Disadorn'd, and scorn'd by thee ?
 O beware ! in time submit ; 5
 Love has yet no wrathfull fit :
 If her patience turns to ire,
 Love is then consuming fire.

To Mistresse Amie Potter.

Ai me ! I love, give him your hand to kisse
 Who both your wooer, and your Poet is.
 Nature has pre-compos'd us both to Love ;
 Your part's to grant ; my Scean must be to move.
 Deare, can you like, and liking love your Poet ? 5
 If you say (I) Blush-guiltinesse will shew it.
 Mine eyes must wooe you ; (though I sigh the while)
True Love is tonguelesse as a Crocodile.
 And you may find in Love these differing Parts ;
Wooers have Tongues of Ice, but burning hearts. 10

Upon a Maide.

Here she lyes (in Bed of Spice)
 Faire as Eve in Paradice :
 For her beauty it was such
 Poets co'd not praise too much.
 Virgins Come, and in a Ring 5
 Her supreamest Requiem sing ;
 Then depart, but see ye tread
 Lightly, lightly ore the dead.

Upon Love.

Love is a Circle, and an Endlesse Sphere ;
From good to good, revolving here, & there.

Beauty.

Beauti's no other but a lovely Grace
Of lively colours, flowing from the face.

Upon Love.

Some salve to every sore, we may apply ;
Only for my wound there's no remedy.
Yet if my Julia kisse me, there will be
A soveraign balme found out to cure me.

To his Booke.

Make haste away, and let one be
A friendly Patron unto thee :
Lest rapt from hence, I see thee lye
Torn for the use of Pasterie :
Or see thy injur'd Leaves serve well,
To make loose Gownes for Mackarell :
Or see the Grocers in a trice,
Make hoods of thee to serve out Spice.

Readinesse.

The readinesse of doing, doth expresse
No other, but the doers willingnesse.

Writing.

When words we want, Love teacheth to endite ;
And what we blush to speake, she bids us write.

Society.

Two things do make society to stand ;
The first Commerce is, & the next Command.

Upon a Maid.

Gone she is a long, long way,
But she has decreed a day
Back to come, (and make no stay.)
So we keepe till her returne
Here, her ashes, or her Urne.

Satisfaction for sufferings.

For all our workes, a recompence is sure :
'Tis sweet to thinke on what was hard t' endure.

The delaying Bride.

Why so slowly do you move
To the centre of your love?
On your niceness though we wait,
Yet the houres say 'tis late :
Coynesse takes us to a measure ;
But o'racted deads the pleasure.
Go to Bed, and care not when
Cheerfull day shall spring agen.
One Brave Captain did command,
(By his word) the Sun to stand :
One short charme if you but say
Will enforce the Moon to stay,
Till you warn her hence (away)
T'ave your blushes seen by day.

10

To M. Henry Lawes, the excellent Composer of his Lyricks.

Touch but thy Lire (my Harrie) and I heare
From thee some raptures of the rare Gotire.
Then if thy voice commingle with the String
I heare in thee rare Laniere to sing ;
Or curious Wilson : Tell me, canst thou be Less then Apollo, that ursurp'st such Three ?
Three, unto whom the whole world give applause ;
Yet their Three praises, praise but One ; that's Lawes.

Age unfit for Love

Maidens tell me I am old ;
 Let me in my Glasse behold
 Whether smooth or not I be,
 Or if haire remaines to me.
 Well, or be't or be't not so,
 This for certainty I know ;
 Ill it fits old men to play,
 When that Death bids come away.

The Bed-man, or Grave-maker.

Thou hast made many Houses for the Dead ;
 When my Lot calls me to be buried,
 For Love or Pittie, prethee let there be
 I'th' Church-yard, made, one Tenement for me.

To Anthea.

Anthea I am going hence
 With some small stock of innocence :
 But yet those blessed gates I see
 Withstanding entrance unto me.
 To pray for me doe thou begin,
 The Porter then will let me in.

5

Need.

Who begs to die for feare of humane need,
 Wisheth his body, not his soule, good speed.

To Julia.

I am zeallesse, prethee pray
 For my well-fare (Julia)
 For I thinke the gods require
 Male perfumes, but Female fire.

On Julias lips.

Sweet are my Julia's lips and cleane,
As if or'e washt in Hippocrene.

Twilight.

Twilight, no other thing is, Poets say,
Then the last part of night, and first of day.

To his Friend, Master J. Jincks.

Love, love me now, because I place
Thee here among my righteous race:
The bastard Slips may droop and die
Wanting both Root, and Earth; but thy
Immortall selfe, shall boldly trust
To live for ever, with my Just.

On himselfe.

If that my Fate has now fulfill'd my yeere,
And so soone stopt my longer living here;
What was't (ye Gods!) a dying man to save,
But while he met with his Paternall grave;
Though while we living 'bout the world do roame,
We love to rest in peacefull Urnes at home,
Where we may snug, and close together lye
By the dead bones of our deare Ancestrie.

Kings and Tyrants.

'Twixt Kings & Tyrants there's this difference known;
Kings seek their Subjects good: Tyrants their owne.

Crosses.

Our Crosses are no other then the rods,
And our Diseases, Vultures of the Gods:
Each grieve we feele, that likewise is a Kite
Sent forth by them, our flesh to eate, or bite.

Hesperides.Upon Love.

Love brought me to a silent Grove,
 And shew'd me there a Tree,
 Where some had hang'd themselves for love,
 And gave a Twist to me.

The Halter was of silk, and gold, 5
 That he reacht forth unto me :
 No otherwise, then if he would
 By dainty things undo me.

He bade me then that Neck-lace use ; 10
 And told me too, he maketh
 A glorious end by such a Noose,
 His Death for Love that taketh.

'Twas but a dream ; but had I been
 There really alone :
 My desp'rate feares, in love, had seen 15
 Mine Execution.

No difference i' th' dark.

Night makes no difference 'twixt the Priest and Clark ;
Jone as my Lady is as good i'th' dark.

The Body.

The Body is the Soules poore house, or home,
 Whose Ribs the Laths are, & whose Flesh the Loame.

To Sapho.

Thou saist thou lov'st me Sapho ; I say no ,
 But would to Love I could beleeve 'twas so !
 Pardon my feares (sweet Sapho,) I desire
 That thou be righteous found ; and I the Lyer.

Out of Time, out of Tune.

We blame, nay we despise her paines
That wets her Garden when it raines :
But when the drought has dri'd the knot ;
Then let her use the watring pot.
We pray for showers (at our need)
To drench, but not to drown our seed.

5

To his Booke.

Take mine advise, and go not neere
Those faces (sower as Vineger.)
For these, and Nobler numbers can
Ne'r please the supercillious man.

To his Honour'd friend, Sir Thomas Heale.

Stand by the Magick of my powerfull Rhymes
'Gainst all the indignation of the Times.
Age shall not wrong thee ; or one jot abate
Of thy both Great, and everlasting fate.
While others perish, here's thy life decreed
Because begot of my Immortall seed.

The Sacrifice by way of Discourse betwixt himselfe and Julia.

Herr. Come and let's in solemn wise
Both addresse to sacrifice :
Old Religion first commands
That we wash our hearts, and hands.
Is the beast exempt from staine,
Altar cleane, no fire prophane?
Are the Garlands, Is the Nard
Ready here? Jul. All well prepar'd,
With the Wine that must be shed
(Twixt the hornes) upon the head
Of the holy Beast we bring (For our Trespasse-offering.

10

To his Honour'd friend. 5 here's] Misprinted her'es

Herr. All is well ; now next to these
 Put we on pure Surplices ;
 And with Chaplets crown'd, we'l rost
 With perfumes the Holocaust :
 And (while we the gods invoke)
 Reade acceptance by the smoake.

15

To Apollo.

Thou mighty Lord and master of the Lyre,
 Unshorn Apollo, come, and re-inspire
 My fingers so, the Lyrick-strings to move,
 That I may play, and sing a Hymne to Love.

On Love.

Love is a kind of warre ; Hence those who feare,
 No cowards must his royall Ensignes beare.

Another.

Where love begins, there dead thy first desire :
A sparke neglected makes a mighty fire.

An Hymne to Cupid.

Thou, thou that bear'st the sway
 With whom the Sea-Nymphs play ;
 And Venus, every way :
 When I embrace thy knee ;
 And make short pray'rs to thee :
 In love, then prosper me.
 This day I goe to wooe ;
 Instruct me how to doe
 This worke thou put'st me too.
 From shame my face keepe free,
 From scorne I begge of thee,
 Love to deliver me :
 So shall I sing thy praise ;
 And to thee Altars raise,
 Unto the end of daies.

10

15

To Electra.

Let not thy Tomb-stone er'e be laid by me :
 Nor let my Herse, be wept upon by thee :
 But let that instant when thou dy'st be known,
 The minute of mine expiration.
 One knell be rung for both ; and let one grave
 To hold us two, an endlesse honour have.

How his soule came ensnared.

My soule would one day goe and seeke
 For Roses, and in Julia's cheeke,
 A richness of those sweets she found,
 (As in an other Rosamond.)
 But gathering Roses as she was ;
 (Not knowing what would come to passe)
 It chanst a ringlet of her haire,
 Caught my poore soule, as in a snare :
 Which ever since has been in thrall,
 Yet freedome, shee enjoys withall.

10

Factions.

The factions of the great ones call,
 To side with them, the Commons all.

Upon Julia's haire, bundled up in a golden net.

Tell me, what needs those rich deceits,
 These golden Toyles, and Trammel-nets,
 To take thine haire when they are knowne
 Already tame, and all thine owne ?
 'Tis I am wild, and more then haire
 Deserve these Mashs and those snares.
 Set free thy Tresses, let them flow
 As aires doe breathe, or winds doe blow :
 And let such curious Net-works be
 Lesse set for them, then spread for me.

10

The showre of Blossomes.

Love in a showre of Blossomes came
 Down, and halfe drown'd me with the same :
 The Blooms that fell were white and red ;
 But with such sweets commingled,
 As whether (this) I cannot tell 5
 My sight was pleas'd more, or my smell :
 But true it was, as I rowl'd there,
 Without a thought of hurt, or feare ;
 Love turn'd himselfe into a Bee,
 And with his Javelin wounded me : 10
 From which mishap this use I make,
Where most sweets are, there lyes a Snake.
Kisses and Favours are sweet things ;
But Those have thorns, and These have stings.

A defence for Women.

Naught are all Women : I say no,
 Since for one Bad, one Good I know :
 For Clytemnestra most unkind,
 Loving Alcestis there we find :
 For one Medea that was bad, 5
 A good Penelope was had :
 For wanton Lais, then we have
 Chaste Lucrece, or a wife as grave :
 And thus through Woman-kind we see
 A Good and Bad. Sirs credit me. 10

Slavery.

'Tis liberty to serve one Lord ; but he
 Who many serves, serves base servility.

Charmes.

Bring the holy crust of Bread,
Lay it underneath the head ;
'Tis a certain Charm to keep
Hags away, while Children sleep.

Another.

Let the superstitious wife
Neer the child's heart lay a knife :
Point be up, and Haft be downe ;
(While she gossips in the towne)
This 'mongst other mystick charms
Keeps the sleeping child from harms. 5

Another Charme for Stables.

Hang up Hooks, and Sheers to scare
Hence the Hag, that rides the Mare,
Till they be all over wet,
With the mire, and the sweat :
This observ'd, the Manes shall be
Of your horses, all knot-free. 5

Ceremonies for Candlemasse Eve.

Down with the Rosemary and Bayes,
Down with the Mistleto ;
In stead of Holly, now up-raise
The greener Box (for show.)
The Holly hitherto did sway ; 5
Let Box now domineere ;
Untill the dancing Easter-day,
Or Easters Eve appeare.

Then youthfull Box which now hath grace,
     Your houses to renew ; 10
 Grown old, surrender must his place,
     Unto the crisped Yew.

When Yew is out, then Birch comes in,
     And many Flowers beside ;
 Both of a fresh, and fragrant kinne 15
     To honour Whitsontide.

Green Rushes then, and sweetest Bents,
     With cooler Oken boughs ;
 Come in for comely ornaments,
     To re-adorn the house. 20
 Thus times do shift ; each thing his turne do's hold ;
New things succeed, as former things grow old.

The Ceremonies for Candlemasse day.

Kindle the Christmas Brand, and then
     Till Sunne-set, let it burne ;
 Which quencht, then lay it up agen,
     Till Christmas next returne.
 Part must be kept wherewith to teend 5
     The Christmas Log next yeare ;
 And where 'tis safely kept, the Fiend,
     Can do no mischief (there.)

Upon Candlemasse day.

End now the White-loafe, & the Pye,
 And let all sports with Christmas dye.

Surfeits.

Bad are all surfeits : but Physitians call
 That surfeit tooke by bread, the worst of all.

To Biancha, to blesse him.

Wo'd I woove, and wo'd I winne,
 Wo'd I well my worke begin?
 Wo'd I evermore be crown'd
 With the end that I propound?
 Wo'd I frustrate, or prevent 5
 All Aspects malevolent?
 Thwart all Wizzards, and with these
 Dead all black contingencies:
 Place my words, and all works else
 In most happy Parallels? 10
 All will prosper, if so be
 I be kist, or blest by thee.

Julia's Churching, or Purification.

Put on thy Holy Fillitings, and so
 To th' Temple with the sober Midwife go.
 Attended thus (in a most solemn wise)
 By those who serve the Child-bed misteries.
 Burn first thine incense; next, when as thou see'st 5
 The candid Stole thrown ore the Pious Priest;
 With reverend Curtsies come, and to him bring
 Thy free (and not decurted) offering.
 All Rites well ended, with faire Auspice come
 (As to the breaking of a Bride-Cake) home: 10
 Where ceremonious Hymen shall for thee
 Provide a second Epithalamie.
She who keeps chastly to her husbands side
Is not for one, but every night his Bride:
And stealing still with love, and feare to Bed, 15
Brings him not one, but many a Maiden-head.

To his Book.

Before the Press scarce one co'd see
 A little-peeping-part of thee:
 But since th' art Printed, thou dost call
 To shew thy nakedness to all.

My care for thee is now the less ; 5
 (Having resign'd thy shamefastness :)
 Go with thy Faults and Fates ; yet stay
 And take this sentence, then away ;
 Whom one belov'd will not suffice,
 She'l runne to all adulteries. 10

Teares.

Teares most prevaile ; with teares too thou mayst move
 Rocks to relent, and coyest maids to love.

To his friend to avoid contention of words.

Words beget Anger : Anger brings forth blowes :
 Blowes make of dearest friends immortall Foes.
 For which prevention (Sociate) let there be
 Betwixt us two no more Logomachie.
 Farre better 'twere for either to be mute, 5
 Then for to murder friendship, by dispute.

Truth.

Truth is best found out by the time, and eyes ;
Falsehood winnes credit by uncertainties.

The Eyes before the Eares.

We credit most our sight ; one eye doth please
 Our trust farre more then ten eare-witnesses.

Want.

Want is a softer Wax, that takes thereon,
 This, that, and every base impression.

The Eyes, &c. 2 then ten] ten then 1648 (a printer's error).

To a Friend.

Looke in my Book, and herein see,
Life endlesse sign'd to thee and me.
We o're the tombes, and Fates shall flye ;
While other generations dye.

Upon M. William Lawes, the rare Musitian.

Sho'd I not put on Blacks, when each one here
Comes with his Cypresse, and devotes a teare ?
Sho'd I not grieve (my Lawes) when every Lute,
Violl, and Voice, is (by thy losse) struck mute ?
Thy loss brave man ! whose Numbers have been hurl'd, 5
And no less prais'd, then spread throughout the world.
Some have Thee call'd Amphion ; some of us,
Nam'd thee Terpander, or sweet Orpheus :
Some this, some that, but all in this agree,
Musique had both her birth, and death with Thee. 10

A song upon Silvia.

From me my Silvia ranne away,
And running therewithall ;
A Primrose Banke did cross her way,
And gave my Love a fall.
But trust me now I dare not say, 5
What I by chance did see ;
But such the Drap'ry did betray
That fully ravisht me.

The Hony-combe.

If thou hast found an honie-combe,
Eate thou not all, but taste on some :
For if thou eat'st it to excess ;
That sweetness turnes to Loathsomness.
Taste it to Temper ; then 'twill be 5
Marrow, and Manna unto thee,

Upon Ben. Johnson.

Here lyes Johnson with the rest
 Of the Poets ; but the Best.
 Reader, wo'dst thou more have known ?
 Aske his Story, not this Stone.
 That will speake what this can't tell 5
 Of his glory. So farewell.

An Ode for him.

Ah Ben !
 Say how, or when
 Shall we thy Guests
 Meet at those Lyrick Feasts,
 Made at the Sun, 5
 The Dog, the triple Tunne ?
 Where we such clusters had,
 As made us nobly wild, not mad ;
 And yet each Verse of thine
 Out-did the meate, out-did the frolick wine. 10

My Ben
 Or come agen :
 Or send to us,
 Thy wits great over-plus ;
 But teach us yet 15
 Wisely to husband it ;
 Lest we that Tallent spend :
 And having once brought to an end
 That precious stock ; the store
 Of such a wit the world sho'd have no more. 20

Upon a Virgin.

Spend Harmless shade thy nightly Houres,
 Selecting here, both Herbs, and Flowers ;
 Of which make Garlands here, and there,
 To dress thy silent sepulchre.
 Nor do thou feare the want of these, 5
In everlasting Properties.
 Since we fresh strewings will bring hither,
 Farre faster then the first can wither.

Blame.

In Battailles what disasters fall,
The King he beares the blame of all.

A request to the Graces.

Ponder my words, if so that any be
Known guilty here of incivility :
Let what is graceless, discompos'd, and rude,
With sweetness, smoothness, softness, be endu'd.
Teach it to blush, to curtsie, lisp, and shew 5
Demure, but yet, full of temptation too.
Numbers ne'r tickle, or but lightly please,
Unlesse they have some wanton carriages.
This if ye do, each Piece will here be good,
And gracefull made, by your neate Sisterhood. 10

Upon himselfe.

I lately fri'd, but now behold
I freeze as fast, and shake for cold.
And in good faith I'd thought it strange
T'ave found in me this sudden change
But that I understood by dreames, 5
These only were but Loves extreames ;
Who fires with hope the Lovers heart,
And starves with cold the self-same part.

Multitude.

We Trust not to the multitude in Warre,
But to the stout ; and those that skilfull are.

Feare.

Man must do well out of a good intent,
Not for the servile feare of punishment.

To M. Kellam.

What can my Kellam drink his Sack
 In Goblets to the brim,
 And see his Robin Herrick lack,
 Yet send no Boules to him?

For love or pitie to his Muse, 5
 (That she may flow in Verse)
 Contemne to recommend a Cruse,
 But send to her a Tearce.

Happinesse to hospitalitie, or a hearty wish to good house-keeping.

First, may the hand of bounty bring
 Into the daily offering
 Of full provision ; such a store,
 Till that the Cooke cries, Bring no more.
 Upon your hogsheads never fall 5
 A drought of wine, ale, beere (at all)
 But, like full clouds, may they from thence
 Diffuse their mighty influence.
 Next, let the Lord, and Ladie here
 Enjoy a Christning yeare by yeare ; 10
 And this good blessing back them still,
 T'ave Boyes, and Gyrles too, as they will.
 Then from the porch may many a Bride
 Unto the Holy Temple ride :
 And thence return, (short prayers seyed) 15
 A wife most richly married.
 Last, may the Bride and Bridegroom be
 Untoucht by cold sterility ;
 But in their springing blood so play,
 As that in Lusters few they may, 20
 By laughing too, and lying downe,
 People a City or a Towne.

Cunctation in Correction.

The Lictors bundl'd up their rods : beside,
Knit them with knots (with much adoe unty'd)
That if (unknitting) men wo'd yet repent,
They might escape the lash of punishment.

Present Government grievous.

Men are suspicious ; prone to discontent :
Subjects still loath the present Government.

Rest Refreshes.

Lay by the good a while ; a resting field
Will, after ease, a richer harvest yeild :
Trees this year beare ; next, they their wealth with-hold :
Continuall reaping makes a land wax old.

Revenge.

Mans disposition is for to requite
An injurie, before a benefite :
Thanksgiving is a burden, and a paine ;
Revenge is pleasing to us, as our gaine.

The first marris or makes.

In all our high designments, 'twill appeare,
The first event breeds confidence or feare.

Beginning, difficult.

Hard are the two first staires unto a Crowne ;
Which got, the third, bids him a King come downe.

Faith four-square.

Faith is a thing that's four-square ; let it fall
This way or that, it not declines at all.

The present time best pleaseth.

Praise they that will Times past, I joy to see
My selfe now live : this age best pleaseth mee.

Cloathes, are conspirators.

Though from without no foes at all we feare ;
We shall be wounded by the cloathes we weare.

Cruelty.

Tis but a dog-like madnesse in bad Kingſ,
For to delight in wounds and murderings.
As some plants prosper best by cuts and blowes,
So Kings by killing doe encrease their foes.

Faire after foule.

Teares quickly drie : griefes will in time decay :
A cleare will come after a cloudy day.

Hunger.

Aske me what hunger is, and Ile reply,
'Tis but a fierce desire of hot and drie.

Bad wages for good service.

In this misfortune Kings doe most excell,
To heare the worst from men, when they doe well.

The End.

Conquer we shall, but we must first contend ;
'Tis not the Fight that crowns us, but the end.

The Bondman.

Bind me but to thee with thine haire,
And quickly I shall be
Made by that fether or that snare
A bondman unto thee.

Or if thou tak'st that bond away,
Then bore me through the eare ;
And by the Law I ought to stay
For ever with thee here.

Choose for the best.

Give house-roome to the best ; 'Tis never known
Vertue and pleasure, both to dwell in one.

To Silvia.

Pardon my trespassse (Silvia) I confesse,
My kisse out-went the bounds of shamfastnesse :
None is discreet at all times ; no, not Jove
Himselfe, at one time, can be wise, and Love.

Faire shewes deceive.

Smooth was the Sea, and seem'd to call
To prettie girles to play withall :
Who padling there, the Sea soone frown'd,
And on a sudden both were drown'd.
What credit can we give to seas,
Who, kissing, kill such Saints as these ?

His wish.

Fat be my Hinde ; unlearned be my wife ;
Peacefull by night ; my day devoid of strife :
To these a comely off-spring I desire,
Singing about my everlasting fire.

Upon Julia's washing her self in the river.

How fierce was I, when I did see
 My Julia wash her self in thee !
 So Lillies thorough Christall look :
 So purest pebbles in the brook :
 As in the River Julia did, 5
 Halfe with a Lawne of water hid,
 Into thy streames my self I threw,
 And struggling there, I kist thee too ;
 And more had done (it is confest)
 Had not thy waves forbad the rest. 10

A Meane in our Meanes.

Though Frankinsense the Deities require,
We must not give all to the hallowed fire.
 Such be our gifts, and such be our expence,
 As for our selves to leave some frankinsence.

Upon Clunn.

A rowle of Parchment Clunn about him beares,
 Charg'd with the Armes of all his Ancestors :
 And seems halfe ravisht, when he looks upon
 That Bar, this Bend ; that Fess, this Cheveron ;
 This Manch, that Moone ; this Martlet, and that Mound ; 5
 This counterchange of Perle and Diamond.
 What joy can Clun have in that Coat, or this,
 When as his owne still out at elboes is ?

Upon Cupid.

Love, like a Beggar, came to me
 With Hose and Doublet torne :
 His Shirt bedangling from his knee,
 With Hat and Shooes out-worne.
 He askt an almes ; I gave him bread, 5
 And meat too, for his need :
 Of which, when he had fully fed,
 He wished me all Good speed.

Away he went, but as he turn'd
(In faith I know not how) 10
He toucht me so, as that I burn,
And am tormented now.

Love's silent flames, and fires obscure
Then crept into my heart ;
And though I saw no Bow, I'm sure, 15
His finger was the dart.

An Hymne to Love.

1. I will confesse
With Cheerfulnesse,
Love is a thing so likes me,
That let her lay
On me all day, 5
Ile kiss the hand that strikes me.
2. I will not, I,
Now blubb'ring, cry,
It (Ah !) too late repents me
That I did fall 10
To love at all,
Since love so much contents me.
3. No, no, Ile be
In fetters free ;
While others they sit wringing 15
Their hands for paine ;
Ile entertaine
The wounds of love with singing.
4. With Flowers and Wine,
And Cakes Divine, 20
To strike me I will tempt thee :
Which done ; no more
Ile come before
Thee and thine Altars empty.

To his honoured and most Ingenious friend

Mr. Charles Cotton.

For brave comportment, wit without offence,
 Words fully flowing, yet of influence :
 Thou art that man of men, the man alone,
 Worthy the Publique Admiration :
 Who with thine owne eyes read'st what we doe write, 5
 And giv'st our Numbers Euphonie, and weight.
 Tel'st when a Verse springs high, how understood
 To be, or not borne of the Royall-blood.
 What State above, what Symmetrie below,
 Lines have, or sho'd have, thou the best canst show. 10
 For which (my Charles) it is my pride to be,
 Not so much knowne, as to be lov'd of thee.
 Long may I live so, and my wreath of Bayes,
 Be lesse anothers Laurell, then thy praise.

Women uselesse.

What need we marry Women, when
 Without their use we may have men ?
 And such as will in short time be,
 For murder fit, or mutinie ;
 As Cadmus once a new way found, 5
 By throwing teeth into the ground :
 (From which poore seed, and rudely sown)
 Sprung up a War-like Nation.
 So let us Yron, Silver, Gold,
 Brasse, Leade, or Tinne, throw into th' mould ; 10
 And we shall see in little space
 Rise up of men, a fighting race.
 If this can be, say then, what need
 Have we of Women or their seed ?

Love is a sirrup.

Love is a sirrup ; and who er'e we see
 Sick and surcharg'd with this sacietie :
 Shall by this pleasing trespasse quickly prove,
Ther's loathsomnesse d'en in the sweets of love.

Leven.

Love is a Leven, and a loving kisse
The Leven of a loving sweet-heart is.

Repletion.

Physitians say Repletion springs
More from the sweet then sower things.

On Himselfe.

Weepe for the dead, for they have lost this light:
And weepe for me, lost in an endlesse night.
Or mourne, or make a Marble Verse for me,
Who writ for many. Benedicite.

No man without Money.

No man such rare parts hath, that he can swim,
If favour or occasion helpe not him.

On Himselfe.

Lost to the world ; lost to my selfe ; alone
Here now I rest under this Marble stone :
In depth of silence, heard, and seene of none.

To M. Leonard Willan his peculiar friend.

I will be short, and having quickly hurl'd
This line about, live Thou throughout the world ;
Who art a man for all Sceanes ; unto whom
(What's hard to others) nothing's troublesome.
Can'st write the Comick, Tragick straine, and fall
From these to penne the pleasing Pastorall :
Who fl'i'st at all heights : Prose and Verse run'st through

Find'st here a fault, and mend'st the trespass too :
 For which I might extoll thee, but speake lesse,
 Because thy selfe art comming to the Presse : 10
 And then sho'd I in praising thee be slow,
 Posterity will pay thee what I owe.

*To his worthy friend M. John Hall,
 Student of Grayes-Inne.*

Tell me young man, or did the Muses bring
 Thee lesse to taste, then to drink up their spring ;
 That none hereafter sho'd be thought, or be
 A Poet, or a Poet-like but Thee.
 What was thy Birth, thy starre that makes thee knowne, 5
 At twice ten yeares, a prime and publike one ?
 Tell us thy Nation, kindred, or the whence
 Thou had'st, and hast thy mighty influence,
 That makes thee lov'd, and of the men desir'd,
 And no lesse prais'd, then of the maides admir'd. 10
 Put on thy Laurell then ; and in that trimme
 Be thou Apollo, or the type of him :
 Or let the Unshorne God lend thee his Lyre,
 And next to him, be Master of the Quire.

To Julia.

Offer thy gift ; but first the Law commands
 Thee Julia, first, to sanctifie thy hands :
 Doe that my Julia which the rites require,
 Then boldly give thine incense to the fire.

*To the most comely and proper
 M. Elizabeth Finch.*

Hansome you are, and Proper you will be
 Despight of all your infortunitie :
 Live long and lovely, but yet grow no lesse
 In that your owne prefixed comelinesse :
 Spend on that stock : and when your life must fall, 5
 Leave others Beauty, to set up withall.

To his Booke.

If hap it must, that I must see thee lye
Absyrtus-like all torne confusedly :
 With solemne tears, and with much grief of heart,
 Ile recollect thee (weeping) part by part ;
 And having washt thee, close thee in a chest
 With spice ; that done, Ile leave thee to thy rest

TO THE KING,

Upon his welcome to Hampton-Court.

Set and Sung.

Welcome, Great Cesar, welcome now you are,
 As dearest Peace, after destructive Warre :
 Welcome as slumbers ; or as beds of ease
 After our long, and peevish sicknesses.
 O Pompe of Glory ! Welcome now, and come
 To re-possess once more your long'd-for home.
 A thousand Altars smoake ; a thousand thighes
 Of Beeves here ready stand for Sacrifice.
 Enter and prosper ; while our eyes doe waite
 For an Ascendent throughly Auspicate :
 Under which signe we may the former stone
 Lay of our safeties new foundation :
 That done ; O Cesar, live, and be to us,
 Our Fate, our Fortune, and our Genius ;
 To whose free knees we may our temples tie
 As to a still protecting Deitie.
 That sho'd you stirre, we and our Altars too
 May (Great Augustus) goe along with You.
Chor. Long live the King ; and to accomplish this,
 We'l from our owne, adde far more years to his.

Ultimus Heroum :

OR,

*To the most learned, and to the right Honourable,
Henry, Marquesse of Dorchester.*

And as time past when Cato the Severe
Entred the circumspaceous Theater ;
In reverence of his person, every one
Stood as he had been turn'd from flesh to stone :
E'ne so my numbers will astonisht be
If but lookt on ; struck dead, if scan'd by Thee.

To his Muse, another to the same.

Tell that Brave Man, fain thou wo'dst have access
To kiss his hands, but that for fearfullness ;
Or else because th' art like a modest Bride,
Ready to blush to death, sho'd he but chide.

Upon Vineger.

Vineger is no other I define,
Then the dead Corps, or carkase of the Wine.

To his learned friend M. Jo. Harmar, Phisitian to the Colledge of Westminster.

When first I find those Numbers thou do'st write ;
To be most soft, terce, sweet, and perpolite :
Next, when I see Thee trowing in the skie,
In an expansion no less large, then high ;
Then, in that compass, sayling here and there,
And with Circumgyration every where ;
Following with love and active heate thy game,
And then at last to truss the Epigram ;
I must confess, distinction none I see
Between Domitians Martiall then, and Thee.
But this I know, should Jupiter agen
Descend from heaven, to re-converse with men ;
The Romane Language full, and superfine,
If Jove wo'd speake, he wo'd accept of thine.

10

Upon his Spaniell Tracie.

Now thou art dead, no eye shall ever see,
For shape and service, Spaniell like to thee.
This shall my love doe, give thy sad death one
Teare, that deserves of me a million.

The deluge.

Drowning, drowning, I espie
Coming from my Julia's eye :
'Tis some solace in our smart,
To have friends to beare a part :
I have none ; but must be sure
Th' inundation to endure. 5
Shall not times hereafter tell
This for no meane miracle ;
When the waters by their fall
Threatn'd ruine unto all ? 10
Yet the deluge here was known,
Of a world to drowne but One.

Raggs.

What are our patches, tatters, raggs, and rents,
But the base dregs and lees of vestiments ?

Strength to support Sovereignty.

Let Kings and Rulers, learne this line from me ;
Where power is weake, unsafe is Majestie.

Crutches.

Thou seest me Lucia this year droope,
Three Zodiaks fill'd more I shall stoope ;
Let Crutches then provided be
To shore up my debilitie.
Then while thou laugh'st ; Ile, sighing, crie, 5
A Ruine underpropt am I :

Do'n will I then my Beadsmans gown,
 And when so feeble I am grown,
 As my weake shoulders cannot beare
 The burden of a Grashopper : 10
 Yet with the bench of aged sires,
 When I and they keep tearmly fires ;
 With my weake voice Ile sing, or say
 Some Odes I made of Lucia :
 Then will I heave my wither'd hand 15
 To Jove the Mighty for to stand
 Thy faithfull friend, and to poure downe
 Upon thee many a Benizon.

To Julia.

Holy waters hither bring
 For the sacred sprinkling :
 Baptize me and thee, and so
 Let us to the Altar go.
 And (ere we our rites commence) 5
 Wash our hands in innocence.
 Then I'll be the Rex Sacrorum,
 Thou the Queen of Peace and Quorum.

To Perenna.

I a Dirge will pen for thee ;
 Thou a Trentall make for me :
 That the Monks and Fryers together,
 Here may sing the rest of either :
 Next, I'm sure, the Nuns will have 5
Candlemas to grace the Grave.

To his Sister in Law, M. Susanna Herrick.

The Person crowns the Place ; your lot doth fall
 Last, yet to be with These a Principall.
 How ere it fortun'd ; know for Truth, I meant
 You a fore-leader in this Testament.

Upon the Lady Crew.

This Stone can tell the storie of my life,
What was my Birth, to whom I was a Wife :
In teeming years, how soon my Sun was set,
Where now I rest, these may be known by Jet.
For other things, my many Children be
The best and truest Chronicles of me.

On Tomasin Parsons.

Grow up in Beauty, as thou do'st begin,
And be of all admired, Tomasin.

Ceremony upon Candlemas Eve.

Down with the Rosemary, and so
Down with the Baies, & misletoe :
Down with the Holly, Ivie, all,
Wherewith ye drest the Christmas Hall :
That so the superstitious find
No one least Branch there left behind :
For look how many leaves there be
Neglected there (maids trust to me)
So many Goblins you shall see.

Suspicion makes secure.

He that will live of all cares dispossesst,
Must shun the bad, I, and suspect the best.

To his kinsman M. Tho: Herrick, who desired to be in his Book.

Welcome to this my Colledge, and though late
Tha'st got a place here (standing candidate)
It matters not, since thou art chosen one
Here of my great and good foundation.

A Bucolick betwixt Two: Lacon and Thyrsis.

- Lacon.* For a kiss or two, confesse,
 What doth cause this pensiveness?
 Thou most lovely Neat-heardesse :
 Why so lonely on the hill?
 Why thy pipe by thee so still, 5
 That ere while was heard so shrill?
- Tell me, do thy kine now fail
 To fulfill the milkin-paile?
 Say, what is't that thou do'st aile?
- Thyr.* None of these ; but out, alas ! 10
 A mischance is come to pass,
 And I'll tell thee what it was :
 See mine eyes are weeping ripe.
- Lacon* Tell, and I'll lay down my Pipe.
- Thyr.* I have lost my lovely steere, 15
 That to me was far more deer
 Then these kine, which I milke here.
 Broad of fore-head, large of eye,
 Party colour'd like a Pie ;
 Smooth in each limb as a die ; 20
 Clear of hoof, and clear of horn ;
 Sharply pointed as a thorn :
 With a neck by yoke unworn.
 From the which hung down by strings,
 Balls of Cowslips, Daisie rings, 25
 Enterplac't with ribbanings.
 Faultless every way for shape ;
 Not a straw co'd him escape ;
 Ever gamesome as an ape :
 But yet harmless as a sheep. 30
 (Pardon, Lacon if I weep)
Tears will spring, where woes are deep.
 Now (ai me) (ai me.) Last night
 Came a mad dog, and did bite,
 I, and kil'd my dear delight. 35

Lacon. Alack for grief !

Thyr. But I'le be brief,

Hence I must, for time doth call
Me, and my sad Play-mates all,
To his Ev'ning Funerall.
Live long, Lacon, so adew.

40

Lacon. Mournfull maid farewell to you ;
Earth afford ye flowers to strew.

Upon Sapho.

Look upon Sapho's lip, and you will swear
There is a love-like-leven rising there.

Upon Faunus.

We read how Faunus, he the shepherds God,
His wife to death whipt with a Mirtle Rod.
The Rod (perhaps) was better'd by the name ;
But had it been of Birch, the death's the same.

A Bachanalian Verse.

1           Drinke up
             Your Cup,
But not spill Wine ;
             For if you
             Do,
'Tis an ill signe ;

2.           That we Foresee,
You are cloy'd here,
             If so, no
             Hoe,
But avoid here.

10

Care a good keeper.

*Care keeps the Conquest ; 'tis no lesse renowne,
To keepe a Citie, then to winne a Towne.*

Rules for our reach.

Men must have Bounds how farre to walke ; for we
Are made farre worse, by lawless liberty.

To Biancha.

Ah Biancha ! now I see,
It is Noone and past with me
In a while it will strike one ;
Then Biancha, I am gone.
Some effusions let me have,
Offer'd on my holy Grave ;
Then, Biancha, let me rest
With my face towards the East.

To the handsome Mistresse Grace Potter.

As is your name, so is your comely face,
Toucht every where with such diffused grace,
As that in all that admirable round,
There is not one least solecisme found ;
And as that part, so every portion else,
Keepes line for line with Beauties Parallels.

Anacreontike.

I must
Not trust
Here to any ;
Bereav'd,
Deceiv'd 5
By so many :
As one
Undone
By my losses ;
Comply 10
Will I
With my crosses.
Yet still
I will
Not be grieving ; 15
Since thence
And hence
Comes relieving.
But this
Sweet is 20
In our mourning ;
Times bad
And sad
Are a turning :
And he 25
Whom we
See dejected ;
Next day
Wee may
See erected. 30

More modest, more manly.

'Tis still observ'd, those men most valiant are,
That are most modest ere they come to warre.

Not to covet much where little is the charge.

Why sho'd we covet much, when as we know,
W've more to beare our charge, then way to go?

Anacr(e)ontick Verse.

Brisk methinks I am, and fine,
 When I drinke my capring wine :
 Then to love I do encline ;
 When I drinke my wanton wine :
 And I wish all maidens mine, 5
 When I drinke my sprightly wine :
 Well I sup, and well I dine,
 When I drinke my frolick wine :
 But I languish, lowre, and Pine,
 When I want my fragrant wine. 10

Patience in Princes.

Kings must not use the Axe for each offence :
Princes cure some faults by their patience.

Despaire takes heart, when ther's no hope to speed :
The Coward then takes Armes, and do's the deed.

Parcell-gil't Poetry.

Let's strive to be the best ; the Gods, we know it,
 Pillars and men, hate an indifferent Poet.

Upon Love, by way of question and answer.

I bring ye Love, Quest. What will love do ?
Ans. Like, and dislike ye :
 I bring ye love : Quest. What will Love do ?
Ans. Stroake ye to strike ye.
 I bring ye love : Quest. What will Love do ? 5
Ans. Love will be-foole ye :
 I bring ye love : Quest. What will love do ?
Ans. Heate ye to coole ye :
 I bring ye love : Quest. What will love do ?
Ans. Love gifts will send ye : 10

I bring ye love : Quest. What will love do ?

Ans. Stock ye to spend ye :

I bring ye love : Quest. What will love do ?

Ans. Love will fulfill ye :

I bring ye love : Quest. What will love do ?

Ans. Kisse ye, to kill ye.

15

To the Lord Hopton, on his fight in Cornwall.

Go on brave Hopton, to effectuate that
Which wee, and times to come, shall wonder at.
Lift up thy Sword ; next, suffer it to fall,
And by that One blow set an end to all.

His Grange.

How well contented in this private Grange
Spend I my life (that's subject unto change :)
Under whose Roofe with Mosse-worke wrought, there I
Kisse my Brown wife, and black Posterity.

Leprosie in houses.

When to a House I come, and see
The Genius wastefull, more then free :
The servants thumblesse, yet to eat,
With lawlesse tooth the floure of wheate :
The Sonnes to suck the milke of Kine,
More then the teats of Discipline :
The Daughters wild and loose in dresse ;
Their cheekes unstain'd with shamefac'tnesse :
The Husband drunke, the Wife to be
A Baud to incivility :
I must confesse, I there descrie,
A House spred through with Leprosie.

10

Good manners at meat.

This rule of manners I will teach my guests,
To come with their own bellies unto feasts :
Not to eat equall portions ; but to rise
Farc't with the food, that may themselves suffice.

Anthea's Retraction.

Anthea laught, and fearing lest excesse
 Might stretch the cords of civill comelinesse :
 She with a dainty blush rebuk't her face ;
 And cal'd each line back to his rule and space.

Comforts in Crosses.

Be not dismaide, though crosses cast thee downe ;
 Thy fall is but the rising to a Crowne.

Seeke and finde.

Attempt the end, and never stand to doubt ;
Nothing's so hard, but search will find it out.

Rest.

On with thy worke, though thou beest hardly prest ;
Labour is held up, by the hope of rest.

Leprosie in Cloathes.

When flowing garments I behold
 Enspir'd with Purple, Pearle, and Gold ;
 I think no other but I see
 In them a glorious leprosie
 That do's infect, and make the rent
 More mortall in the vestiment.
As flowrie vestures doe descrie
The wearers rich immodestie ;
So plaine and simple cloathes doe show
Where vertue walkes, not those that flow.

10

Great Maladies, long Medicines.

*To an old soare a long cure must goe on ;
Great faults require great satisfaction.*

His Answer to a friend.

You aske me what I doe, and how I live ?
And (Noble friend) this answer I must give :
Drooping, I draw on to the vaults of death,
Or'e which you'l walk, when I am laid beneath.

The Begger.

Shall I a daily Begger be,
For loves sake asking almes of thee ?
Still shall I crave, and never get
A hope of my desired bit ?
Ah cruell maides ! Ile goe my way, 5
Whereas (perchance) my fortunes may
Finde out a Threshold or a doore,
That may far sooner speed the poore :
Where thrice we knock, and none will heare,
Cold comfort still I'm sure lives there. 10

Bastards.

Our Bastard-children are but like to Plate,
Made by the Coyners illegitimate.

His change.

My many cares and much distress,
Has made me like a wilderness :
Or (discompos'd) I'm like a rude,
And all confused multitude :
Out of my comely manners worne ; 5
And as in meanes, in minde all torne.

The Vision.

Me thought I saw (as I did dreame in bed)
 A crawling Vine about Anacreon's head :
 Flusht was his face ; his haire with oyle did shine ;
 And as he spake, his mouth ranne ore with wine.
 Tipl'd he was ; and tipling lispt withall ; 5
 And lisping reeld, and reeling like to fall.
 A young Enchantresse close by him did stand
 Tapping his plump thighes with a mirtle wand :
 She smil'd ; he kist ; and kissing, cull'd her too ;
 And being cup-shot, more he co'd not doe. 10
 For which (me thought) in prittie anger she
 Snatcht off his Crown, and gave the wreath to me :
 Since when (me thinks) my braines about doe swim,
 And I am wilde and wanton like to him.

A vow to Venus.

Happily I had a sight
 Of my dearest deare last night ;
 Make her this day smile on me,
 And Ile Roses give to thee.

On his Booke.

The bound (almost) now of my book I see
 But yet no end of those therein or me :
 Here we begin new life ; while thousands quite
 Are lost, and theirs, in everlasting night.

A sonnet of Perilla.

Then did I live when I did see
Perilla smile on none but me.
 But (ah !) by starres malignant crost,
 The life I got I quickly lost :
 But yet a way there doth remaine, 5
 For me embalm'd to live againe ;
 And that's to love me ; in which state
 Ile live as one Regenerate.

Bad may be better.

Man may at first transgress, but next do well :
Vice doth in some but lodge a while, not dwell.

Posting to Printing.

Let others to the Printing Presse run fast,
 Since after death comes glory, Ile not haste.

Rapine brings Ruine.

What's got by Justice is establisht sure ;
No Kingdomes got by Rapine long endure.

Comfort to a youth that had lost his Love.

What needs complaints,
When she a place
Has with the race
Of Saints ?
In endlesse mirth,	5
She thinks not on
What's said or done
In earth :
She sees no teares,
Or any tone	10
Of thy deep grone
She heares :
Nor do's she minde,
Or think on't now,
That ever thou	15
Wast kind.
But chang'd above,
She likes not there,
As she did here,
* Thy Love.	20
Forbeare therefore,
And Lull asleepe
Thy woes and weep
No more.

Saint Distaffs day, or the morrow after Twelfth day.

Partly worke and partly play
Ye must on S. Distaffs day :
From the Plough soone free your teame ;
Then come home and fother them.
If the Maides a spinning goe, 5
Burne the flax, and fire the tow :
Scorch their plackets, but beware
That ye singe no maiden-haire.
Bring in pailles of water then,
Let the Maides bewash the men. 10
Give S. Distaffe all the right,
Then bid Christmas sport good-night ;
And next morrow, every one
To his owne vocation.

Sufferance.

In the hope of ease to come,
Let's endure one Martyrdome.

His teares to Thamasis.

I send, I send here my supremest kiss
To thee my silver-footed Thamasis.
No more shall I reiterate thy Strand,
Whereon so many Stately Structures stand :
Nor in the summers sweeter evenings go, 5
To bath in thee (as thousand others doe.)
No more shall I a long thy christall glide,
In Barge (with boughes and rushes beautif'd)
With soft-smooth Virgins (for our chast disport)
To Richmond, Kingstone, and to Hampton-Court : 10
Never againe shall I with Finnie-Ore
Put from, or draw unto the faithfull shore :
And Landing here, or safely Landing there,
Make way to my Beloved Westminster :

Or to the Golden-cheap-side, where the earth 15
Of Julia Herrick gave to me my Birth.
May all clean Nymphs and curious water Dames,
With Swan-like-state, flote up & down thy streams :
No drought upon thy wanton waters fall
To make them Leane, and languishing at all. 20
No ruffling winds come hither to discease
Thy pure, and Silver-wristed Naides.
Keep up your state ye streams ; and as ye spring,
Never make sick your Banks by surfeiting.
Grow young with Tydes, and though I see ye never, 25
Receive this vow, so fare-ye-well for ever.

Pardons.

*Those ends in War the best contentment bring,
Whose Peace is made up with a Pardoning.*

Peace not Permanent.

*Great Cities seldome rest : If there be none
T'invade from far : They'l finde worse foes at home.*

Truth and Errour.

*Twixt Truth and Errour, there's this difference known,
Errour is fruitfull, Truth is onely one.*

Things mortall still mutable.

*Things are uncertain, and the more we get,
The more on ycie pavements we are set.*

Studies to be supported.

*Studies themselves will languish and decay,
When either price, or praise is ta'ne away.*

Wit punisht, prospers most.

Dread not the shackles : on with thine intent ;
Good wits get more fame by their punishment.

Twelfe night, or King and Queene.

Now, now the mirth comes
 With the cake full of plums,
 Where Beane's the King of the sport here ;
 Beside we must know,
 The Pea also
 Must revell, as Queene, in the Court here. 5

Begin then to chuse,
 (This night as ye use)
 Who shall for the present delight here,
 Be a King by the lot,
 And who shall not
 Be Twelfe-day Queene for the night here. 10

Which knowne, let us make
 Joy-sops with the cake ;
 And let not a man then be seen here,
 Who unurg'd will not drinke
 To the base from the brink
 A health to the King and the Queene here. 15

Next crowne the bowle full
 With gentle lambs-wooll ;
 Adde sugar, nutmeg and ginger,
 With store of ale too ;
 And thus ye must doe
 To make the wassaile a swinger. 20

Give then to the King
 And Queene wassailing ;
 And though with ale ye be whet here ;
 Yet part ye from hence,
 As free from offence,
 As when ye innocent met here. 25 30

His desire.

Give me a man that is not dull,
When all the world with rifts is full :
But unamaz'd dares clearely sing,
When as the roof's a tottering :
And, though it falls, continues still
Tickling the Citterne with his quill.

Caution in Councell.

Know when to speake ; for many times it brings
Danger to give the best advice to Kings.

Moderation.

Let moderation on thy passions waite
Who loves too much, too much the lov'd will hate.

Advice the best actor.

*Still take advice ; though counsels when they flye
At randome, sometimes hit most happily.*

Conformity is Comely.

*Conformity gives comelinesse to things.
And equall shares exclude all murmerings.*

Lawes.

Who violates the Customes, hurts the Health,
Not of one man, but all the Common-wealth.

The meane.

Tis much among the filthy to be clean ;
Our heat of youth can hardly keep the mean,

Like loves his like.

Like will to like, each Creature loves his kinde ;
Chaste words proceed still from a bashfull minde.

His hope or sheat-Anchor.

Among these Tempests great and manifold
My Ship has here one only Anchor-hold ;
That is my hope ; which if that slip, I'm one
Wildred in this vast watry Region.

Comfort in Calamity.

Tis no discomfort in the world to fall,
When the great Crack not Crushes one, but all.

Twilight.

The Twi-light is no other thing (we say)
Then Night now gone, and yet not sprung the Day.

False Mourning.

He who wears Blacks, and mournes not for the Dead,
Do's but deride the Party buried.

The will makes the work, or consent makes the Cure.

No grief is grown so desperate, but the ill
Is halfe way cured, if the party will.

Diet.

If wholesome Diet can re-cure a man,
What need of Physick, or Physitian?

Smart.

Stripes justly given yerke us (with their fall)
But causelesse whipping smarts the most of all.

Hesperides.

The Tinker's Song.

Along, come along,
Let's meet in a throng
Here of Tinkers ;
And quaffe up a Bowle
As big as a Cowle
To Beer Drinkers.
The Pole of the Hop
Place in the Ale-shop
to Bethwack us ;
If ever we think
So much as to drink
Unto Bacchus.
Who frolick will be,
For little cost he
Must not vary,
From Beer-broth at all,
So much as to call
For Canary.

His Comfort.

The only comfort of my life
Is, that I never yet had wife ;
Nor will hereafter ; since I know
Who Weds, ore-buys his weal with woe.

Sincerity.

Wash clean the Vessell, lest ye soure
What ever Liquor in ye powre.

To Anthea.

Sick is Anthea, sickly is the spring,
The Primrose sick, and sickly every thing :
The while my deer Anthea do's but droop,
The Tulips, Lillies, Daffadills do stoop ;
But when again sh'as got her healthfull houre,
Each bending then, will rise a proper flower.

Nor buying or selling.

Now, if you love me, tell me,
 For as I will not sell ye,
 So not one cross to buy thee.
 Ile give, if thou deny me.

To his peculiar friend M. Jo: Wicks.

Since shed or Cottage I have none,
 I sing the more, that thou hast one;
 To whose glad threshold, and free door
 I may a Poet come, though poor;
 And eat with thee a savory bit, 5
 Paying but common thanks for it.
 Yet sho'd I chance, (my Wicks) to see
 An over-leven-looks in thee,
 To soure the Bread, and turn the Beer
 To an exalted vineger; 10
 Or sho'dst thou prize me as a Dish
 Of thrice-boyl'd-worts, or third dayes fish;
 I'de rather hungry go and come,
 Then to thy house be Burdensome;
 Yet, in my depth of grief, I'de be 15
 One that sho'd drop his Beads for thee.

The more mighty, the more mercifull.

Who may do most, do's least: The bravest will Shew mercy there, where they have power to kill.

After Autumne, Winter.

Die ere long I'm sure, I shall;
 After leaves, the tree must fall.

A good death.

For truth I may this sentence tell,
No man dies ill, that liveth well.

To his peculiar friend. 8 looks] Perhaps we should read looke

Recompence.

Who plants an Olive, but to eate the Oile?
Reward, we know, is the chiefe end of toile.

On Fortune.

This is my comfort, when she's most unkind,
She can but spoile me of my Meanes, not Mind.

To Sir George Parrie, Doctor of the Civill Law.

I have my Laurel Chaplet on my head,
If 'mongst these many Numbers to be read,
But one by you be hug'd and cherished.

Peruse my Measures thoroughly, and where
Your judgement finds a guilty Poem, there
Be you a Judge; but not a Judge severe.

The meane passe by, or over, none contemne;
The good applaud: the peccant lesse condemne,
Since Absolution you can give to them.

Stand forth Brave Man, here to the publique sight;
And in my Booke now claim a two-fold right:
The first as Doctor, and the last as Knight.

10

Charmes.

This Ile tell ye by the way,
Maidens when ye Leavens lay,
Crosse your Dow, and your dispatch,
Will be better for your Batch.

Another.

In the morning when ye rise
Wash your hands, and cleanse your eyes.
Next be sure ye have a care,
To disperse the water farre.
For as farre as that doth light,
So farre keeps the evill Spright.

Another.

If ye feare to be affrighted
 When ye are (by chance) benighted :
 In your Pocket for a trust,
 Carrie nothing but a Crust :
 For that holy piece of Bread,
 Charmes the danger, and the dread.

5

Gentleness.

*That Prince must govern with a gentle hand,
 Who will have love comply with his command.*

*A Dialogue betwixt himselfe and Mistresse Eliza:
 Wheeler, under the name of Amarillis.*

My dearest Love, since thou wilt go,
 And leave me here behind thee ;
 For love or pitie let me know
 The place where I may find thee.

Amaril. In country Meadows pearl'd with Dew,
 And set about with Lillies ;
 There filling Maunds with Cowslips, you
 May find your Amarillis.

Her. What have the Meades to do with thee,
 Or with thy youthfull houres ?
 Live thou at Court, where thou mayst be
 The Queen of men, not flowers.

10

Let Country wenches make 'em fine
 With Poesies, since 'tis fitter
 For thee with richest Jemmes to shine,
 And like the Starres to glitter.

15

Amaril. You set too high a rate upon
 A Shepheardess so homely ;

Her. Believe it (dearest) ther's not one
 I'th' Court that's halfe so comly.

20

I prithee stay. (Am.) I must away,
 Lets kiss first, then we'l sever.

Ambo. And though we bid adieu to day,
 Wee shall not part for ever.

To Julia.

Help me, Julia, for to pray,
Mattens sing, or Mattens say :
This I know, the Fiend will fly
Far away, if thou beest by.
Bring the Holy-water hither ;
Let us wash, and pray together :
When our Beads are thus united,
Then the Foe will fly affrighted.

5

To Roses in Julia's Bosome.

Roses, you can never die,
Since the place wherein ye lye,
Heat and moisture mixt are so,
As to make ye ever grow.

To the Honoured, Master Endimion Porter.

When to thy Porch I come, and (ravisht) see
The State of Poets there attending Thee :
Those Bardes, and I, all in a Chorus sing,
We are Thy Prophets Porter ; Thou our King.

Speake in season.

When times are troubled, then forbear ; but speak,
When a cleare day, out of a Cloud do's break.

Obedience.

The Power of Princes rests in the Consent
Of onely those, who are obedient :
Which if away, proud Scepters then will lye
Low, and of Thrones the Ancient Majesty.

Another on the same.

*No man so well a Kingdome Rules, as He,
Who hath himselfe obaid the Soveraignty.*

Of Love.

1. 'Instruct me now, what love will do ;
2. 'Twill make a tongless man to woove.
1. Inform me next, what love will do ;
2. 'Twill strangely make a one of too.
1. Teach me besides, what love wil do ;
2. 'Twill quickly mar, & make ye too.
1. Tell me, now last, what love will do ;
2. 'Twill hurt and heal a heart pierc'd through.

The School or Perl of Putney, the Mistress of all singular manners, Mistresse Portman.

Whether I was my selfe, or else did see
 Out of my self that Glorious Hierarchie !
 Or whether those (in orders rare) or these
 Made up One State of Sixtie Venuses ;
 Or whether Fairies, Syrens, Nymphes they were, 5
 Or Muses, on their mountaine sitting there ;
 Or some enchanted Place, I do not know
 (Or Sharon, where eternall Roses grow.)
 This I am sure ; I Ravisht stood, as one
 Confus'd in utter Admiration. 10
 Me thought I saw them stir, and gently move,
 And look as all were capable of Love :
 And in their motion smelt much like to flowers
 Enspir'd by th' Sun-beams after dewes & showers.
 There did I see the Reverend Rectresse stand, 15
 Who with her eyes-gleam, or a glance of hand,
 Those spirits rais'd ; and with like precepts then
 (As with a Magick) laid them all agen :
 (A happy Realme ! When no compulsive Law,
Or fear of it, but Love keeps all in awe.) 20
 Live you, great Mistresse of your Arts, and be
 A nursing Mother so to Majesty ;

As those your Ladies may in time be seene,
For Grace and Carriage, every one a Queene.
One Birth their Parents gave them ; but their new,
And better Being, they receive from You.

25

*Mans former Birth is grace-lesse ; but the state
Of life comes in, when he's Regenerate.*

To Perenna.

Thou say'st I'm dull ; if edge-lesse so I be,*
Ile whet my lips, and sharpen Love on thee.

On himselfe.

Let me not live, if I not love,
Since I as yet did never prove,
Where Pleasures met : at last, doe find,
All Pleasures meet in Woman-kind.

On Love.

That love 'twixt men do's ever longest last
Where War and Peace the Dice by turns doe cast.

Another on Love.

Love's of it self, too sweet ; the best of all
Is, when loves hony has a dash of gall.

Pleasures Pernicious.

Where Pleasures rule a Kingdome, never there
Is sober virtue, seen to move her sphere.

On himself.

A wearied Pilgrim, I have wandred here
 Twice five and twenty (bate me but one year)
 Long I have lasted in this world ; (tis true)
 But yet those yeers that I have liv'd, but few.
 Who by his gray Haires, doth his lusters tell, . 5
 Lives not those yeers, but he that lives them well.
 One man has reach't his sixty yeers, but he
 Of all those three-score, has not liv'd halfe three :
He lives, who lives to virtue : men who cast
Their ends for Pleasure, do not live, but last. 10

To M. Laurence Swetnaham.

Read thou my Lines, my Swetnaham, if there be
 A fault, tis hid, if it be voic't by thee.
 Thy mouth will make the sourest numbers please ;
 How will it drop pure hony, speaking these ?

His Covenant or Protestation to Julia.

Why do'st thou wound, & break my heart ?
 As if we sho'd for ever part ?
 Hast thou not heard an Oath from me,
 After a day, or two, or three,
 I wo'd come back and live with thee ? 5
 Take, if thou do'st distrust, that Vowe ;
 This second Protestation now.
 Upon thy cheek that spangel'd Teare,
 Which sits as Dew of Roses there :
 That Teare shall scarce be dri'd before 10
 Ile kisse the Threshold of thy dore.
 Then weepe not sweet ; but thus much know,
 I'm halfe return'd before I go.

On himselfe.

I will no longer kiss,
 I can no longer stay ;
 The way of all Flesh is,
 That I must go this day :

His Covenant. 6. distrust,] The comma should perhaps be deleted

Hesperides.

321

Since longer I can't live,
My frolick Youths adieu ;
My Lamp to you Ile give,
And all my troubles too.

To the most accomplit Gentleman Master Michael Oulsworth.

Nor thinke that Thou in this my Booke art worst,
Because not plac't here with the midst, or first.
Since Fame that sides with these, or goes before
Those, that must live with Thee for evermore.
That Fame, and Fames rear'd Pillar, thou shalt see 5
In the next sheet Brave Man to follow Thee.
Fix on That Columnne then, and never fall ;
Held up by Fames eternall Pedestall.

To his Girles who would have him sportfull.

Alas I can't, for tell me how
Can I be gamesome (aged now)
Besides ye see me daily grow
Here Winter-like, to Frost and Snow.
And I ere long, my Girles shall see, 5
Ye quake for cold to looke on me.

Truth and Falsehood.

*Truth by her own simplicity is known,
Falsehood by Varnish and Vermillion.*

His last request to Julia.

I have been wanton, and too bold I feare,
To chafe o're much the Virgins cheek or eare :
Beg for my Rardon Julia ; He doth winne
Grace with the Gods, who's sorry for his sinne.
That done, my Julia, dearest Julia, come, 5
And go with me to chuse my Buriall roome :
My Fates are ended ; when thy Herrick dyes,
Claspe thou his Book, then close thou up his Eyes

On himselfe.

One Eare tingles ; some there be,
 That are snarling now at me :
 Be they those that Homer bit,
 I will give them thanks for it.

Upon Kings.

*Kings must be dauntlesse : Subjects will contemne
 Those, who want Hearts, and weare a Diadem.*

To his Girles.

Wanton Wenches doe not bring
 For my haire black colouring :
 For my Locks (Girles) let 'em be
 Gray or white, all's one to me.

Upon Spur.

Spur jingles now, and sweares by no meane oathes,
 He's double honour'd, since h'as got gay cloathes :
 Most like his Suite, and all commend the Trim ;
 And thus they praise the Sumpter ; but not him :
 As to the Goddessse, people did conferre
 Worship, and not to'th' Asse that carried her.

To his Brother Nicolas Herrick.

What others have with cheapnesse seene, and ease,
 In Varnisht maps ; by'th' helpe of Compasses ;
 Or reade in Volumes, and those Bookes (with all
 Their large Narrations, Incanonicall)
 Thou hast beheld those seas, and Countries farre ;
 And tel'st to us, what once they were, and are.
 So that with bold truth, thou canst now relate
 This Kingdome's fortune, and that Empires fate :
 Canst talke to us of Sharon ; where a spring
 Of Roses have an endlesse flourishing.

Of Sion, Sinai, Nebo, and with them,
Make knowne to us the now Jerusalem.
The Mount of Olives ; Calverie, and where
Is (and hast seene) thy Saviours Sepulcher.
So that the man that will but lay his eares,
As Inapostate, to the thing he heares,
Shall by his hearing quickly come to see
The truth of Travails lesse in bookes then Thee.

15

The Voice and Violl.

Rare is the voice it selfe ; but when we sing
To'th Lute or Violl, then 'tis ravishing.

Warre.

If Kings and kingdomes, once distracted be,
The sword of war must trie the Soveraignty.

A King and no King.

That Prince, who may doe nothing but what's just,
Rules but by leave, and takes his Crowne on trust.

Plots not still prosperous.

All are not ill Plots, that doe sometimes faile ;
Nor those false vows, which oft times don't prevaile

Flatterie.

What is't that wasts a Prince ? example shoves,
'Tis flatterie spends a King, more then his foes.

Excesse.

Excesse is sluttish : keepe the meane ; for why ?
Vertue's clean Conclave is sobriety.

The soul is the salt.

The body's salt, the soule is ; which when gon
The flesh soone sucks in putrifaction.

Foolishnesse.

In's Tusc'lanes, Tullie doth confesse,
No plague ther's like to foolishnesse.

Abstinence.

Against diseases here the strongest fence
Is the defensive vertue, Abstinence.

No danger to men desperate.

When feare admits no hope of safety, then
Necessity makes dastards valiant men.

Sauce for sorrowes.

Although our suffering meet with no reliefe,
An equall mind is the best sauce for grieve.

To Cupid.

I have a leaden, thou a shaft of gold ;
Thou kil'st with heate, and I strike dead with cold.
Let's trie of us who shall the first expire ;
Or thou by frost, or I by quenchlesse fire :
Extreames are fatall, where they once doe strike,
And bring t'h' heart destruction both alike.

Distrust.

What ever men for Loyalty pretend,
'Tis Wisdomes part to doubt a faithfull friend.

The mount of the Muses.

After thy labour take thine ease,
Here with the sweet Pierides.
But if so be that men will not
Give thee the Laurell Crowne for lot ;
Be yet assur'd, thou shalt have one
Not subject to corruption.

On Himselfe.

Il'e write no more of Love ; but now repent
Of all those times that I in it have spent.
Ile write no more of life ; but wish twas ended,
And that my dust was to the earth commended.

To his Booke.

Goe thou forth my booke, though late ;
Yet be timely fortunate.
It may chance good-luck may send
Thee a kinsman, or a friend,
That may harbour thee, when I,
With my fates neglected lye.
If thou know'st not where to dwell,
See, the fier's by : Farewell.

The end of his worke.

Part of the worke remaines ; one part is past :
And here my ship rides having Anchor cast:

To Crowne it.

My wearied Barke, O Let it now be Crown'd !
The Haven reacht to which I first was bound.

On Himselfe.

The worke is done : young men, and maidens set
 Upon my curles the Mirtle Coronet,
 Washt with sweet ointments ; Thus at last I come
 To suffer in the Muses Martyrdome :
 But with this comfort, if my blood be shed,
 The Muses will weare blackes, when I am dead.

The pillar of Fame.

Fames pillar here, at last, we set,
 Out-during Marble, Brasse, or Jet,
 Charm'd and enchanted so,
 As to withstand the blow
 Of overthrow :
 Nor shall the seas,
 Or OUTRAGES
 Of storms orebear
 What we up-rear,
 Tho Kingdoms fal,
 This pillar never shall
 Decline or waste at all ;
 But stand for ever by his owne
 Firme and well fixt foundation.

10

To his Book's end this last line he'd have plac't,
Jocond his Muse was ; but his Life was chaste.

FINIS.

The pillar of Fame. 10 Tho Kingdoms fal] Misprinted Tho Kingdom fals

HIS Noble Numbers :
OR,
His pious Pieces.

His Confession.

Look how our foule Dayes do exceed our faire ;
And as our bad, more then our good Works are :
Ev'n so those Lines, pen'd by my wanton Wit,
Treble the number of these good I've writ.
Things precious are least num'rous : Men are prone      5
To do ten Bad, for one Good Action.

His Prayer for Absolution.

For Those my unbaptized Rhimes,
Writ in my wild unhallowed Times ;
For every sentence, clause and word,
That's not inlaid with Thee, (my Lord)
Forgive me God, and blot each Line      5
Out of my Book, that is not Thine.
But if, 'mongst all, thou find'st here one
Worthy thy Benediction ;
That One of all the rest, shall be
The Glory of my Work, and Me.      10

To finde God.

Weigh me the Fire ; or, canst thou find
A way to measure out the Wind ;
Distinguish all those Floods that are
Mixt in that watrie Theater ;
And tast thou them as saltlesse there,      5
As in their Channell first they were.

Tell me the People that do keep
 Within the Kingdomes of the Deep ;
 Or fetch me back that Cloud againe,
 Beshiver'd into seeds of Raine ; 10
 Tell me the motes, dust, sands, and speares
 Of Corn, when Summer shakes his eares ;
 Shew me that world of Starres, and whence
 They noiselesse spill their Influence :
 This if thou canst ; then shew me Him 15
 That rides the glorious Cherubim.

What God is.

God is above the sphere of our esteem,
 And is the best known, not defining Him.

Upon God.

God is not onely said to be
 An Ens, but Supraentitie.

Mercy and Love.

God hath two wings, which He doth ever move,
 The one is Mercy, and the next is Love :
 Under the first the Sinners ever trust ;
 And with the last he still directs the Just.

Gods Anger without Affection.

God when He's angry here with any one,
 His wrath is free from perturbation ;
 And when we think His looks are sowre and grim,
 The alteration is in us, not Him.

God not to be comprehended.

'Tis hard to finde God, but to comprehend
 Him, as He is, is labour without end.

Gods part.

Prayers and Praises are those spotlesse two-
Lambs, by the Law, which God requires as due.

Affliction.

God n'ere afflicts us more then our desert,
Though He may seem to over-act His part :
Sometimes He strikes us more then flesh can beare ;
But yet still lesse then Grace can suffer here.

Three fatall Sisters.

Three fatall Sisters wait upon each sin ;
First, Fear and Shame without, then Guilt within.

Silence.

Suffer thy legs, but not thy tongue to walk :
God, the most Wise, is sparing of His talk.

Mirth.

True mirth resides not in the smiling skin :
The sweetest solace is to act no sin.

Loading and unloading.

God loads, and unloads, (thus His work begins)
To load with blessings, and unload from sins.

Gods Mercy.

Gods boundlesse mercy is (to sinfull man)
Like to the ever-wealthy Ocean :
Which though it sends forth thousand streams, 'tis ne're
Known, or els seen to be the emptier :
And though it takes all in, 'tis yet no more
Full, and fild-full, then when full-fild before.

Prayers must have Poise.

God He rejects all Prayers that are sleight,
And want their Poise: words ought to have their weight.

To God: an Anthem, sung in the Chappell at White-Hall, before the King.

- Verse.* My God, I'm wounded by my sin,
And sore without, and sick within :
- Ver. Chor.* I come to Thee, in hope to find
Salve for my body, and my mind.
- Verse.* In Gilead though no Balme be found, 5
To ease this smart, or cure this wound ;
- Ver. Chor.* Yet, Lord, I know there is with Thee
All saving health, and help for me.
- Verse.* Then reach Thou forth that hand of Thine,
'That powres in oyle, as well as wine. 10
- Ver. Chor.* And let it work, for I'll endure
The utmost smart, so Thou wilt cure.

Upon God.

God is all fore-part ; for, we never see
Any part backward in the Deitie.

Calling, and correcting.

God is not onely mercifull, to call
Men to repent, but when He strikes withall.

No escaping the scourging.

God scourgeth some severely, some He spares ;
But all in smart have lesse, or greater shares.

The Rod.

Gods Rod doth watch while men do sleep ; & then
The Rod doth sleep, while vigilant are men.

God has a twofold part.

God when for sin He makes His Children smart,
His own He acts not, but anothers part :
But when by stripes He saves them, then 'tis known,
He comes to play the part that is His own.

God is One.

God, as He is most Holy knowne ;
So He is said to be most One.

Persecutions profitable.

Afflictions they most profitable are
To the beholder, and the sufferer :
Bettering them both, but by a double straine,
The first by patience, and the last by paine.

To God.

Do with me, God ! as Thou didst deal with John,
(Who writ that heavenly Revelation)
Let me (like him) first cracks of thunder heare ;
Then let the Harps enchantments strike mine eare ;
Here give me thornes ; there, in thy Kingdome, set
Upon my head the golden coronet ;
There give me day ; but here my dreadfull night :
My sackcloth here ; but there my Stole of white.

5

Whips.

God has his whips here to a twofold end,
The bad to punish, and the good t'amend.

Gods Providence.

If all transgressfons here should have their pay,
What need there then be of a reckning day :
If God should punish no sin, here, of men,
His Providence who would not question then ?

Temptation.

Those Saints, which God loves best,
The Devill tempts not least.

His Ejaculation to God.

My God ! looke on me with thine eye
Of pittie, not of scrutinie ;
For if thou dost, thou then shalt see
Nothing but loathsome sores in mee.
O then ! for mercies sake, behold 5
These my irruptions manifold ;
And heale me with thy looke, or touch :
But if thou wilt not deigne so much,
Because I'me odious in thy sight,
Speak but the word, and cure me quite. 10

Gods gifts not soone granted.

God heares us when we pray, but yet defers
His gifts, to exercise Petitioners :
And though a while He makes Requesters stay,
With Princely hand He'l recompence delay.

Persecutions purifie.

God strikes His Church, but 'tis to this intent,
To make, not marre her, by this punishment :
So where He gives the bitter Pills, be sure,
'Tis not to poyson, but to make thee pure.

Pardon.

God pardons those, who do through frailty sin ;
But never those that persevere therein.

An Ode of the Birth of our Saviour.

1. In Numbers, and but these few,
 I sing Thy Birth, Oh JESU !
 Thou prettie Babie, borne here,
 With sup'rabundant scorn here :
 Who for Thy Princely Port here, 5
                                   Hadst for Thy place
                                   Of Birth, a base
 Out-stable for thy Court here.

2. Instead of neat Inclosures
 Of inter-woven Osiers ; 10
 Instead of fragrant Posies
 Of Daffadills, and Roses ;
 Thy cradle, Kingly Stranger,
                                   As Gospell tells,
                                   Was nothing els, 15
 But, here, a homely manger.

3. But we with Silks, (not Cruells)
 With sundry precious Jewells,
 And Lilly-work will dresse Thee ;
 And as we dispossesse thee 20
 Of clouts, wee'l make a chamber,
                                   Sweet Babe, for Thee,
                                   Of Ivorie,
 And plaister'd round with Amber.

4. The Jewes they did disdaine Thee, 25
 But we will entertaine Thee
 With Glories to await here
 Upon Thy Princely State here,
 And more for love, then pittie.
                                   From yeere to yeere 30
                                   Wee'l make Thee, here,
 A Free-born of our Citie.

Lip-labour.

In the old Scripture I have often read,
 The calfe without meale n'ere was offered ;
 To figure to us, nothing more then this,
 Without the heart, lip-labour nothing is.

The Heart.

In Prayer the Lips ne're act the winning part,
Without the sweet concurrence of the Heart.

Eare-rings.

Why wore th' Egyptians Jewells in the Eare?
But for to teach us, all the grace is there,
When we obey, by acting what we heare.

Sin seen.

When once the sin has fully acted been,
Then is the horror of the trespass seen.

Upon Time.

Time was upon
The wing, to flie away ;
And I cal'd on
Him but a while to stay ;
But he'd be gone, 5
For ought that I could say.

He held out then,
A Writing, as he went ;
And askt me, when
False man would be content 10
To pay agen,
What God and Nature lent.

An houre-glasse,
In which were sands but few,
As he did passe, 15
He shew'd, and told me too,
Mine end near was,
And so away he flew.

His Petition.

If warre, or want shall make me grow so poore,
As for to beg my bread from doore to doore ;
Lord ! let me never act that beggars part,
Who hath thee in his mouth, not in his heart.
He who asks almes in that so sacred Name,
Without due reverence, playes the cheaters game.

To God.

Thou hast promis'd, Lord, to be
With me in my miserie ;
Suffer me to be so bold,
As to speak, Lord, say and hold.

His Letanie, to the Holy Spirit.

1. In the houre of my distresse,
When temptations me oppresse,
And when I my sins confesse,
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
2. When I lie within my bed,
Sick in heart, and sick in head,
And with doubts discomfited,
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
3. When the house doth sigh and weep,
And the world is drown'd in sleep,
Yet mine eyes the watch do keep ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
4. When the artlesse Doctor sees
No one hope, but of his Fees,
And his skill runs on the lees ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
5. When his Potion and his Pill,
His, or none, or little skill,
Meet for nothing, but to kill ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me !

5

10

15

20

6. When the passing-bell doth tole,
And the Furies in a shole
Come to fright a parting soule ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
7. When the tapers now burne blew, 25
And the comforters are few,
And that number more then true ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
8. When the Priest his last hath praid,
And I nod to what is said, 30
'Cause my speech is now decayd ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
9. When (God knowes) I'm tost about,
Either with despaire, or doubt ;
Yet before the glasse be out, 35
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
10. When the Tempter me pursu'th
With the sins of all my youth,
And halfe damns me with untruth ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me ! 40
11. When the flames and hellish cries
Fright mine eares, and fright mine eyes,
And all terrors me surprize ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me !
12. When the Judgment is reveal'd, 45
And that open'd which was seal'd,
When to Thee I have appeal'd ;
Sweet Spirit comfort me !

Thanksgiving.

Thanksgiving for a former, doth invite
God to bestow a second benefit.

Cock-crow.

Bell-man of Night, if I about shall go
For to denie my Master, do thou crow.
Thou stop'st S. Peter in the midst of sin ;
Stay me, by crowing, ere I do begin ;
Better it is, premonish'd, for to shun
A sin, then fall to weeping when 'tis done.

All things run well for the Righteous.

Adverse and prosperous Fortunes both work on
Here, for the righteous mans salvation :
Be he oppos'd, or be he not withstood,
All serve to th' Augmentation of his good.

Paine ends in Pleasure.

Afflictions bring us joy in times to come,
When sins, by stripes. to us grow wearisome.

To God.

I'll come, I'll creep, (though Thou dost threat)
Humbly unto Thy Mercy-seat :
When I am there, this then I'll do,
Give Thee a Dart, and Dagger too ;
Next, when I have my faults confest,
Naked I'll shew a sighing brest ;
Which if that can't Thy pittie wooe,
Then let Thy Justice do the rest,
And strike it through.

5

A Thanksgiving to God, for his House.

Lord, Thou hast given me a cell
Wherein to dwell,
A little house, whose humble Roof
Is weather-proof ;
Under the sparres of which I lie
Both soft, and drie ;
Where Thou my chamber for to ward
Hast set a Guard

Of harmlesse thoughts, to watch and keep
     Me, while I sleep. 10
 Low is my porch, as is my Fate,
     Both void of state ;
 And yet the threshold of my doore
     Is worn by'th poore,
 Who thither come, and freely get 15
     Good words, or meat :
 Like as my Parlour, so my Hall
     And Kitchin's small :
 A little Butterie, and therein
     A little Byn, 20
 Which keeps my little loafe of Bread
     Unchipt, unflead :
 Some brittle sticks of Thorne or Briar
     Make me a fire,
 Close by whose living coale I sit, 25
     And glow like it.
 Lord, I confesse too, when I dine,
     The Pulse is Thine,
 And all those other Bits, that bee
     There plac'd by Thee ; 30
 The Worts, the Purslain, and the Messe
     Of Water-cresse,
 Which of Thy kindnesse Thou hast sent ;
     And my content
 Makes those, and my beloved Beet, 35
     To be more sweet.
 'Tis Thou that crown'st my glittering Hearth
     With guiltlesse mirth ;
 And giv'st me Wassaile Bowles to drink,
     Spic'd to the brink. 40
 Lord, 'tis thy plenty-dropping hand,
     That soiles my land ;
 And giv'st me, for my Bushell sowne,
     Twice ten for one :
 Thou mak'st my teeming Hen to lay 45
     Her egg each day :
 Besides my healthfull Ewes to beare
     Me twins each yeare :
 The while the conduits of my Kine
     Run Creame, (for Wine.) 50

All these, and better Thou dost send
    Me, to this end,
That I should render, for my part,
    A thankfull heart ;
Which, fir'd with incense, I resigne, 55
    As wholly Thine ;
But the acceptance, that must be,
    My Christ, by Thee.

To God.

Make, make me Thine, my gracious God,
Or with thy staffe, or with thy rod ;
And be the blow too what it will,
Lord, I will kisse it, though it kill :
Beat me, bruise me, rack me, rend me, 5
Yet, in torments, I'll commend Thee :
Examine me with fire, and prove me
To the full, yet I will love Thee :
Nor shalt thou give so deep a wound,
But I as patient will be found. 10

Another, to God.

Lord, do not beat me,
Since I do sob and crie,
And swowne away to die,
    Ere Thou dost threat me.

Lord, do not scourge me, 5
If I by lies and oaths
Have soil'd my selfe, or cloaths,
    But rather purge me.

None truly happy here.

Happy's that man, to whom God gives
A stock of Goods, whereby he lives
Neer to the wishes of his heart :
No man is blest through ev'ry part.

To his ever-loving God.

Can I not come to Thee, my God, for these
 So very-many-meeting hindrances,
 That slack my pace ; but yet not make me stay ?
 Who slowly goes, rids (in the end) his way.
 Cleere Thou my paths, or shorten Thou my miles, 5
 Remove the barrs, or lift me o're the stiles :
 Since rough the way is, help me when I call,
 And take me up ; or els prevent the fall.
 I kenn my home ; and it affords some ease,
 To see far off the smoaking Villages. 10
 Fain would I rest ; yet covet not to die,
 For feare of future-biting penurie :
 No, no, (my God) Thou know'st my wishes be
 To leave this life, not loving it, but Thee.

Another.

Thou bidst me come ; I cannot come ; for why,
 Thou dwel'st aloft, and I want wings to flie.
 To mount my Soule, she must have pineons given ;
 For, 'tis no easie way from Earth to Heaven.

To Death.

Thou bidst me come away,
 And I'le no longer stay,
 Then for to shed some teares
 For faults of former yeares ;
 And to repent some crimes, 5
 Done in the present times :
 And next, to take a bit
 Of Bread, and Wine with it :
 To d'on my robes of love,
 Fit for the place above ; 10
 To gird my loynes about
 With charity throughout ,
 And so to travaile hence
 With feet of innocence :
 These done, I'le onely crie 15
God mercy ; and so die.

Neutrality loathsome.

God will have all, or none ; serve Him, or fall
Down before Baal, Bel, or Belial :
Either be hot, or cold : God doth despise,
Abhorre, and spew out all Neutralities.

Welcome what comes.

Whatever comes, let's be content withall :
Among Gods Blessings, there is no one small.

To his angrie God.

Through all the night
Thou dost me fright,
And hold'st mine eyes from sleeping ;
And day, by day,
My Cup can say, 5
My wine is mixt with weeping.

Thou dost my bread
With ashes knead,
Each evening and each morrow :
Mine eye and eare 10
Do see, and heare
The coming in of sorrow.

Thy scourge of steele,
(Ay me !) I feele,
Upon me beating ever : 15
While my sick heart
With dismall smart
Is disacquainted never.

Long, long, I'm sure,
This can't endure ; 20
But in short time 'twill please Thee,
My gentle God,
To burn the rod,
O strike so as to ease me.

Patience, or Comforts in Crosses.

Abundant plagues I late have had,
 Yet none of these have made me sad :
 For why, my Saviour, with the sense
 Of suffering gives me patience.

Eternitie.

1. O Yeares ! and Age ! Farewell :
     Behold I go,
     Where I do know
     Infinitie to dwell.
2. And these mine eyes shall see . 5
     All times, how they
     Are lost i' th' Sea
     Of vast Eternitie.
3. Where never Moone shall sway 10
     The Starres ; but she,
     And Night, shall be
     Drown'd in one endlesse Day.

To his Saviour, a Child ; a Present, by a child.

Go prettie child, and beare this Flower
 Unto thy little Saviour ;
 And tell Him, by that Bud now blown,
 He is the Rose of Sharon known :
 When thou hast said so, stick it there 5
 Upon his Bibb, or Stomacher :
 And tell Him, (for good handsell too)
 That thou hast brought a Whistle new,
 Made of a clean strait oaten reed,
 To charme his cries, (at time of need :) 10
 Tell Him, for Corall, thou hast none ;
 But if thou hadst, He sho'd have one ;
 But poore thou art, and knowne to be
 Even as monillesse, as He.
 Lastly, if thou canst win a kisse 15
 From those mellifluous lips of his ;
 Then never take a second on,
 To spoile the first impression.

The New-yeeres Gift.

Let others look for Pearle and Gold,
Tissues, or Tabbies manifold :
One onely lock of that sweet Hay
Whereon the blessed Babie lay,
Or one poore Swadling-clout, shall be
The richest New-yeeres Gift to me.

To God.

If any thing delight me for to print
My Book, 'tis this ; that Thou, my God, art in't.

God, and the King.

How am I bound to Two ! God, who doth give
The mind ; the King, the meanes whereby I live.

Gods mirth, Mans mourning.

Where God is merry, there write down thy fears :
What He with laughter speaks, heare thou with tears.

Honours are hindrances.

Give me Honours : what are these,
But the pleasing hindrances ?
Stiles, and stops, and stayes, that come
In the way 'twixt me, and home :
Cleer the walk, and then shall I
To my heaven lesse run, then flie.

The Parasceve, or Preparation.

To a Love-Feast we both invited are :
The figur'd Damask, or pure Diaper,
Over the golden Altar now is spread,
With Bread, and Wine, and Vessells furnished ;
The sacred Towell, and the holy Eure
Are ready by, to make the Guests all pure :
Let's go (my Alma) yet e're we receive,
Fit, fit it is, we have our Parasceve.
Who to that sweet Bread unprepar'd doth come
Better he starv'd, then but to tast one crumme.

10

To God.

God gives not onely corne, for need,
 But likewise sup'rabundant seed ;
 Bread for our service, bread for shew ;
 Meat for our meales, and fragments too :
 He gives not poorly, taking some
 Between the finger, and the thumb ;
 But, for our glut, and for our store,
 Fine flowre prest down, and running o're.

A will to be working.

Although we cannot turne the fervent fit
 Of sin, we must strive 'gainst the streame of it :
 And howsoe're we have the conquest mist ;
 'Tis for our glory, that we did resist.

Christs part.

Christ, He requires still, wheresoere He comes,
 To feed, or lodge, to have the best of Roomes :
 Give Him the choice ; grant Him the nobler part
 Of all the House : the best of all's the Heart.

Riches and Poverty.

God co'd have made all rich, or all men poore ;
 But why He did not, let me tell wherefore :
 Had all been rich, where then had Patience been ?
 Had all been poore, who had His Bounty seen ?

Sobriety in Search.

To seek of God more then we well can find,
 Argues a strong distemper of the mind.

Almes.

Give, if thou canst, an Almes ; if not, afford,
 Instead of that, a sweet and gentle word :
God crowns our goodnesse, where so ere He sees,
On our part, wanting all abilities.

Almes. 3 where so ere] when 1647 : corr. in orig. Errata

To his Conscience.

Can I not sin, but thou wilt be
 My private Protonotarie ?
 Can I not wooe thee to passe by
 A short and sweet iniquity ?
 I'll cast a mist and cloud, upon 5
 My delicate transgression,
 So utter dark, as that no eye
 Shall see the hug'd impietie :
Gifts blind the wise, and bribes do please,
 And winde all other witnesses : 10
 And wilt not thou, with gold, be ti'd
 To lay thy pen and ink aside ?
 That in the mirk and tonguelesse night,
 Wanton I may, and thou not write ?
 It will not be : And, therefore, now, 15
 For times to come, I'll make this Vow,
 From aberrations to live free ;
 So I'll not feare the Judge, or thee.

To his Saviour.

Lord, I confesse, that Thou alone art able
 To purifie this my Augean stable :
 Be the Seas water, and the Land all Sope,
 Yet if Thy Bloud not wash me, there's no hope.

To God.

God is all-sufferance here ; here He doth show
 No Arrow nockt, onely a stringlesse Bow :
 His Arrowes flie ; and all his stones are hurl'd
 Against the wicked, in another world.

His Dreame.

I dreamt, last night, Thou didst transfuse
 Oyle from Thy Jarre, into my creuze ;
 And powring still, Thy wealthy store,
 The vessell full, did then run ore :

Me thought, I did Thy bounty chide,
 To see the waste ; but 'twas repli'd
 By Thee, Deare God, God gives man seed
 Oft-times for wast, as for his need.
 Then I co'd say, that house is bare,
 That has not bread, and some to spare.

10

Gods Bounty.

Gods Bounty, that ebbs lesse and lesse,
 As men do wane in thankfulnessse.

To his sweet Saviour.

Night hath no wings, to him that cannot sleep ;
 And Time seems then, not for to flie, but creep ;
 Slowly her chariot drives, as if that she
 Had broke her wheele, or crackt her axeltree.
 Just so it is with me, who list'ning, pray
 The winds, to blow the tedious night away ;
 That I might see the cheerfull peeping day.
 Sick is my heart ; O Saviour ! do Thou please
 To make my bed soft in my sicknesses :
 Lighten my candle, so that I beneath
 Sleep not for ever in the vaults of death :
 Let me Thy voice betimes i' th morning heare ;
 Call, and I'll come ; say Thou, the when, and where :
 Draw me, but first, and after Thee I'll run,
 And make no one stop, till my race be done

10

15

His Creed.

I do believe, that die I must,
 And be return'd from out my dust :
 I do believe, that when I rise,
 Christ I shall see, with these same eyes :
 I do believe, that I must come,
 With others, to the dreadfull Doome :
 I do believe, the bad must goe
 From thence, to everlasting woe :

5

I do believe, the good, and I,
Shall live with Him eternally; 10
I do believe, I shall inherit
Heaven, by Christs mercies, not my merit :
I do believe, the One in Three,
And Three in perfect Unitie :
Lastly, that JESUS is a Deed 15
Of Gift from God : And heres my Creed.

Temptations.

Temptations hurt not, though they have accesse:
Satan o'recomes none, but by willingnesse.

The Lamp.

When a mans Faith is frozen up, as dead ;
Then is the Lamp and oyle extinguished.

Sorrows.

Sorrows our portion are : Ere hence we goe,
Crosses we must have ; or, hereafter woe.

Penitencie.

A mans transgression God do's then remit,
When man he makes a Penitent for it.

The Dirge of Jephthahs Daughter : sung by the Virgins.

1. O thou, the wonder of all dayes !
O Paragon, and Pearle of praise !
O Virgin-martyr, ever blest
Above the rest
Of ail the Maiden-Trainee ! We come,
And bring fresh strewings to thy Tombe.
2. Thus, thus, and thus we compasse round
Thy harmlesse and unhaunted Ground ;
And as we sing thy Dirge, we will
The Daffadill,
And other flowers, lay upon
(The Altar of our love) thy Stone.

3. Thou wonder of all Maids, li'st here,
 Of Daughters all, the Deereſt Deere ;
 The eye of Virgins ; nay, the Queen 15
   Of this ſmooth Green,
 And all ſweet Meades ; from whence we get
 The Primroſe, and the Violet.

4. Too ſoon, too deere did Jephthah buy,
 By thy ſad loſſe, our liberty : 20
 His was the Bond and Cov'nant, yet
   Thou paid'ſt the debt,
 Lamented Maid ! he won the day,
 But for the conqueſt thou didſt pay.

5. Thy Father brought with him along 25
 The Olive branch, and Victors Song :
 He ſlew the Ammonites, we know,
   But to thy woe ;
 And in the purchase of our Peace,
 The Cure was worſe then the Diſeaſe. 30

6. For which obedient zeale of thine,
 We offer here, before thy Shrine,
 Our ſighs for Storax, teares for Wine ;
   And to make fine,
 And freſh thy Herſe-cloth, we will, here, 35
 Foure times beſtrew thee ev'ry yeere.

7. Receive, for this thy praiſe, our teares :
 Receive this offering of our Haires :
 Receive theſe Chriſtall Vialls fil'd
   With teares, diſtil'd 40
 From teeming eyes ; to theſe we bring,
 Each Maid, her ſilver Filleting,

8. To guild thy Tombe ; beſides, theſe Caules,
 Theſe Laces, Ribbands, and theſe Faules,
 Theſe Veiles, wherewith we uſe to hide 45
   The Baſhfull Bride,
 When we conduct her to her Groome :
 All, all we lay upon thy Tombe.

9. No more, no more, ſince thou art dead,
 Shall we ere bring coy Brides to bed ; 50

No more, at yearly Festivalls
                                     We Cowslip balls,
 Or chaines of Columbines shall make,
 For this, or that occasions sake.

10. No, no ; our Maiden-pleasures be 55
 Wrapt in the winding-sheet, with thee :
 'Tis we are dead, though not i' th grave :
                                     Or, if we have
 One seed of life left, 'tis to keep
 A Lent for thee, to fast and weep. 60
11. Sleep in thy peace, thy bed of Spice ;
 And make this place all Paradise :
 May Sweets grow here ! & smoke from hence,
                                     Fat Frankincense :
 Let Balme, and Cassia send their scent 65
 From out thy Maiden-Monument.
12. May no Wolfe howle, or Screech-Owle stir
 A wing about thy Sepulcher !
 No boysterous winds, or stormes, come hither,
                                     To starve, or wither 70
 Thy soft sweet Earth ! but (like a spring)
 Love keep it ever flourishing.
13. May all shie Maids, at wonted hours,
 Come forth, to strew thy Tombe with flow'rs :
 May Virgins, when they come to mourn, 75
                                     Male-Incense burn
 Upon thine Altar ! then return,
 And leave thee sleeping in thy Urn.

To God, on his sicknesse.

What though my Harp, and Violl be
 Both hung upon the Willow-tree ?
 What though my bed be now my grave,
 And for my house I darknesse have ?
 What though my healthfull dayes are fled, 5
 And I lie numbred with the dead ?
 Yet I have hope, by Thy great power,
 To spring ; though now a wither'd flower.

Sins loath'd, and yet lov'd.

*Shame checks our first attempts ; but then 'tis prov'd
Sins first dislik'd, are after that belov'd.*

Sin.

Sin leads the way, but as it goes, it feels
The following plague still treading on his heels.

Upon God.

God when He takes my goods and chattels hence
Gives me a portion, giving patience :
What is in God is God ; if so it be,
He patience gives ; He gives himselfe to me.

Faith.

What here we hope for, we shall once inherit :
By Faith we all walk here, not by the Spirit.

Humility.

Humble we must be, if to Heaven we go :
High is the roof there ; but the gate is low :
When e're thou speak'st, look with a lowly eye :
Grace is increased by humility.

Teares.

Our present Teares here (not our present laughter)
Are but the handsells of our joyes hereafter.

Sin and Strife.

After true sorrow for our sinnes, our strife
Must last with Satan, to the end of life.

An Ode, or Psalme, to God.

Deer God,
If thy smart Rod
Here did not make me sorrie,
I sho'd not be
With Thine, or Thee, 5
In Thy eternall Glorie.

But since
Thou didst convince
My sinnes, by gently striking ;
Add still to those 10
First stripes, new blowe.,
According to Thy liking.

Feare me,
Or scourging teare me ;
That thus from vices driven, 15
I may from Hell
Flie up, to dwell
With Thee, and Thine in Heaven.

Graces for Children.

What God gives, and what we take,
'Tis a gift for Christ His sake ;
Be the meale of Beanes and Pease,
God be thank'd for those, and these .
Have we flesh, or have we fish. 5
All are Fragments from His dish.
He His Church save, and the King,
And our Peace here, like a Spring,
Make it ever flourishing.

God to be first serv'd.

Honour thy Parents ; but good manners call
Thee to adore thy God, the first of all.

Another Grace for a Child.

Here a little child I stand,
 Heaving up my either hand ;
 Cold as Paddocks though they be,
 Here I lift them up to Thee,
 For a Benizon to fall
 On our meat, and on us all. Amen.

A Christmas Caroll, sung to the King in the Presence at White-Hall.

Chor. What sweeter musick can we bring,
 Then a Caroll, for to sing
 The Birth of this our heavenly King?
 Awake the Voice ! Awake the String !
 Heart, Eare, and Eye, and every thing
 Awake ! the while the active Finger
 Runs division with the Singer.

From the Flourish they came to the Song.

1. Dark and dull night, flie hence away,
 And give the honour to this Day,
 That sees December turn'd to May.
2. If we may ask the reason, say ;
 The why, and wherefore all things here
 Seem like the Spring-time of the yeere ?
3. Why do's the chilling Winters morne
 Smile, like a field beset with corne ?
 Or smell, like to a Meade new-shorne,
 Thus, on the sudden ? 4. Come and see
 The cause, why things thus fragrant be :
 'Tis He is borne, whose quickning Birth
 Gives life and luster, publike mirth,
 To Heaven, and the under-Earth.

10

20

Chor. We see Him come, and know him ours,
 Who, with His Sun-shine, and His showers,
 Turnes all the patient ground to flowers.

1. The Darling of the world is come, 25
And fit it is, we finde a roome
To welcome Him. 2. The nobler part
Of all the house here, is the heart,

Chor. Which we will give Him ; and bequeath
This Hollie, and this Ivie Wreath, 30
To do Him honour ; who's our King,
And Lord of all this Revelling.

The Musicall Part was composed by
M. Henry Lawes.

The New-yeeres Gift, or Circumcisions Song, sung to the King in the Presence at White-Hall.

1. Prepare for Songs ; He's come, He's come ;
And be it sin here to be dumb,
And not with Lutes to fill the roome.
2. Cast Holy Water all about,
And have a care no fire gos out, 5
But 'cense the porch, and place throughout.
- 3 The Altars all on fier be ;
The Storax fries ; and ye may see,
How heart and hand do all agree,
To make things sweet. Chor. Yet all less sweet then He. 10
4. Bring Him along, most pious Priest,
And tell us then, when as thou seest
His gently-gliding, Dove-like eyes,
And hear'st His whimpr'ing, and His cries ;
How canst thou this Babe circumcise ? 15
5. Ye must not be more pitifull then wise ;
For, now unlesse ye see Him bleed,
Which makes the Bapti'me ; 'tis decreed,
The Birth is fruitlesse : Chor. Then the work God speed.

1. Touch gently, gently touch ; and here 20
 Spring Tulips up through all the yeere ;
 And from His sacred Bloud, here shed,
 May Roses grow, to crown His own deare Head.

Chor. Back, back again ; each thing is done
 With zeale alike, as 'twas begun ; 25
 Now singing, homeward let us carrie
 The Babe unto His Mother Marie ;
 And when we have the Child commended
 To her warm bosome, then our Rites are ended.

Composed by M. Henry Lawes.

Another New-yeeres Gift, or Song for the Circumcision.

1. Hence, hence prophane, and none appeare
 With any thing unhallowed, here :
 No jot of Leven must be found
 Conceal'd in this most holy Ground :
2. What is corrupt, or sowr'd with sin, 5
 Leave that without, then enter in ;
Chor. But let no Christmas mirth begin
 Before ye purge, and circumcise
 Your hearts, and hands, lips, eares, and eyes.
3. Then, like a perfum'd Altar, see 10
 That all things sweet, and clean may be :
 For, here's a Babe, that (like a Bride)
 Will blush to death, if ought be spi'd
 Ill-scenting, or unpurifi'd.
- Chor.* The room is cens'd : help, help t'invoke 15
 Heaven to come down, the while we choke
 The Temple, with a cloud of smoke.
4. Come then, and gently touch the Birth
 Of Him, who's Lord of Heav'n and Earth ;
5. And softly handle Him : y'ad need, 20
 Because the pretty Babe do's bleed.
 Poore-pittied Child ! Who from Thy Stall
 Bring'st, in Thy Blood, a Balm, that shall
 Be the best New-yeares Gift to all.

1. Let's blesse the Babe : And, as we sing
His praise ; so let us blesse the King : 25

Chor. Long may He live, till He hath told
His New-yeeres trebled to His old :
And, when that's done, to re-aspire
A new-borne Phoenix from His own chaste fire. 30

Gods Pardon.

When I shall sin, pardon my trespasse here ;
For, once in hell, none knowes Remission there.

Sin.

Sin once reacht up to Gods eternall Sphere,
And was committed, not remitted there.

Evill.

Evill no Nature hath ; the losse of good
Is that which gives to sin a livelihood.

The Star-Song : A Caroll to the King ; sung at White-Hall.

The Flourish of Musick : then followed the Song.

1. Tell us, thou cleere and heavenly Tongue,
Where is the Babe but lately sprung ?
Lies He the Lillie-banks among ?
2. Or say, if this new Birth of ours
Sleeps, laid within some Ark of Flowers, 5
Spangled with deaw-light ; thou canst cleere
All doubts, and manifest the where.
3. Declare to us, bright Star, if we shall seek
Him in the Mornings blushing cheek,
Or search the beds of Spices through, 10
To find him out ?

Star. No, this ye need not do ;
But only come, and see Him rest
A Princely Babe in's Mothers Brest.

Chor. He's seen, He's seen, why then a Round, 15
 Let's kisse the sweet and holy ground ;
 And all rejoyce, that we have found
A King, before conception crown'd.

4. Come then, come then, and let us bring
 Unto our prettie Twelfth-Tide King, 20
 Each one his severall offering ;

Chor. And when night comes, wee'l give Him wassailing :
 And that His treble Honours may be seen,
 Wee'l chuse Him King, and make His Mother Queen.

To God.

With golden Censers, and with Incense, here,
 Before Thy Virgin-Altar I appeare,
 To pay Thee that I owe, since what I see
 In, or without ; all, all belongs to Thee :
 Where shall I now begin to make, for one 5
 Least loane of Thine, half Restitution ?
 Alas ! I cannot pay a jot ; therefore
 I'le kisse the Tally, and confesse the score.
 Ten thousand Talents lent me, Thou dost write :
 'Tis true, my God ; but I can't pay one mite. 10

To his deere God.

I'le hope no more,
 For things that will not come :
 And, if they do, they prove but cumbersome ;
 Wealth brings much woe :
 And, since it fortunes so ; 5
 'Tis better to be poore,
 Then so t'abound,
 As to be drown'd,
 Or overwhelm'd with store.

Pale care, avant, 10
 I'le learn to be content
 With that small stock, Thy Bounty gave or lent.
 What may conduce
 To my most healthfull use,

Almighty God me grant ;
 But that, or this,
 That hurtfull is,
 Denie Thy suppliant. 15

To God, his good will.

Gold I have none, but I present my need,
 O Thou, that crown'st the will, where wants the deed.
 Where Rams are wanting, or large Bullocks thighs,
 There a poor Lamb's a plenteous sacrifice.
 Take then his Vowes, who, if he had it, would 5
 Devote to Thee, both incense, myrrhe, and gold,
 Upon an Altar rear'd by Him, and crown'd
 Both with the Rubie, Pearle, and Diamond.

On Heaven.

Permit mine eyes to see
 Part, or the whole of Thee,
 O happy place !
 Where all have Grace,
 And Garlands shar'd, 5
 For their reward ;
 Where each chast Soule
 In long white stole,
 And Palmes in hand,
 Do ravisht stand ; 10
 So in a ring,
 The praises sing
 Of Three in One,
 That fill the Throne ;
 While Harps, and Violls then 15
 To Voices, say, Amen.

The Summe, and the Satisfaction.

Last night I drew up mine Account,
 And found my Debits to amount
 To such a height, as for to tell
 How I sho'd pay, 's impossible :
 Well, this I'll do ; my mighty score 5
 Thy mercy-seat I'll lay before ;

But therewithall I'll bring the Band,
 Which, in full force, did daring stand,
 Till my Redeemer (on the Tree)
 Made void for millions, as for me. 10
 Then, if Thou bidst me pay, or go
 Unto the prison, I'll say, no ;
Christ having paid, I nothing owe :
 For, this is sure, the Debt is dead
 By Law, the Bond once cancelled. 15

Good men afflicted most.

God makes not good men wantons, but doth bring
 Them to the field, and, there, to skirmishing ;
 With trialls those, with terrors these He proves,
 And hazards those most, whom the most He loves ;
 For Sceva, darts ; for Cocles, dangers ; thus 5
 He finds a fire for mighty Mutius ;
 Death for stout Cato ; and besides all these,
 A poyson too He has for Socrates ;
 Torments for high Attilius ; and, with want,
 Brings in Fabricius for a Combatant : 10
 But, bastard-slips, and such as He dislikes,
 He never brings them once to th' push of Pikes.

Good Christians

Play their offensive and defensive parts,
 Till they be hid o're with a wood of darts.

The Will the cause of Woe.

When man is punisht, he is plagued still,
 Not for the fault of Nature, but of will.

To Heaven.

Open thy gates
 To him, who weeping waits,
 And might come in,
 But that held back by sin.
 Let mercy be 5
 So kind, to set me free,
 And I will strait
 Come in, or force the gate.

The Recompence.

All I have lost, that co'd be rapt from me ;
And fare it well : yet Herrick, if so be
Thy Dearest Saviour renders thee but one
Smile, that one smile's full restitution.

To God.

Pardon me God, (once more I Thee intreat)
That I have plac'd Thee in so meane a seat,
Where round about Thou seest but all things vaine,
Uncircumcis'd, unseason'd, and prophane.
But as Heavens publike and immortall Eye
Looks on the filth, but is not soil'd thereby ;
So Thou, my God, may'st on this impure look,
But take no tincture from my sinfull Book :
Let but one beame of Glory on it shine,
And that will make me, and my Work divine.

To God.

Lord, I am like to Misletoc,
Which has no root, and cannot grow,
Or prosper, but by that same tree
It clings about ; so I by Thee.
What need I then to feare at all,
So long as I about Thee craule ?
But if that Tree sho'd fall, and die,
Tumble shall heav'n, and down will I.

His wish to God.

I would to God, that mine old age might have
Before my last, but here a living grave,
Some one poore Almes-house ; there to lie, or stir,
Ghost-like, as in my meaner sepulcher ;
A little piggin, and a pipkin by,
To hold things fitting my necessity ;
Which, rightly us'd, both in their time and place,
Might me excite to fore, and after-grace.
Thy Crosse, my Christ, fixt 'fore mine eyes sho'd be,
Not to adore that, but to worship Thee.
So, here the remnant of my dayes I'd spend,
Reading Thy Bible, and my Book ; so end.

Satan.

When we 'gainst Satan stoutly fight, the more
 He teares and tugs us, then he did before ;
 Neglecting once to cast a frown on those
 Whom ease makes his, without the help of blowes.

Hell.

Hell is no other, but a soundlesse pit,
 Where no one beame of comfort peeps in it.

The way.

When I a ship see on the Seas,
 Cuft with those watrie savages,
 And therewithall, behold, it hath
 In all that way no beaten path ;
 Then, with a wonder, I confesse,
 Thou art our way i'th wilderness :
 And while we blunder in the dark,
 Thou art our candle there, or spark.

Great grief, great glory.

The lesse our sorrowes here and sufferings cease,
 The more our Crownes of Glory there increase.

Hell.

Hell is the place where whipping-cheer abounds,
 But no one Jailor there to wash the wounds.

The Bell-man.

Along the dark, and silent night,
 With my Lantern, and my Light,
 And the tinkling of my Bell,
 Thus I walk, and this I tell ;

Death and dreadfulness call on,
 To the gen'rall Session ;
 To whose dismall Barre, we there
 All accompts must come to cleere :
 Scores of sins w'ave made here many,
 Wip't out few, (God knowes) if any.
 Rise ye Debtors then, and fall
 To make paiment, while I call.
 Ponder this, when I am gone ;
 By the clock 'tis almost One.
 10

The goodnesse of his God.

When Winds and Seas do rage,
 And threaten to undo me,
 Thou dost their wrath asswage
 If I but call unto Thee.
 A mighty storm last night
 Did seek my soule to swallow,
 But by the peep of light
 A gentle calme did follow.
 What need I then despaire,
 Though ills stand round about me ;
 Since mischiefs neither dare
 To bark, or bite, without Thee?
 10

The Widdowes teares : or, Dirge of Dorcas.

Come pitie us, all ye, who see
 Our Harps hung on the Willow-tree :
 Come pitie us, ye Passers by,
 Who see, or heare poor Widdowes crie :
 Come pitie us ; and bring your eares,
 And eyes, to pitie Widdowes teares.
Chor. And when you are come hither ;
 Then we will keep
 A Fast, and weep
 Our eyes out all together.
 10

2. For Tabitha, who dead lies here,
 Clean washt, and laid out for the Beere;
 O modest Matrons, weep and waile!
 For now the Corne and Wine must faile:
 The Basket and the Bynn of Bread, 15
 Wherewith so many soules were fed
Chor. Stand empty here for ever:
                     And ah! the Poore,
                     At thy worne Doore,
                     Shall be releevd never. 20
3. Woe worth the Time, woe worth the day,
 That reav'd us of thee Tabitha!
 For we have lost, with thee, the Meale,
 The Bits, the Morsells, and the deale
 Of gentle Paste, and yeelding Dow, 25
 That Thou on Widdowes didst bestow.
Chor. All's gone, and Death hath taken Away from us
                     Our Maundie; thus,
                     Thy Widdowes stand forsaken. 30
4. Ah Dorcas, Dorcas! now adieu
 We bid the Creuse and Pannier too:
 I and the flesh, for and the fish,
 Dol'd to us in That Lordly dish.
 We take our leaves now of the Looome, 35
 From whence the house-wives cloth did come:
Chor. The web affords now nothing;
                     Thou being dead,
                     The woosted thred
                     Is cut, that made us clothing. 40
5. Farewell the Flax and Reaming wooll,
 With which thy house was plentiful.
 Farewell the Coats, the Garments, and
 The Sheets, the Rugs, made by thy hand.
 Farewell thy Fier and thy Light, 45
 That ne're went out by Day or Night:
Chor. No, or thy zeale so speedy,
                     That found a way
                     By peep of day,
                     To feed and cloth the Needy. 50

6. But, ah, alas ! the Almond Bough,
 And Olive Branch is wither'd now.
 The Wine Presse now is ta'ne from us,
 The Saffron and the Calamus.
 The Spice and Spiknard hence is gone, 55
 The Storax and the Cynamon,
Chor. The Caroll of our gladnesse
                     Ha's taken wing,
                     And our late spring
                     Of mirth is turn'd to sadnesse. 60
7. How wise wast thou in all thy waies !
 How worthy of respect and praise !
 How Matron-like didst thou go drest !
 How soberly above the rest
 Of those that prank it with their Plumes ; 65
 And jet it with their choice perfumes.
Chor. Thy vestures were not flowing :
                     Nor did the street
                     Accuse thy feet
                     Of mincing in their going. 70
8. And though thou here li'st dead, we see
 A deale of beauty yet in thee.
 How sweetly shewes thy smiling face,
 Thy lips with all diffused grace !
 Thy hands (though cold) yet spotlesse, white, 75
 And comely as the Chrysolite.
Chor. Thy belly like a hill is,
                     Or as a neat
                     Cleane heap of wheat,
                     All set about with Lillies. 80
9. Sleep with thy beauties here, while we
 Will shew these garments made by thee ;
 These were the Coats, in these are read
 The monuments of Dorcas dead.
 These were thy Acts, and thou shalt have 85
 These hung, as honours o're thy Grave,
Chor. And after us (distressed)
                     Sho'd fame be dumb ;
                     Thy very Tomb
                     Would cry out, Thou art blessed. 90

To God, in time of plundering.

Rapine has yet tooke nought from me ;
 But if it please my God, I be Brought at the last to th' utmost bit,
 God make me thankfull still for it.
 I have been gratefull for my store :
 Let me say grace when there's no more.

To his Saviour. The New yeers gift.

That little prettie bleeding part
 Of Foreskin send to me :
 And Ile returne a bleeding Heart,
 For New-yeers gift to thee.
 Rich is the Jemme that thou did'st send,
 Mine's faulty too, and small :
 But yet this Gift Thou wilt commend,
 Because I send Thee all.

Doomes-Day.

Let not that Day Gods Friends and Servants scare :
 The Bench is then their place ; and not the Barre.

The Poores Portion.

The sup'rabundance of my store,
 That is the portion of the poore :
 Wheat, Barley, Rie, or Oats ; what is't
 But he takes tole of ? all the Griest.
 Two raiments have I : Christ then makes
 This Law ; that He and I part stakes.
 Or have I two loaves ; then I use
 The poore to cut, and I to chuse.

The white Island : or place of the Blest.

In this world (the Isle of Dreames)
 While we sit by sorrowes streames,
 Teares and terrors are our theames
 Reciting :

But when once from hence we flie,
More and more approaching nigh
Unto young Eternitie

Uniting :

In that whiter Island, where
Things are evermore sincere ;
Candor here, and lustre there

Delighting :

There no monstrous fancies shall
Out of hell an horroure call,
To create (or cause at all)

Affrighting.

There in calm and cooling sleep
We our eyes shall never steep ;
But eternall watch shall keep,
Attending

Pleasures, such as shall pursue
Me immortaliz'd, and you ;
And fresh joyes, as never too
Have ending.

To Christ.

I crawl, I creep ; my Christ, I come
To Thee, for curing Balsamum :
Thou hast, nay more, Thou art the Tree,
Affording salve of Sovereignitie.
My mouth I'le lay unto Thy wound
Bleeding, that no Blood touch the ground :
For, rather then one drop shall fall
To wast, my JESU, I'le take all.

To God.

God ! to my little meale and oyle,
Add but a bit of flesh, to boyle :
And Thou my Pipkinnet shalt see,
Give a wave-offring unto Thee.

Free Welcome.

God He refuseth no man ; but makes way
For All that now come, or hereafter may.

Gods Grace.

Gods Grace deserves here to be daily fed,
That, thus increast, it might be perfected.

Coming to Christ.

To him, who longs unto his CHRIST to go,
Celerity even it self is slow.

Correction.

God had but one Son free from sin ; but none
Of all His sonnes free from correction.

Gods Bounty.

God, as He's potent, so He's likewise known,
To give us more then Hope can fix upon.

Knowledge.

Science in God, is known to be
A Substance, not a Qualitie.

Salutation.

Christ, I have read, did to His Chaplains say,
Sending them forth, Salute no man by th' way :
Not, that He taught His Ministers to be
Unsmooth, or sowre, to all civillitie ;
But to instruct them, to avoid all snares
Of tardidation in the Lords Affaires.
Manners are good : but till his errand ends,
Salute we must, nor Strangers, Kin, or Friends.

Lasciviousnesse.

Lasciviousnesse is known to be
The sister to saturitie.

Teares.

God from our eyes all teares hereafter wipes,
And gives His Children kisses then, not stripes.

Gods Blessing.

In vain our labours are, whatsoe're they be,
Unlesse God gives the Benedicite.

God, and Lord.

God, is His Name of Nature ; but that word
Implies His Power, when He's cal'd the LORD.

The Judgment-Day.

God hides from man the reck'ning Day, that He
May feare it ever for uncertaintie :
That being ignorant of that one, he may
Expect the coming of it ev'ry day.

Angells.

Angells are called Gods ; yet of them, none
Are Gods, but by participation :
As just Men are intitled Gods, yet none
Are Gods, of them, but by Adoption.

Long life.

The longer thred of life we spin,
The more occasion still to sin.

Teares.

The teares of Saints more sweet by farre,
Then all the songs of sinners are.

Manna.

That Manna, wh.ch God on His people cast,
Fitted it self to ev'ry Feeders tast.

Reverence.

True rev'rence is (as Cassiodore doth prove)
The feare of God, commixt with cleanly love

Mercy.

Mercy, the wise Athenians held to be
Not an Affection, but a Deitie.

Wages.

After this life, the wages shall
Not shar'd alike be unto all.

Temptation.

God tempteth no one (as S. Augustine saith)
For any ill ; but, for the proof of Faith :
Unto temptation God exposeth some ;
But none, of purpose, to be overcome.

Gods hands.

Gods Hands are round, & smooth, that gifts may fall
Freely from them, and hold none back at all.

Labour.

Labour we must, and labour hard
I'th Forum here, or Vineyard.

Mora Sponsi, the stay of the Bridegroome.

The time the Bridegroom stayes from hence,
Is but the time of penitence.

Roaring.

Roaring is nothing but a weeping part,
Forc'd from the mighty dolour of the heart.

The Eucharist.

*He that is hurt seeks help : sin is the wound ;
The salve for this i'th Eucharist is found.*

Sin severely punisht.

God in His own Day will be then severe,
To punish great sins, who small faults whipt here.

Montes Scripturarum, the Mounts of the Scriptures.

The Mountains of the Scriptures are (some say)
Moses, and Jesus, called Joshua :
The Prophets Mountains of the Old are meant ;
Th' Apostles Mounts of the New Testament.

Prayer.

A prayer, that is said alone,
Starves, having no companion.
Great things ask for, when thou dost pray,
And those great are, which ne're decay.
Pray not for silver, rust eats this ;
Ask not for gold, which metall is :
Nor yet for houses, which are here
But earth : such vows nere reach Gods care.

Christs sadnesse.

Christ was not sad, i'th garden, for His own
Passion, but for His sheeps dispersion.

God heares us.

God, who's in Heav'n, will hear from thence ,
If not to'th sound, yet, to the sense.

God.

God (as the learned Damascen doth write)
A Sea of Substance is, Indefinite.

Clouds.

He that ascended in a cloud, shall come
In clouds, descending to the publike Doom.

Comforts in contentions.

The same, who crownes the Conquerour, will be
A Coadjutor in the Agonie.

Heaven.

Heav'n is most faire ; but fairer He
That made that fairest Canopie.

God.

In God there's nothing, but 'tis known to be Ev'n God Himself, in perfect Entitie.

His Power.

God can do all things, save but what are known
For to imply a contradiction.

Christs words on the Crosse, My God, My God.

Christ, when He hung the dreadfull Crosse upon,
Had (as it were) a Derelection ;
In this regard, in those great terrors He
Had no one Beame from Gods sweet Majestie.

JEHOVAH.

Jehovah, as Boëtius saith,
No number of the Plurall hath.

Confusion of face.

God then confounds mans face, when He not hears
The Vowes of those, who are Petitioners.

Another.

The shame of mans face is no more
Then prayers repel'd, (sayes Cassiodore)

Beggars.

Jacob Gods Beggar was ; and so we wait
(Though ne're so rich) all beggars at His Gate.

Good, and bad.

The Bad among the Good are here mixt ever :
The Good without the Bad are here plac'd never.

Sin.

Sin no Existence ; Nature none it hath,
Or Good at all, (as learn'd Aquinas saith.)

Martha, Martha.

The repetition of the name made known
No other, then Christs full Affection.

Youth, and Age.

God on our Youth bestowes but little ease ;
But on our Age most sweet Indulgences

Gods power.

God is so potent, as His Power can.
Draw out of bad a soveraigne good to man.

Paradise.

Paradise is (as from the Learn'd I gather)
A quire of blest Soules circling in the Father.

Observation.

The Jewes, when they built Houses (I have read)
 One part thereof left still unfinished :
 To make them, thereby, mindfull of their own
 Cities most sad and dire destruction.

The Asse.

God did forbid the Israelites, to bring
 An Asse unto Him, for an offering :
 Onely, by this dull creature, to expresse
 His detestation to all slothfulnesse.

Observation.

The Virgin-Mother stood at distance (there)
 From her Sonnes Crosse, not shedding once a teare :
 Because the Law forbad to sit and crie
 For those, who did as malefactors die.
 So she, to keep her mighty woes in awe, 5
 Tortur'd her love, not to transgresse the Law.
 Observe we may, how Mary Joses then,
 And th' other Mary (Mary Magdalen)
 Sate by the Grave ; and sadly siting there,
 Shed for their Master many a bitter teare : 10
 But 'twas not till their dearest Lord was dead ;
 And then to weep they both were licensed.

Tapers.

Those Tapers, which we set upon the grave,
 In fun'rall pomp, but this importance have ;
 That soules departed are not put out quite ;
 But, as they walk't here in their vestures white,
 So live in Heaven, in everlasting light. 5

Christs Birth.

One Birth our Saviour had ; the like none yet
 Was, or will be a second like to it.

The Virgin Mary.

To work a wonder, God would have her shown,
 At once, a Bud, and yet a Rose full-blowne.

Another.

As Sun-beames pierce the glasse, and streaming in,
No crack or Schisme leave i'th subtill skin :
So the Divine Hand work't, and brake no thred,
But, in a Mother, kept a maiden-head.

God.

God, in the holy Tongue, they call
The Place that filleth All in all.

Another of God.

God's said to leave this place, and for to come
Nearer to that place, then to other some :
Of locall motion, in no least respect,
But only by impression of effect.

Another.

God is Jehovah cal'd ; which name of His Implies or Essence, or the He that Is.

Gods presence.

God's evident, and may be said to be
Present with just men, to the veritie :
But with the wicked if He doth comply,
'Tis (as S. Bernard saith) but seemingly.

Gods dwelling.

God's said to dwell there, wheresoever He
Puts down some prints of His high Majestie :
As when to man He comes, and there doth place
His holy Spirit, or doth plant His Grace.

The Virgin Mary.

The Virgin Marie was (as I have read)
The House of God, by Christ inhabited ;
Into the which He enter'd : but, the Doore
Once shut, was never to be open'd more.

To God.

God's undivided, One in Persons Three ;
 And Three in Inconfused Unity :
Originall of Essence there is none
 'Twixt God the Father, Holy Ghost, and Sonne :
 And though the Father be the first of Three,
 'Tis but by Order, not by Entitie.

Upon Woman and Mary.

So long (it seem'd) as Maries Faith was small,
Christ did her Woman, not her Mary call :
 But no more Woman, being strong in Faith ;
 But Mary cal'd then (as S. Ambrose saith).

North and South.

The Jewes their beds, and offices of ease,
 Plac't North and South, for these cleane purposes ;
 That mans uncomely froth might not molest
 Gods wayes and walks, which lie still East and West.

Sabbaths.

Sabbaths are threefold, (as S. Austine sayes :)
 The first of Time, or Sabbath here of Dayes ;
 The second is a Conscience trespass-free ;
 The last the Sabbath of Eternitie.

The Fast, or Lent.

Noah the first was (as Tradition sayes)
 That did ordaine the Fast of forty Dayes.

Sin.

There is no evill that we do commit,
 But hath th' extraction of some good from it :
 As when we sin ; God, the great Chymist, thence Drawes out th' Elixar of true penitence.

God.

God is more here, then in another place,
Not by His Essence, but commerce of Grace.

This, and the next World.

God hath this world for many made ; 'tis true :
But He hath made the world to come for few.

Ease.

God gives to none so absolute an Ease,
As not to know, or feel some Grievances.

Beginnings and Endings.

Paul, he began ill, but he ended well ;
Judas began well, but he foulely fell :
In godlinesse, not the beginnings, so
Much as the ends are to be lookt unto.

Temporall goods.

These temp'rall goods God (the most Wise) commends
To th' good and bad, in common, for two ends
First, that these goods none here may o're esteem,
Because the wicked do partake of them :
Next, that these ills none cowardly may shun ;
Being, oft here, the just mans portion.

Hell fire.

The fire of Hell this strange condition hath,
To burn, not shine (as learned Basil saith.)

Abels Bloud.

Speak, did the Bloud of Abel cry
To God for vengeance ? yes say I ;
Ev'n as the sprinkled bloud cal'd on
God, for an expiation.

Another.

The blood of Abel was a thing
Of such a rev'rend reckoning,
As that the old World thought it fit,
Especially to sweare by it.

A Position in the Hebrew Divinity.

One man repentant is of more esteem
With God, then one, that never sin'd 'gainst Him.

Penitence.

The Doctors, in the Talmud, say,
That in this world, one onely day
In true repentance spent, will be
More worth, then Heav'n's Eternitie.

Gods Presence.

God's present ev'ry where ; but most of all
Present by Union Hypostaticall :
God, He is there, where's nothing else (Schooles say)
And nothing else is there, where He's away.

The Resurrection possible, and probable.

For each one Body, that i'th earth is sowne,
There's an up-rising but of one for one :
But for each Graine, that in the ground is thrown.
Threescore or fourescore spring up thence for one :
So that the wonder is not halfe so great,
Of ours, as is the rising of the wheat.

Christs suffering.

Justly our dearest Saviour may abhorre us,
Who hath more suffer'd by us farre, then for us.

Sinners.

Sinners confounded are a twofold way,
Either as when (the learned Schoolemen say)
Mens sins destroyed are, when they repent ;
Or when, for sins, men suffer punishment.

Temptations.

No man is tempted so, but may o'recome,
If that he has a will to Masterdome.

Pittie, and punishment.

God doth embrace the good with love ; & gaines
'The good by mercy, as the bad by paines.

Gods price, and mans price.

God bought man here wth his hearts blood expence ;
And man sold God here for base thirty pence.

Christs Action.

Christ never did so great a work, but there
His humane Nature did, in part, appeare :
Or, ne're so meane a peece, but men might see
Therein some beames of His Divinitie :
So that, in all He did, there did combine
His Humane Nature, and His Part Divine.

Predestination.

Predestination is the Cause alone
Of many standing, but of fall to none.

Another.

Art thou not destin'd? then, with hast, go on
To make thy faire Predestination :
If thou canst change thy life, God then will please
To change, or call back, His past Sentences.

Sin.

Sin never slew a soule, unlesse there went
Along with it some tempting blandishment.

Another.

Sin is an act so free, that if we shall
Say, 'tis not free, 'tis then no sin at all.

Another.

Sin is the cause of death ; and sin's alone
 The cause of Gods Predestination :
 And from Gods Prescience of mans sin doth flow
 Our Destination to eternall woe.

Prescience.

Gods Prescience makes none sinfull ; but th' offence
 Of man's the chief cause of Gods Prescience.

Christ.

To all our wounds, here, whatsoe're they be,
Christ is the one sufficient Remedic.

Christs Incarnation.

Christ took our Nature on Him, not that He
 'Bove all things lov'd it, for the puritie :
 No, but He drest Him with our humane 'Trim,
 Because our flesh stood most in need of Him.

Heaven.

Heaven is not given for our good works here :
 Yet it is given to the Labourer.

Gods keyes.

God has *four*e keyes, which He reserves alone ;
 The first of Raine, the key of Hell next known :
 With the third key He opes and shuts the wombe ;
 And with the fourth key He unlocks the tombe.

Sin.

There's no constraint to do amisse,
 Whereas but one enforcement is.

Almes.

Give unto all, lest he, whom thou deni'st,
May chance to be no other man, but Christ.

Hell fire.

One onely fire has Hell ; but yet it shall,
Not after one sort, there excruciate all :
But look, how each transgressor onward went
Boldly in sin, shall feel more punishment.

To keep a true Lent.

1. Is this a Fast, to keep
The Larder leane?
And cleane
From fat of Veales, and Sheep?
2. Is it to quit the dish 5
Of Flesh, yet still
To fill
The platter high with Fish?
3. Is it to fast an houre,
Or rag'd to go, 10
Or show
A down-cast look, and sowre?
4. No : 'tis a Fast, to dole
Thy sheaf of wheat,
And meat, 15
Unto the hungry Soule.
5. It is to fast from strife,
From old debate,
And hate ;
To circumcise thy life. 20
6. To shew a heart grief-rent ;
To sterve thy sin,
Not Bin ;
And that's to keep thy Lent.

No time in Eternitie.

By houres we all live here, in Heaven is known
 No spring of Time, or Times succession.

His Meditation upon Death.

Be those few hours, which I have yet to spend,
 Blest with the Meditation of my end :
 Though they be few in number, I'm content ;
 If otherwise, I stand indifferent :
 Nor makes it matter, Nestors yeers to tell, 5
 If man lives long, and if he live not well.
 A multitude of dayes still heaped on,
 Seldome brings order, but confusion:
 Might I make choice, long life sho'd be with-stood ;
 Nor wo'd I care how short it were, if good : 10
 Which to effect, let ev'ry passing Bell
 Possesse my thoughts, next comes my dolefull knell :
 And when the night perswades me to my bed,
 I'le thinke I'm going to be buried :
 So shall the Blankets which come over me, 15
 Present those Turfs, which once must cover me :
 And with as firme behaviour I will meet
 The sheet I sleep in, as my Winding-sheet.
 When sleep shall bath his body in mine eyes,
 I will believe, that then my body dies : 20
 And if I chance to wake, and rise thereon,
 I'le have in mind my Resurrection,
 Which must produce me to that Gen'rall Doome,
 To which the Pesant, so the Prince must come,
 To heare the Judge give sentence on the Throne, 25
 Without the least hope of affection.
 Teares, at that day, shall make but weake defence ;
 When Hell and Horrour fright the Conscience.
 Let me, though late, yet at the last, begin
 To shun the least Temptation to a sin ; 30
 Though to be tempted be no sin, untill
 Man to th' alluring object gives his will.
 Such let my life assure me, when my breath
 Goes theeving from me, I am safe in death ;
 Which is the height of comfort, when I fall, 35
 I rise triumphant in my Funerall.

Cloaths for Continuance.

Those Garments lasting evermore,
Are works of mercy to the poore,
Which neither Tettar, Time, or Moth
Shall fray that silke, or fret this cloth.

To God.

Come to me God ; but do not come
To me, as to the gen'rall Doome,
In power ; or come Thou in that state,
When Thou Thy Lawes didst promulgate,
When as the Mountains quak'd for dread, 5
And sullen clouds bound up his head.
No, lay thy stately terrours by,
To talke with me familiarly ;
For if Thy thunder-claps I heare,
I shall lesse swoone, then die for feare. 10
Speake thou of love and I'll reply
By way of Epithalamie,
Or sing of mercy, and I'll suit
To it my Violl and my Lute :
Thus let Thy lips but love distill, 15
Then come my God, and hap what will.

The Soule.

When once the Soule has lost her way,
O then, how restlesse do's she stray !
And having not her God for light,
How do's she erre in endlesse night !

The Judgement day.

In doing justice, God shall then be known,
Who shewing mercy here, few priz'd, or none.

Sufferings.

We merit all we suffer, and by far
More stripes, then God layes on the sufferer

Paine and pleasure.

God suffers not His Saints, and Servants deere,
 To have continuall paine, or pleasure here :
 But look how night succeeds the day, so He Gives them by turnes their grief and jollitie.

Gods presence.

God is all-present to what e're we do,
 And as all-present, so all-filling too.

Another.

That there's a God, we all do know,
 But what God is, we cannot show.

The poore mans part.

Tell me rich man, for what intent
 Thou load'st with gold thy vestiment ?
 When as the poore crie out, to us
 Belongs all gold superfluous.

The right hand.

God has a Right Hand, but is quite bereft
 Of that, which we do nominate the Left.

The Staffe and Rod.

Two instruments belong unto our God ;
 The one a Staffe is, and the next a Rod :
 That if the twig sho'd chance too much to smart,
 The staffe might come to play the friendly part.

God sparing in scourging.

God still rewards us more then our desert :
 But when He strikes, He quarter-acts His part.

Confession.

Confession twofold is (as Austine sayes,)
The first of sin is, and the next of praise :
If ill it goes with thee, thy faults confesse :
If well, then chant Gods praise with cheerfulness.

Gods Descent.

God is then said for to descend, when He
Doth, here on earth, some thing of novitie ;
As when, in humane nature He works more
Then ever, yet, the like was done before.

No coming to God without Christ.

Good and great God! How sho'd I feare
To come to Thee, if Christ not there !
Co'd I but think, He would not be
Present, to plead my cause for me ;
To Hell I'd rather run, then I
Wo'd see Thy Face, and He not by.

Another, to God.

Though Thou beest all that Active Love,
Which heats those ravisht Soules above ;
And though all joyes spring from the glance
Of Thy most winning countenance ;
Yet sowre and grim Thou'dst seem to me ;
If through my Christ I saw not Thee.

The Resurrection.

That Christ did die, the Pagan saith ;
But that He rose, that's Christians Faith.

Coheires.

We are Coheires with Christ ; nor shall His own
Heire-ship be lesse, by our adoption :
The number here of Heires, shall from the state
Of His great Birth-right nothing derogate.

The number of two.

God hates the Duall Number ; being known
 The lucklesse number of division :
 And when He blest each sev'rall Day, whereon
 He did His curious operation ;
 'Tis never read there (as the Fathers say) 5
 God blest His work done on the second day :
 Wherefore two prayers ought not to be said,
 Or by our selves, or from the Pulpit read.

Hardning of hearts.

God's said our hearts to harden then,
 When as His grace not supple men.

The Rose.

Before Mans fall, the Rose was born
 (S. Ambrose sayes) without the Thorn :
 But, for Mans fault, then was the Thorn,
 Without the fragrant Rose-bud, born ;
 But ne're the Rose without the Thorn. 5

Gods time must end our trouble.

God doth not promise here to man, that He
 Will free him quickly from his miserie ;
 But in His own time, and when He thinks fit,
 Then He will give a happy end to it.

Baptisme.

The strength of Baptisme, that's within ;
 It saves the soule, by drowning sin.

Gold and Frankincense.

Gold serves for Tribute to the King ;
 The Frankincense for Gods Offring.

To God.

God, who me gives a will for to repent,
Will add a power, to keep me innocent ;
That I shall ne're that trespasse recommit,
When I have done true Penance here for it.

The chewing the Cud.

When well we speak, & nothing do that's good,
We not divide the Hoof, but chew the Cud :
But when good words, by good works, have their proof,
We then both chew the Cud, and cleave the Hoof.

Christs twofold coming.

Thy former coming was to cure
My soules most desp'rate Calenture ;
Thy second Advent, that must be
To heale my Earths infirmitie.

To God, his gift.

As my little Pot doth boyle,
We will keep this Levell-Coyle ;
That a Wave, and I will bring
To my God, a Heave-offering.

Gods Anger.

God can't be wrathfull ; but we may conclude,
Wrathfull He may be, by similitude :
God's wrathfull said to be, when He doth do
That without wrath, which wrath doth force us to.

Gods Commands.

In Gods commands, ne're ask the reason why ;
Let thy obedience be the best Reply.

To God.

If I have plaid the Truant, or have here
 Fail'd in my part ; O ! Thou that art my deare,
 My mild, my loving Tutor, Lord and God !
 Correct my errors gently with Thy Rod.
 I know, that faults will many here be found,
 But where sin swells, there let Thy grace abound. 5

To God.

The work is done ; now let my Lawrell be
 Given by none, but by Thy selfe, to me :
 That done, with Honour Thou dost me create
 Thy Poet, and Thy Prophet Lawrcat.

Good Friday : Rex Tragicus, or Christ going to His Crosse.

Put off Thy Robe of Purple, then go on
 To the sad place of execution :
 Thine houre is come ; and the Tormentor stands
 Ready, to pierce Thy tender Feet, and Hands.
 Long before this, the base, the dull, the rude, 5
 Th' inconstant, and unpurged Multitude
 Yawne for Thy coming ; some e're this time crie,
 How He deferres, how loath He is to die !
 Amongst this scumme, the Souldier, with his speare,
 And that sowre Fellow, with his vineger, 10
 His spunge, and stick, do ask why Thou dost stay ?
 So do the Skurfe and Bran too : Go Thy way,
 Thy way, Thou guiltlesse man, and satisfie
 By Thine approach, each their beholding eye.
 Not as a thief, shalt Thou ascend the mount, 15
 But like a Person of some high account :
 The Crosse shall be Thy Stage ; and Thou shalt there
 The spacious field have for Thy Theater.
 Thou art that Roscius, and that markt-out man,
 That must this day act the Tragedian, 20
 To wonder and affrightment : Thou art He,

Whom all the flux of Nations comes to see ;
 Not those poor Theeves that act their parts with Thee :
 Those act without regard, when once a King,
 And God, as Thou art, comes to suffering. 25
 No, No, this Scene from Thee takes life and sense,
 And soule and spirit plot, and excellence.
 Why then begin, great King ! ascend Thy Throne,
 And thence proceed, to act Thy Passion
 'To such an height, to such a period rais'd, 30
 As Hell, and Earth, and Heav'n may stand amaz'd.
 God, and good Angells guide Thee ; and so blesse
 Thee in Thy severall parts of bitternesse ;
 That those, who see Thee nail'd unto the Tree,
 May (though they scorn Thee) praise and pitie Thee. 35
 And we (Thy Lovers) while we see Thee keep
 The Lawes of Action, will both sigh, and weep ;
 And bring our Spices, to embalm Thee dead ;
 That done, wee'l see Thee sweetly buried.

His words to Christ, going to the Crosse.

When Thou wast taken, Lord, I oft have read,
 All Thy Disciples Thee forsook, and fled.
 Let their example not a pattern be
 For me to flie, but now to follow Thee.

Another, to his Saviour.

If Thou beest taken, God forbid,
 I flie from Thee, as others did :
 But if Thou wilt so honour me,
 As to accept my companie,
 I'll follow Thee, hap, hap what shall, 5
 Both to the Judge, and Judgment-Hall :
 And, if I see Thee posted there,
 To be all-flayd with whipping-cheere
 I'll take my share ; or els, my God,
 Thy stripes I'll kisse, or burn the Rod. 10

His Saviours words, going to the Crosse.

Have, have ye no regard, all ye
Who passe this way, to pitie me,
Who am a man of miserie !

A man both bruis'd, and broke, and one
Who suffers not here for mine own, 5
But for my friends transgression !

Ah ! Sions Daughters, do not feare
The Crosse, the Cords, the Nailles, the Speare,
The Myrrhe, the Gall, the Vineger :

For Christ, your loving Saviour, hath 10
Drunk up the wine of Gods fierce wrath ;

Lesse for to tast, then for to shew,
What bitter cups had been your due,
Had He not drank them up for you. 15

His Anthem, to Christ on the Crosse.

When I behold Thee, almost slain,
With one, and all parts, full of pain :
When I Thy gentle Heart do see
Pierc't through, and dropping bloud, for me,
I'le call, and cry out, Thanks to Thee. 5

Vers. But yet it wounds my soule, to think,
That for my sin, Thou, Thou must drink,
Even Thou alone, the bitter cup
Of furie, and of vengeance up.

Chor. Lord, I'le not see Thee to drink all 10
The Vineger, the Myrrhe, the Gall :

Ver. Chor. But I will sip a little wine ;
Which done, Lord say, The rest is mine.

*This Crosse-Tree here
Doth JESUS beare,
Who sweet'ned first,
The Death accur'st.*

Here all things ready are, make hast, make hast away; 5
For, long this work wil be, & very short this Day.
Why then, go on to act : Here's wonders to be done,
Before the last least sand of Thy ninth houre be run;
Or e're dark Clouds do dull, or dead the Mid-dayes Sun.

Act when Thou wilt, 10
Bloud will be spilt;
Pure Balm, that shall
Bring Health to All.
Why then, Begin
To powre first in 15
Some Drops of Wine,
In stead of Brine,
To search the Wound,
So long unsound:
And, when that's done, 20
Let Oyle, next, run,
To cure the Sore
Sinne made before.
And O! Deare Christ,
E'en as Thou di'st, 25
Look down, and see
Us weepe for Thee.
And tho (Love knows)
Thy dreadfull Woes
Wee cannot ease; 30
Yet doe Thou please,
Who Mercie art,
T'accept each Heart,
That gladly would
Helpe, if it could. 35
Meane while, let mee,
Beneath this Tree,
This Honour have,
To make my grave.

To his Saviours Sepulcher : his Devotion.

Haile holy, and all-honour'd Tomb,
 By no ill haunted ; here I come,
 With shoes put off, to tread thy Roome.
 I'le not prophane, by soile of sin,
 Thy Doore, as I do enter in : 5
 For I have washt both hand and heart,
 This, that, and ev'ry other part ;
 So that I dare, with farre lesse feare,
 Then full affection, enter here.
 Thus, thus I come to kisse Thy Stone 10
 With a warm lip, and solemne one :
 And as I kisse, I'le here and there
 Dresse Thee with flowrie Diaper.
 How sweet this place is ! as from hence
 Flow'd all Panchaia's Frankincense ; 15
 Or rich Arabia did commix,
 Here, all her rare Aromaticks.
 Let me live ever here, and stir
 No one step from this Sepulcher.
 Ravisht I am ! and down I lie, 20
 Confus'd, in this brave Extasie.
 Here let me rest ; and let me have
 This for my Heaven, that was Thy Grave :
 And, coveting no higher sphere,
 I'le my Eternitie spend here. 25

His Offering, with the rest, at the Sepulcher.

To joyn with them, who here confer
 Gifts to my Saviours Sepulcher ;
 Devotion bids me hither bring
 Somwhat for my Thank-Offering.
 Loe ! Thus I give a Virgin-Flower, 5
 To dresse my Maiden-Saviour.

His coming to the Sepulcher.

Hence they have born my Lord : Behold ! the Stone
 Is rowl'd away ; and my sweet Saviour's gone !
 Tell me, white Angell ; what is now become
 Of Him, we lately seal'd up in this Tombe ?
 Is He, from hence, gone to the shades beneath,
 To vanquish Hell, as here He conquer'd Death ?
 If so ; I'll thither follow, without feare ;
 And live in Hell, if that my Christ stayes there.

THE NEW CHARON,<sup>1</sup>

Upon the Death of Henry Lord Hastings.

The Musical part being set by M. Henry Lawes.

THE SPEAKERS,

Charon and Eucosmeia.

- Euc.* Charon, O Charon, draw thy Boat to th' Shore,
And to thy many, take in one soul more.
- Cha.* Who calls? who calls? Euc. One overwhelm'd with ruth;
Have pity either on my tears or Youth,
And take me in, who am in deep Distress; 5
But first cast off thy wonted Churlishness.
- Cha.* I will be gentle as that Air which yeelds
A breath of balm along the Elizcan fields.
Speak, what art thou? Euc. One, once that had a lover,
Then which, thy self ne'er wafted sweeter over. 10
He was—— Cha. Say what. Euc. Ay me, my woes are deep.
- Cha.* Prethee relate, while I give ear and weep.
- Euc.* He was an Hastings; and that one Name has
In it all good, that is, and ever was.
He was my Life, my Love, my Joy; but di'd 15
Some hours before I should have been his Bride.
- Chorus. *Thus, thus the gods celestial still decree,
For Humane Joy, Contingent Misery*
- Euc.* The hallowed Tapers all preparèd were,
And Hymen call'd to bless the Rites. Cha. Stop there. 20
- Euc.* Great are my woes. Cha. And great must that Grief be,
That makes grim Charon thus to pity thee.
But now come in. Euc. More let me yet relate.
- Cha.* I cannot stay; more souls for waftage wait,
And I must hence. Euc. Yet let me thus much know, 25
Departing hence, where Good and Bad souls go.

Cha. Those souls which ne'er were drencht in pleasures stream,
 The Fields of Pluto are reserv'd for them ;
 Where, drest with garlands, there they walk the ground,
 Whose blessèd Youth with endless flow'rs is crown'd. 30
 But such as have been drown'd in this wilde sea,
 For those is kept the Gulf of Hecatè ;
 Where, with their own contagion they are fed ;
 And there do punish, and are punishèd.
 This known, the rest of thy sad story tell, 35
 When on the Flood that nine times circles Hell.
Chorus. We sail along, to visit mortals never ;
But there to live, where Love shall last for ever.

R: HERICKE

[Epitaph on the Tomb of Sir Edward Giles and his wife in the South Aisle of Dean Prior Church.]

No trust to Metals nor to Marbles, when
 These have their Fate, and wear away as Men ;
 Times, Titles, Trophies, may be lost and Spent ;
 But Vertue Rears the eternal Monument.
 What more than these can Tombs or Tomb-stones Pay? 5
 But here's the Sun-set of a Tedious day:
 These Two asleep are : I'll but be Vndrest
 And so to Bed : Pray wish us all Good Rest.
